The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well, or at least as soon as possible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians have recommended that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not, or they will not get as fast as the strength will bear, on account of the impure state of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the greatest relief to pain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, is to despair of life in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and tried the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery, "added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and the Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of course healthy hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood follows close behind, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms. Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1871.

THE REPORTS of the members of the committee and party which has just returned from investigating the condition of affairs in South Carolina represent that the half has not been told of the outrages of the Ku-Klux. Disorder has supreme rule. Five hundred persons are said to have been whipped in that vicinity and the lawless work is still going on. Even the presence of the committee did not have the benign influence which General Butler predicted, though outrages were less frequent while the examinations were going on. One hundred and forty witnesses were examined and hundreds who were anxious to testify were turned away for lack of time. The result of this visit of the sub-committee will call up the question of using the military power conferred by the Ku-Klux bill, a question which has been suffered to remain unconsidered as long as possible.

REPUBLICAN PAPERS throughout the State are ridiculing the mendacious assertion in the Democratic State Central Committee's circular that the coalition majority in the Legislature "reduced the State expenses one-half," and denying that the State expenses were reduced a single dollar, the "Reform Bill" which was to do so much for the tax payers having been smothered by the Democratic majority in the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform. We believe in fair play, and unhesitatingly affirm that the expenses were reduced, (if the extra length of the session consequent on copperhead partizan legislation is left out of the question,) able mathematicians having calculated that the sum of $2.37 1-2 was saved by the retrenchment on paper, pens and ink furnished the members. Republican papers will please take notice.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—As the Staten Island boat Westfield was starting from her dock, at the foot of Whitehall street, New York city, at half-past one o'clock Sunday afternoon, with a heavy load, composed mainly of the usual class of Sunday excursionists, to the number of about three hundred, her boiler burst with a tremendous explosion, shivering the whole of the upper works of the boat into a thousand pieces and laying open the whole forward part of the hulk from the very keel. The explosion was terrific.

Many persons were blown bodily into the air, falling into the water. John Magee, the pilot, was thrown from the forward pilot-house 20 feet in the air, falling on the boat and escaping without a scratch. John Freeland was captain of the boat and Harry Robinson the engineer. The latter is a colored man, and the indignation of the passengers against him is tremendous, though his friends say he is not to blame. The boiler was inspected by John K. Mathews, U. S. boiler inspector, on the 15th of June, and pronounced safe. Robinson states that he tried the cocks in the boiler a few minutes before the explosion, and found water at the upper cock. He states further that at the same time the steam gauge showed there were 27 pounds of steam on the boiler, and that steam was blowing off at the safety valve, showing that the boiler was carrying the full pressure allowed by her certificate. The cause of the explosion was probably the breaking of the joints of a plate with which the boiler had been patched at the rear end.

One of the two firemen on board the Westfield named Robert C. Rawson, was in the fire-room at the time of the explosion. He says that fifteen minutes before the accident he was on the head of the cylinder, wiping it off; then he went into one of the cabins for a drink of water, and thence into the fire-room. While here he heard a hissing noise proceeding from the rear of the boiler, but went to see the cause of it. He had gone but about half-way the length of the boiler when he found the steam so dense that he could proceed no further, and turned to go back when he was struck in the face by a flying splinter and knocked down. He made his way to the deck as fast as possible. The hissing noise which Rawson heard must have been the starting of the plate-patching of the boiler, and the first premonition of impending disaster.

The huge black smoke-stack of the steamboat lay like a monster serpent over an entire family whom it had stricken in its fall.

About 50 persons were killed, and 120 wounded—most of whom will die.

Thieves and pickpockets took advantage of the situation and robbed the ferry house of $1500, and plundered the wounded indiscriminately.

—John Slidell is dead.

THE "LOCAL" of the Dover Gazette gives the following account of a blast at the "Narrows" in the Cocheco River on the 24th July:—

We found the diver, Mr. Gilbert Wiley, in his armor, just on the point of going down into the vasty deep, to examine a portion of the ledge in the shape of a boulder, 12 feet long and 5 feet wide which was situated in 9 1-2 feet of water. He remained down for the space of ten minutes, and at the expiration of that time, reported by the life line that he had found a proper fissure and wanted (indicated by four pulls) a cartridge of the largest size, equivalent to 36 pounds of powder, which was sent down. Everything being put in order below, he ascended and came on deck, taking a position for safety behind the huge windlass, when the wires were charged with electricity from a powerful galvanic battery in the bows of the boat, and a tremendous explosion took place, shaking the ground for miles around very perceptibly.

An amusing incident took place in connection with the blast, whereby a school of hard heads (porgies), thousands in number, were blown into the air, scattering them lifeless in all directions. To see those unlucky fish playing circus and flying about like sky rockets and serpents on a Fourth of July night, would have made the soul of old Izaak Walton rejoice with exceeding great joy. Boats pulled off and large quantities, at least 500 in number, were caught, not a few of which went into the fry pan for supper.

Mr. Reuben Wiley, an old diver who served nine months before Sebastopol, informs us that he never saw such a sight before.—This gentlemen has charge of the diving operations, and is a sharp, shrewd, practical man, who knows his business. The lowest depth that he has ever reached is 84 feet, and that, too, in the Piscataqua river, where he went down to recover an anchor weighing 7500 pounds with two tons of chain attached, which had been lost overboard from U. S. Steamer Colorado. At the depth of twenty-five feet, total darkness set in, and it was only by dint of groping for hours, "down among the dead men," that he finally effected his object.

In a casual talk Mr. Wiley gave us some exceedingly interesting reminiscences of his trip East and his wandering in and out of the world renowned Redan, the Malakoff Tower, and Dead Man's Valley, in which thousands of English, French and Sardinian troops lie deeply buried in the sleep that knows no waking. Mr. Floyd informs us that his contract is to make four feet of water at low tide, 75 feet in width and 150 in length, and although he has three months, August, September and October, to finish his work, he hopes to be able to get through by the latter part of September, as Gen. Thom intends to expend some two or three thousand dollars opposite the old Tom Cushing steam mill. The cartridges are all made ashore by Mr. Samuel Nason, who is an adept at his work, having handled the material for ten years in California. The workmen on the river are in one of the prettiest spots on the Cocheco, and it is worth the time of any one who is curious in such matters, to drop down and witness the operations.

A CORRESPONDENT from the United States visiting Montreal, writes: "There is great variety in the population—Canadians, Indians, the genuine Englishmen mingle together in harmony, though they retain strongly marked characteristics and do not become so homogeneous as with us. The French predominate in numbers, though the English abound more in enterprise and skill and form the wealthiest portion of the community. The sights are peculiar. The oyster saloon, so indispensable to us, is placed by the chop-houses; mutton pies are every placarded as a tempting luxury. Stylish gentlemen promenade with a long white sash affixed to their hats, and young men dazzle the eyes of maidens with white canvas slippers, and priests, nuns and Jesuits are very common in the streets. We saw the volunteers returning from a week's encampment, and the boyish look they bore, the rollicking spirit that seemed to prevade their ranks, made them more objects of interest than of fear. The men are largely given to politics, and party spirit runs high. They have a cane, called the 'election cane,' gifted with a heavy knob of wood on the end, which every prudent patriot arms himself with, and enforces his arguments outwardly, when inner doses seem to fail."

A LITTLE SON of William King of Bangor found an unexploded metallic pistol-cartridge on the margin of the river, on Friday, and taking a hammer and nail undertook to see what was in the little copper tube. He ascertained the nature of the contents in a few seconds, and now is minus the ends of two fingers and has a hole in his leg.

ALEXANDER LOVELEEF, a French Canadian, residing with his family on Navy Island, and Edward Bogardus of Chippewa, in attempting to cross to Navy Island on Wednesday night, were carried over Niagara Falls. The remnants of their boat were found below the falls on Friday. The bodies have not been found yet. Loveleef leaves a wife and three children.

ORANGES should be cheaper now—'cause Irishmen don't eat 'em.

POLITICAL.

The Republicans of California feel confident of carrying the State in the coming election by a majority of at least ten thousand. Their candidate for Governor is popular, and will command the full vote of his party.

Vermont does not vote this year, in consequence of having last year adopted the biennial system of elections. We must for once, therefore, do without the customary Republican victory on the first Tuesday of September.

A TRAIN of nine cars was precipitated from a railroad bridge into the Navasota River, in Texas, on Saturday night. Seven lives were lost.

Orders received by mail, express, or at the CHRONICLE OFFICE will be promptly filled.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

All the year round, Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders should be given to horses that are "kept up." To horses and cattle that graze in Summer, they should only be given in Winter and Spring.

Officers and Soldiers who served in the army, physicians, surgeons, and eminent men and women everywhere, join in recommending Johnson's Anodyne Liniment to be the best internal and external family medicine ever invented. That's our experience.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article. Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length Hostetter's Stomach Bitters made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlighted age has consigned them. There have been many spurious bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while Hostetter's has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration of health.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in public estimation, and its beneficial effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sitting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in same, of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

BATCHELDER'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelder's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Famine has followed on the track of war in the fairest land of Europe, but neither war nor famine is as destructive as neglected or maltreated diseases. Essential as food to the starving, is DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS to all who suffer dyspepsia, congestion or torpidity of the liver, constipation or intermittent fevers. To treat these complaints with mineral poisons and acrid alkaloids, while this mild and certain remedy is within reach of all, is little better than moonstruck madness. 1tjy29

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

THAT DELIGHTFUL SEASIDE retreat known as the WOODMAN FARM, containing forty acres of land, a commodious, new and imposing house and convenient outbuildings, situated on the easterly side of Great Island, (Newcastle,) within a stone's throw of the ocean, and in full view of the "Isles of Shoals."

Also adjoining the same, "POINT JERRY," embracing ten acres of arable land extending far out into the sea, being the nearest point of land to the "Isles of Shoals," and forming the outside boundary of what is known as Little Harbor.

This is the most desirable place on the seacoast for summer residences, possessing all the advantages of the world renowned "Isles of Shoals," in bracing atmosphere, deep sea fishing and surf-bathing on one side, while on the other is a smooth, hard beach and still water. There is also upon it a never failing pond of fresh water, an old battery, and a light-house beacon. Roads always good and scenery unsurpassable.

THE LIBERAL RAINS of Saturday and Sunday were followed by a season of heated hotness.

ADMIRAL J. C. BUTLER is arranging for a Steamer excursion for Thursday of this week.

THE GRANITE HOUSE at Hampton Beach is doing a good summer business under the management of Messrs. W. J. Walker and B. Frank Vittum, well known as superior caterers to the wishes and tastes of their patrons. Transient boarders will be interested to know that they set famous tables for their guests.

REV. GEORGE M. ADAMS, for the past eight years pastor of the North Parish, has tendered his resignation, much to the regret and surprise of his parishioners, who recently voted him a year's leave of absence for his contemplated European trip. The matter will be considered at a parish meeting this (Tuesday) evening.

IN A CITY not a thousand miles from Portsmouth, recently, a lady was driven up to an aristocratic residence and the driver of the conveyance rang the bell. Seeing no one near, the lady ventured to remove a handsome set of teeth that added much to her natural beauty, and deftly rubbed them. Two gamins hove in sight just then, and one, perceiving the manœuvre, cried out, "Jemmie: did ye see that woman take out her gums?"

"DOLLY" is in town and tells the following yarn in explanation of the title of "Little Doctor," which his comrades bestowed upon them: "You see, Wilson, my colored boy, fell sick, and he had implicit faith in me. He came to me for a prescription; but I told him I was no physician. 'You Northern chaps are mighty smart; I'm sush you can cure me, massa,' said Wilson. So I sent him after a box of Brandreth's pills. These I pounded to a powder, put it in a cup, added a liberal supply of castor oil and filled the cup to the brim with whiskey. Wilson swallowed the dose and left. He was not seen again for a week; then he came crawling into the tent and saluted me with, 'Well, massa, I'm just come out again; You just cured me—but I don't want any more of dem Bad-bref pills.' Wilson always believed in me afterwards and came for 'scriptions when ill, being persuaded that the overdose I had given him saved his life."

THE FIREMEN'S MUSTER which is to come off on the 6th and 7th of September, bids fair to be far ahead of the muster at Haverhill, Mass., last year. The Secretaries are receiving letters from all parts of the New England States. Steam Fire Engine E. A. Straw of Methuen, Mass., is entered, with 20 men and a band or drum corps; S. F. Engine Co. No. 6, of Newton, Mass., have signified their intention of being present; also Ex-2's (Associates) of Waltham, Mass., with 45 men, who ask the privilege of using one of the Portsmouth machines, which will be decided at a meeting of the Executive Committee. Granite No. 1, of Newmarket, will appear in the procession, with 60 men and a band of 25 pieces. A Committee from Hose Co. J. Lord, No. 4, of Salem, Mass., was in this city Monday, making arrangements for that company to attend the muster. Dearborn S. F. Engine, No. 14, of Boston Highlands, is entered.

AN OX IN A CHINA SHOP.—On Saturday, Mr. John Stokell put one of a pair of oxen into the yard of N. F. Mathes & Co., Market Street, for safe keeping, and fastened the gate. Shortly afterwards, an employee who was at work in the rear apartment of the store, assorting and piling crockery, heard a noise as of hoofs behind him and looking up saw the ox just squeezing through the rear door, half of which was shut. Seeing no chance to turn the animal or drive him back, he calmly retreated through the door leading into the front store. The ox quietly followed, passing between two large piles of crockery, just grazing them, squeezed through another half door, going down one step in doing so, then strode through the store and went out of half door into Market Street. The considerate bovine did not smash a cup but could have easily broken $500 worth of crockery. Mr. Stokell soon saw the animal in the street, thought it the mate to the one he had imprisoned, asked permission to put him in the yard, drove him there again and then truth dawned upon him.

THE HEAVY MUFFERS are requested to meet at the room of Mr. Partridge on Market St., this (Tuesday) evening at 7 o'clock, to arrange for a base ball match with the new Kearsarge club, whose members are anxious for strife.

A HEAVY THUNDER SHOWER passed over Newmarket Junction, Monday afternoon. Just as the Concord train left that place, a brakemen, whose name we did not learn, was struck by lightning and knocked into a car from the platform. One side of his body was paralyzed, but he was able to converse.

A DISPATCH to the Portland Press from this city says the frequent changes in the Yards & Docks' department at the Navy Yard are "attributed to the executive officer and cause great dissatisfaction among citizens generally," although the orders came from Washington. If the statement is true, there is surely a speedy remedy at hand. We suspect, however, that Admiral Porter's order taking the control of that department from the civil engineer and vesting it in the executive officer lies at the bottom of the trouble. Put the civil engineer in charge of the department, every detail of which he is thoroughly conversant with, and there would be less liability of sudden and uncalled for changes. No sane man would think of putting a sailing master in charge of a private ship yard to do duty naturally belonging to a professional civil engineer. Were matters reversed and the civil engineer placed in charge of a man-of-war at sea, the parallel would be perfect.

SUPERINTENDENT PRESCOTT.—The Portsmouth correspondent of the Boston Advertiser speaks truly of the management of the Eastern Railroad, as follows:

The report that Superintendent Prescott is to leave the Eastern Railroad is received here with great regret and dissatisfaction. His present salary I believe is $5000; and it is reported that the Northern Pacific corporation offers him double that amount. But he has grown up on and with the Eastern road, and ought not to be allowed to leave it, for probably the success of this great and increasing line of travel is due more to Mr. Prescott's energy, efficiency and foresight as a railroad man, than to any and all others. The citizens of Portsmouth feel an especial and almost family interest in this bland and genial gentleman and first-class official, for the reason that he was for some time a resident here, and has always been closely identified with us; and it gives me pleasure to mention briefly the leading business events of his life, and his constant advancement to his present high position—so creditably to himself always. Jeremiah Prescott is a native of Hampton Falls and was early in the employ of the Great Eastern Stage Company, which, on its route between Portland and Boston, was beyond question the best organized stage-line this country ever had up to that time. Young Prescott soon was promoted to be a driver of four horses between Newburyport and Boston,—and a stage-box in those days was a position fully as honorable and responsible as the railroad conductor in these. When the railway was opened, Mr. Prescott came to this city and was employed by F. C. Hale & Co., who ran the first express between Boston and Portsmouth. And it is a singular fact that a wagon built for them by Colonel A. J. Beck of this city, and driven by Mr. Prescott in the business, is still running here, and in tolerable order, being owned by Mr. M. B. Goodrich. It has seen fully thirty years' hard service, but although the body has been renewed several times, the running work is substantially the same.

Afterwards Mr. Prescott became a partner in this express business, until it was sold to Messrs. Walker & Jackson, when we believe he was employed on the road as baggage-master for a while. Afterwards he ran as conductor, and then was appointed assistant-superintendent under Mr. Kinsman, and in a few months took his present position, which, like every other occupied by him, he has filled with so much credit to himself and benefit to the road. When Mr. Prescott took charge of the Eastern road, the stock was below $40 per share, and so poor were its prospects that arrangements had been made with other Boston roads to run the line, in case, as was feared, its own officers should become unable to continue control of it. Now the stock brings $125 or more, and the line is one of the strongest in New England, with the brightest prospects before it. And to Superintendent Prescott more than any other man—perhaps more than all other men—is due its growth and present high position. It is earnestly hoped that he will not be allowed to sever his connection with the road and this community. We cannot afford to lose such men.

DEATHS.

In Charlestown, Mass., July 28, Mr. ULYSSES PARKS, of this city, aged 53 years. The remains were brought here for interment. Mr. Parks died suddenly, while at work on the Navy Yard; cause supposed to have been disease of the heart.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds.

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly not sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Morning Chronicle.

DELIVERED FROM EVIL.

The twilight of mid July was full of tender, opal brightness; the scent of new mown hay, coming down from far off breezy slopes, floated in the air, and just beyond the elms in the hollow the full moon rising up—a great globe of pearl, and from her low seat beneath the overhanging honey suckles, Bertha Wyman saw and felt all this summer beauty with a faint, blissful languor of a tropic dream.

"Bertha!"

Paul Fordham crossed the broad ribbon of moonlight that fluttered over the piazza and came to sit down at his fiancee's feet.

"You are like a picture to-night, Bertha; do you know it?"

"Am I?"

Miss Wyman was accustomed to adulation and took it very coolly, with only a royal smile flung down to her admirer.

She was like a picture—fair and gracious with blue eyes and great coils of golden hair bound around her head, while even in the uncertain twilight, you could see that the color on her cheeks was softer and more tenderly tinted than the blossoms of the great oleander at her side.

"Hush—who is that?" she said with a little start, as a light footstep sounded on the matted hall beyond.

"Only your aunt's companion, Mrs. Raymond. By the way, Bertha, what a very interesting little thing she is—such a child widow, with those black eyes, and the heavy lashes that seem actually to weigh down her eyelids? She makes me think of one of those exquisite little South American birds, all grace and sparkle."

"I never could account for the taste of young men," said Bertha half contemptuously.

"No, but she is a beauty, by Jove! I can tell you what, my fair Saxon Empress, if I had not lost my heart to you, long before I saw Mrs. Raymond, there's no telling what might have happened."

He spoke jestingly, but Bertha drew away the hand he had taken, rather coolly.

"It is not yet too late, Paul, if you really admire Zaidee Raymond so enthusiastically."

"Bertha!"

Miss Wyman laughed a strange, unnatural sort of a laugh. Up to this moment her lips had never tasted the bitter cup of jealousy, now it seemed as if the draught was maddening. How dared Paul Fordham, her betrothed lover to speak in commendation to any woman except herself.

Bertha was one of those unfortunate creatures who have what is termed "a high temper," and all her life it had been unbridled. She had never learned the lesson of self-control, and it was too late to begin now.

Miss Wyman went up to her own apartment earlier than usual that evening, not because she was particularly weary, but because she wanted to punish Charles Fordham, who was fond of moonlight and sentiment, and delicious July evenings, for his unwarrantable notice of her aunt's dark-eyed companion.

As she sat at her window, brushing out the wavy, feathery gold of her magnificent hair, the sounds of voices on the piazza below arrested her attention. She listened a moment, holding the golden masses away from her head, with her scarlet lips half apart. It was Paul Fordham and Zaidee Raymond.

"I thought so," she murmured under her breath. "It would be no bad speculation for the poverty-stricken widow to wile Paul Raymond and his wealth to her nets. I knew she was artful despite her innocent, childish ways, but if she dares to come in collision with me she shall be crushed—crushed, as I would strike a noisome insect to the ground."

She sat there, silent and motionless, for well nigh half an hour, then there came a soft tap at her chamber door.

"Come in," said Bertha.

And Mrs. Raymond entered.

"I beg your pardon for disturbing you, Miss Wyman, but were you aware that you had left your bracelet on the piazza floor? Here it is."

"It took you and Mr. Fordham some time to discover the loss of a bracelet," said Bertha tauntingly. "I am really sorry to have given you the trouble of so lengthened a search."

Zaidee Raymond's cheeks flushed painfully.

"If you would allow me to confide in you, Miss Wyman," she faltered, drawing a step or two nearer to the Saxon beauty. "Mr. Fordham has told me—"

"I do not wish to become the repository of your confidence," said Bertha, with chilling abruptness, "nor do I care what Mr. Fordham chooses to tell you. Good night."

And she motioned Mrs. Raymond imperatively from her presence.

"I should have struck her in another second," she murmured to herself, tearing the tiny lace frill away from her throat, as if its slight pressure impeded free respiration. "I have seen the nurses shrink away from me, as a child, when my temper rose. There was murder in my eyes, they said. I think murder came into my heart, when I stood there facing that treacherous black-eyed woman. Let her beware how she ventures to come between me and mine."

Unconscious Paul Fordham! If he could only have known, as he paced up and down the dewy lawn, smoking his cigar, the thoughts that were passing through the mind of his betrothed!

"Bertha," he said, the next afternoon, as they stood together by the great, spicy sweet-brier bush, "do you know I had quite a chat with Mrs. Raymond last night?"

"I am aware of it," answered Bertha, indifferently, stooping to gather a scented spray.

"And by Jove, Bertha, the little creature has had the most romantic life to——"

"I dare say," said Bertha, turning abruptly away. "The breeze is too strong out here, I think I will go to the library."

Paul stared at his companion in utter bewilderment.

"I suppose that means she doesn't want to talk any more about Zaidee Raymond. Well, of all incomprehensible creatures, a woman is the most incomprehensible! They are leagues and leagues beyond my penetration—the whole race of them. I supposed she would be interested; and here she snaps my head off before I get out a dozen words."

And Paul followed Bertha to the library, confused, and not altogether pleased at the arbitrary decisiveness of the beautiful blonde.

It was about a week afterward that Bertha Wyman was coming home from a long walk to a distant farm house, where an old school-mate of hers resided. She had refused Paul Fordham's escort, probably because she had seen him walking up and down the long hall with Mrs. Raymond at his side that very morning, and now she felt a little wearied, somewhat lonely, and very cross. The sun had been down about half an hour, but the west was still illuminated with a belt of orange brightness, and the winding river, tangled along the shore with starry water-lilies, reflected the warm glow of the sky like a second firmament.

As Bertha descended into a little hollow, fragrant with wild roses—for she had avoided the thoroughfare, unfrequented though it was, and chosen instead a shaded by-path—she became conscious that two other persons were strolling along the road itself, from whom she was divided by a tangled mass of wild grape-vines festooned from the slender branches of a few silver birches—two other persons—Paul Fordham and Zaidee Raymond.

Concluded to-morrow.

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $8 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and at other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Literary Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, being printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. jy26tiawlm

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfsbls

NEW PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

The August number of Old and New contains much pleasant summer reading. The editorial tells how to make a summer excursion that is worth the while. There are two chapters of Mrs. Stowe's story, and three chapters of the new story by the editor; Edward Everett's own story of his college life is concluded. There is another "Sorrento Paper" by Charles Dudley Warner. Edward A. Pollard contributes "Recollections of Appomattox Court House;" Fred. W. Perkins an amusing story entitled "Devil-Puzzlers."

The Journal of Chemistry, for August, contains a great variety of valuable and interesting matter to all classes, and is heartily commended to the public as one of the most valuable of the monthlies.

The eighth volume of Peters' Musical Monthly began with the July number, and the publisher now offers the July and August numbers together, some thirty pieces of new music, for 50 cents. (J. L. Peters, 599 Broadway, New York.)

The Song Messenger, published by Root & Cady, Chicago, is filled with good music and other matter. $1 per annum.

Harpers Weekly for August 5 is one of the finest specimens of illustrated journalism ever published in this country. Two of Nast's strongest political caricatures will probably attract most attention, while the likeness of the three members of the Ninth Regiment who fell victims to the mob of the 12th inst., will also be generally regarded with interest. A new poem by Joaquin Miller—the rising litterary star of California—is original and particularly good. There are several illustrations of Salem, Mass., and a large cartoon representing "Danger in the Desert," from a water-color by Karl Haug, is unusually strong. Altogether, this may be pronounced a "champion number" of the weekly.

RUSSIA AND AUSTRIA seem to be preparing for war.

THE PROFILE HOUSE, Franconia Notch, can now accomodate six hundred guests.

M. FAVRE has resigned the foreign ministry of France. The number of communists awaiting trial is 32,000.

BASE BALL.—Brooklyn Excelsiors 10, Savannahs 9.
Rockford Forest Citys 18, Mutuals 5.

THE BOSTON HERALD'S edition the day after the New York riot was 125,000, larger by 20,000 than that after the surrender at Sedan, and probably the largest ever printed in New England.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT has appointed Mr. Gurney, the recorder of the city of London, commissioner on its part of the treaty of Washington; and the President has appointed Judge Frazer of Indiana, commissioner on the part of the United States. The third member of the board is to be appointed by the United States and Great Britain conjointly. The claims of the British government will be represented by Henry Howard, and those of this country by Robert S. Hale of New York.

BUCHU

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

DIOSMA CRENATA — BUCHU LEAVES.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic; their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Diseases, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the Blood, etc., superceding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

Describe symptoms in all communications.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA,

The Great Blood Purifier

—AND—

Beautifier of the Complexion.

Helmbold's Extract Sarsaparilla

will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Leg, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

BEING PREPARED EXPRESSLY FOR THE ABOVE COMPLAINTS, ITS BLOOD-PURIFYING PROPERTIES ARE GREATER THAN ANY OTHER PREPARATION OF SARSAPARILLA. IT GIVES THE COMPLEXION A CLEAR AND HEALTHY COLOR, AND RESTORES THE PATIENT TO A STATE OF HEALTH AND PURITY. FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD, REMOVING ALL CHRONIC CONSTITUTIONAL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, AND THE ONLY RELIABLE AND EFFECTUAL KNOWN REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF PAINS AND SWELLINGS OF THE BONES, ULCERATIONS OF THE THROAT AND LEGS, BLOTCHES, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, ERYSIPELAS, AND ALL SCALY ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN, AND BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION.

Helmbold's Catawba Grape Pills,

The most reliable PURGATIVE AND CATHARTIC known, superceding Salts, Magnesia, etc., in Sick or Nervous Headache, Jaundice, Indigestion, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Billiousness, Liver Complaints, General Debility, etc. No nauseas, no griping pains, but mild, pleasant and safe in operation.

The CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS are purely vegetable, being composed of Catawba Grape Juice and Fluid Extract Rhubarb.

Beware of those cheap patent pills, carelessly prepared by inexperienced persons, vended in wooden boxes, most of which contain either calomel, mercury or other deleterious drugs.

JURUBEBA

IS A SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT that has been used for many years by the medical faculty of those countries with wonderful effect, and is a Sure and Perfect Remedy for all Diseases of the
LIVER AND SPLEEN, ENLARGEMENT OR OBSTRUCTION OF INTESTINES, URINARY, UTERINE OR ABDOMINAL ORGANS, POVERTY OR A WANT OF BLOOD, INTERMITTENT OR REMITTENT FEVERS, INFLAMMATION OF THE LIVER, DROPSY, SLUGGISH CIRCULATION OF THE BLOOD, ALL RASHES, TUMORS, JAUNDICE, SCROFULA, DYSPEPSIA, AGUE AND FEVER, OR THEIR CONCOMITANTS.
Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba is a most perfect alterative, and is offered to the public as a great invigorator and remedy for all impurities of the blood, or for organic weakness with their attendant evils. For the foregoing complaints
Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba
is confidently recommended to every family as a household remedy, and should be freely taken in all derangements of the system.
It is NOT a PHYSIC—it is NOT what is popularly called a BITTERS, nor is it intended as such; but is simply a powerful alterative giving health, vigor and tone to all the vital forces, and animates and fortifies all weak and lymphatic temperaments. 3waul

AQUEDUCT NOTICE.

THE DIRECTORS of the Portsmouth Aqueduct hereby caution all persons against the waste of the Aqueduct water, the springs being unusually low, and without great economy in its use they may not be able to maintain the present supply. In this connection they forbid all persons in any way interfering with the business of the Aqueduct, by opening the stops or any other operation except in case of fire. Whenever any work respecting the Aqueduct is needed, application must be made to the Agent, who will do what is necessary in the premises. By order of the Directors. OLIVER AYERS, Agent.

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quilt, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.

They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the thinnest muslin, in fact they will do every useful work that mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.

These celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on the installment principle, as best suits convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency in Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Eliot, Newcastle, Rye, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1871.

TAMMANY is making frantic efforts to defend itself from the attacks of the New York Times. At first, Hall and his newspaper defenders declaimed with virtuous indignation against the "surreptitious" manner in which the Times procured the figures it gave, and denied their accuracy; now, they have discovered (after two weeks' search) that these same figures have been before the tax-payers in "a bound volume" for a long time,—which they are delighted to hear, never having found it out before. Mayor Hall asserts that the accounts given in the Times "are all published in a bound volume of the proceedings of the board of supervisors," to which the Times replies that not half a dozen of those "bound volumes" are in existence, (Mayor Hall only says there is one,) and that the astonishment created by the recent disclosures shows how well the Ring concealed their nefarious work. The World comes out with parallel columns of figures in support of Hall's statement, and the Times points out that the World's own figures show that vast swindles which the board of supervisors are charged by the mayor with perpetrating, were approved by the mayor and paid by Connolly long before they were presented to the board! The Tribune says "the fraudulent operations of the Tammany Ring continued down to a very recent date. About two months ago a business man on Wall Street presented a bill at the Controller's office for work done in the new court house. The amount claimed was $10,000, but whenever the claimant visited the court house and demanded payment he was informed that there was no money and the bill could not be paid. Really requiring money, he again and again visited the Controller's office and stated his need. He was at last told that if he presented a bill for $64,000 he would be paid. This he did, and received $64,000; $10,000 he retained, and the remainder he handed over to the members of the Ring in the Controller's office. The complete exposure of this monstrous swindle is expected to result from the agitation now going on in Wall Street."

A SIGNIFICANT CONTRAST of Democratic and Republican financial management may be found in the following instructive table:

—The late Radical State Convention in Iowa was opened with prayer by a political priest, named Stevens. In the course of his blasphemous prayer he uttered the following "O Lord, by all means, give us this year our usual 40,000 majority, and if possible, O Lord, give us 80,000 majority!" This demonstration was received with applause, many of the members of the convention clapping their hands and shouting: "Bully for you, Brother Wilson!" Such a scene as this could not have occurred without condemnation in any other than a Radical political convention.—Maine Standard.

After the organization of the New Hampshire House of Representatives, in June, we didn't hear any Democrats make any objection because Parson Ham of Gilmanton prayed thuswise:—"And ah, oh, God-ah, grant-ah, we beseech thee that-ah the minority see fit-ah to submit-ah to the will-ah of the majority."

STONE & MURRAY'S BALLOON rose at Livermore Falls, Wednesday, about a hundred feet, and then plunged into the rapids of Androscoggin river above the bridge. The balloon was hooked out, but no body had been recovered up to noon of next day.

THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS have voted an annuity of £1200 to Prince Arthur. A meeting of 5000 people was held in Trafalgar Square, London, to protest against it.

THE NATIONAL DEBT was reduced $8,700,000 in July.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

Manchester complains of the scarcity of water in operating its mills. It is supposed, by those there who have studied the subject, that the low water in streams during the summers of the past few years is owing mostly to the fact that the woods along the banks and about the little rivulets among the hills and mountains have been cut to a great extent. The little streams being exposed to the sun, evaporation goes on rapidly and they are soon dried up.

Wilton's public library is now considered a certainty. The sum of $1400 has already been raised.

A waste house belonging to the Great Falls Woolen Mill Company was burned Saturday morning. The loss was about $3000, and was covered by insurance.

Mr. Levi Blaisdell was found dead in his field at Chichester, on Friday night.

The trains on the Portland and Rochester Railroad, from Portland to Rochester, began to run regularly last Monday.

The International Telegraph Company have opened their line for business to North Conway.

An accurate map of Nashua has just been published.

The conductor of the Sunday milk train told a lady, who was bound for Milford, to change cars at North Chelmsford. The change was made by getting out at the forward end of the car and getting in again at the hind end. Imagine her astonishment when she discovered herself in Manchester.

The house and stable of Mr. H. Nelson in Sanbornton were burned a few nights since. Loss about $3000 and insured $1400.

Mrs. A. D. Richardson is visiting in Manchester, which was formerly her home.

POLITICAL.

The Lebanon (Penn.) Courier says that the Democratic party at the present moment reminds one of a wasp—very nearly in two, with the larger piece behind.

The Mobile Tribune ironically commends the "New Departure" of the Democracy as the ends of shams, and adds: "As the new empire swings off upon its course, we doff our hats and rattle our chains."

It is shown by the Sacramento Union that the Democratic Governor of California, now a candidate for re-election on the anti-subsidy platform, signed bills granting aid to railroads to the amount of $30,000,000, which the late Democratic legislature passed.

An immense republican meeting was held in San Francisco on Saturday night. It was the largest held in the vicinity for many years.

The democracy of San Francisco have divided into three parties on local nominations.

STATE VS. JONES.—The Lancaster Republican, published at the home of Judge Ladd, says:—"The opinion in the case of State vs. Jones, the Newmarket murderer, delivered by Judge Ladd at the recent law term of the Supreme Judicial Court for Rockingham county, is said to be one of the most able delivered in that county for many years. It settles the law of New Hampshire that there is no legal test of insanity in criminal cases, but that the question of whether the respondent was insane, and whether the insanity caused him to commit the crime, is one of fact for the jury, and not of law for the court. This is not in accordance with the law on this subject as heretofore held in this country and in England, and the case will doubtless be a leading one in the reports."

THE EXPLOSION of the boiler of the steamer Westfield is the theme of discussion, everywhere. Already 80 passengers have died; 146 are reported wounded. Some of the New York journals censure the engineer of the Westfield. Secretary Boutwell called on the board of supervising inspectors of steamboats to make a thorough investigation into the causes of the explosion, together with a detailed account of the last inspection by the board. The supervisors are instructed to make a rigid inquiry into every fact connected with the accident, and to report as soon as the investigation is concluded whether her last inspection was such as is required of inspectors under the law.

THE town of Point-a-Petri, Guadaloupe, was destroyed by an incendiary fire, July 18th. The only buildings that escaped were a church, theatre, tribunal buildings and hospital. Thirty thousand persons are homeless.

THE PERSIAN MINISTER at London refuses to credit the horrible statements concerning the reported famine in the country which he represents.

THE PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, in considering how soon a mob should be fired upon, says: "We think under certain circumstances 'patience ceases to be a virtue,' after a second brick, and is not much of a virtue after the first."

NAVAL.—U. S. steamer California, from New York via Callao, has arrived at San Francisco. This is her first trip and proves her an admirable seagoing vessel.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

All the year round, Sheridan's Cauvalry Condition Powders should be given to horses that are "kept up." To horses and cattle that graze in Summer, they should only be given in Winter and Spring.

Officers and Soldiers who served in the army, physicians, surgeons, and eminent men and women everywhere, join in recommending Johnson's Anodyne Liniment to be the best internal and external family medicine ever invented. That's our experience.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article. Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length Hostetter's Stomach Bitters made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlighted age has consigned them. There have been many spurious bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while Hostetter's has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration of health.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in public estimation, and its beneficial effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sitting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the medium hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELDER'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelder's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Famine has followed on the track of war in the fairest land of Europe, but neither war nor famine is as destructive as neglected or maltreated diseases. Essential as food to the starving, is DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS to all who suffer dyspepsia, congestion or torpidity of the liver, constipation or intermittent fevers. To treat these complaints with mineral poisons and acrid alkaloids, while this mild and certain remedy is within reach of all, is little better than moonstruck madness. 1ify29

THAT DELIGHTFUL SEASIDE retreat known as the WOODMAN FARM, containing forty acres of land, a commodious, new and imposing house and convenient outbuildings, situated on the easterly side of Great Island, (Newcastle,) within a stone's throw of the ocean, and in full view of the "Isles of Shoals."

Also adjoining the same, "POINT JERRY," embracing ten acres of arable land extending far out into the sea, being the nearest point of land to the "Isles of Shoals," and forming the outside boundary of what is known as Little Harbor.

This is the most desirable spot on the seacoast for summer residences, possessing all the advantages of the world renowned "Isles of Shoals," in bracing atmosphere, deep sea fishing and surf-bathing on one side, while on the other is a smooth, hard beach and still water. There is also upon it a never failing pond of fresh water, an old battery, and a light-house beacon. Roads always good and scenery unsurpassable.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

WHENEVER the editor of the local Opposition sheet is cornered by or particularly incensed at anything in the CHRONICLE, he relieves his overburthened feelings by referring to us as "the retinue of the late Uncle Toby." We never see that expression in the columns of that paper without wondering who its editor is having a fling at, Uncle Toby or ourself. If the former, experience should have taught him ere this that he is wasting his spite; as no one knows better than himself that from the time his present paper was first established up to the date of Uncle Toby's decease, its editors were the authors of insinuations and inuendos so vile that they could have been conceived only in minds filled with venom and filth, directed against him, in spite of which—and in spite even of their praise after his death—the old gentleman to-day holds a place in the esteem of the best men of the Democratic party in Portsmouth, which has never been attained by the editors of the sheet which so sedulously endeavored to injure him, and which they never will gain by casting slurs upon his memory, now that he has been dead for a twelve-month and more.

If the editor intends a fling at us, he shoots equally wide of his mark. If he thinks we are ashamed of having been connected in business and friendship with Uncle Toby, his ideas of the attributes of true manliness must be yet in embryo. Had we sat at the feet of the first editor (to name whom in the same column with Uncle Toby were sacrilege) of the sheet Mr. Thayer conducts, even had we learned the lesson of the blackguard so thoroughly as he evidently has, we should blush to own it, if any remnant of honorable shame remained to us—if not, we would still sham a little; but that Uncle Toby was our friend and associate we are never likely to deny or be ashamed of. As the lapse of each week removes us farther and farther from the time when he was with us, the affectionate reverence with which we recall the memory of his many virtues only increases; and it would have been far better for Mr. Thayer could he have studied manly honor and fair dealing under Uncle Toby, rather than to have taken the lessons he did from a man he must have despised, even as he was despised by the whole community.

We will give Mr. Thayer one piece of friendly information, which is, that if he wishes to secure for himself the reputation of being a gentleman, and for his paper a reputation for "smartness," he will fail to reach those ends by making periodical flings at Uncle Toby. Born in this city and having lived here nearly man's allotted three score and ten years, universally respected for his unswerving devotion to principle, with never a stain on his fair fame and with never a breath against it save from Mr. Thayer and his former associate, Uncle Toby's memory will be cherished just the same after his slurs as before; and we do not believe such slurs will add to his popularity or his fame as a man and a gentleman, even with the Democratic party,—the better portion of that party, at all events.

THE NEW DEMOCRATIC APPOINTEES include John S. H. Frink, County Solicitor, Samuel Rowe, Sheriff, and Calvin Page, Police Justice. Mr. Frink is an able lawyer, the leading Democratic attorney of the Rockingham Bar, and not such a bitter partizan as he might be; Mr. Rowe is an old fashioned Democrat of the days of 1850, and long ago earned the reward his party tardily tenders him; Mr. Page is a young man, our especial delight and admiration as a Democratic Judge.

THE AQUEDUCT COMPANY have the promised engine in position for pumping water from the Sherburne spring into the stand pipe at the Fountain Head, and water-takers may now hope for an abundant supply. The machine is one of "Roper's patent caloric engines," manufactured by A. W. Tripp, of Boston; it is of 3-horse power, was at work, Monday afternoon, and on Tuesday was pumping water at the rate of from 600 to 700 gallons per minute.

THE MUSTER.—The Hanover Fire Insurance Co. of New York, John M. Davis, Agent, has contributed to the muster fund. Tiger Engine, No. 1, of Haverhill, Mass., is entered on the list of hand engines. The company numbers 50 men, and will appear with a band of 24 pieces.

Mr. Henry C. Walker will present a box of soap to the hand engine playing the shortest stream.

MR. AMOS MANSER, of Concord, the brakeman who was struck by lightning, near Littlefield's Crossing, on the Concord up-train, Monday evening, was severely injured.

THE resignation of Jere. Prescott, the able and popular Superintendent of the Eastern Railroad, has not been accepted, and great efforts are being made to induce him to withdraw it, which we hope will prove successful.

OUR LYRICAL NEIGHBOR is anxious to know what will become of "the great Republican party" if Naval officers continue discharges at the Navy Yard. If Naval officers choose to interfere with the "great Republican party," we have no doubt which will go to the wall.

AN EXCURSION to the Shoals in Steamer Appledore, under the auspices of Admiral Butler, is to come off on Thursday. The steamer will leave Pier Wharf at half past 10 o'clock A. M., visiting Appledore and Star Islands and returning at 8 o'clock in the evening. Tickets at 75 cts. for the trip can be procured of J. C. Butler, at store No. 1 Market Square.

AT A MEETING of the School Committee of Ward One, held on Monday evening, July 31, it was Voted, To notify the owners of the property on High Street that the room now used for a primary school under the charge of Miss Flora M. Fitts, will be no longer required by them for a school room.

Voted, To request the City Government to furnish a suitable room for the primary school now in charge of Miss Flora M. Fitts.

CHANGES ON THE CONCORD RAILROAD.—The following changes of officials on the Concord Railroad were made on Tuesday:—J. W. Wardwell appointed General Ticket Agent in place of C. E. Twombly, who is made Conductor on the Portsmouth Road in place of George Maynard, and Charles H. Wyatt appointed Conductor on the Suncook Valley Road, vice A. S. Messer removed. We regret the removal of Mr. Maynard and congratulate Mr. Wyatt on the merited recognition of his services.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds.

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded.

DELIVERED FROM EVIL.

The color died away from Bertha's somewhat flushed cheeks, as she paused to listen, for they, too, had paused where two roads separated.

"We must not walk any further together," said Paul Fordham's voice. "Nobody is to suspect anything yet, you know. We'll surprise them."

And then came Zaidee's soft, hesitating laugh.

"It seems like a dream, Mr. Fordham."

"But you will find it, I hope, a happy reality," he said, looking tenderly down upon her bowed head. "You do not regret trusting in me?"

"Oh!" she said. "I never dreamed that earth could have so much happiness in store for me yet! And I owe it all to you!

And then Bertha could hear his footsteps dying away in the distance; she could see Mrs. Raymond standing motionless for a moment, with her tiny hands clasped and then gliding on, her scarlet scarf glimmering through the dusk like the wing of a Ceylon bird.

"False! faithless!" murmured Bertha under her breath, with her white teeth set closely together, "Ah, she! how dare she?"

The storm of hot, unreasoning jury that raged in her breast seemed to shake her slight frame as a leaf is shaken by the equinoctial gale, and her eyes literally blazed with blue.

She hurried down the twilight glade, the thorns tearing her dress, the briars wounding her delicate flesh, but she felt them no more than if they had been rose petals blown toward her by the evening breeze. Some strong savage purpose was maturing in her mind—some overmastering passion held her whole being in its grasp.

She knew that to strike into the right road, Zaidee must ere long take the secluded path she herself was treading. Her sole aim was to reach the tiny foot bridge which crossed the narrow river first.

And she succeeded. It was quite dark—the fragrant, starry darkness of a midsummer night—when she hurried down the steep, shelving bank.

"The planks are old and ruinous," she murmured. "They shook and rattled under my feet as I passed to-day. Zaidee Raymond shall come between me and my plighted lover no more!"

As she crossed she deliberately stopped, tearing up the planks behind her, and throwing them into the river, with a dull, splashing sound. They were not large, but had they been twice, nay, three times their size, Bertha Wyman would have torn them away from the mouldering beams, so supernatural seemed her strength at that instant.

"There," she said, half aloud, pausing to look down into the peaceful stream, where the planks floated amid the faint reflection of innumerable stars. "Long ago, when I was a child, a man was drowned here. The water is deep, and the spot lonely."

The next moment she was gone, hurrying away as if some unseen presence was following close upon her footsteps.

"You are late to-night, Bertha?"

Paul was looking out for her piazza steps, and came pleasantly to meet her.

"I know it," she said, putting the hair away from her forehead, where the cold dew stood in beads. "It's a long way from Redcote Farms and I—I did not walk very fast."

"Come, sit by me, Bertha," said Paul; "I've a long story to tell you."

"What is it?" she said mechanically.

"It's about little Zaidee Raymond. She's not a widow after all."

"Not a widow?"

"No; and how do you suppose I found out! Clifford, my cousin Clifford, wrote to me from India, and he is her husband. You see there was some absurd quarrel between them before the honeymoon was over. He was a jealous fool, and she has ran away and left him. He somehow heard she was in this part of the country, and wrote to me. Of course, the minute I got a chance to speak to her, I knew it was Zaidee. And she is the happiest little creature in the world to think he really loves her; and next week she's going out to him. I've managed it all. Don't you think I'm a pretty good diplomatist?"

His face was fairly radiant with honest pleasure as he looked down into Bertha's face. He did not see her gaze; her eyes wide open and dilated, were fixed on vacancy, and her face was deadly white.

Merciful God of heaven. What had she done, in the wild, unreasoning fit madness of her jealousy! Was she a murderess? Was the blot of Cain upon her brow?

Alas! for the wild remorse that gnawed at her heart all the slow creeping hours of that dreadful night! Had the wealth of a hundred worlds been hers she would have cheerfully given it all to undo the work of those few maniac minutes on the lonely bridge! Nay, she would have died herself, in all the bloom of her youth, hope and beauty, to wipe out that brief half hour of her life!

When she rose next morning she looked as if an illness of months had passed over her head.

"How ill you look dear!" said her aunt. "I'm afraid that walk was too much for you yesterday. And its so strange that Zaidee did not come home last night."

"Strange!" As Bertha closed her heavy eyes she almost seemed to see the dead face turned upward among the water lilies, with its wealth of jetty hair tangled in their wreathed stems. Oh, God! as long as she lived that white face would haunt her walking or sleeping hours.

Would it be long before they found the corpse? Would they bring it up the flowery lawn, with the dripping hair, or wou,d it float there for days, perhaps, in that lonely spot? And—

"Why Zaidee! where have you been all this time!"

Bertha started up, with a wild hysteric scream. It was her aunt's voice and Zaidee Raymond stood in the midst of them, with blooming cheeks and soft dimpled smiles.

"At Farmer Geary's, to be sure. It was so dark when I passed there last night that the kind souls insisted on my staying with them until morning. And it was a very lucky thing I did, for when we got to the bridge in the morning, we found that the thunder shower in the night had raised the stream and washed off half those ruinous old planks."

Bertha Wyman rose and came toward Zaidee, taking her to her bosom with a strong, tender pressure that the young creature scarely understood.

"Oh, Zaidee, we were so frightened! Thank heaven, you are safe once more! Dearest Zaidee, Paul has told me all, and I am so glad!"

If ever a woman spoke from the bottom of her heart, Bertha Wyman did at that moment.

The next week, Mrs. Raymond went out to join her husband in India, and a month after Paul Fordham was married to Bertha, whose unwonted gentleness and sweetness of demeanor rather astonished the household.

"Something has changed her very much," said the good old aunt. But no one ever knew what that "something" was that had wrought such an alteration in Bertha's character.

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in Iowa. The Company sell only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $3 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfab16

—From a Southern paper we clip the following little anecdote, which seems to be the parable of the "New Departure:"

A North Carolina negro, who has been a wandering idiot from a blow received on the skull while a servant in the Confederate army, was the other day subjected to a difficult operation at the hands of a skilful surgeon. His first gleam of intelligence after the result of the operation was as he opened his eyes and said; "We was done gone fo' a Manassas yesterday. Wha' is we to-day?"

Could anything more delicately or graphically picture the condition of the democratic party?—Philadelphia Press.

—Sunday, the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Company set 4000 men at work, and in seven hours changed the 340 miles of their track from broad to narrow gauge. This would be impossible, were it not that Sunday is set apart for us to mend our ways, and depart from the broad road to the narrow path.—Chicago Post.

—During a game of base-ball at Tama City, Iowa, the batter, in throwing back his club for a telling stroke, hit the catcher in the temple, killing him instantly.

—Leprosy is spreading rapidly in the Sandwich Islands, and threatens to become epidemic there, unless the law for the isolation of lepers is rigidly enforced.

CONSUMPTION.

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

DR. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach, they respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-purifying, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no excoriation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of pulleritigs it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten tissue that it occupied is removed and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, is death to me. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet: they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will allow, to keep up the circulation of the blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain. To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worse cases, and yet to impart fear to others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed unintermpted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the inquiring at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

BUCHU

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

DIOSMA CRENATA — BUCHU LEAVES.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic; their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Diseases, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the Blood, etc., superceding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 3, 1871.

THE TAMMANY SCANDAL.—The excitement about the steamboat explosion has partly diverted attention from the Tammany frauds; but both parties in the fight are active, particularly those concerned in exposing the frauds. The Times continues its assaults and repeats its call for an exhibition of figures from Connolly's books. It is currently reported that several bookkeepers are at work in the Tammany interest, preparing a set of books that will bear inspection; and though recently made and bound, these books will have all indications of age that can be desired and will have the accounts cooked in such a way as to appear favorable to the officials. One of the Tammany men said that whether there had been stealing or not the present stories were greatly injuring Tammany, but they would soon blow over unless the Republicans kept them up; and if they could be choked off at election time, the result would not be very serious. Most of the Tammany men continue the line of argument started several days ago; that is, they do not attempt to explain charges against them, but retort by charging Republican frauds at Washington and elsewhere. Some of them say that the steamboat explosion happened in the right time to absorb attention, and if there were to be any more accidents of the same sort they wanted them hurried up. Tweed, Sweeney and others have heretofore approved all publications in papers in their interest describing their great wealth, but just now they are opposed to any such publications, and ask their friends to keep quiet.

The Herald publishes the names of ninety-three known to be killed and one hundred and twenty-two seriously injured.

THE NEW YORK MAIL says Jim Fisk has recently visited Niagara and made a proposition that fairly shook the Suspension Bridge. He wants to purchase Goat Island, and is reported to have offered two million dollars in Erie stock at 29 for it, and on securing it agrees to erect the largest hotel in the world, capable of entertaining two thousand guests. A race-course of one mile length will encircle the island, and there will be groves and grottoes, palaces and summer houses, drives and walks, public amusements and retired retreats, fruits and flowers—in fact, a Paradise hitherto undreamed of in this or any other land.

BRICK POMEROY has made himself the laughing stock of the Republicans of Alabama. By some means he became possessed of a private letter written by a member of the Alabama Legislature, which as a speciment of illiteracy exceeded any effort even of Josh Billings. Supposing its author to have been a Republican, Brick published it with an introduction calling attention to it as a specimen of Republican erudition in Alabama, and gave the name of the author in full, who turns out to be not a Republican but one of the bitterest Democrats in all Alabama. A clear case, says an Alabama paper, of dog eat dog.

THE EXCITEMENT in New York continues about the steamboat explosion. It is thought a dozen or more bodies were swept away by the current and will not be discovered for several days, if at all. A public subscription similar to the one for the Avondale sufferers is being started for the sufferers. The cause of the accident is not yet clearly ascertained, but it is pretty well settled that the boiler had much greater pressure than allowed by law. Most of the ferry companies are asking for new inspections of their boilers, and are using great precautions to prevent accidents like that of Sunday.

MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS made an ascension at Nashville, Tenn., recently, in a balloon inflated with hot air, and landed on a factory chimney, the basket hanging fifteen feet below the top. Knowing that the hot air would soon leave the balloon and fearing that he would be dashed to the ground, a distance of 125 feet, he climbed on a slender cord to the top of the chimney and descended by means of an interior spiral stairway, emerging half suffocated and covered with soot from head to foot.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

A very curious phenomenon was witnessed on Lake Winnipesaukie, Sunday afternoon, about half-past two o'clock, by two men who were anchored off Rattlesnake Island in a small boat. There was scarcely a breath of air stirring, and the surface of the lake was unaffected by even a ripple, when the centre of the lake appeared to sink down, and immediately following were three large waves, the largest of which was over five feet in height, dashing over the rocks of the Island, for a moment threatening destruction to the boat.

On Saturday, July 29, a son of Mr. C. C. Dickey of Manchester, 12 years old, fell off an ice cart, the wheels of which passed over one of his thighs and fractured the bone badly.

During an altercation on Sunday evening, July 30, in the house of Michael McGrath of Nashua, he had his tongue cut half in two. All the parties to the row were drunk.

THE NEW RAILROAD.—Operations were begun last week on the railroad between Newton Depot and West Amesbury, the road connecting with the Boston and Maine road at Newton Depot. The contractors for building the road are Messrs. Reed and Parker of Lewiston Falls, Me., and the expense will be about $115,000, the distance being nearly five miles. The original contract stipulated that the road should be finished in December next, but on account of the objection of the Boston and Maine Company (which has a ninety-nine year lease of the road from the time of its completion, at 5 five per cent. per annum) to the road being ballasted in cold weather, the contract will probably be extended to June, 1875. A charter for this new road was granted about three years ago. This expired by limitation, but has since been renewed.

The road passes near the centre of the town of Newton, which is well supplied with railroad facilities: The Boston & Maine road passes the whole length of the town, from Plaistow to Kingston; the West Amesbury branch road passes the whole width of the town to Amesbury, Mass., a distance of about two miles; and the new road will probably extend to Amesbury Mills, as the road has been surveyed and located to that place.—Exeter News Letter.

AN EVEN THING.—The Prohibition Herald thinks it was about an even thing with the three parties in the Legislature thus:

The Republicans lost their control of the State by an abandonment of the former sound morality of the party; the Democrats, to get control of the State, sold themselves to the dictation of a Radical Reform party, ten times less than itself in strength: and the Radical Reform party, to get office, sold itself by a compromise with the very party wrongs it was professedly organized to overthrow; thereby showing it was for office, and not honest reform, that it was at work. None of the acting parties in the last Legislature have much to boast of.

How much has the Temperance faction to boast of over the nomination of Pike and the defeat of Republican Representatives in Dover and elsewhere?

HON. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS is to be tendered the appointment of arbitrator on the part of the United States, to meet with those of other nations for the settlement of the Alabama claims as provided in the treaty of Washington.

GYMNASTICS BY A STAGE COACH.—On the 19th as the coaches were going from Centre Harbor to North Conway they were warned at Madison of a bad washout made in the road by the storm. The first coach passed the narrow spot safely, but the second was more heavily loaded and had to run closer, when the soft earth gave way and the vehicle went crashing down the bank, a distance of eighteen feet among the trees and rocks. Though nine persons were inside and two buttoned in the boot with the driver, the injuries were merely bruises. Trunks and the coach suffered. The front wheels and horses were detached by the tip-over, and the driver, hanging on to the reins, was dragged a long distance. Considering that the coach was so full and turned completely over once and a half, it is remarkable no one was hurt.—Concord Patriot.

—Lumber is the currency in a certain town in Alabama, and the cost of julep is "three ten feet planks."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

All the year round, Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders should be given to horses that are "kept up." To horses and cattle that graze in Summer, they should only be given in Winter and Spring.

Officers and Soldiers who served in the army, physicians, surgeons, and eminent men and women everywhere, join in recommending Johnson's Anodyne Liniment to be the best internal and external family medicine ever invented. That's our experience.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article. Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length Hostetter's Stomach Bitters made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlighted age has consigned them. There have been many spurious bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while Hostetter's has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration of health.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in public estimation, and its beneficial effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sitting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dysing. 1mjy27

BATCHELDER'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelder's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 15 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Famine has followed on the track of war in the fairest land of Europe, but neither war nor famine is as destructive as neglected or maltreated diseases. Essential as food to the starving, is DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS to all who suffer dyspepsia, congestion or torpidity of the liver, constipation or intermittent fevers. To treat these complaints with mineral poisons and acrid alkaloids, while this mild and certain remedy is within reach of all, is little better than moonstruck madness. 1djy29

REAL ESTATE.

FOR SALE! FOR SALE!

THAT DELIGHTFUL SEASIDE retreat known as the WOODMAN FARM, containing forty acres of land, a commodious, new and imposing house and convenient outbuildings, situated on the easterly side of Great Island, (Newcastle,) within a stone's thrown of the ocean, and in full view of the "Isles of Shoals."

Also adjoining the same, "POINT JERRY," embracing ten acres of arable land extending far out into the sea, being the nearest point of land to the "Isles of Shoals," and forming the outside boundary of what is known as Little Harbor.

This is the most desirable spot on the seacoast for summer residences, possessing all the advantages of the world renowned "Isles of Shoals," in bracing atmosphere, deep sea fishing and surf-bathing on one side, while on the other is a smooth, hard beach and still water. There is also upon it a never failing pond of fresh water, an old battery, and a light-house beacon. Roads always good and scenery unsurpassable.

SOME of the lately discharged Navy Yard workmen seem to be going back there again.

A THUNDER STORM passed over this city and vicinity, Tuesday night at 10 o'clock, rain falling in torrents and lightning of a bluish tinge flashing almost continuously. The storm passed out to sea and seemed to be very severe in the vicinity of the Isles of Shoals.

'TIS SINGULAR how quickly the public adapt themselves to the events which crowd so thickly upon them. July 28th was the fifth anniversary of the successful laying of the Atlantic cable. Up to that date in 1866, the irrepressible Newman was wont to announce "Three Days Later from Europe" with as stentorian a voice as he now shouts "Disastrous Fire in Berlin This Morning." How the world wags!

ODD FELLOWS' PICNIC.—Union Rebecca Lodge, I. O. O. F., hold a picnic at Kittery Point, this day, Thursday. Steamer Appledore will leave Pier Wharf at half past 8 o'clock, A. M. Members of all Lodges, with their families, are cordially invited. Tickets for adults 25 cts.; for children 15 cts.; can be procured of the Committee of arrangements, Jos. H. Gardiner, A. F. Craig and M. H. Tilton.

THE HORSE of Mr. Dennett, of the Kearsarge House, ran away down Congress and Daniel Streets on Wednesday evening at a fearful rate, and brought up all standing, or rather falling, against a pile of lumber at S. Adams & Co.'s yard. The harness was badly broken, and the horse a little scarred, but the light open buggy being one of Came Brothers' best,—to the astonishment of all beholders, escaped without a scratch or a fracture. So much for good stock well put together.

THE MEETING of the North Parish, Tuesday evening, was very fully attended. Resolutions were unanimously passed expressing the strongest attachment to the pastor and great sorrow at his request for a dismissal, and asking him to withdraw the request; also reaffirming the vote granting leave of absence, with continuance of salary after the supply of the pulpit. Committees were appointed on the part of both Church and Parish, to present the resolutions to the pastor and personally urge the withdrawal of his request for a dismission; and many persons outside the Church and Parish will be gratified if the efforts of the Committees result in a reconsideration by Mr. Adams of his determination to leave.

A KITTERY CORRESPONDENT writes, under the date of August 2, that "the thunder shower last night was very heavy; the lightning struck a barn of Ephraim C. Spinney's, killed two steers and shattered the building badly—report says smashed it all to pieces. A tree near Mrs. Williams' barn at Spruce Creek was also struck. The rain fell in torrents for about three-quarters of an hour.

The foolishness of a young fellow of this town in interrupting a school and insulting the teacher, was quite plainly manifest to himself when Trial Justice Putnam of York ordered him to pay a fine and costs or stand committed, and he had to do the latter.

School Districts Nos. 6 and 7 were united last Spring by the town, each district being small and neither having a schoolhouse fit to pen cattle in. The districts thus united voted to build a schoolhouse, bought the necessary land and now have the underpinning ready to commence building upon; but the selectmen, town treasurer, building committee and others have been summoned to appear before Judge Tapley at Saco, on Saturday, Aug. 5, to show cause (if they can) why an injunction should not be issued restraining them from proceeding any further in the matter. These small districts have in years past dragged heavily on the larger ones for pecuniary support; their schoolhouses were but about quarter of a mile apart, and it is hard to see any good reason why the districts should not be united when a majority of the people desire it and the result would be to improve the school facilities. 'Political trickery' probably lies at the bottom of the opposition.

The Middle Street Baptist Society of Portsmouth had a picnic at Deering's Grove on Tuesday, the Catholics have one to-day (Wednesday,) and the I. O. O. F. another one on Thursday at the same place. It is said that Capt. Clarkson, who owns the grove, is intending to trim it up, dig a well and erect an ice house there this season, there being an ice pond near by. This will make it a splendid place for picnics."

A SQUARE REPUBLICAN.—We had an opportunity this forenoon to interview Mr. H. O. Proctor, the gentleman who was elected a member of the Common Council last week at a special election held in Ward Six. The points of the interview are briefly these:

Reporter—I wish to inquire for the benefit of an anxious public and the readers of the Telegraph, if you intend to accept the office of councilman to which you was elected by the Democrats and Republicans of Ward Six last week.

Mr. Proctor—I do not, and that's square. I was regularly nominated by a Republican caucus. I was notified of my nomination, and I positively declined to accept. I want no office; if I wanted office I could have had it long ago. The Republicans then nominated Mr. Bennett, a good man for the place; whereupon the Democrats finding they had nobody qualified for the position except Gen. Hunt, and that he could command but six votes, turned in and voted for me and with the help of some Republicans, who did not understand the situation, elected me.

Reporter—Have you been officially notified of your election, Mr. Proctor?

Mr. Proctor—I have not. When I am I shall decline, and you can so state. I am a Republican, and I understand the "little game" of the Democrats. I want the Republicans to nominate Mr. Bennett again, and I will give one day to his election.

Reporter—Mr. Proctor, you seem to be made of the right sort of stuff. If all the Republicans were no worse we should be saved from the confusion in our local politics that comes from Republicans, who don't know whether they are afoot or horseback—whether they are Republicans or Democrats. We congratulate you, Mr. Proctor, that you are not of this sort. Good day, sir.—Nashua Telegraph.

GREENLAND.—John B. Clarke of the Manchester Mirror, writes to his paper, about the beautiful town of Greenland, thusly:

Greenland suggests cooling breezes and fields dressed in living green. The name is not inappropriate half of the year. It is not easy to find a ride so delightful as from Greenland Depot through North Hampton and Hampton to Boar's Head. The farms, orchards and gardens are among the finest in our State. The land is easy of cultivation, comparatively free from rocks, and yields large crops. What is the system of agriculture adopted in this section we did not stop to inquire. How much the wash from the sea is used, how much the salice matter in the atmosphere tends to enrich the soil, and how great a per cent. of advantage the farmers in this section have over those farther inland in a market made by seekers of health, pleasure and comfort, I cannot say. I am certain that nowhere in the ten counties of New Hampshire do I see such evidences of prosperity among farmers as in this section. The apple flourishes here liberally "like a green bay tree." Such fine looking orchards I have never seen in any other part of our State. Nearly all the trees are surrounded with tarred paper to keep off canker-worms.

THE MUSTER.—Steamers No. 5, of Nashua, and No. 2, of Cambridgeport, are coming.

THE LIGHTNING on Tuesday evening ssruck a stone of several tons weight, near the railroad crossing in Kittery, and smashed it into hundreds of pieces. How would it work to engage that kind of a stone crusher to prepare material for our streets?

STORER ENCAMPMENT, G. A. R., are to have a picnic at Kittery Point on Thursday, Aug. 10. Steamer Appledore will convey the party down the river, and Harlow's Quadrille Band will furnish music. Tickets for adults 75 cts.; children half price.

AT A MEETING of the School Committee of Ward One, held on Monday evening, July 31, it was Voted, To notify the owners of the property on High Street that the room now used for a primary school under the charge of Miss Flora M. Fitts, will be no longer required by them for a school room.

Voted, To request the City Government to furnish a suitable room for the primary school now in charge of Miss Flora M. Fitts.

AN EXCURSION to the Shoals in Steamer Appledore, under the auspices of Admiral Butler, is to come off this day. The steamer will leave Pier Wharf at half past 10 o'clock A. M., visiting Appledore and Star Islands and returning at 8 o'clock in the evening. Tickets at 75 cts. for the trip can be procured of J. C. Butler, at store No. 1 Market Square.

MARINE CHRONICLE.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH.

ARR Aug. 1, Sch R. F. Hart, Hart, Alexandria
Sch A. H. Hamlin, Lewis, from this port, arr at Bangor, July 31st.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,000 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds.

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

IRISH LINENS, DAMASKS, LINEN CAMBRIC HANDK'FS, &c.
We feel ourselves called on again to CAUTION CONSUMERS against the indiscriminate use o Irish fabrics made up to imitate our goods in fold, trade mark, and general appearance, and to warn them, that their only safeguard is to see that the authentic seal of our firm,
J. N. RICHARDSON, SONS & OWDEN, is stamped on each article.
Determined to confine ourselves, as heretofore, to the use of yarns spun from the choicest and strongest Flax, by the best machinery obtainable; uniform in weight and elasticity—manufactured and bleached under our own superintendence, the consumer will be the same durability and satisfaction in the wear, which the genuine goods have always afforded.
GUARANTEED BY OUR SEAL

Morning Chronicle.

REV. RICHARD WILKINS delivered himself of a sermon in the Church of St. Michael, Swanmore, in which he stated as his belief that there would be twelve women to one man who would enter heaven. This, he stated, was a calculation of his own, and was based on sacramental confession.

PUNISHED FOR STEALING NEWSPAPER FILES.—A pleasant piece of poetic justice is reported from a town in Oregon. One morning a young man called upon the editor of the only paper in the county and asked permission to look at the files of that paper for 1869. It was granted. While the editor was in bed, waiting till his wife could wash his shirt, that young man carried the file, nor was it ever seen again until his lawyer offered it in evidence during the trial of an action for an alleged libel, which that young man brought against the editor. It is gratifying to learn that the plaintiff recovered six and a quarter cents damages, and was arrested by the editor on a charge of stealing books, convicted and sent to the Penitentiary for seven years.

—The other day the rare sight was presented here of a soft lobster just out of his old clothes and his cast-off shell by his side. He was foolish enough to creep in a lobster net just before he took off his overcoat, and was captured soft and fresh. Lobsters cast their shells once a year during their growing period. Some time before they are very restless and uneasy, probably from the pain of the tight fit, and the animal struggles to relieve himself. Soon the shell is split across the back, the claws are drawn out first, next the feet, which come hard, then the head and the eyes, and lastly the tail. The whole operation involves a good deal of shivering and pulling. In drawing out his legs and claws, as in his ferocious combats with other lobsters, if he breaks off a limb he always does it at the second joint; if not, he is a gone lobster by bleeding to death.—Cape Ann Advertiser.

—A patent bathing car has just been introduced at Cape May, and is constructed as follows. A strong framework with slot floor, surrounded by galvanized wire enclosure, through which the surge passes, is mounted on four wheels, and is hauled off and off the beach by endless wire cables running from a windlass on shore to a buoy beyond the breakers. On each side of the car are seats on which the bathers can recline, protected from the sun by canvass awnings.

—A short time since, while a party of gentlemen were engaged fishing on the White Loch, at Castle Kennedy, closely adjoining Lord Stair's Castle of Lochinch, Scotland, the draught net brought up a canoe, about twelve feet in length, hewn out of solid oak. It is supposed that the canoe had been submerged for hundreds of years.

—The Dexter Gazette is responsible for the statement that the grasshoppers are so thick and hungry in Newport, that, after eating all the peas and beans in a large field, they attacked a picket fence, and when they left it there was nothing remaining but the stringers and iron posts. This is a terrible year for grasshoppers.

—Old theories about the necessity of negro labor in hot climates are rapidly dissipated in the light of fact and experiment. In parts of Louisiana whites are now cultivating cotton and sugar successfully, and suffer no more from sickness than is common among the blacks.

—It is a curious fact that during the ravages of the plague in Buenos Ayres, nearly depopulating the city, not one of the three hundred and sixty grave-diggers employed died of the fever.

—The Lowell Courier says the most humiliating domestic use a full grown man can be put to is to be sent to the baker's for a "cent's worth of yeast."

—Henry Ward Beecher says he conducts his paper on the principle that sweetness is better than smartness.

—Countless millions of grasshoppers pass through St. Joseph, Mo., seeking homes in the far West.

—A bed of green-mottled granite has been discovered in the Adirondack region of New York.

—Carbolic acid will makes flies fly, if a few drops are sprinkled in a room.

—The Troy Whig thinks lovers by moonlight are the latest thing out.

—The Ohio River is low and milk in Cincinnati is scarce.

Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad Company.

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $5 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and at all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

UNDER A BURNING SUN, where Bilious affections and Fever of various descriptions so generally prevail,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

has been successful beyond all parallel. Hence the physicians of the tropics give it their emphatic sanction, prescribing it in preference to every other aperient in use. The patients, of course, gladly acquiesce, for this preparation is one of the most delightful, as well as mild and cooling cathartics, chemistry has yet devised, and possesses every medicinal virtue of the far-famed German Seltzer Spa. It is a powder that only requires the addition of water to produce in an instant a delicious effervescent beverage, as well as an invaluable medicine. Ask for and accept none but the genuine.

Officers of the Public Library of Kentucky,

R. T. DURRETT, President.
W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice-President.
M. W. CLUSKY, Secretary.
CITIZENS' BANK, Treasurer.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed Manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected, through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco GIFT Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. 1y24lawlm

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, passessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfeb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

The Chronicle.

IN PORTSMOUTH, Va., of an evening, 213 dogs pass a given point in 15 minutes, all howling different tunes.

—No man knows anything of God's love, or is fit to expound the Glad Tidings of Grace, who does not spend four hours every day in the sunshine, and fill every muscle, and stir every air cell with pure oxygen, and move every muscle, and stir every blood-drop by exhilarating activity. Ministers lived more out of doors and secreted more of the glow and glory of the earth and sky in their systems, they would be holier as well healthier and happier, and would inflict fewer dark and morbid views of life and pictures of judgment and torment on their congregations.—Golden Age.

—An army officer tells the following chicken story: "While at Bowling Green, the rebel women bothered us. It was always the same old complaint—'the soldiers have milked our cows, or stolen our chickens, or busted into the smoke-house.' I always tell the story through Kentucky and Tennessee, too. At Chattanooga we were bored to death with these women. One morning they besieged the general's headquarters, when General Sherman raising himself to the most solemn posture, and addressing the foremost woman, remarked: 'Madam, the integrity of the republic and the solidity of the Constitution must be maintained, if it takes every chicken in Tennessee!'"

Consumption,
ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.
By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably meritorious means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in Dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's richest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. The liver is no more torpid, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indigent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be checked. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to get well if they take cold when they are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if they live longer than badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about and perform a small job of work, that strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood, before they can get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To demonstrate the effect and efficacy of this method in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is my duty. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they effected a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have given in fresh every since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and Kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

BUCHU

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

DIOSMA CRENATA — BUCHU LEAVES.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic; their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the Blood, etc., superceding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1871.

AN OFFICIAL INVESTIGATION into the cause of the recent ferry-boat disaster in New York was begun Wednesday. Jacob H. Vanderbilt, president of the Staten Island Railroad company, stated that the company had three boats; he considered the Westfield the best, and he preferred the colored engineer Robinson to all the rest; the Westfield was to have been put into the dock that day, not for anything about the boiler, but for cleaning flues and so on; the pilot was just over the boiler and the captain at the other end of the boat when the explosion occurred; he had no idea of the cause; the Westfield was not an extra boat. William W. Vanderbilt, government inspector, made an official inspection of the boiler of the Westfield. He found the material of the boiler good and the iron of the requisite thickness, but discovered a serious break in the inner casing, which evidently had existed long before the explosion. The outer edge of the fragment was much brighter than the inner, and from this and other indications he had come to the conclusion that the inner casing was broken, either when the boiler was made, nine years ago, or gave way subsequently, when subjected to a severe test. He expressed a positive opinion that the boiler has for a long time been held together simply by a thin outside plating, and said he was surprised it had not exploded before. This flaw could not have been detected by any inspector, as the outside of the boiler was covered with felt, and the inside afforded no indication of decay, nor could it have been detected by sounding the boiler. Dr. Vanderweyde, who has made the freaks of steam boiler explosions a special study for ten years, examined the boiler of the Westfield, and states that the cause of the accident was five-fold: First, the defective design of this style of boiler; second, bad workmanship; third, injudicious and careless method of testing; fourth, negligence of the engineer; fifth, indifference of the proprietors.

TAMMANY AND ITS DEFENSE.—The defense made by the Tammany leaders, in answer to the disclosures now agitating the public, may be logically summed up as follows:

I. The money was stolen.
II. Tammany stole the money.
III. Tammany then was the Board of Supervisors.
IV. Tammany now is not the Board of Supervisors.
V. Still all the time we were Tammany.
VI. And we have the money.
VII. Yet we are not to blame because we stole the money when we governed with our left hand. Now we govern with our right hand, which is honest! and we steal no more.—N. Y. Standard.

T. D. STETSON writes to the New York Tribune to ask the publication in that paper of the revelations made by the Times concerning the extravagant expenditures of the city government. To which the Tribune replies politely, "Stetson, you are an ass," and proceeds to say that all the "revelations" have been duly made through the legitimate channel of its own columns, Stetson's unaccountable impression to the contrary notwithstanding.

THE CHICAGO POST is guilty of the following sly hit: "Senator Wilson writes that since he landed on British soil, eighteen days before, he had seen thousands of people, from the Queen down to the beggars of the London slums, but has not heard a profane word from any of them. We didn't suppose the beggars ever took to swearing, but this intelligence about the Queen really surprises us."

PAPERS have been seized at Marseilles relating to the purpose of the Internationals to fire the docks, burn the shipping and take the city during the confusion which was supposed would be the consequence of the conflagrations. Nancy and Bourges were to be fired and taken on the same plan. Roex, the leader of the abortive communist insurrection in Marseilles, has been condemned to death.

NEW PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

Johnson's Musical Monthly for August; John Church & Co., publishers, Cincinnati, Ohio. 50 cts. per year. Always lively, containing good original music and sharp criticisms on musical affairs.

Hall's Journal of Health for August has among its contents—Deodorizers and Disinfectants, Old Fellows, Sun Stroke, Physiology of Preaching, Training Girls, Success in Life, Office Men, Water Pipes, Left Handedness, Uniformities in Nature, and Cooking Economies. $1.50 per annum.

PORTLAND AND OGDENSBURG RAILWAY BONDS.—We are pleased to learn from Messrs. Fairbanks & Co., the fiscal agents of the Vermont or Middle Division of this road, that, although these bonds have but recently been offered to the public, the sales have far exceeded their expectations. Among the purchasers are a number of the leading and most conservative New England capitalists, who were induced to invest in these bonds by the certain paying prospects of the road, the integrity and ability which is being exhibited in its construction and management, and in the general importance of the enterprise to the country, particularly to the sections which it will drain, pass through, and supply.

Investments made for such reasons and by such parties, give an assurance that the entire loan will be promptly taken. It is an endorsement seldom bestowed upon railway bonds, and one which will induce all classes in New England to look upon this loan with favor.—New York Independent.

PHŒBE CARY, the poet, died on Monday night at Newport, R. I., where she had been staying for her health for some weeks. She has not been well for months, and the care of her sister during her last illness, and grief at her death, exhausted the remains of her strength and she went to Newport to die. She was born at Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1824, and her first appearance as an authoress was in 1850, when she published with her sister Alice a volume of their poems, which was well received.

TWO DRUNKEN ROUGHS pushed the driver of a New York horse car from the platform, Sunday, and both his legs were broken. A business man was also pushed off at the same time, and fatally injured.

SEVERAL REGIMENTS of the New York national guard are court-martialing their members who failed to parade with their commands on the 12th of July. The 7th has fined its delinquents $25 and $50 each.

A LARGE MEETING of Irish citizens in New York, on Tuesday night, appointed a committee to prepare an address thanking General B. F. Butler for his recent exposition of the riots.

THE MAN who was found murdered in New Haven, Conn., on Monday, was Geo. S. Brown of Pittsburg, Pa. His father is very wealthy. No clue to the murderer.

EAST BOSTON has had another large fire, which destroyed a lumber yard and badly damaged the Lyman Schoolhouse. The total loss is about $50,000.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE, the son of the great romancer, is generally understood to be the original of "Laurie," in Miss Alcott's "Little Women."

JOE COBURN, the pugilist, was hit in the head by a bullet while quarreling with a gambler, Tuesday, but unfortunately was not killed.

MARRIAGES between cousins are permitted in Kentucky; and the result is an increase in the idiot and insane population of the State.

THIRTY PERSONS were poisoned at a New Jersey Hotel by eating pudding in which a discharged servant had put arsenic. No deaths.

SECRETARY BOUTWELL decides that he has no authority to pay the Kentucky war claim, lately argued before him.

THE essayist and philosopher of the Norfolk County Gazette, Mr. S. B. Noyes, thus drops a few words of fact and fancy:—

There is a certain kind of satisfaction in knowing that a great many more persons read a newspaper than there are subscribers. There are a great many persons who, while they affect to consider that a newspaper is not worth paying for, will always manage, either by borrowing or otherwise, to know what it contains, particularly if it contains any animadversions on any theme, or matter, or person, of interest to them. So no writer need fear that he will have no readers. And he who writes may have this assurance, that if his writings have any point somebody will discover it. And readers who are not subscribers are almost always the first to discover anything objectionable from their point of observation.

—The Republican papers out West are indulging in all sorts of jokes about the Democratic "new departure." One of them illustrates the policy by this anecdote of a boy and the woodchuck: The boy was observed watching for a woodchuck to come out of his hole. "Do you suppose you can catch him?" said a passer by. "Catch him?" said the boy, contemptuously: "I've got to catch him, stranger; we're out of meat."

—A Brooklyn physician prescribed hydrate of chloral for a young lady, and wrote the prescription "Chlor. Hydr." The druggist interpreted his hog Latin to mean chloridium hydrargyri—corrosive sublimate—and the young lady died the death of a bedbug. Now which of the two guilty parties should be banged, the sawbones or the pill-mangler? If it were not asking too much, we should ask for both.

—If Spain is not in first throes of a revolution she has the premonitory symptoms. Her imported King finds the haughty nobles opposed to him, while the aristocrats coldly turn their backs upon his wishes. Meanwhile the revolution in Paris has filled the common people with discontent and turbulence. So the throne rocks like a ship in a storm, and its youthful occupant finds himself in a mid-ocean without a pilot or trusty seamen.

THE GOLDEN AGE calls Jay Cooke, the banker, "the author and finisher of our national dept."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

All the year round, Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders should be given to horses that are "kept up." To horses and cattle that graze in Summer, they should only be given in Winter and Spring.

Officers and Soldiers who served in the army, physicians, surgeons, and eminent men and women everywhere, join in recommending Johnson's Anodyne Liniment to be the best internal and external family medicine ever invented. That's our experience.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article. Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length Hostetter's Stomach Bitters made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlighted age has consigned them. There have been many spurious bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while Hostetter's has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration of health.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in public estimation, and its beneficial effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sitting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

THE Committee of Arrangements of the New England Firemen's Muster wish it understood by all Fire Companies that they are invited to come if they choose, whether they receive circulars or not; as no doubt many of the circulars have failed to reach the Chief Engineers of different places, to whom they were directed. The Muster is to take place on the 6th and 7th of September; many papers have made mistakes in regard to the date. S. F. E. Kearsarge, No. 2, of Concord, which played 262 feet a few weeks since, S. The Firemen's Relief Association have voted $200 for the Muster.

"AGAIAS," of the Boston Journal, has been rusticating in this vicinity, and writes up matters as if to the manor born. Hear him.

It is a little curious that two men who sat as boys together on the hard benches of a backwoods schoolhouse, so diametrically opposed to each other in politics, should occupy the positions they do to-day in politics—the one a possible candidate of the Democratic party for Governor, the other the trusted officer of the administration of President Grant, who has helped mould the sentiment of the State, and will be found at his post of duty, when the next Presidential campaign opens. But so it is, and without calling names, let us pass on to a view from the top of the Custom House.

It was a sight worth climbing five flights to see. Directly beneath us lay the relics of a past though not forgotten generation, enveloped in the maze of modern architecture, so unlike the ancient structures as would affright the spirits of the skilled mechanics who builded here two centuries ago, could they return from the land of shadows. Venerable churches, where the Word has been preached never so many times, stand in streets, wherein at "early morn brave men assembled and a tyrant scorned;" the Old Spring market is seen, where fifty years ago the women of Kittery came in canoes with "eggs for to sell," and huckleberries at three cents a quart, and spread around them their baskets of beans, peas, cucumbers and other "gardin sass;" where the fisherman who sold their own fares didn't charge more than five hundred per cent. profit on their goods. The present occupants of the old fish stalls charge a shilling a pound for halibut, for which the trawler receives from three to five dollars per hundred weight—lobsters, cod and haddock ditto. But why assail these poor marketmen, since all modern tradesmen are charged with extortion? Look at the dilapidated wharves which have swarmed with ships and shipbuilders. Where are they now.

Across the Piscataqua, whose swift running tide first met the brow of English navigators in 1603, and where later, in 1605, the Indians came to "swap jack-knives" with Champlain, and where still later, in 1614, came the progenitor of a numerous family known by the name of Smith, whose life was saved by Pocahontas, because she loved him—beyond this stream, which divides the Granite from the Pine Tree State, looms up the great ship-houses and the workshops of the Navy Yard at Kittery. I am particular in fixing the location of this important naval station of Uncle Sam—without which Portsmouth would surely die of dry-rot, or some more speedy disease—because it is a bone of contention between the politicians of the two States, who wrangle for the "fat takes" it used to offer, but don't now, since the naval has supplanted the civil list.

Would you believe it, Mr. Editor, there are employed in the Portsmouth Navy Yard to-day only five hundred men, and yet forty officers are stationed there to see that they do not shirk their duty. And these forty officers have each four or five enlisted men to wait upon them and their families. During the rebellion three thousand men were constantly employed in the yard, and yet there were only three epauleted gentlemen* on duty there. There is something wrong here as elsewhere in the navy, I fear. These gentlemen, forty of them and their families, have a steamer and go on excursions, the expenses of which, in consumption of coal, men to manage the vessel, and to keep it in repair, are borne by the people who pay taxes to maintain the Government, I'll not pursue the subject further.

At one glance we sweep the eastern shore, embracing the harbor, one of the safest and most capacious on the coast; the "Great Island," as Newcastle prior to 1693 wascalled; "Frost Point," where before the war of the Revolution, a fort was built, and named in honor of King William and Queen Mary of England, and south of this, Odierne's Point, where the first house in New Hampshire was built. The remains of the old earthworks were illuminated last June by the flames of the Sagamore House, a sight of the ruins of which subdued the light hearts of the proprietor and his friends who rode down to see them last Sabbath evening. The Messrs. Pierce of the "Rockingham" had just opened the Sagamore, when a draft of air carried some charcoal dust into a wooden flue, or somewhere else, and the house, with all the new additions, its furniture and its fixtures, went up in flame and smoke, and lies to-day in brick, ashes and the debris of billiard tables which lost their cue, furnaces and broilers, chandeliers and all the rich ornaments which went to make up the adornments of the saloons of this popular hotel. It will not remain so long, however. The owners are elastic men, and Phœnix like, the Sagamore will rise from its ashes. On the first of September they will break ground for a new hotel, on a site further down the point, commanding some advantages over the old location. "But they will never get such a house as the old Sagamore was," said Mr. P., sadly, who is $40,000 out by the fire.

[*There were more than three epauleted gentlemen on duty at the Yard, during the rebellion.]

Correspondence.

RYE BEACH, August 3.

"The Season" is fairly under way, and the hotels and boarding houses show it in the increased number of patrons. Rye Beach is the Newport of New Hampshire and Maine, and its popularity has been gained by well kept hotels where the tables are furnished with butter, cheese, vegetables and real milk from the surrounding country, as well as by the natural advantages of the place for all sorts of seaside amusements and the beautiful drives in the vicinity,—to Hampton, Greenland and Portsmouth.

On Wednesday there was a grand clam bake in the grove at the Ocean House, when the guests of the hotel and many from the Surf, Washington and Sea Side Houses were treated to a grand picnic without the trouble of getting it up themselves. Not clams only, but fish, oysters, green corn, fowl, pigeons and other good things were all cooked in the big out-door "bake," and a jolly time was had over the feast. The colored help at the Ocean House having got in a habit of gambling, officers from Portsmouth came down and arrested two of them, whereupon the whole lot of colored waiters threatened to mob the officers and leave the house if the prisoners were not released. But the culprits were carried off by the officers, and the "help" did not resign.

The Concord travel has been so great the past week that an extra team has been put on the route by Messrs. Edmunds & Son of Greenland. A party of 25 arrived yesterday from near Concord, and are camping out at Straw's Point, where there is also another party of young men from Suncook. On Wednesday evening, between 11 and 12 o'clock, the latter party captured a big man whom they found prowling around their camp. He was provided with sponges and drugs, from which it was inferred that he intended to go through the party. He said he was stopping at the Sea View House, which turned out to be a lie; the boys secured him and he was taken to Portsmouth jail. He is either a rascal, or appearances are much against an honest man. B. R. K.

A farmer in Laconia, speaking of the thinness of the hay crop, said, "The grasshoppers have all got lame trying to jump from one blade of grass to another."

Orders received by mail, express, or at the CHRONICLE OFFICE will be promptly filled.

DEATHS.

In Eliot, June 26, Mrs. ABIGAIL PAUL, aged 68, wife of James K. Paul.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $500 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

At the session of the governor and council, Wednesday, the sentence of Jones, the Newmarket murderer, was commuted to imprisonment for life.

John W. Sanborn of Wakefield and Henry H. Huse of Manchester, have been appointed as additional members of the commission upon making a limited reimbursement of the municipal war expenditures among the cities and town of New Hampshire.

A terrible accident occured at Charlestown, Tuesday afternoon, to a party of Boston people who were riding near the railroad in that town. The mail up train due at Charlestown at one o'clock, ran into the carriage by reason of the horse being balky, and killed Dr. George Howe and wife, and Mrs. Tilton, and severly injured Miss Grace Wolcott. The ladies were frightfully mangled. Mr. and Mrs. Howe boarded at Mr. Ira Marden's house, Rye Beach, last summer, and were very estimable people.

During a thunder storm on Monday evening, lightning struck in Haverhill in 13 places, killing animals, stunning men and burning property. A building was also struck in Dover.

David Dow of Manchester was one of the victims of the recent steamboat explosion in New York.

The Lake Winnepisaukie phenomenon, previously reported by two boatmen, was noticed from the Diamond Island Hotel also, and is supposed to have been caused by a miniature earthquake.

The Concord city councils have adopted a new fire ordinance, increasing the pay of Assistant Engineers, members of steamers and hose to $40 per annum; hook and ladder to $30; and a yearly increase of $100 to the fire company at Fisherville, and $40 to each of the companies at East and West Concord.

Rev. Mr. Chase, of Dover, may be set down as able to resist temptation. He declined a call from Salem, at $1,800 to remain in Dover at $1,500.

There is one man in Epsom, 77 years old, who has never been in a railway car. He says they kill too many people, and if he were going to Boston he would take his horse. In his younger days he engaged in the safe occupations of horse-breaking and running logs down the Maine and New Hampshire rivers.

We learn from the Claremont Advocate that on Saturday afternoon last, as the Newport stage was loading up at Bradford, a couple of workmen from the "Summit," who in the forenoon had gone to Bradford, probably on a "bender," seated themselves on the top stage. The driver, noticing that they were drunk, ordered them off. They obeyed reluctantly, but soon remounted, and, after a short parley, were suffered to remain. The stage started, and had got but a few rods from the depot when they both fell off. One of them was instantly killed, probably breaking his neck, and the other so badly injured that he was unconscious when the stage left.

James Garrity, an Irishman, at work on the railroad at Franklin, was run over by a construction train and had his right leg cut off and the left leg and right hand terribly mangled. He probable will not recover.

John Plummer of Concord, while engaged in taking down a wood-shed at North Boscawen, on Tuesday, was so seriously injured that his recovery is doubtful.

Mr. J. S. Doolittle, who was the conductor of the passenger train which came in collision with a freight train at Londonderry a few weeks ago, was reinstated Wednesday by a vote of the directors.

Manchester's water question is settled and the following board of commissioners to take charge of the works have been chosen: E. A. Straw, E. W. Harrington, W. P. Newell, Aretos Blood, Adolphus Gay and A. C. Wallace. It is probable that the water will be taken from Massabesic, which is situated about five miles from the city. The cost will probably amount to $450,000.

Henry Butters, who has been an inmate in the State Prison, recently went to Concord and has been employed in the family of Mr. Mayhew, ex-warden, and on his leaving on Tuesday evening money and other things were found to have been taken.

CHEAP FARMS! FREE TRAVEL!

Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad Company.

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $6 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

UNDER A BURNING SUN, where Bilious affections and Fever of various descriptions so generally prevail,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

has been successful beyond all parallel. Hence the physicians of the tropics place it their emphatic sanction, prescribing it in preference to every other aperient in use. The patients, of course, gladly acquiesce, for this preparation is one of the most delightful, as well as mild and cooling cathartics, chemistry has yet devised, and possesses every medicinal virtue of the far-famed German Seltzer Spa. It is a powder that only requires the addition of water to produce in an instant a delicious, effervescent beverage, as well as an invaluable medicine. Ask for and accept none but the genuine.

Officers of the Public Library of Kentucky,

R. T. DURRETT, President.
W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice-President.
M. W. CLUSKY, Secretary.
CITIZENS' BANK, Treasurer.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittance will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons for drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. ly20dtw2m

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases as are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, passessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfeb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. R. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

—There is a young man in Contra Costa county, California, who kills 10,000 squirrels a year, and sells their skins to the foreign manufacturers of kid gloves.

—The newest Chicagonese method of getting an honest living, according to a local authority, "is to go round at night with an accomplice, and play tom-cat under the windows of irascible bachelors. Then they throw boots and bootjacks, and hair brushes, and crockery and—and things at you, and you pick them up and sell them for old rags. We got part of a bed-room set worth $7.50 last night, and to-night we are going back to get the rest of it."

NOVEL MOUSE TRAPS.—Mr. John Gibbs of Washington recently bought some clams while down this way and took them home. As this bivalve is something of a rarity in that corner of Knox county, Mr. G. desired to have his purchase last as long as possible. So he put the clams into the cellar and sprinkled Indian meal moistened with water over them. In the morning when he went for his clams he met a sight that struck him with astonishment. The mice on the premises had scented the meal and went for it, while the clams had received them with the utmost hospitality. When Mr. G. reached the cellar he found the top of the tub covered with the little rodents, each one held firmly by the tail by a clam.—Camden (Me) Herald.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputable proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing: its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-asserting, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the mesenteric tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating march, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's most powerful yet gentle cathartics, viz: Podophyllum (Mandrake root). They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous fortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not all down quiet: they must walk about in the house as much as they can, for the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. This patient must keep in good spirits, and be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To do justice to the cure, we give a sketch of a possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption: confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I raised a cupful in more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these hurtful symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

BUCHU

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

DIOSMA CRENATA — BUCHU LEAVES.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic; their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendancy to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation: The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the Blood, etc., superceding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 5, 1871.

NEW ORLEANS courts are lively places sometimes. Recently one Arthur Guerin, a well-known desperate character, while creating a disturbance in the criminal court, was ordered out by Judge Abel White, and in being removed was shot and mortally wounded by the chief sheriff, James D. Houston. The sheriff immediately surrendered himself, and was remanded to jail. Guerin in 1868 killed a colored man, and in 1869 killed Special Officer Hennessey. He was not killed a day too soon.

THERE was considerable excitement in Lowell Thursday afternoon, over a seizure of liquors by the State police, and the events which followed. A crowd collected and attempted to interfere in the proceeding, and a serious assault was made upon one of the officers by an Irishman armed with a hoe. Another of the officers then fired his revolver, and one of the mob was wounded. This ended the disturbance.

NEW PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

British Quarterly Review, (Am. reprint,) for July, from Leonard Scott Pub. Co., 140 Fulton Street, N. Y. Contents.—The Roman Empire, Theism, Hugh Miller, Hereditary Legislators, Nonconformity and the Progress of Society, Jowett's Translation of the Dialogues of Plato, Mr. Mill's Motion on Disestablishment, and Contemporary Literature. $4 per annum.

ADDUT FACE.—The Lawrence Eagle of the 1st inst., has the following at the head of its columns:

"The editor of this paper has gone into the country on his annual vacation, and has left us in charge, editorially. He is for Loring, first, last, and all the time, and if a betting man, would go his bottom dollar that Loring will be the next governor of Massachusetts. Now, as he gave no instructions, except to furnish 'sufficient copy,' leaving all else to our judgment, consequently for the next two weeks we shall 'shout out' for Butler."

—The Riverside Bulletin raises the question "What does Haliburton mean by statia, when he makes Sam Slick say, 'His weak eye took to letting off water like statia'?" whereupon the Waterville Mail offers the following explanation,

"Ours may be but a 'farthing candle,' but we will let it shine on this dark subject. An old sailor of our boyhood acquaintance, we remember, used the word frequently, pronouncing it 'statia;' and with him it served almost any purpose, as 'lightning,' thunder,' timenation,' &c., do for those whose stock of comparatives are limited. 'It snowed like statia,' or rained or hailed; he worked like statia, or his finger acted like like statia, &c. He had been in the West Indies, and we noticed that the name of the island, St. Eustatius, was pronounced in the same way—it was the island of Statia. We always supposed there was a connection between the two; but somebody else must establish it, for our candle is out."

BIBLE MEASURES.—For the benefit of those who are not very well informed in Bibical affairs, we print the following paragraphs in relation to Bible measurements:

—The fashionables at New London pronounced Pequot Paquo, and the Bulletin comments as follows; "Shades of Uncas! Shall we have to wrestle with Poquctanoc, Pogwamsticock, and Wiccopesot in the French language."

—A French inventor proposes the use of petroleum for locomotives, and recently exhibited a model of a small engine heated by this means, for which complete success is claimed. This locomotive carries two thousand litres, or about five hundred gallons of oil, in the tender, a hand-pump forcing the oil into a small reservoir near the boiler. The process of lighting the oil is said to be neither difficult nor dangerous, owing to the oil being kept in compartments and a small quantity only being lighted at one time, then another division, and so on, until the whole furnace is alight. This engine consumes its own smoke perfectly, and it is said to be extremely easy to drive, on account of the simplicity of the apparatus. A larger locomotive, with slight improvements, has since been built, and successful trials made of its working qualities. The consumption of oil was thirty-five per cent. less by weight than that of good patent compressed coal, a little more than two pounds of oil producing twenty-five pounds.

A SMALL POX REMEDY.—A correspondent of the Stockton (Cal.) Herald, writes as follows:

"I herewith append a receipe which has been used to my knowledge in hundreds of cases. It will prevent or cure the small pox though the pittings are filling. When Jenner discovered the cow-pox in England, the world of science hurled an avalanche upon his head, but when the most scientific school of medicine in the world—that of Parish—published this recipe as a panacea for small pox, it passed unheeded. It is as unfailing as fate, and conquers in every instance. It is harmless when taken by a well person. It will also cure scarlet fever. Here is the recipe as I have used it, and cured my children of scarlet fever—here it is as I have used it to cure small pox; when learned physicians said the patient must die, it cured: Sulphate of zinc one grain, fox-glove (digitalis) one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar; mix with two tablespoonfuls of water. When thoroughly mixed, add four ounces of water. Take a spoonful every hour. Either disease will disappear in twelve hours. For a child, smaller doses according to age. If countries would compel their physicians to use this, there would be no need of pest-houses. If you value advice and experience, use this for that terrible disease."

DISTINGUISHED STRANGERS FROM THE EAST.—The Brig Nehemiah, from Ceylon, with ten elephants for menageries in this country, is anchored at New York. The distinguished arrivals are of noble birth, being trumpeters of the rajah breed from the ivory-bearers of "Inde." They are not familiar with our tongue, although no pains have been spared on the passage in giving the rudimentary teaching calculated to enlighten them as to the meaning of the mystic Anglo-Saxon "Git up," "Gewo," "Slewround," and "Hoboy." Their native vernacular is a corruption of Hindostanee, interspersed with sundry grunts and horse accentuations culled from the various dialects of the Sancrit.

The captain of the brig informs us privately that these noble strangers from the animal kingdom of the East are practically temperance reformers, sent here to illustrate the fact that drunkenness is wholly unknown to quadrupeds of the other hemisphere, and that water gives a better growth and more adipose tissues than the fire waters of the West. As an example that there can be little mischief in their tipple, they drank 40,000 gallons on their passage out. It is related that, when they saw the American flag hoisted on Governor's Island, they trumpeted forth an Eastern march of elephantine joy.—Exchange.

JOSH BILLINGS.—The richest man ov all iz he who has got but little, but has got all he wants.

I have come to the konklusion that what everybody praises wants close watching.

The strongest propensity in woman's natur is to know "what's goin on?" and the next strongest iz, to boss the job.

Skorn not the day ov little things, for there iz no man in this world so great but what sum one kan do him a favor or an injury.

WHAT THE MATTER WAS.—During a steam voyage, on a stoppage of machinery, considerable alarm took place, especially among the female passengers.

"What is the matter? what is the matter? For God's sake tell me the worst!" exclaimed one more anxious than the rest.

After a short pause, a hoarse voice from the deck replied:—

"Nothing, madam, nothing; only the bottom of the vessel and the top of the earth are stuck together."

—A locomotive whistle can be heard, under ordinary circumstances, 3300 yards, or nearly two miles; the noise of a railway train, 2800 yards; the bark of a dog, or the report of a musket, 1800 yards; the roll of a drum, 1600 yards, and the human voice 1000 yards. A dinner-horn in the country is often heard five miles.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET,

FOR THE WEEK ENDING WEDNESDAY, AUG. 2.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 3068; Sheep and Lambs 11,888; Swine 5700; number of Western Cattle 2548; Eastern Cattle 365; Northern Cattle and Working Oxen 175. Cattle left over from last week—.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $7 00 @ $7 25; first quality $6 50 @ $6 75; second quality $6 00 @ $6 25; third quality $5 25 @ $5 75; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $4 50 @ $5 00 ℔ cwt, (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 8c ℔ lb; Country Hides 7 @ 7½c ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6@6½c per lb; Country Tallow 5@5½c ℔ lb.

Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 00 @1 00 each; Calf Skins 16 @ 18c ℔ lb.

The trade this week has been full as quick as it was last market. The supply for the week has been larger. The quality from the West not much different. Several large lots of the best Cattle were taken on commission. But a few lots sold for more than 7c ℔ lb., most of the Beeves selling at 6 @ 6½c ℔ lb. From Maine the supply was mostly Store Cattle and Working Oxen—many of them of a poor quality. The Maine Cattle were landed at the Union Market yards and then driven direct to Brighton to be disposed of, but a few being sold in Watertown.

Store Cattle—With the exception of Working Oxen and Cows there is but a few Store Cattle brought into market at this season of the year.

Milch Cows—Extra $25 @ $30; ordinary $20 @ $80; Store Cows $15 @ 45 ℔ head. Prices of Milch Cows depend much upon the fancy of the purchaser. But few in market.

Working Oxen—Extra $170 @ 225; ordinary $50 @ $75; but a few pairs in market and not much call.

Sheep and Lambs—We quote extra and select lots $4 00 @ $6 00; ordinary $3 00 @ $5 00 ℔ head, or from 4 @ 8c ℔ lb.

Store Pigs—Wholesale 6 @ 7c ℔ lb; retail 6@8c ℔ lb. Fat Hogs 5 @ 5½c; Columbia County Pigs 00 @ 00c ℔ lb.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

All the year round, Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders should be given to horses that are "kept up." To horses and cattle that graze in Summer, they should only be given in Winter and Spring.

Officers and Soldiers who served in the army, physicians, surgeons, and eminent men and women everywhere, join in recommending Johnson's Anodyne Liniment to be the best internal and external family medicine ever invented. That's our experience.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article. Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length Hostetter's Stomach Bitters made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlighted age has consigned them. There have been many spurious bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while Hostetter's has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in public estimation, and its beneficial effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sitting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mly27

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

IT COSTS only $91,700 per annum to pay the Naval Officers on duty at this Yard.

SKIFF & GAYLORD'S ALBINO MINSTRELS will appear at the Temple, August 16th.

WE HEAR it reported that Hon. Frank Jones has purchased the Cutts estate, and will enlarge the Rockingham House, adding sixty rooms.

THE CONCORD MONITOR says Jones, the Newmarket murderer wants to be hung, and is sorry his sentence is commuted to imprisonment for life.

REV. THOS. F. DAVIES, D. D., of St. Peter's Church, Philadelphia, is stopping at the Rockingham House, and will officiate at St. John's Church to-morrow.

THE WEATHER was intensely hot, (that's the only word to express it fully) Friday. It was 93 degrees temperature at the Atlantic House, Salisbury Beach.

MR. WM. B. A. PERRY, who died June 16, had a life policy in the Union Mutual Company of Boston, which was paid on the 1st of August following his death by the agent in this city, Mr. W. P. Burleigh.

AN ABSENT-MINDED YOUTH of a dozen summers coolly walked in front of the 11.30 A. M. train, as it was entering the depot from the East, Friday. Three sharp whistles warned him of his danger and he left the track six inches ahead of the engine.

A PORTION of an article in the Portsmouth Democratic organ is quoted in the Boston Traveller, followed by the assertion that "more brazen falsehoods never appeared in print, not even in the columns of the" organ referred to—which is saying a great deal, as all will allow.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that the appointments recently made by the Executive for Rockingham county are all in the interest of the Jones section of the party, and look towards making Hon. Frank Jones the coming Democratic candidate for Congress—says the Manchester Mirror.

Editors of Daily Chronicle:—Having seen in the "Evening Times" of the 3d inst. that it would be necessary to send out of the city for experienced caterers on the occasion of the Firemen's Muster of the 6th and 7th of September next: We, the undersigned consider it entirely unnecessary, and are ready to give bonds that we are capable of catering for from 100 to 10,000 people and in a manner to give perfect satisfaction to all. Parties in want of Ice Creams of any flavor can be supplied with any amount at $2 per gallon.

THE CAPE NEDDICK HOUSE has been for many years a favorite resort for our citizens, and has not lost any of its old time reputation, now that a son of "Ma'am" Freeman is in change. Mr. & Mrs. Freeman make all visitors feel at home in the cosy establishment, and their charges are more reasonable than at any public house within forty miles of Portsmouth. "Ma'am" Freeman still presides at the cuisine, and if any better cooking can be found anywhere than at the Cape Neddick House, we have failed to find it. A ride of eleven miles just sharpens one's appetite for the famous dinner in waiting, and a return trip by way of York Beach and Kittery Point affords ample opportunities for fine views of old Ocean, the Shoals, the Piscataqua River, Agamenicus and many other points of interest.

Correspondence.

YORK, ME., August 3.

On Thursday night last a house belonging to Daniel Shaw of York was destroyed by fire, together with ten tons of hay, three swine and all the farming utensils except a mowing machine; cause unknown. Insured $250 in Eliot and Kittery Mutual Insurance Company.

During the shower of Tuesday night, a house belonging to Moses Leach of Kittery was struck, Mr. Leach and his mother prostrated, (they know not how long) and the house damaged by having all the glass broken out, chimney demolished and other injuries.

Sea Cottage at Long Beach, York, is full to overflowing, an evidence that it is located in the right spot; the fame of Mrs. Sayward, the excellent hostess, is taking a place beside that of "Ma'am Freeman," and the gentlemanly proprietors, Messrs. Grant and Sayward, are already talking of enlarging their commodious hotel. S.

THE PEARL ST. SOCIETY are to have an excursion to Newmarket Junction next Tuesday, leaving Portsmouth at 7.55 A. M., and returning at 6.10 P. M.

IN consequence of the recent erection of a number of new buildings on Water Street it has been found necessary to renumber the street; which duty has been performed, but in such an absurd manner as to puzzle the residents of that locality to tell where they live.

THE SECOND GAME of base ball between the Minnie club of South Berwick and the Piscataqua club of Kittery was played at Rogers' Grove in Kittery, Friday afternoon, the former club winning, 27 to 26. The playing of Horace Philbrick and Gilbert Remick of the Kittery club was admirable.

A MAN in the employ of Mr. J. L. Hatch, was badly injured in the head, Thursday morning at the North end, by accidentally falling upon a pile of bricks. Shortly after this a laborer named Timothy Reagan, while unloading coal at Spring Hill, was severely cut over the eyes by the coal platform falling upon him. Dr. Whittier dressed the wounds of both men.

STEAMER APPLEDORE is crowded every day with passengers to and from the Shoals. It has been suggested that the exorbitant fare of two dollars for the round trip might be reduced, but we can see no object in that beyond the matter of the managers relieving themselves of the imputation of extortion, as they probably now carry as many as they wish to, and the inference is that if they reduced the rate of fare they would be overloaded. If the public want to see the Shoals bad enough to pay the sum charged it is nobody's business, and those who haven't two dollars don't deserve to visit that delightful repository of rocks. C.

THE ARRANGEMENTS for the Firemen's Muster are rapidly being perfected,—in fact, all that can be done at so early a day has been done already. The committee from the Board of Aldermen have secured for the occasion all the tents the State has on hand, and nearly all the companies entered have selected the tents they will occupy. Committees from out of town companies are surprised when they come here to make arrangements, to find that the Executive Committee have left them nothing of importance to do. Applications to be entered on the list average two or three a day. S. F. E. City of Haverhill, No. 2, of Haverhill, Mass., with a band of 24 pieces, Goodwill Hose Co., No. 1, of the same place, Engine No. 2 of Newton, Mass., Col. Gould Steamer and Hose Co. of Stoneham, Mass., have entered.

City Council, Thursday, Aug. 3d.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, a petition was received from the School Committee asking for better accomodations for Miss Fitts' School, accompanied with a sketch of a plan for altering the Hanover Street School House. The Committee on School Houses were directed to procure plans and specifications for the proposed alteration.

The Report of Ex-Marshal Kent was received and referred to the Committee on Police.

The Joint Resolutions passed by the Council providing for taking a census of the City was referred to Aldermen Marvin, Giddings and Mendum.

The special committee appointed to borrow tents from the State for the Firemen's Muster, reported that the State will loan the tents, the City to care for them.

The City Marshal's bond was accepted.

The use of the Court House was granted for the Firemen's Muster, Sept. 5th, 6th and 7th.

IN COMMON COUNCIL, a resolution empowering the Mayor and President of the Common Council to employ a person to take the census of the city was passed.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $500 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

JOSEPH PETTIGREW,

No. 1 CONGRESS STREET, CORNER OF HIGH S

Morning Chronicle.

A LITTLE very simple knowledge would go a great way in warm weather. Here are a party of amateur sportsmen coming home in disgust on account of mosquitoes, and thousands of stay-at-homes who find life almost unendurable on any terms for flies. If either party knew it, carbolic acid is the sovereign remedy for all their troubles. A few drops evaporated in a room, or poured upon the clothes, will keep the winged pests at a safe distance; and if the pure chrystalized acid is used no great annoyance will result to human beings. Restaurant keepers ought to know this, and keep swarms of flies away from from their windows, where they settle and buzz to the torment of passers. The musty taste of Croton water, complained of by those who make its acquaintance newly every summer, may be corrected by throwing a few scraps of sheet iron in the water tank or cooler. This prevents water from decomposing, and keeps it pure and sweet. It will even prevent the water from growing unwholesome and offensive on long sea voyages. People are constantly rushing about in the hot sun, complaining of headaches and giddiness, when all they need for safety and comfort is a wet handkerchief in the crown of the hat.

A LUCKY LUMBERMAN.—A few years since, a gentleman engaged in the lumber business in Maine, having an appreciative eye for a fine diamond, and being convinced that a real gem would, if properly bought, be a safe investment, accordingly commissioned Mr. Charles W. Kennard, the well-known jeweller on Tremont street, to purchase for him a stone, about a thousand dollars in value, which was mounted as a spiral-backed stud. As months rolled on the owner was offered by connoisseurs constant advances on his purchase, which temptation only made him value his gem the more, and he said to himself, "If it is worth that to them it is to me, and I will keep it till forced by necessity to sell."

In April of last year, while working on his boom of logs on one of the streams of the Kennebec, having on a shirt, the stud-hole worn large by service, he saw his sparkling brilliant fall from his bosom, strike the log, and glide quietly into the swift current below. Determination to regain it overpowered the regret of his mind. He kept his loss where his stud should have been, in his bosom. Sounding the depth of the water, he found it to be about seven feet; he then decided to wait till the summer drought should bring the stream to its lowest ebb, and taking accurate measurement of the place, by the bearings of the rocks and trees on shore, allowing eighteen inches for the change of direction by the current, he left his treasure to compete with the dace and shiner is fascinating the river mermaid, and returned to his Massachusetts home.

The September following, six months after the loss, the river being then at its lowest point for the season, the undaunted lumberman started for his diamond. The riverful of logs, covering the place, had been sawed and shipped, and now only a few inches of water trickled over the spot where the stud fell. He took with him a large tin colander, the holes of which where of a size to hold the prize, if found. He determined to work a fortnight, before giving up the gem as lost, and to have all the river-bottom to go through his handy kitchen strainer. He made his first dip of gravel and water, as nearly as he could calculate, eighteen inches down the current from where it struck the surface of the stream, seven feet above. And a lucky dip it was! for at the bottom of the pan lay the lost gem, bright and sparkling as when it came from the jeweller.—Boston Transcript.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration of their claims. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

UNDER A BURNING SUN, where Bilious affections and Fever of various descriptions so generally prevail,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

has been successful beyond all parallel. Hence the physicians of the tropics give it their emphatic sanction, prescribing it in preference to every other aperient in use. The patients, of course, gladly acquiesce, for this preparation is one of the most delightful, as well as mild and cooling cathartics, chemistry has yet devised, and possesses every medicinal virtue of the far-famed German Seltzer Spa. It is a powder that only requires the addition of water to produce in an instant a delicious, effervescent beverage, as well as an invaluable medicine. Ask for and accept none but the genuine.

Officers of the Public Library of Kentucky,

R. T. DURRETT, President.
W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice-President.
M. W. CLUSKY, Secretary.
CITIZENS' BANK, Treasurer.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Memphis Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 731 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 731 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up; and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,
OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS.
Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawf&b16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
—IF SO, USE THE—
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

SOMEBODY'S SON.

Somebody's son was out last night,
Brushing about the town;
And, if I mistake not, he was tight—
"Tight as a Derby clown."

I know he's considered a moral youth—
Above suspicion; but that
Is no reason—to tell the truth—
He hadn't a "brick in his hat."

Daylight morality often takes Strange fancies into his head,
And "plays the d—," or "jumps up snakes,"
When the public eye is in bed.

"My son can t dance," somebody said,
"For never a lesson took he—"
But he danced last night when you were in bed,
And Twilight was there to see.

You may call it dancing, or not, as you feel,
Though for half an hour or more
He danced or 'jigged' a 'tangle-foot reel,'
In front of my office door.

"My son can't sing," somebody swears,
But he sang last night, I know,
As rough a song as demon dares
To sing in the regions below.

"My son don't imbibe," somebody thinks;
Well, maybe he don't, but then,
That he acts very much like one who drinks
Can be proved by a hundred men.

Yet something was tight—yes, drunk—last night—
So drunk it could hardly crawl;
Perhaps 'twas the brim of a crownless hat
That I found on my garden wall.

So, for fear I'm wrong and somebody's right,
My hasty words I recall,
And say that the thing I saw last night
Was nobody's son—that's all!

Consumption.

IT'S CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptious. To the faithful the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is sine and as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. Thus respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the medicinal properties and alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND",

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no expansion of the stomach. The appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indigent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in a house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption: confined to my bed, and the time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at a straw, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, night sweats and night sweats began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased dose; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the depositing at once be of food, chyle and blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a propitiatory against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

BUCHU

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

DIOSMA CRENATA — BUCHU LEAVES.

Beautifier of the Complexion.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic; their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Diseases, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the Blood, etc., superseding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

JURUBEBA

IS A SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT that has been used for many years by the medical faculty of those countries with wonderful efficacy, and is a Sure and Perfect Remedy for all Diseases of the

LIVER AND SPLEEN, ENLARGEMENT OR OBSTRUCTION OF INTESTINES, URINARY, UTERINE OR ABDOMINAL ORGANS, POVERTY OR A WANT OF BLOOD, INTERMITTENT OR REMITTENT FEVERS, INFLAMMATIONS, DROPSY, SLUGGISH CIRCULATION OF THE BLOOD, ABSCESSES, TUMORS, JAUNDICE, SCROFULA, DYSPEPSIA, AGUE AND FEVER, OR THEIR CONCOMITANTS.

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba

is a most perfect alterative, and it is offered to the public as a great invigorator and remedy for all impurities of the blood, or for organic weakness with their attendant evils. For the foregoing complaints is confidently recommended to every family as a household remedy, and should be freely taken in all derangements of the system.

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba

It is NOT A PHYSIC—It is NOT what is popularly called a BITTERS, for it is intended as such; but is simply a powerful alterative giving health, vigor and tone to all the vital forces, and animates and fortifies all weak and lymphatic temperaments. 3wsul

MONDAY, AUGUST 7, 1871.

NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION.

Returns from Wake, Halifax and Mecklenburg counties show a Republican gain of 1608 over the vote of last August, though all give majorities against the convention. Rockingham county gives 92 majority for the convention, a gain of 355. New Hanover county shows large Republican, and Warrenton county small conservative gains, while Columbus county votes for the convention by a small majority. The Republicans voted against the convention.

Senator Abbott telegraphs from Wilmington, N. C., as follows: "We have carried the State against a convention by 10,000 or 15,000 majority."

Dispatches also say that the Conventions admit their defeat.

KENTUCKY elects State officers, today.

FACTS FOR INVESTORS.—The Boston Advertiser of July 27th has, in its financial column, the following statement concerning one of the leading railroad enterprises now under construction. Referring to Southern securities, as a class, the editor says:

"The general demoralization of Southern business consequent upon the war, and the lack of the means and the energy by the aid of which the North so rapidly recovers from any temporary depression, have combined to give the preference to new industrial enterprises at the West rather than at the South. But that the South presents splendid openings for Northern capital there has never been any doubt among shrewd business men, and many Northern capitalists are now busy in developing the enormous natural advantages of the Southwestern States of Louisiana and Texas. They are reviving plantations; reclaiming waste lands; improving water powers; and, above all, utilizing the lessons of the West, by building railroads where they are demanded by the wants of the rapidly increasing population and production. Such enterprises are Southern by location, but Northern in capital, in energy and in management and they are located at the South because their projecters have seen that that was the most promising field for the employment of capital. One of the foremost of these undertakings is the building of the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Railroad, from Mobile through the metropolis of the South to the railroad center of Texas. Into this work many of the leading and most honored capitalists of Boston and New York have put nearly ten millions of dollars of their own funds, because they believed that nowhere else in this country was there so profitable a return promised for their outlay. All of this large (and very unusual) expenditure of private means, before asking any money from the public, is a protection to the bonds which the company now offer for sale, as all interest liabilities must be met before any dividends can go to the stockholders. Such a "Southern security" as this, seems to be worth the attention of those having funds for investment."

The bonds especially noted above, have also been indorsed by many other leading financial authorities, as among the very safest and most profitable in the market. It will be seen by reference to our advertising column, that either bonds or further information can be obtained here of local agents for the loan.

THE INVESTIGATION of the New York ferry boat disaster is continued. William H. Martin of the Union Ferry testified that the iron of which the boiler was made was of ordinary quality. The boiler was a good one in every sense of the word. It is good boilers that explode with such terrible results.

Joseph Perry, a U. S. local inspector of steamboats at Philadelphia, stated that the fracture was inside and must have been there a considerable time; it could not be discovered by a hydrostatic test put on it, though the boiler stood thirty-four pounds hydrostatic test at the inspection six weeks ago; the crack must have increased since; thirty pounds hydrostatic pressure would rupture. The hydrostatic test probably increased the crack.

N. W. Williams, representing the Keystone, Philadelphia, council of stationary engineers, ascribed the explosion to an unequal expansion of the lower and upper parts of the boiler, caused by the impossibility of cleaning out the muddy sediment, thus making the lower water denser and of greater capacity for retaining heat.

A MAN employed in the trowel works in Duxbury, Mass., had a small piece of steel thrown into his eye about a year ago. A number of operations were subsequently performed to remove it, but without success, and as a last resort, to be rid of the incessant pain he had his eye wholly taken out. Even then he experienced no relief, and gradually failing in health till Sunday he died.

THEY NOW CALL the Senator from Maine "Cannibal Clam-in."

DISGUSTED.—A Connecticut paper relates the following story concerning a rural gent of eighteen summers, who invested in a banana on the cars. He carefully removed the peel and put it on the seat by his side; then he broke the fruit up in small bits, eyeing it anxiously as he did so. When this was done he picked up the peel, shook it in his lap, and finally threw the pieces out of the window, remarking as he did so, "That's the fust of them prize packages I ever bought, an' it's the last, you bet."

—A lecturer undertook to explain to a village audience the word phenomenon. "Maybe you don't know what a phenomenon is. Well, I'll tell you. You have seen a cow, no doubt. Well, a cow is not a phenomenon. You have seen an apple tree. Well, an apple tree is not a phenomenon. But when you see a cow go up a tree, tail foremost, to pick the apples, it is a phenomenon."

—The new toad-toy presents a facsimile of an oblong tin platform. He is impassive, and apparently incapable of motion, but tempt him by placing a penny on the stand at the opposite end of the platform, and, with the speed of lightning, he springs forward, seizes the penny and swallows it.

—Mrs. Sarah Hall of Detroit celebrated her one-hundreth birth-day on Wednesday evening. She can knit socks in four languages, and repeat the commandments with one hand behind her back.

—The papers started a report some time ago, (and are still telling it) that a militia captain lately split open the head of a Chicago Times reporter. There was nothing in it.—Chicago Post.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

—ON—

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE
PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,
No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,
(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the EVRORS OF YOUTH, or THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. Tais is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 285 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book For Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, from INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth Price $1, or sent free on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, of EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience launds as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap orders of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the. Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct28 1yr

I. P. MILLER, our esteemed Associate, and Wentworth Ayers, of the Post Office, are off for Montreal, Quebec and the White Mountains. "Care for them tenderly," landlords, conductors and stage drivers—they will stand it well

THREE LITTLE FADDIES were arrested, Saturday, for robbing the money drawer of Mason & Seavey, on Market Street. About $3.60 were recovered from two of them and they confessed that this was their third attempt to rob the same parties.

PERHAPS a terrific thunder shower didn't pass over Portsmouth, Friday night—and perhaps the torrent of water that fell didn't cause it to be said that it was the heaviest shower for a year. Perhaps also, the streets and roads did not appear discouraged after the flood had subsided.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.—On Friday afternoon, three young men of this city, while sailing up river, were upset near "the Devil's Den." Two swam ashore and were provided with a change of clothing by a farmer. The third and youngest clung to the boat and was rescued.

THE MUSTER.—The Great Falls Journal says it is probable that Deluge Engine Co., No. 1, will attend, accompanied by a band of music.

The committee on Firemen's Muster have decided that all persons proposing to run boats for parties from Peirce's Island, on the 6th of September, must procure a license, which is free, and subject themselves to the tariff, which is 25 cts. per hour for each passenger taken, and no others will be allowed to take passengers.

The committee are making out specifications for any person or persons who wish to furnish provisions for the visiting firemen, and will advertise shortly.

Three companies from Hyde Park, Mass., one from Calais, Me., one from Auburn, Mass., and Goodwill Hose Co. of Gloucester, are entered.

APPOINTMENT.—The Governor and Council have appointed Mr. Samuel H. Legro Sheriff of this county. We suppose it may be safely stated that there are at least two vacancies in the Republican party in this town, namely: the places recently occupied by the new sheriff, and his uncle our apostate representative.

How do our veteran democratic brethren who have stood by that party through good report, and through evil report, and who have grown gray as democrats, like to see renegade republican bolters carry off the loaves and fishes.—Lancaster Republican.

THE RUM MEN of the Republican party in Massachusetts are settling on Hon. Alexander H. Rice for Governor, while the Temperance men support Gen. Butler. The bold Benjamin seems to have the inside track.

THE LOYAL SUBJECTS of the New Dominion have been warned by a proclamation of the governor-general not to participate in the expedition now fitting out to aid the insurrectionists in Cuba.

IN BOSTON, says the cynical Tribune, they call founding hospitals asylums for anonymous infants, and in Chicago they style them institutions for babies born on the European plan.

THE LABOR REFORMERS propose another selling out game. They have called a convention to nominate candidates for President and Vice President, Oct. 18, 1871.

LADIES, don't get married. Just as soon as a husband dies his widow is arrested on suspicion of poisoning him. It's a fearful risk, this getting married.

FOUR WIDOWS mourn after the loss of their husband, John Augustine, who committed suicide in Newark, N. J.

LOWE, not the poor Indian, but the old aeronaut of the Potomac army, is building ice factories in the South.

MANY MORMON WOMEN have lately left husbands and the country,—with other men.

A VISITOR at Rye Beach writes as follows:—"The oft repeated statement that watering places are likely to be less crowded than they have been in a mere attempt to augur for a large number of people, a denial of many pleasures in the future which good health and long life invite all to seek and enjoy. Dwellers about our fashionable resorts are wont to remark, at the beginning of every summer, that there will be a great falling off from the amount of travel of former years, even before the season of tours to the seaside and mountains has commenced. They look upon every new hotel as an enormous waste of money and material and predict for the managers an early separation from all their possessions. The extensive outlays in buildings every winter and spring are deemed hardly necessary by them, but they forget that on account of the increasing popularity of their localities, better accommodations will be demanded in the coming months than ever before. Here as elsewhere one may hear the already time-worn remark again and again; yet nothing is more evident than the steady increase of visitors to this beach.

Less than twenty-five years ago lovers of sea-bathing could find board at only three small farm-houses in the town and there by dint of persuasion, half a dozen gentlemen with their wives were enabled to begin a reputation for this beach which has never ceased to increase. From the time the well known proprietors of the Ocean House began to improve their favorite stand, Rye Beach has been favorably known as a resort of tourists, but a want of faith in the great business facilities of the places has been detrimental to its citizens.

At present every hotel is filled to its utmost capacity and the private houses could not in any case accommodate many more. Already it is the determination of some to make extensive additions to their quarters and this is certainly a move in the right direction. Thousands who have visited other celebrated beaches would not hesitate to give their preference in favor of this. So cosily situated apart from the bustle of every large town, abounding in shade trees and pleasant rides in all directions, it cannot fail to increase its number of admirers year by year.

Let there be more enterprise and less inclination to underrate the advantages of the place, on the part of those possessing the lands, and no one can be displeased at the result."

—Wednesday, workmen commenced to stake out the line of the B. & M. R. R. extension from Salmon Falls to Portland. The P. S. & P. track will be crossed at North Berwick. It is expected that work on the road will be commenced the last of the month. We learn from one of the managers of the B. & M. road that the extension will be built as rapidly as possible—reports to the contrary, notwithstanding. The reports in circulation that the B. & M. will not build the extension are without foundation. It is expected to have several miles of the road completed before the next annual meeting of the company, which is held in November we believe. Great Falls Journal.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The
NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS
RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,
YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York River; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in the surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equaled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS, Proprietors.

☞ Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. The run across will occupy but about one hour. jel0

FIRST MORTGAGE JOINT BONDS OF
Three New England Railroads,
Principle and Interest Payable in Gold,
FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAX,
Styled the
VERMONT DIVISION
OF THE
PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG
TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

THAT DELIGHTFUL SEASIDE retreat known as the WOODMAN FARM, containing forty acres of land, a commodious, new and imposing house and convenient outbuildings, situated on the easterly side of Great Island, (Newcastle,) within a stone's throw of the ocean, and in full view of the "Isles of Shoals."

Also adjoining the same, "POINT JERRY," embracing ten acres of arable land extending far out into the sea, being the nearest point of land to the "Isles of Shoals," and forming the outside boundary of what is known as Little Harbor.

This is the most desirable spot on the seacoast for summer residences, possessing all the advantages of the world renowned "Isles of Shoals," in bracing atmosphere, deep sea fishing and surf-bathing on one side, while on the other is a smooth, hard beach and still water. There is also upon it a never failing pond of fresh water, an old battery, and a higher house beacon. Roads always good and scenery unsurpassable.

Morning Chronicle.

KU-KLUX DIABOLISM.

The Congressional Committee investigating the Ku-Klux villainy—a subcommittee in South Carolina—have now been in daily session more than two months, and have had before them many scores of witnesses from all sections of the late insurrectionary States—men of both high and humble station—Presiding Elders, Preachers, ex-Members of the Federal Congress and ex-Members of the Confederate Congress, ex-Generals of both Armies, Governors and ex-Governors, Judges, Solicitors, Sheriffs, Revenue Officers, Officers of the Army, Postmasters, School Teachers, repentant and non-repentant members of Ku-Klux Klans, and dozens of their maimed and suffering victims, black and white.

And what has this patient and thorough investigation established—and established beyond all future cavil and question? These atrocious facts:

1. That in all the late insurrectionary States, and generally diffused, though not found in every County, is an oath-bound secret organization, working only at night, and its members always in disguise, with officers, signs, signals, pass-words, grips, and all the necessary paraphernalia, with the pledged and sworn purpose of putting down the Republican and putting up the Democratic Party; known in different localities among the initiated by different names, but everywhere recognized by the general cognomen "Ku-Klux."

2. That the organization came into being a few months previous to the last Presidential Election, during which canvass it was in its most vigorous condition, but is now all through the South, with more efficient discipline and effective direction than ever, reviving, in preparation for the next Presidential campaign, when, as they told one of their victims in Tennessee a few weeks since, "no d—d Radical voting is to be allowed in any Southern State, by black or white."

3. That this Ku-Klux organization is the premeditated and determined scheme for carrying the South at the next election of President, and so, by securing the entire electoral vote of that section, make sure the election of the Democratic nominees.

4. That the officers and establishers of these "Dens" (as they appropriately call their separate bands) are the leading and active Democratic politicians of the South.

5. That the scheme has the hearty good-will of a large section of the Democratic party in all those States, and the acquiescence of nearly the entire party.

6. That the direct and chief purpose of the organization, as sworn by all the victims, as the assertion uniformly made to them by these midnight assassins, and corroborated by the universal testimony of the repentant and divulging members of the Order, is this: The putting down of the Republican and the putting up of the Democratic Party.

7. That while the Democratic and Ku-Klux witnesses on their direct examination usually deny the political necessity growing out of the abolition of the old patrol; that they have to ride the country to "keep the niggers in their place;" that under the influence of Radical legislation and Methodist preaching the niggers are liable to "become saucy," and without an occasional Ku-Klux visit would "begin to think themselves as good as white folks;" and that these frequent floggings, and an occasional murder, are necessary to maintain such a state of morals among the blacks as will permit the vice-hating whites to live in their neighborhood; yet, on the cross-examination, these witnesses also very generally, as well as very reluctantly, confess that the intimidation of Republican voters is a prominent and not to be regretted result.

8. That to secure this purpose, the putting down of the Republican and the putting-up of the Democratic party, intimidation is the grand measure—the intimidation of Republican voters, black and white, but especially the humble and defenceless, by midnight raids; by burning houses and stores, and the destruction of crops; by whippings of such extreme cruelty as often to end in death; by most indecent and painful maiming; by assassination and murder in such cowardly manner and with such hellish device as may strike terror into whole counties, and bring down the Republican vote from two to three thousand to less than a single dozen.

9. That "School-teachers," and "Preachers of the Methodist Church North," seem to be the especial abhorrence of these Democratic assassins; and hundreds of school-houses and Methodist Churches have been given to the flames; and Christendom will stand aghast when it is made known the scores of school-teachers and Methodist preachers, who, by this Democratic agency, within these three years, have been whipped! shot! hung! and, in some instances, it is believed, burned at the stake!

10. That in nearly one-half the States of this Union this work of hell is going on, night by night—every month extending the range of its bloody operations, and fearfully multiplying the number of its victims!

11. That it is solely and immediately in the service of the Democratic party—a large portion of the party South heartily approving—large numbers of the party North attempting its palliation by excuse, and its shelter from scorn by covering up or denying its crimes, as if cowardly assassination could be palliated, and brutal murder excused—and the Democratic party throughout the land rejoicing in its promise of help. So, either by open and acknowledged action, or by the no less criminal and the more cowardly participation of extenuating and shielding the crime, the party, South and North, become before the people and before God equal sharers in the responsibility.

Out of the months of more than two hundred witnesses is every syllable of this established; and more than ten thousand of the shroudless dead, from hidden places by wayside, in swamp and mountain, and from the sleepless ashes of fired homes, shout their gastly AMEN!

A single instance of these outrage outrages perpetrated upon an American citizen on foreign soil, would be thought ample cause for War; and our entire Navy would hasten to enforce the Nation's indignation. And such abuse as is daily meted out to these humble Methodist preachers, if offered one of our Missionaries on heathen ground, would arouse the whole American church until every mind was laden with demands for "Protection."

Christian men of our country! Humane men! All decent men, we appeal to you! Is a party worthy of life in this land which seeks supremacy through such hell-born measures?

CHEAP FARMS! FREE TRAVEL!

Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad Company.

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $3 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of the railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

Officers of the Public Library of Kentucky,

R. T. DURRETT, President.
W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice-President.
M. W. CLUSKY, Secretary.
CITIZENS' BANK, Treasurer.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $90,000 more distributed. jy26twtwlm

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, passessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawlw8t6

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. R. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

BABES IN 'E WOOD.

BY TEXORON.

Poor ittle Babes in 'e Wood!
I dest feel so sorwy about 'em,
I dess oo 'ud feel sorwy too,
If I sood tell oo about 'em.

Its 'o bestest stowy ever I heard,
I dest hain't fordotion one bit!
My ma s'e chewed up 'e velly bid words,
Last night 'fore 'e lamp'ums was lit.

I dest wasn't scopy nor nuffin,
'E firc was so velly bwite,
Ma says: "I sal have to do suffin,
Or baby won't seep 'ums to night."

S'e wolled me and wolled me awound,
But I dest wouldn't lie still,
Betause oo tan see I was bound,
S'e dest soodn't bwate in my will.

S'e dest dot 'e rong pid by 'e ear,
When s'e twies 'em dum damsoo me,
I'se a chip off 'e same blot as s'e are,
I dess that some day s'e will see.

S'o dim me some awfie hard potes,
Which dest dot my indils blood up,
An' then s'e made 'bilcve it was joies,
An 'div me some sweet 'ums old hud ups.

Then s'e said s'e would tell me a stowy,
'Bout poor ittle babes in 'e wood;
I fo't it would be hunty dowy,
So I 'haved myself and det good.

There was once on a time—does oo hear me?
A dood ittle boy and dirl,
'Eir fayer and mover dot sit 'ems,
And lef' 'em alone in 'e world.

'Cept a drate tross ole untle,
Who stowled and was bad as tould be,
An' 'e faver he dave me his money,
To teep for 'e chil'en oo see.

Then 'o faver he died and 'e mover s'e died,
And 'e untle he stowled all 'e more,
An' 'e poor ittle chil'ems they tried and tried,
Co never saw suts wort afore.

One day this ole untle he t'ot to hissef,
I dest do wish all 'e money was mine,
I'd buy me some horses an' lots of nice fings,
I'd have a jolly dood time!

Then he made up his mind he'd det a bid nife,
An' till 'ese poor babes in 'e woods,
He never said nuffin to even his wife,
'Bout tillin' 'ese chil'ens so doods.

He tarried 'em off to a velly dart place,
Where 'e twess dest det all mised'ums,
An' he dot two man's to 'bey all his plans,
And let him know when fitsed 'em.

These velly bad man's 'ey dest dot to fitin'
As bad man's often do,
And one was tilled, his bud was spilled,
I fint it was awfie! don't oo?

'E man what was left, to't he'd done bout nuff,
And runned off home to dinner,
An' left 'e chil'ens 'nout nuffin to eat,
Oh, my, what a awfie bid sin ner!

'Ey tried and tried for suffin to eat,
But touldn't find much, I believes,
For 'ey died velly soon, 'an little birds tame,
And covered 'em up wiv leaves.

Poor babes in 'e woods, hain't dot no faver,
No mover, nor nuffin to eat,
No shoes, no stottins, no taters, no tod-fish,
No tate, no bwead, no meat.

'E babes in 'e wood has done up to Heaven,
Where all dood babies do,
I ain't velly dood, so oo you see Mr. Wood,
That's why I am stayin' below.

ICED WATER.—During the hot season, says the Phrenological Journal, the excessive use of iced water is one of the most prolific sources of disease and sudden death. In very hot weather, when water is rendered extremely cold by the use of ice in the cooler, no person should drink it in that condition, but should pour in, or draw from the hydrant, as much water of the ordinary temperature as will modify the iced water to about an October temperature. Then he may drink without damage. Nothing is worse for the teeth than extremely cold water; and many a man has acquired dyspepsia by its bad effect upon the stomach. Not a few have suffered from congestions which were dangerous or deathly.

We remember a boy, smart, black-eyed and handsome, who was connected with our office. He was just old enough to be wise above that which is written. Being one day remonstrated with for drinking two or three glasses of water as cold as ice could make it, he replied, tartly, "Water is never too cold for me; I never feel the slightest injury from its use." The weather was extremely hot, and if ever cold water could be used at any time, that, of all others, when the system was overheated, was not the time to use it so copiously. The next day he was not in the office, and the following day he did not come. The third-day, about noon, he made his appearance, and looked as if he had had chills and fever for three months. He drank no more iced water that summer, and probably got a lesson which will last him his lifetime. It is a wonder it did not kill him. A word to the wise is sufficient.

—The Boston Traveller refers to the horrible steamboat disaster in this city as "a terrible warning to Sunday excursionists." In the same way if a church should tumble down and bury its congregation it would be "a terrible warning" to church-goers. The editors of the Mail and Golden Age were off on a Sunday excursion the same day, and neither of them got blown up—until they got home.—N. Y. Globe.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

Consumption,
ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,
By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they only adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faithful invalid it is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-evincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the combined tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's mildest gifts—the Podophillin of Mandrake. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its usual obstructions. Digestion becomes painless, and the case is soon to be a fact. There is no more distress, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and if it is a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten tissue that it scoured is removed, healing made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet: they must talk about the weather, and as for going out, their strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep in good spirits, and be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To depair of cure during the advanced stage of mability in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption: confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at a straw, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He is to be seen, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and a patient can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

—ON—

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE
PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,
No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,
(Opposite Revere House.)

Dr. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the EXCESS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 285 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book For Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY FROM INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 250 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is not a subject treated which a MARRIED OR SINGLE, of EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the thousand and three diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct26 1yr

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1871.

THE OFFICIAL TAMMANY STATEMENT of the debts and accounts of New York city and county was published on Sunday. The accounts have been cooked to suit the em ergency, and are very far from correct. An attempt has been made to diminish the city debt by charging many large deficiencies to the county. Several issues of bonds belonging to the city are charged to the county, and some items that made a disagreeable appearance in the reports published by the Times are lumped in such a way as make them less offensive. The accounts do not materially differ from those published by the Times, except that they are much more unique and contain no specifications of expenses. The general impression is that the reputation of Tammany has not been improved by the publication. According to this new statement the funded debt of the city, July 31, was $53,331,708, and of the county $24,791,300, from which, deducting the sinking fund of $18,880,661, there remains as the net funded debt of the city and county $60,242,396. Public distrust in the present city government is steadily increasing, and the desire for a change grows rapidly.

THE DUBLIN IRISHMEN undertook to hold a public meeting on Sunday, which the authorities had prohibited. Police Superintendent How, standing on the Wellington monument, ordered them to desist, when he was hurled to the bottom of the monument and barbarously maltreated. A fearful riot ensued. The police charged upon the mob and beat and killed men, women and children indiscriminately. The fight lasted half an hour, when the police, having been re-inforced, succeeded in dispersing the rioters. Over one hundred injured have been taken to the hospital.

BRICK POMEROY in his "red hot" Democrat, most mercilessly castigates the New York Ring. Speaking of the Presidential election, he says:

We have but one serious disadvantage to get rid of—the Tammany ring of pirates. This infamous clique has been a dead weight on the party ever since the war. Its loathsome associations, its intrigue and treachery defeated us in 1868, when it gave us a bad odor throughout the campaign, stuffed the party with a put-up ring candidate, and betrayed us and sold out on the eve of success by treacherously abandoning the ticket.

ICE-CREAM should not be taken immediately after a full meal, unless in the most leisurely manner possible—a plate full in the course of fifteen minutes, during lively conversation. If eaten rapidly it cools the stomach, prevents digestion, and causes acidity, unseemly belchings, if not actual chill, which in feeble persons endangers life.

LUBRICATING OIL was struck at Terre Haute, Indiana, on Saturday night, at a depth of 1636 feet, and it is thought that it will prove to be a forty barrel well. Fifteen or twenty barrels have already been pumped out, although the water is not exhausted.

The Boston, Concord and Montreal, Passumpic and Montpelier and Wells River Railroads have agreed upon and obtained the land for a common station and junction at Wells River, so as to make a direct connection between the three roads.

A SECRET ORGANIZATION, known as the Union League of the United Sons of America, composed principally of young working-men, is forming in Cincinnati to oppose Roman Catholicism in all its shapes. All nationalities will be admitted.

—Capt. Hall was well supplied before leaving New York for the North Pole with books, material for games, etc. Among other articles some individual sent a tin can carefully sealed and labeled "Not to be opened until the Polaris has reached the Arctic Sea." But on its passage from the Navy Yard on being shipped it met with an accident, and the secret leaked out. It was a can of patent axle grease, with which Capt. Hall or his survivors were affectionately requested by letter to lubricate the axle of this slow-going world, if found at the Pole.

—"This is kind of the city," said an old fellow, as he stepped up to the fountain in front of the Portland post office, and drew forth his bottle, poured therefrom a liberal quantity of N. E. R., into the dipper, smoothed it with a very little pure Sebago, and tossed it off with much tranquillity. "Yes, very kind of the city, and a great public accommodation," he murmured, as he returned his bottle and moved on.

—Kate Boyd of Cincinnati, knocked her lover head over heels into the street last Wednesday, because she caught him showing her photograph to a crowd of young men on the steps of a saloon.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

A company has purchased a granite quarry at Farmington, and is making arrangements to operate it extensively.

Colonel Peter Sanborn, who has been treasurer of the State about fifteen years, turns over to the new democratic treasurer a balance of over $140,000 in favor of the treasury.

Mr. William Remick, while fixing a pulley in Somersworth Machine Company's works at Great Falls on Friday, was struck by a wooden lagging, and, it is feared fatally injured

John Eaton of Gilford Village, while walking home from Barnum's entertainment at Laconia, Saturday night, engaged in an altercation with a negro named Hall, when Hall drew a knife and stabbed Eaton thirteen times in various parts of the body. His wounds will undoubtedly prove fatal. Eaton is still in an unconscious state. Hall fled to the woods, and at last accounts had not been arrested.

A "moonlight train" is to snort up Mount Washington.

The trains on the extension of the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad were run to Ossipee Corner, Monday, making seventeen miles that are now completed. A strong force of workmen are now engaged in finishing the remaining eleven miles, which will take about twenty-five days.

CRUMBS.

NEW PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

We commend to our readers' earnest attention Rev. Dr. Cuyler's temperance appeal in the Illustrated Christian Weekly of this week. It is entitled, "Over the Falls," and is illustrated with a full-page view of the Falls of Niagara, beautifully designed and printed.

Ballou's Magazine for September is issued. It has one sea story, half a dozen domestic tales, adventures, and a long list of illustrated articles. $1.50 per year, Thomes & Talbot, Boston.

THE MOST TOUCHING and beautiful feature of Phebe Cary's altogether beautiful life was her unwavering love for her sister, which grew stronger and stronger as the years of their lives advanced, and which survived death itself unimpaired. Alice was apparently ever in her thoughts—not that the meditations concerning her departed friend and sister were of a moody or unreconciled nature, for, on the contrary, she always pictured her as enjoying the happiest existence possible. But her heart was buried in her sister's grave; she "could not live without her." and her disease was doubtless "a broken heart." After Alice's funeral she threw open the windows of the room which had been the scene of her sufferings, and filled it with flowers "which Alice so loved." The evening was then spent in reading her sister's poems, and when the time for separation came she declined all offers of companionship and preferred to sleep as she had always done—alone, with the door open between her's and her sister's room. Her craving for the presence of her friends was the most remarkable feature of her illness, and her droll humor which had so often shone forth brilliantly in former years could not be restrained even on a death bed. She expended it mainly on the doctor, who was quite nonplussed by her case and knew not what to do for her.

THE CITY COUNCIL of Rockland, Maine, has passed a resolve instructing the mayor to offer any and all manufacturing establishments, the annual product of which shall amount to $50,000, provided proprietors of such manufactories shall erect permanent buildings in that city for their works, all the facilities the city affords for such enterprises, and exemption from city tax on such property ten years.

MR. I. N. BURROUGHS, of Charlestown, Mass., has a remarkable specimen of lusus naturæ in his possession, in the shape of a Maltese kitten born with eight legs and two tails. It lived but a short time, and is now preserved in spirits for the benefit of the curious.

IMPORTANT STATISTICS.—Of the 1001 young ladies who fainted last year, 998 fell into the arms of gentlemen, two fell on the floor, and one into a water butt.

NEW ARITHMETIC.—"How long shall you be gone on your vacation, Ned?" "Oh, about three shirts' time."

—An Illinois man has been in the Jacksonville Insane Asylum for about two years under treatment, but a few days ago he was pronounced hopelessly incurable, and sent home. On arriving, he spoke to his girls and said: "Well, girls, you are keeping house alone, are you?" When his wife entered the room, he started as from a dream, throwing both hands to his head and pressing it, exclaiming: "My God, Jane, I thought you were dead; it is indeed you?" and seemed completely overcome by his emotions. The shock did more for him than medical aid could do. He recovered his reason entirely, and thus far retains it.

—The "mean man" rivalry has extended to Fitchburg, Mass., where exists a specimen of humanity, who paid two cents for a piece of wire at a hardware store, and only using half of it, he carried back the remnant, and begged the merchant to take it and return him his penny.

—A little fellow going to church for the first time, where the pews were very high, said, on coming out, "I went into a cupboard and took a seat on the shelf."

—No people under heaven can excel the Americans in the manly art of sitting on a bench and seeing eighteen men play ball.—Chicago Tribune.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made large additions to our jobbing facilities—a mammoth Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c.—and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS, DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. Orders received by mail, express, or at the CHRONICLE OFFICE will be promptly filled.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Great harm and discomfort is caused by the use of purgatives which grips and rack the system. Parsons's Purgative Pills are free from all impure matter, and are mild and health-giving in their operative.

At this season of the year, cramps and pains in the stomach and bowels, dysentery, diarrhœa, &c., are quite common, and should be checked at once. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is the best article that can be used in such cases, and should be kept in every family.

FAMILIES always have missed the comfort and quite of home at the majority of hotels. They need do so no longer, when visiting Boston. At the AMERICAN HOUSE, light, airy and quiet rooms, en suite or single, may always be obtained.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Biliousness and Indigestion.

These two complaints are more general at this season of the year than at almost any other. They are closely akin; for biliousness almost involves an impaired digestion, and indigestion is necessarily an accompaniment of a disordered or torpid liver. Happy the man or woman who can boast of a stomach that has never felt the horrors of dyspepsia, and to whom that great secretive agent, the liver, has never given pain or trouble. Not one in a thousand can lay claim to entire immunity from irregularity in these organs. How, then, shall they be regulated? Not by powerful cathartics, alternated with ordinary stimulants, but by a medical invigorant, like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which combine in due proportion the tonic and the alterative principles. Wherever there is a church, a schoolhouse, and a general store, this famous medicine may be procured. No village merchant finds it prudent to be without it, for it is enquired for every day by every class. The workingman buys it because it increases his capacity for toil, and is followed by no reaction. The effect of the salubrious roots, herbs, etc., of which it is composed, diffused through his system by the pure stimulant which forms the basis of the Bitters, is most healthful and invigorating. The scholar, the merchant, and, in fact, all men whose minds or bodies, or both, are in constant exercise, will derive benefit from its use. To persons of sedentary habits it supplies, in some measures, that activity in the circulation which is obtained by physical exertion, and is the best known remedy for constipation.

Ask for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and do not be coaxed into purchasing any of the imitations and frauds sometimes offered in its stead.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

Annual Meeting—Portsmouth Savings Bank.
New Books—Jos. H. Foster.
Annual Picnic—Storer Encampment, G. A. R.

EX-MAYOR JONES was bitten in the leg by a vicious dog at Nashua, last Friday. The dog inflicted a serious flesh wound and was killed.

THE METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL hold their annual picnic to-morrow at Newmarket Junction, going and coming in the regular trains at half fare. Citizens wishing to enjoy a day's recreation are cordially invited.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—The Tallapoosa arrived at the Yard on Saturday evening from a cruise on the coast of Maine as far as Boothbay.

The Kansas has hauled alongside the wharf at the Yard, under the Shears, and is to be repaired and refitted for sea immediately.

THE GRAND ARMY BOYS advertise their first annual picnic for Thursday of this week, at Kittery Point. The price of tickets is reduced to 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Harlow's Quadrille Band will furnish the music, and Steamer Appledore will transport the excursionists to and from the appointed place.

THE MUSTER.

Steamers City of Lynn, 20 men and the Veteran Association, of that city, 40 men, with Bay State Band, 24 pieces, and Deluge hand engine No. 1 of Great Falls, 60 men, have been entered.

The Lynn Transcript says Tiger, No. 4, hand engine is coming, and that the occasion is looked forward to with great interest by firemen generally.

The Providence Press says Rhode Island should have one or more of the prizes offered as nearly a dozen fire companies from that State purpose contending for them.

Torrent Engine of Nashua, already entered, threw a horizontal stream 234 feet recently.

Other entries are as follows:—Washington Engine Co., No. 1, Georgetown, Mass., 75 men, and a drum corps of fifteen. Protector Engine Co., No. 2, Milford, Mass., 40 men.

PISCATAQUA FAIR.—The board of officers of the Piscataqua Agricultural Society, (which includes Rockingham County and part of York County,) voted at a meeting on Saturday evening, to hold the fifth annual Horse and Cattle Fair of the Society, at their fine park on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 19th, 20th and 21st. About the same liberal premiums as last year will be offered for horses, neat and other stock; and among the purses for racing will be one for a three-mile trot, in harness, (which made so interesting and exciting a race last year;) and something new in these parts, in the shape of a purse for a twenty mile race in the saddle, in which riders may use as many horses as they please but must do the twenty miles in an hour in order to win the money.

There will also be a purse for a stallion race, one for 3 minute horses, 2:30, 2:45, and 2.40 horses owned in the limits of the Society, and one of $175 open to all horses. The managers intend to present one of the most interesting exhibitions ever held in the County or State.

THERE HAVE BEEN INDICATIONS of late years that Portsmouth's young business men, now coming to "the front," are determined on developing more enterprise than has characterized their predecessors. The proofs of this are abundant and one of the latest is the great change wrought in the old Franklin House, which is hardly recognizable to absentees of a few months' duration, who return to find the basement occupied by fine stores, thanks to the energy and foresight of the owner of the property, Mr. Alfred Stavers.

The store at the corner of Fleet Street has been occupied for several weeks by Terhune & Berry; Mr. M. O. Hall has recently taken the extreme westerly store, one of the remaining stores has been secured by Rodrick & Hoyt, who are to remove from their present location in a few days and will open a first class hair dressing establishment. Mr. Rodrick, anticipating the wishes of the public, will have bathing rooms adjoining, with four bath tubs. The other store is to be occupied by Mr. Charles E. Sanborn, for the sale of fruit and confectionery.

Mr. Stavers is also putting in two stores in his building on Vaughan Street, and from the avidity with which the others have been taken there seems to be no doubt that the investment will be a paying one. We learn that one of these new stores is to be occupied by Mr. P. A. McCarthy, plumber.

THE FIRE at Kittery Point, Saturday afternoon, was on the premises of Mrs. Col. John L. Lawrence, a barn being burnt. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The dwelling-house near by, was saved through the activity of the citizens. A correspondent says the Colonel, also, was saved, appearing on this luminous occasion, in partial dishabille, being minus one pair pants, one pair drawers, and one pair socks, shoes and hat—decorated only with one shirt, and like Grimes of old, with "a long black coat all buttoned down before;" thus adorned, whether his salvation pro tem was by grace or by a joke, "by fire, flood or field," there is no record. His gallantry, however, toward the ladies present, amusingly—and something else not so pleasant, indicated that his characteristic chivalry had not yet died out, and that nothing short of mother earth would ever take it out of him. He is hopeful in the fact that "all is insured."

NEW YORK GRATITUDE.—A day or two since the brakeman of a passenger train on the Eastern Railroad, while sweeping out a car in Portland, found on the floor a pocket book containing $125, with the owner's name on the book. The brakeman took considerable trouble to find the owner of the money, and finally traced him to Portsmouth, N. H., where he sent the money in charge of a friend. The loser, who is agent for a manufacturing company in New York, on receiving the pocket-book and contents, rewarded the finder by sending him one dollar, a sum he supposed generous for a citizen of New York, where honesty does not thrive and is not encouraged.—Haverhill Bulletin.

THE ADJOURNED MEETING of the Heavy Muffers will be held at the hall of Mr. James Partridge, No. 58 Market Street, this (Tuesday) evening at half past 7 o'clock. A prompt attendance is desired.

NEW FIRM!
INSURANCE BUSINESS

The Subscribers having purchased the "Business and Goodwill," of

The Old and Well Established Insurance Company of JOHN S. HARVEY, have this day formed a co-partnership, under the firm name of

for the purpose of carrying on the Insurance Business in all its branches. They trust, by industry, integrity and good judgment, to merit the approbation of all the old patrons of the office, and to receive a good share of new business.

MR. HARVEY will still take a lively interest in the Companies for which he has so long and faithfully worked, and he is authorized to receive applications for Insurance in said Companies as our Agent.

JOSEPH P. MORSE,
WINGATE N. ILSLEY.
Portsmouth, May 1, 1871.

A CARD.

HAVING disposed of my Insurance Business to JOSEPH P. MORSE and WINGATE N. ILSLEY, two gentlemen well known for their integrity and business capacity, I return my thanks to my old and constant patrons and friends, for their many favors, and earnestly recommend my successors, trusting the same generous patronage will be extended to them as to myself. They represent some of the oldest and most reliable Companies in both Fire and Life Insurance in the Country.

m15 JOHN S. HARVEY.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,

YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York River; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equalled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL, & SONS,
Proprietors.

☞ Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. The run across will occupy but about one hour. je10

APPLEDORE HOUSE,

ISLES OF SHOALS. Open June 20th. Much enlarged and improved since last season.

The swift steamer APPLEDORE, Capt. Baker, will leave Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, at 11 o'clock A. M., returning in season to connect with the cars.

3md je17 O. & C. LAIGHTON.

N. B. The Appledore will make regular Saturday evening trips to the Shoals, as in previous years, leaving the wharf at 7½ o'clock and returning to the city the same night, commencing on the 1st of July.

FIRST MORTGAGE JOINT BONDS OF

Three New England Railroads,

Principle and Interest Payable in Gold,

FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAX,
Styled the
VERMONT DIVISION
OF THE
PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG
TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Morning Chronicle.

SAD SUICIDE IN WASHINGTON.—Miss Laura Shanks, a native of St. Mary's County, Md., but for the past year a resident of South Washington, where she was regarded as the most beautiful woman in that part of the city, if not in the District, committed suicide, July 31st, by taking laudanum, at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Parkinson, No. 561 Tenth Street, S. W., nearly opposite Ryland Chapel. For some days past the unfortunate girl seemed to have lost her usual cheerfulness of disposition, and had no appetite, but was not considered ill, mentally or physically. She retired to her own room, which she did not leave during the entire day. About 9 o'clock, Mrs. Parkinson took some supper to her room, and tried hard to induce her to eat, but she still declined, saying she would perhaps feel better in the morning. Mrs. Parkinson then left her. Her brother, Mr. Maurice Shanks, arrived home about 11.30 P. M., and when he reached the head of the stairs, near her room, heard her groan, and called to her; but not receiving an answer he called to others of the family, and going into the room they found her in a stupor. Dr. Hammett was sent for, and did all he could do to restore her to consciousness, but without success, as death ensued about 12 1-2 o'clock. An empty two ounce vial, labelled "laudanum, poison," from Dr. Rowland's drug store, was found in the bed, and at the head, between the mattress and the pillow, a goblet was found discolored by the drug.

There was also found in the bed a small box, directed to Joseph Allston, Great Mills, St. Mary's County, Md., in which were a locket and three shirt-bosom studs, and the following note:

"MY DEAR LITTLE DARLING: I cannot live away from you any longer. The world is so cold and dreary without you; and I have reason to believe, darling, that you are false.

Your heart-broken LAURA."

Another note, directed to her sister, Mrs. Parkinson, was found under her, reading as follows:

"MOLLIE: Please send this box to Joe. Don't think he has treated me unkindly because I have done this.

'My dear sister, I only wish there was some way I could repay you for your kindness to me since I have been with you, but you will be rewarded for it in the next world.

Your attached sister. LAURA.

Please send the box by the first opportunity. * * * Give my prayer-book to Carrie. Tell her that it is all but I had to leave her for a keepsake. [Here follows three lines obliterated by pencil.] Mollie, please don't let the doctors touch me. If I had wanted to live I would not have taken the laudanum.

Your devoted sister, LAURA."

The deceased was an orphan girl, a native of St. Mary's County, Md. She was about twenty-one years of age and as amiable as she was beautiful. The young man, whose address appears on the box, is a resident of the neighborhood where she was born and raised, and it is generally believed they were engaged to be married, as it was noticed a short time after one of his visits some months since, that she wore an engagement ring. About two weeks ago Miss Parkinson received a letter from the neighborhood of Great Mills, in which it was stated that Allston was flirting with one girl and courting another, and that he was making preparations to marry a young lady of that vicinity in August—a Miss Thompson. The family strove to keep the contents of the letter from being known to Laura, fearing that she would take her disappointment too much to heart. Allston went to the city about the 21st of July, and remained there for a few days, during which time he visited her frequently, and, as far as was known, they were on very good terms until Saturday, and from the fact that after that day the ring was not seen on her finger, it is believed they had a difference, and the engagement was broken. After he left she seemed to lose all interest in the affairs of this world, and refused, up to the hour of her death, all food or nourishment.

—"Keyser," who received so much for plumbing and gas fitting at the New York county offices and armories, ought certainly to be able now to "buy a dog."

—A blind ox, recently sold in Minnesota, broke from the enclosure of its purchaser, swam a river and then walked twenty miles to its old home.

—Mrs. Amy Franks, a Pennsylvania matron of ninety years, has 500 living descendants.

—A Missouri murderer declines to accept a commutation of his death sentence.

—Young ladies suffering from a pane in the side may relieve it by wearing a sash.

—A Missouri man has died at 124, and claims the championship.

Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad Company.

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $8 to $15 per acre, the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPRESS TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

UNDER A BURNING SUN, where Bilious affections and Fever of various descriptions so generally prevail,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

has been successful beyond all parallel. Hence the physicians of the tropics give it their emphatic sanction, prescribing it in preference to every other aperient in use. The patients, of course, gladly acquiesce, for this preparation is one of the most delightful, as well as mild and cooling cathartics, chemistry has yet devised, and possesses advantages over medicinal virtue of the far-famed German Seltzer Spa. It is a powder that only requires the addition of water to produce in an instant a delicious, effervescent beverage, as well as an invaluable medicine. Ask for and accept none but the genuine.

CITIZENS' BANK, Treasurer.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, the principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 books, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel, will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. jy24tawtw1m

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfeb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. S. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

IS THERE A GOD?

"Each rain drop has a father,"
All things are ruled by God,
Through nature's laws were governed,
It is His written word.

In each fall, tender flower,
On marble, wood and stone,
In brooks, rivers and ocean,
His laws are engraved thereon.

The clouds of Heaven reveal Him,
The sun which gives us light;
The moon and all the plants,
Proclaim His power and might.

The rainbow from eternity,
Has arched the earth above;
An emblem of His majesty,
That tells us "God is Love."

Oh, would we seek for wisdom,
Look up to nature's God;
And study him through nature,
It is His written word.

POLITICAL.

The Newburyport Herald, "the earliest promoter of the candidacy of Gen. Butler for Governor," protests against changing the time for holding the Republican State Convention to a day earlier than the date it has been fixed. It says:

The fact is the irreconcilables of the party who cannot stomach the idea that Essex should have the temerity to present for the office of Governor a man not of their own peculiar set, and malleable to their will, such as Gen. Butler is well understood by them to be, have come to perceive that with them and their opposing candidate time is an element of the first importance; and the longer the convention is postponed, the more fully do the people reflect upon the importance of the issues which will come before them, the greater becomes Gen. Butler's strength with the people, aye, and with the press and the politicians too, and the prospects of his defeat and their success declines accordingly.

THERE was another smash-up on the Maine Central Railroad on Tuesday at the Seven Mile Brook station in Vassalboro.' The freight train was behind time, but stopped to wood up, when the mixed train ran into it. Three cars were badly smashed, one man badly scalded, one bad an arm broken, and one lady had a leg broken.

A MAN with a hand-organ was Monday morning found murdered just north of the village of Ludlow, Vermont. The body and organ were nicely covered with leaves. Suspicion rests on one or two other hand-organ men, who were in that vicinity the last of the week.

A GENTLE HINT.—A gentleman on getting some soda was retiring from the store without the usual little ceremony which follows that operation. "Recollect, sir," said the polite proprietor, "if you lose your pocket book, you didn't pull it out here."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. B. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 768 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the fearless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have died.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The history of his cure, by his philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Three-fourths of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are expected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now perfected. The blood is in copious fortunes. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no encumbrance of the stomach. All appetites for food.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to a suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and so hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nothing cannot be checked. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the cure is complete, that it occupied a lifetime of misery made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood which was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in the south of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, not, however, because they can in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about from room to room as much as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To prepare the system for such a change, a laxative pill is in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Publisher of his own cure was in these moving words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption: confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating between meals. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since.

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. These will be thoroughly examined with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow those directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Or returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the depositary at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats stop, and in a short time both of the dreadful symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in front of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

—ON—

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, 4 DUFINCH STREET, BOSTON,

(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the EROORS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 285 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book for Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, FROM INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpaid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, of EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which considerable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Cocs Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to instruct men and women to avoid the snares of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1868.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and he Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct28 1yr

KENTUCKY ELECTION.

The returns of Tuesday's election are meagre. Louisville shows a heavy Republican gain. In Frankfort, Harlan, Republican, has 690 votes; Leslie, Democrat, 590. The returns generally show republican gains. The republicans concede Leslie's election as Governor by about 20,000. We append the vote of the State for the past three years:—

	Total.	Rep.	Dem.	Dem. maj.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Manchester Mirror writes that Miss Grace Wolcott, the only survivor of the accident at the Charlestown railroad crossing on the 1st inst., will recover from her injuries. She states that she, with Mr. and Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Tilton, had been to Springfield, Vt., that morning, and started to return at a quarter-past eleven, arriving at the crossing at half-past twelve. As they approached the crossing she asked Mr. Howe about the train, and he replied that "the train had gone up a half an hour ago," and so drove upon the crossing. The horse, as he neared the track, saw the train and reared and backed off. [At this time the train was about 60 rods from the crossing, and coming at full speed.] Mr. Howe urged the horse to cross again and nearly succeeded when the animal backed till the train was almost there, and then sprang over the track himself, just as the engine struck the wagon near Mr. Howe's seat. Miss Wolcott remembers nothing more.

The engineer of the train makes the following statement:

"My name is Frank Munroe, and I am engineer of the 'E. F. Perkins.' Carried the mail train that passed through Charlestown on Tuesday, the first. We were half an hour late and only stopped a very few minutes. Started from the station at full speed so as to make up the time and connect at White River Junction. Blew my whistle and rang bell at crossings as usual. Did not see wagon till I was within six or seven rods of crossing. As soon as I saw it I reversed my engine and whistled for the brakes, but could not stop a train going at full speed in six rods. We run by crossing about forty rods; struck wagon on the forward wheel and the end of the cow-catcher, and Miss Tilton's on top of his. Mrs. Howe was cut into inch pieces and strewn along the track, the whole train passed over her."

THE FESTIVAL OF THE JUGGERNAUT.—The Calcutta correspondent of the London Times, writing on the 3d of June, says: "We are in the midst of the festival of the bathing of the Juggernaut; his great day—Roth Jutra, or the journey of the car—will be on the 20th. Fancy a line of road about two miles long, lined from end to end with sellers of fruit, sweetmeats, baskets, fans, and all manner of native productions; the fans made from the ordinary palm leaf and selling at little less than a half penny each. From ten thousand to fifteen thousand people—the vast majority women—were on the road trying to get as near as possible to where the god was bathing. It is in such a scene as this that one is brought face to face with the masses of the people. And how docile they are! They had come from great distances. Some were unmistakably footsore and weary; very many were old, nearly worn out, and possibly anxious for the last time to see the god bathed. The faces of the young girls were more wearied-looking, still faces, not pretty in any case that I saw, and very ugly in some, but with an expression that it was impossible to look upon without pity."

THE BATH TIMES says that on Thursday last Small Point harbor was thronged with mackerel, the like of which was never known, and countless thousands of them were caught in seines, nets and with hook and line. One fishing vessel, the Flying Dart of Swampscott, secured a thousand barrels. Other vessels got several hundred barrels, and the citizens in that vicinity made free with that "school" without consulting the teacher.

EX-SENATOR TIPTON, of Nebraska opposes the re-election of President Grant. How would Tip like Horace Greeley for a candidate? We rather like the Ex-Senator for opposing the confirmation of Horace Greeley, because Horace went bail for Jeff Davis, and for repudiating the San Domingo scheme.

PRESIDENT GRANT has suspended Gen. Pleasanton, Internal Revenue Commissioner. Deputy Commissioner Douglass is in charge.

Pride cometh before a waterfall.

THE Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad, having been completed as far as Ossipee corner, 43 1-2 miles from Brock's Crossing at its junction with the P. S. & P. R. R., was opened for public travel from North Wakefield, to which point the cars have run since July, to Ossipee, on Monday.

The Pullman train arriving in Portsmouth on Monday morning, brought two new elegantly constructed cars, fresh from the Eastern R. R. Company's Works, designed for this road. They are furnished in black-walnut ash and sandal wood — have Gardner's new patent rubber springs and window bands with weights that are an improvement over all former contrivances in this regard. The train left Great Falls with five cars and on the route many invited guests were taken on board.

At one o'clock the long whistle from the new locomotive Cochorua, which bore the American flag, proclaimed to a vast crowd at Ossipee Station that the regular running train into that place of recent quiet repose was a fixed fact, and from that moment Ossipee seemed to take a new departure.

The coming train was saluted with an energetic steam whistle from Beacham's Saw Mill near the road, and a salute of artillery from an adjoining meadow. Persons were in attendance from the country a round about, other towns sending delegations. A procession was formed, the Wolfeborough Band furnishing music; a huge cart, decorated with evergreens and drawn by a long team of oxen and fitted with seats like an omnibus, was provided for the officials of the road and others, who were escorted to the village and alighted at the Pine River Hotel. The station is a few rods in the rear of the hotel, on the road to Conway and is most conveniently situated. At the Pine River a banquet was served, presided over by Hon. B. T. Reed, a director of the Road and an early friend of the enterprise. There were also present Hon. George Wm. Burleigh of Somersworth, director, William H. Hackett, Esq., of Portsmouth, Clerk of the Corporation, Supt. Perkins, Hon. John W. Sanborn of Wakefield, who has contributed much toward the construction of this road by his indomitable energy, Bro. Fernald of the Great Falls Journal, Asa Beach of Rochester and many other prominent gentlemen of Strafford and Carroll counties. As the chariot moved up the street we heard one enthusiastic urchin who caught sight of the genial countenance of Mr. Reed cry out "Hurrah they've got Gov. Goodwin in that car!" The people of Ossipee were full of eager demonstrations, flags were displayed, congratulations exchanged, and "Thank God I've lived to see this day" fell from the lips of more than one old resident of this ancient town. At the tables ample justice was done to the subject under "discussion, and Superintendent Perkins, who is always on time, after giving all the delay in his power, at last gave the order for the retreat, and the excursionists repaired to the train, the large crowd in the meantime having been heartily refreshed by a bountiful collation at the Station, at which the ladies of Ossipee shew their excellence in catering for their hungry visitors.

Conductor Abbott's "all aboard" was the last speech, and 'mid waving of handkerchiefs and cheers, the train moved out of the new station on its return trip. Superintendent Perkins, who had only at a late hour last week the assurance of the track layers that the road would be ready for use on Monday, and had only time to telegraph to a portion of his friends of the opening, after showing every attention to his guests, bid them adieu and drew rein over his pair of horses for a drive to Conway. The passengers for Portsmouth and Boston left at half past two and arrived at Brock's at five o'clock, where they found the Pullman Express on the Eastern Road. Work is being pushed on the road towards West Ossipee, to which place the cars will run in about four weeks, where can come

"The city's fair, pale daughter,
To drink the wine of mountain air
Beside the Bear Camp Water."

The opening of this road gives us communication with a country heretofore undeveloped by railway facilities, and the ease and comfort with which the traveller can leave Boston at forty minutes past eight in the morning and reach North Conway by four o'clock in the afternoon, without change of cars or disturbance of baggage, will make this a favorite route to the White Mountains, besides bringing to the seaboard a new company of travellers from those sections of New Hampshire and Maine who for a long time have sought this road as their direct route to this part of the State and to Boston. The local business of the road is good, the freight traffic exceeding the most sanguine expectations of the projectors of the enterprise.

NEW PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a mammoth Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c.,—and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. Orders received by mail, express, or at the CHRONICLE OFFICE will be promptly filled.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Great harm and discomfort is caused by the use of purgatives which gripe and rack the system. Parson's Purgative Pills are free from all impure matter, and are mild and health-giving in their operative.

At this season of the year, cramps and pains in the stomach and bowels, dysentery, diarrhœa, &c., are quite common, and should be checked at once. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is the best article that can be used in such cases, and should be kept in every family.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Biliousness and Indigestion.

These two complaints are more general at this season of the year than at almost any other. They are closely akin; for billousness almost involves an impaired digestion, and indigestion is necessarily an accompaniment of a disordered or torpid liver. Happy the man or woman who can boast of a stomach that has never felt the horrors of dyspepsia, and to whom that great sensitive agent, the liver, has never given pain or trouble. Not one in a thousand can lay claim to entire immunity from irregularity in these organs. How, then, shall they be regulated? Not by powerful cathartics, alternated with ordinary stimulants, but by a medical invigorant, like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which combine in due proportion the tonic and the alterative principles. Wherever there is a church, a schoolhouse, and a general store, this famous medicine may be procured. No village merchant finds it prudent to be without it, for it is enquired for every day by every class. The gentleman buys it because it increases his capacity for toil, and is followed by no reaction. The effect of the salubrious roots, herbs, etc., of which it is composed, diffused through his system by the pure stimulant which forms the basis of the Bitters, is most healthful and invigorating. The scholar, the merchant, and, in fact, all men whose minds or bodies, or both, are in constant exercise, will derive benefit from its use. To persons of sedentary or city circumstances which is obtained by physical exertion, and is the best known remedy for constipation.

Ask for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and do not be coaxed into purchasing any of the imitations and frauds sometimes offered in its stead.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dying. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. CONDUCTOR GEORGE BATCHELDER has been unanimously chosen Superintendent of the Eastern Railroad.

THE GRAND ARMY PICNIC comes off to-morrow. Steamer Appledore will leave Pier Wharf for Kittery Point at 9 o'clock, A. M.

THE GRANTEES of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad and their Associates hold their annual meeting at Hanson's Hotel, Dover Point, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

THE METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL hold their annual picnic to-day at Newmarket Junction, going and coming in the regular trains at half fare. Citizens wishing to enjoy a day's recreation are cordially invited.

MR. RICHARD D. SMART opened a new fruit and confectionery establishment at No. 28 Market Street, on Tuesday. Mr. Nathaniel Cate is with him, and the friends of the twain are so numerous that the afternoon's raid on the tempting goods extensively depleted the stock. The customers relished the luscious fruits and new candies as well as R. D. S. did the greenbacks.

THE MUSTER.

The regular monthly meetings of the Engine Companies were held on the 7th. No. 6 voted to pay $150 toward fitting up a large tent with eatables for visiting firemen. The other companies appointed committees to wait upon our citizens to ascertain the amount of eatables to be contributed. All persons intending to furnish eatables for the visiting firemen can do so by reporting to the City Marshal, or any of the Police Officers, or at the City Rooms, in person or by letter. The committee will receive fowls of all kinds, cooked or uncooked. The specifications for furnishing provisions and straw can be seen at the City Rooms.

THE MONOTONY of the usual quiet which prevails among the boatmen on our river was interrupted on Tuesday by a yacht race between two clipper sail-boats, one owned by Rev. Geo. H. Hepworth built at South Eliot and named the "Ida," and the other the property of Mr. Wm. Dixon of Kittery (who is also the builder) and entitled "Bismarck". The race was from the Navy Yard Landing to the Shoals and return, and was gotten up by the friends of the respective boats for the purpose of testing the sailing qualities of the two crafts, and indulging in a little friendly sport. No bets were made, only each owner bet that his boat would win, and with this idea firmly implanted in their heads they started at a few minutes before ten o'clock, A. M., the Bismarck getting the lead and holding it until out of sight of those who were privileged to stand on the wharf. At a little before two o'clock, P. M., the Ida was seen rounding the point above the Narrows, and at just seven minutes past two her mainsail was hauled down alongside the wharf, having made the distance of twenty-four miles in four hours and fifteen minutes. The Bismarck reached the wharf just twenty-five minutes after, having been beaten about three miles.

Moses Jenkins, Esq., sailed the Ida, and we may here remark in this connection that besides being a genial and pleasant companion, he is not surpassed by any one on the river in the knowledge of managing a sail-boat. This fact induced Mr. Hepworth to solicit the services of Mr. J., and altho' the celebrated divine was on board during the race, and is no novice in the art of handling sheet and tiller rope, the whole matter was entrusted to the skipper, with a promise that if he (Hepworth) failed to win the race, Jenkins should receive a bill of sale of he boat. Mr. Dixon managed his own boat, which is much smaller than Hepworth's.

THERE IS CONSIDERABLE DISCUSSION among the Firemen relative to the disposal of the Relief Fund. Some desire to appropriate $1000 of the amount on hand to the Public Library Fund and the balance to the Muster Fund. This, we understand, was the vote of the Hook & Ladder Company, Monday evening. There seems to be quite a difference of opinion among the advocates of the abolition of the Relief Fund. Some of the Companies urge the appropriation of $1000 for the Muster, and others think $500 sufficient.

Should the amount now on hand, about $1300, be voted away in this manner, we do not doubt that some of its advocates will regret it at no distant day. There certainly should be a liberal response by our citizens to the call for money to pay the expenses of the coming muster. It is to be an immense affair and should be conducted in a manner creditable to a city having such an effective Fire Department as Portsmouth has. It seems a little out of the way to shift the burden from shoulders able to bear it by a recourse to a measurs of doubtful expediency. If the Fund is not to remain intact, it is evident that it could be applied with more lasting and useful effect by donating $1000 of it to the Library Fund than by expending it for two days' recreation. The Fund however was raised by the Firemen and is controlled by them, and they have an undisputed right to dispose of their own as they please. There are many in the Department who do not think it expedient to disturb the Fund or spend it all without lasting benefit and who desire us to publicly present their views for the consideration of their comrades.

A QUAKER'S PROVERBS.—Never send. est you an article for publication w out giving the editor thy name, for thy name oftentimes secures publication to worthless articles.

Thou shouldst not rap at the door of a printing office, for he that answereth the rap sneereth in his sleeves and loseth time.

Neither do thou loaf about, ask questions, or knock down type, or the boys will love thee like they do shade trees —when thou leaveth.

Thou should'st never read the copy on the printer's case or the sharp and hooked container thereof, or he may knock thee down.

Never inquire thou of the editor for news, for behold, it is his business at the appointed time, to give it thee without asking.

It is not right that thou shouldst ask him who is the author of an article, for his duty requireth him to keep such things to himself.

When thou dost enter into this office, take heed unto thyself that thou dost not look at what may be lying open and concerneth thee not, for that is not meet in the sight of good breeding.

Neither examine thou the proof sheet, for it is not ready to meet thine eye, that thou mayest understand.

Prefer thine own town paper to any other, and subscribe for it immediately.

Pay for it in advance, and it shall be well with thee and thine.

Communicated.

IN THE CASE of Amos Manser, the brakeman on the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad, who was struck by lightning and seriously injured, and John H. Mawby, who broke his leg while employed at the Navy Yard, we learn that both had been solicited to take an Accident Policy of Insurance in the Travellers Insurance Company, but while admitting it to be a safe thing to do, put it off to a more convenient season. Not so with Wm. H. Townsend, formerly of Portsmouth, late of Dover, who upon being solicited to take a Life Policy in the Charter Oak, replied that he had no one but an aged father who looked to him for support, and for his benefit he would take out a policy for $1500, on which he had paid less than $300 when he died suddenly on the 18th of July at the age of 31 years. By his timely prudence he had provided a goodly sum for his aged parent. These cases illustrate the benefits of insurance and the dangers of procrastination. *

—It is expected that between two and three hundred women will attend the next term of the Michigan University. Of the thirty in attendance at the last session not one failed.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Construction Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

VERMONT DIVISION
OF THE
PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG
TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widely-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

TOO POOR TO PAY.

We were so poor when baby died,
And mother stitched his shroud,
Tha others in their hunger cried,
With sorrow wild and loud;
We were so poor we could not pay
The man to carry him awa .

I see him still before my eyes;
He lies upon my bed;
And mother whispers through her sighs,
"Our little boy is dead."
A little box of common pine
His coffin was—and may be mine!

We laid our little brother out
And wrapped his form in white,
And as they turned his head about,
We saw the solemn sight,
And wept :: little children weep,
And kissed the dead one in his sleep!

We looked our last upon his face,
And said our last good-bye,
While mother laid him in the place
Where those are laid who die;
The sexton shoved the box away,
Because we were to poor to pay.

We were too poor to hire a hearse,
And could not get a pall;
So, when we took him ·· the grave,
A wagon held us all;
Few I who drove the horse, and I
Who begged my mother not to cry.

We le alone the crowd I town,
And felt so lone and dear,
That oft our tears came trickling down,
Because no friends were near:
The folks were strangers—no one knew
The sorrows we were passing through.

We reach the grave and laid him there,
With all the dead around—
There was no priest to say a prayer,
And bless the holy ground,
So home we went in grief and pain,
But home was never home again.

And there he sleeps, without a stone
To mark the sacred spot;
But though to all the world unknown,
By us 'tis ne'er forgot.
We mean to raise a stone some day.
But now we are too poor to pay.

ICED WATER.—During the hot season, says the Phrenological Journal, the excessive use of iced water is one of the most prolific sources of disease and sudden death. In very hot weather, when water is rendered extremely cold by the use of ice in the cooler, no person should drink it in that condition, but should pour in, or draw from the hydrant, as much water of the ordinary temperature as will modify the iced water to about an October temperature. Then he may drink without damage. Nothing is worse for the teeth than extremely cold water; and many a man has acquired dyspepsia by its bad effect upon the stomach. Not a few have suffered from congestions which were dangerous or deathly.

We remember a boy, smart, black-eyed and handsome, who was connected with our office. He was just old enough to be wise above that which is written. Being one day remonstrated with for drinking two or three glasses of water as cold as ice could make it, he replied, tartly, "Water is never too cold for me; I never feel the slightest injury from its use." The weather was extremely hot, and if ever cold water could be used at any time, that, of all others, when the system was overheated, was not the time to use it so copiously. The next day he was not in the office, and the following day he did not come. The third-day, about noon, he made his appearance, and looked as if he had had chills and fever for three months. He drank no more iced water that summer, and probably got a lesson which will last him his lifetime. It is a wonder it did not kill him. A word to the wise is sufficient.

—We understand that a quarrel has arisen in a certain section not far from here, between neighbors and members of the same church, because certain persons persist in taking their dogs to church to the annoyance of others, who have undertaken to eject the animals. The owners of the dogs contend that they have a right to take the animals to church with them, while their opponents contend that they have no such right, and also persist in kicking the creatures out. Both parties are determined and have attempted to carry the matter to law. The choir of singers have refused to sing if dogs are to be allowed in church. One man has been expelled from the society and others have taken themselves away.—Somerset, Me., Reporter.

—A clergyman passing a boy weeping bitterly, halted and asked: "What is the matter, my little fellow?" The boy replied: "Before, we could hardly get enough to eat, of anything, and now what shall we do? for now there's another one come." "Hush thy mourning, and wipe off those tears," said the clergyman, "and remember that He never sends mouths without he sends victuals to put into them." "I know that," said the boy, "but then He sends all the mouths to our house and the victuals to yours."

—A family in Fishkill, Penn., on Sunday, were poisoned by eating custard flavored with "extract of vanilla," as sold in groceries.

CHEAP FARMS! FREE TRAVEL!

Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad Company.

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are accordingly reasonable, ranging from $3 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

UNDER A BURNING SUN, where Bilious affections and Fever of various descriptions so generally prevail,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

has been successful beyond all parallel. Hence the physicians of the tropics give it their emphatic sanction, prescribing it in preference to every other aperient in use. The patients, of course, gladly acquiesce, for this preparation is one of the most delightful, as well as mild and cooling cathartics, chemistry has yet devised, and possesses every medicinal virtue of the far-famed German Seltzer Spa. It is a powder that only requires the addition of water to produce an instant a delicious, effervescent beverage, as well as an invaluable medicine. Ask for and accept none but the genuine.

CITIZENS' BANK, Treasurer.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, or delivered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert of San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any [illegible] in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. ly20d1taw1m

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers," "Restoreres," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfsb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnished good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. R. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

The Chronicle.

—A correspondent of the Boston Traveller records the two following "smart speeches" of children:

A bright little boy about four years of age, son of a clergyman, was at your correspondent's house one evening with his parents, and I gave him a couple of five cent pieces. He laid them on the table, and putting his finger on one, said, "This one I am going to give to the heathen, and the other one I am going to keep myself." He played with them awhile, till finally one of them rolled away and he could not find it. "Well," said I, "my lad, which one have you lost?" "Oh," said he, "I have lost the one I was going to give to the heathen."

A little girl came into my house one day, and some apple parings lay on a plate on the table. After sitting awhile she said:

"I smell apples!"

"Yes," I replied, "I guess you smell those apple parings on the plate."

"No! No!" said she, "Tain't them I smell; I smell whole apples!"

"READ THE RUBBER."—Dicky's parents, together with one or two evening visitors, had been spending an hour or two at whist, during, which amusement Dicky had heard several allusions to "the rubber." Young America, although wide awake, in due time becomes sleepy, as did Dicky on the evening in question. His grandmother put him in bed, and, as was her custom, read to him a chapter in the Bible remarking:—

"Now, Dicky, I have read you a whole chapter, and you must go to sleep."

"No grandma, I ain't so sleepy now; read another."

The good old lady complied, and said:—

"Now you must go sleep; I have read you two chapters."

"No, not yet—read one more; read the rubber, grandma."

—A laughable thing took place at a revival meeting somewhere in Mississippi not long since. The minister noticed a seedy-looking chap in one of the seats, looking as though he needed religion or a good square meal. So he stepped up to him and asked him if he was a christian. "No sir," said he, "I am editor of the Democratic paper in this place," "Then, in the name of God, let us pray," replied the devoted minister, —The following paragraph shows some of the new words that have been coined by the modern school of journalists: "He executed a day or two on beer, and getting short, he burgled a little. But he was soon copped and jailed. The news was immediately wired to his amiable wife, who railed to him at once.

—"The Streamlet" is a small experimental sheet printed in Boston by a boy, to show what he can do. In its original department we find the following:

"The editor of this paper is worth a quart of vermilion."

The Humane Society should arrest those persons who bottle catsup."

—"I'm not used to begging," said a little girl to a lady of whom she had asked alms, "cause only two weeks ago my father was a merchant!" "Why, child, how could he be reduced to poverty so soon?" "My father took a bad two dollar bill at his pea-nut stand, and it ruined him," sobbed the child.

—The Detroit Free Press gives wail to the question, "Who runs this government?" Anybody who has occasion to read the papers of the Tammany Ku-Klux knows that they are always running it to the best of their limited ability.—Chicago Post.

—It is expected that between two and three hundred woman will attend the next term of Michigan University. Of the thirty in attendance at the last session not one failed.

—The commerce of Boston is steadily increasing. A large fleet from every quarter of the globe is now on the way to that port with full cargoes.

—A Kansas hog recently butchered the butcher who went into the pen to kill him.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Advice made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure Patents, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been uniformal in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend to inventors to place in his hands to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cause, and at very reasonable charges. Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever authentic vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is no idle presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a generally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Pedophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching and purgative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are rejected. The liver, that so long is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the blood. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous torpiors. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite is in. Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature must be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of pulverings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten tissue that is occupied is excorated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented, or the cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter months, are very dangerous. Physicians will oppose the course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and, yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will allow, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be cheerful and well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility is cruel, and, in most cases, fatal. To despair of others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption, confined to my bed, and given up by my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. Restored to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter, every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and, have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow those directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the demanding at once be of good crder. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

ON

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE

PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,

(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the ERRORS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 285 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book For Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, from INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 250 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great want of the public at large, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, of EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects treated are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct281yr

THURSDAY, AUGUST 10, 1871.

THE ELECTIONS.

William H. Claggett, Republican, is elected delegate to Congress, from Montana, by 1000 majority, a gain of 2500.

The Republican majority in North Carolina is from 10,000 to 12,000.

THE INHABITANTS of New York city are under the thumb of Tammany. They must let the Catholic Irish parade quietly, but cannot parade themselves without being beaten and killed. They cannot even hold meetings for the purpose of protesting against the outrageous Tammany frauds without being subject to "interruption" by the "roughs" of New York city. The peaceable citizens should use more lead.

A meeting of the twelfth and nineteenth wards citizens' association was held Aug. 7th, to take action in reference to the charges of fraud brought against the city government. Resolutions were adopted asking Mayor Hall to publish in full the city accounts from January, 1868, to date, or at once resign his office and be prepared to submit to an official investigation. The meeting was very disorderly and the proceedings frequently interrupted by rowdies.

The Statz Zeitung, the leading German paper, seems to have broken with the ring. It declares that Controller Connolly does not enjoy public confidence, condemns the using of the proceeds of coupon bonds to defray current expenditures, and calls for an examination by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and that the guilty parties be brought to the bar of justice according to the result of the examination. The article has produced much excitement among the German population.

The Tribune says "the debt of New York is now reported by Controller Connolly to be $100,955,333.33. Let us briefly trace our city's dreary decline and fall into this slough of despond, and see what encouragement our rate of getting in affords about the little matter of getting out. We have four official or semi-official landmarks along the route. On the 1st of January, 1869, we had an official report. On the 1st of November we had from Moses Taylor, Marshall O. Roberts, and others, a semi-official report at the request of the Controller, showing the debt on the 5th of the previous October. On the 1st of May last the Controller made a report. And now we have for the 1st of August the first of the promised monthly reports, which, we may be sure, in no wise exaggerates our indebtedness. See the acknowledged progress:—

Jan. 1, 1869,	city and county debt,				$89,324,948.93
Oct. 5, 1870,	"	"	"	"	95,644,482.77
May 1, 1871,	"	"	"	"	81,943,515.60
Aug. 1, 1871,	"	"	"	"	100,955,333.33

In two and a half years, then, we have run in debt, under Messrs. Tweed, Connolly and Hall, $71,630,384.51, or at the rate of $28,652,145.80 per year, or $2,387,679.48 per month. Every year our taxes have been going up, yet every week Messrs. Tweed & Co. were running us in debt half a million dollars, on their own showing. If the concealed books hide anything worse than this, is it any wonder that Controller Connolly finds it so very difficult to finish that printing of the accounts which, the Mayor two weeks ago assured us, was begun weeks before that."

DOCTERING FOWL.—I will give the result of a successful experiment in doctoring my fowls, thinking that perhaps it may be of benefit to some one. I had a Houdan pullet that was taken suddenly sick, losing the entire use of her legs, and without strength even to flutter. I picked her up and found her crop soft, and apparently filled with a watery matter. It occurred to me that a dose of salts might help her, so thinking it a kill or cure matter, I gave her as much Epsom salts as I could hold between my thumb and fore-finger, expecting to find her dead in the morning.

I put her on the floor of the henhouse, and in the morning she was as well as ever, and in a day or two commenced laying. Once since she has had such an attack, but a dose of salts cured her again; and so with a half Spanish hen attacked in the same way; I gave her a dose of salts, and she is now raising a fine brood of Light Brahmas. The cure is simple, but in these cases proved effectual.—Cor. Country Gentleman.

EIGHT YEARS of observation of physicians in England, has quite clearly established the fact, that decayed blood and offal, of butchers' establishments, are a prolific source of scarlet fever.—London Lancet, Jan., 1871.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

A boat with three men in it was capsized near the landing at Nashua about one o'clock on the morning of the 3d, and but for the fortunate return of an excursion party from Mine Falls at that time they would probably have been drowned. Cause: Rum.

A Milford writer informs the Telegraph that eleven thousand frogs are nightly rehearsing in the Souhegan at that place, supposed to be preparing for Mr. Gilmore's World's Peace Jubilee.

Manchester is in receipt of "conscience money" at its Treasury.

Canaan has a quilt with 1224 different pieces in it.

Some boys struck a match in front of Mr. H. Barney's store in Canaan about midnight on the 30th ult. Thereupon, a man who had been picking up things inside with a view to steal, jumped through a back window and ran without his plunder.

Hon. Nathan W. Gove, Ex-Secretary of State, died at Concord on the 8th.

WHAT'S HIS NAME?—In the "Life of Barnum" an amusing anecdote is told of King, the actor, who met a friend whose name he had forgotten, and took him home to dinner. After several attempts to find out his name, King said: "My friend and I have had a dispute as to how you spell your name; indeed, we have laid a bottle of wide about it." "Oh! with two ps," was the answer.

An old friend once related to me an anecdote of Sheridan Knowles, which, so far as I knew, has not been published. Walking with Knowles, they were stopped by a gentleman, who said: "Oh, Knowles, how could you serve me so?"

"What's the matter, my dear fellow?"

"Why, you promised to dine with me last Wednesday, and I invited some people I thought you'd like to meet, and you never came!"

"I'm very sorry. What can I do to make amends?"

"Come another day; come next Tuesday."

"Tuesday? I can't come Tuesday."

"Say Wednesday."

"It shall be Wednesday. Depend upon me; if I'm in life I'll come."

And so they parted. Knowles, however, stood still in deep meditation for some time, and then exclaimed: "For the soul of me, I can't tell who that kind-hearted fellow is who wants me to dine with him."—Notes and Queries.

—Mayne Reid, the prolific author of wild stories for little and big children, was once a gallant soldier, and distinguished himself in the Mexican war. After the capture of the City of Mexico he was wont to empty his trunk in adorning his handsome person before calling upon the fair Guadaloupe, and while so doing would stir up his enthusiasm by reciting poetry, much to the wrath and disgust of the brother officers, who had no clothes and no loves. One day while dressing he roared out—

"At midnight, in his guarded tent,
The Turk lay dreaming of the hour
When Greece, her knees——"

"I say, Reid," interrupted Ned Marshall, "why did she grease her knees?"

"What?"

"You said, 'grease her knees.' Now, the question that agitates the country is, why did she grease her knees?"

The gay lieutenant gazed for a moment in blank amazement, and said sternly—

"You're a fool."

A duel was the consequence, in which Ned Marshall, with his usual luck, got the worst of it.

THE REPLANTING OF TEETH.—Most persons who have had teeth filled would probably have considered it a relief to have the carious molar taken out, filled, and put back again, instead of keeping the mouth on the stretch, while the dentist worked upon it in situ. It appears from the following paragraph, which we take from the Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal, that there is some hope that the process of filling may come to be performed in this very way:

"Dentists are now testing a plan proposed by Mr. Coleman, an English dentist, as follows: Extract the tooth, clear away caries and the contents of the pulp cavities, and canals, wash out with carbolic acid, fill the cavity, scrape off all diseases periostium and cementum, leaving the healthy portions of the mucous membrane attached to the neck of the tooth: bathe alveolus and the tooth in a solution carbolic acid, and return the tooth to its socket. Out of fourteen cases, Mr. Coleman succeeded with nine; operating on bicuspids and molars."—Journal of Chemistry.

PROPER PRECAUTION.—An old lady read an item in one of the papers, the other day, describing how a grindstone burst in a saw factory, and killed four men. She just happened to remember that there was a small grindstone down in her cellar, leaning up against the wall. So she went out and got an accident insurance policy and then, summoning the hired girl, and holding the pie-board in front of her, so that if the thing exploded her face would not be injured, she had the stone taken out in the alley, where twenty-four buckets of water were thrown on it, and a stick was stuck in the hole, bearing a placard marked "Dangerous." She says it's a mercy the whole house was not blown to pieces by the thing before this.

—Terre Haute, Ind., has a law against hitching horses to shade trees, and a case is to be tested whether a man can be arrested for hitching his horse to his own shade tree.

GETTING AHEAD.—Here is a curious example of "taking time by the forelock:"—My grandmother once awoke my grandfather in the middle of the the night, and told him she much feared their son Willie had become deranged, as she had been listening to him for some time speaking loudly and rapidly to himself. Her husband listened, came to the same conclusion, and they forthwith hurried into their boy's bedroom to know what was the matter. Willie's explanation was, that as they were going to the seaside next day, he wished to save time, and was saying his prayers over and over to last him through the holidays.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Great harm and discomfort is caused by the use of purgatives which gripe and rack the system. Parson's Purgative Pills are free from all impure matter, and are mild and health-giving in their operative.

At this season of the year, cramps and pains in the stomach and bowels, dysentery, diarrhœa, &c., are quite common, and should be checked at once. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is the best article that can be used in such cases, and should be kept in every family.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Biliousness and Indigestion.

These two complaints are more general at this season of the year than at almost any other. They are closely akin; for biliousness almost involves an impaired digestion, and indigestion is necessarily an accompaniment of a disordered or torpid liver. Happy the man or woman who can boast of a stomach that has never felt the horrors of dyspepsia, and by whom that great secretive agent, the liver, has never given pain or trouble. Not one in a thousand can lay claim to entire immunity from irregularity in these organs. How, then, shall they be regulated? Not by powerful cathartics, alternated with ordinary stimulants, but by a medical invigorant, like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which combine in due proportion the tonic and the alterative principles. Wherever there is a church, a schoolhouse, and a general store, this famous medicine may be procured. No village merchant finds it prudent to be without it, for it is enquired for every day by every class. The workingman buys it because it increases his capacity for toil, and is followed by no reaction. The effect of the salubrious roots, herbs, etc., of which it is composed, diffused through his system by the pure stimulant which forms the basis of the Bitters, is most healthful and invigorating. The scholar, the merchant, and, in fact, all men whose minds or bodies, or both, are in constant exercise, will derive benefit from its use. To persons of sedentary habits it supplies, in some measures, that activity in the circulation which is obtained by physical exertion, and is the best known remedy for constipation.

Ask for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and do not be coaxed into purchasing any of the imitations and frauds sometimes offered in its stead.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army rattled the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

THE BRIGNOLI CONCERT COMPANY are coming August 15th. Signor Parodi is in town arranging the details.

HOTEL KEEPERS AND RAILROAD MEN are hereby notified that we have no travelling correspondents in the United States.

BASE BALL.—The Kearsarge club have accepted a challenge to play a game with the Muffin nine at the Plains, to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

THE large schooner H. G. Fay, of Calais, Me., made sail from Sise's wharf on Wednesday and ran into William Frye's wharf at Church Hill, nearly demolishing it. Mr. Frye thinks it was a careless trick.

THE MUSTER.

Torrent S. F. Engine No. 2, of Nashua, and Relief Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1, of Ipswich, Mass., have entered. Committees from Manchester and Dover and Pawtucket R. I., were in the city Thursday, making arrangements.

THE G. A. R. PICNIC comes off today. Steamer Appledore will leave Pier Wharf at 9 o'clock. The party will leave for home at 1-2 past 6 o'clock, P. M., returning by way of the Shoals. Refreshments of all kinds may be had on the grounds.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the grantees of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad charter was fully attended at Dover Point, Thursday. The various measures proposed for the prompt building of the Road were earnestly discussed and a course of action was determined on, which enthusiastic quid nunes think will expedite matters and satisfy the public, who desire the work of construction to commence speedily. Certainly, if the Board of Directors are as earnest in the matter as is the enterprising President, there will be little if any delay. The following are the officers for the ensuing year:

President, Hon. Frank Jones.
Clerk, John S. H. Frink, Esq.
Treasurer, George L. Treadwell.
Directors, Frank Jones, John H. Bailey, Daniel Marcy and Albert R. Hatch of Portsmouth; Amos D. Purington, Oliver Wyatt, Andrew H. Young of Dover.

THE BODY of Samuel Staples, of Lubec, Me., who was drowned by the capsizing of a vessel, some time last April, on the passage from Newport to Lubec, was recently picked up by a fishing vessel, on George's Bank, and carried into Newport. The body was undisturbed, the clothes being buttoned tight around it, and the money and papers all right. It is something more than three hundred miles from the place where the body was found to where the vessel was capsized.

RETRIBUTION begins even in this life. Witness the following from the New Haven Palladium: "A persistent effort was made lately by one of the New York Tammany Hall thieves to obtain possession of a cottage at the Pequot settlement, in New London; but, luckily for the reputation of that famous hostelry, it was unsuccessful."

A LITTLE GIRL, two or three years of age, daughter of Herman Young of West Goulsborough, Me., met her death in a strange manner recently. During the temporary absence of the parents, the little girl, it seems, strayed out through the open door, caught her head between the bars of the gate and broke her neck.

"SAWK" wishes to know, now that it is decided that the firemen are to encamp on Peirce's Island during them uster, if the crockery ware dealers and the Base Ball clubs of the city are expected to furnish Pitchers to pitch the tents.

SERVED HIM RIGHT. — A Concord man has been fined $22.25 for making false statements as to where he wanted to go with a team he hired going further than stipulated.

—A Syrian convert to Christianity, as the story goes, was urged by his employer to work on Sunday, but he declined. "But," said the master, "does not your Bible say that if a man has an ox or ass that falls into a pit on the Sabbath day he may pull him out?" "Yes," answered Hayoh; "but if the ass has the habit of falling into the same pit every Sabbath day, then the man should fill up the pit or sell that ass." The story has a sort of a swivel "moral" which fit a great many disputed points in these days.

HAD GOT THEIR LINES.—Mr. Murdoch was leading a patriotic multitude of supernumaries, who had been well trained at the rehearsal, and made an inadvertent transposition of his own lines during the performance, with the following impressive result:

Hero—Would ye be slaves?
Shouters—We would! we would!
Hero (finding it too late to cry back, and trusting to luck)—Would ye be freemen?
Shouters—We'd die first.

ALMOST every exchange we take up now-a-days contains an account of accidents resulting from the explosion of kerosene. Their frequent occurrence is becoming somewhat alarming in view of the fact that upon the early introduction of this kind of oil no such catastrophies were ever heard of, and we are led to inquire why it is that there is so much greater danger connected with its use than formerly. The reason is that when kerosene oil was first introduced, care was taken to refine it to a fire test of 120 degrees Fahrenheit, and when divested of its naptha properties to this extent it is as harmless as water. Indeed, a lighted taper may be dropped into a barrel of it with the utmost safety. But since the early days of its use, with that insatiate desire for gain without rendering the proper equivalent came the habit of manufacturing and selling oils that were not subjected to so great a fire-test in the process of refining, leaving a great part of their crude properties mingled with them to be thrust into the hands of ignorant sellers, and still more ignorant buyers. Now in default of a vigorous law or the enforcement thereof in this vicinity we venture to submit a test which is in the power of any consumer to apply.

After having cleaned the lamp thoroughly, taking care to have also in it a good clean wick free from incrustation—pour into a common saucer about about half a tea-cup full of the oil which proposed to be used, and drop into it a lighted match by means of a pair of tongs that one may be enabled in case of sudden ignition to prevent being scorched about the head or face. If the oil is good, the match will be extinguished as suddenly as though it had been dropped into an equal quantity of water, unless the match is laid gently on the surface of the oil, in which case it will burn until the wood of the match is entirely consumed without igniting the oil. This is a simple and convenient test; one that anybody can apply, and any oil after having been submitted to the above trial is perfectly safe.

Should it prove of an inferior quality, it will not explode in trying the experiment, as the expansive power of petroleum when not heated is not great enough to cause any other result than the production of a harmless body of flame which will continue as long as the oil lasts. After becoming fully satisfied in regard to the non-inflammable character of kerosene, fill the lamp, having prepared it in the manner before suggested, and never allow it to burn entirely out, because in so doing, there is great danger of engendering a heated gaseous air, that it is as dangerous as unrefined or crude oil. We have no doubt that a large number of kerosene accidents may be attributed to a lack of carefully trimming and feeding the lamp. The above hints are thrown out with the hope that more precaution may be taken in the use of this valuable illuminator, and that casualties in this direction may in future be less frequent, by taking due notice thereof and governing ourselves accordingly.

—The Millerites have fixed September 3d, as the date of their newest departure.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The
NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS
RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

FOR SALE! FOR SALE!

THAT DELIGHTFUL SEASIDE retreat known as the WOODMAN FARM, containing forty acres of land, a commodious, new and imposing house and convenient outbuildings, situated on the easterly side of Great Island, (Newcastle,) within a stone's throw of the ocean, and in full view of the "Isles of Shoals."

Also adjoining the same, "POINT JERRY," embracing ten acres of arable land, extending far out into the sea, being the nearest point of land to the "Isles of Shoals," and forming the outside boundary of what is known as Little Harbor.

This is the most desirable spot on the seacoast for summer residences, possessing all the advantages of the world renowned "Isles of Shoals," in bracing atmosphere, deep sea fishing and surf-bathing on one side, while on the other is a smooth, hard beach and still water. There is also upon it a never failing pond of fresh water, an old battery, and a light-house beacon. Roads always good, and scenery unsurpassable.

HOME AGAIN.

A correspondent of the Washington Capitol, Don Piatt's paper, writes thus of an incident on the Boston and Albany railroad a short time ago:

I ran across what first struck me as a very singular genius on my road from Springfield to Boston. This was a stout, black whiskered man, who indulged, from time to time, in the most strange and unaccountable manœuvres. Every now and then he would get up and hurry away to the narrow passage which leads to the door in these drawing-room cars, and when he thought himself secure from observation, would fall to laughing in the most violent manner and continue the healthful exercise until he was as red in the face as a lobster. As we neared Boston these demonstrations increased in violence, save that the stranger did not run away to laugh, but kept his seat and chuckled to himself, with his chin deep down in his shirt collar. But the changes that those portmanteaus underwent! He moved them here, there, everywhere; he put them behind him, in front of him, on each side of him. He was evidently getting ready to leave, but as we were yet twenty-five miles from Boston, the idea of such early preparation was ridiculous.

If we had entered the city then the mystery would have remain unsolved, but the stranger at last became so much excited that he could keep his seat no longer. Some one must help him, and as I was the nearest, he selected me. Suddenly turning, as I had asked a question, he said, rocking himself to and fro in his chair the meantime, and slapping his legs, and breathing hard:

"Been gone three years!" "Ah?" "Yes, been in Europe. Folks don't expect me for six months yet, but I got through and started. I telegraphed them at the last station; they've got it by this time."

As he said this he rubbed his hands and changed the portmanteau on his left to the right side, and one on the right to the left, again.

"Got a wife?" said I. "Yes, and three children," he returned, and he got up and folded his overcoat, anew, and hung it over the back of the seat.

"You are pretty nervous over the matter, ain't you?" I said, watching his fidgety movements.

"Well, I should think I was," he replied: "I hain't slept soundly for a week. And do you know," he went on, glancing around at the passengers and speaking in a lower tone, "I am almost certain this train will run off the track and break my neck before I get to Boston. Well, the fact is, I have had too much good luck for one man lately. The thing can't last; 'taint natural that it should, you know; I've watched it. First it rains, then it shines, and then it rains again; it rains so hard you think it's never going to stop; then it shines so bright you think it's always going to shine; and just as you are settled in either belief, you are knocked over by change, to show you that you know nothing about it."

"Well, according to that philosophy," says I, "you will continue to have sunshine, because you are expecting a storm."

"It's curious," he returned, after a pause, "but the only thing which makes me think I'll get through safe, is because I think I won't."

"Well, that is curious," said I.

"Lord, yes; he replied. "I'm a machinist—made a discovery—nobody believed it; spent all my money trying to bring it out—mortgaged my home—all went. Everybody but my wife—spunky little women—said she'd work her fingers off before I should give it up. Went to England—no better there; came within an ace of jumping off London Bridge; went into shop to earn money enough to come home with; there met the man I wanted. To make a long story short, I've brought thirty thousand pounds home with me." "Good for you," I exclaimed. "Yes," said he, "thirty thousand pounds; and the best of it is she doesn't know anything about it. I've fooled her so often, and disappointed her so much that I just concluded I would say nothing about this. When I got my money, though, you better believe I struck a bee line for home." "And now you will make her happy," said I. "Happy!" he replied, "Why you don't know anything about it. She's worked like a dog while I have been gone, trying to support herself and the children decently. They paid her thirteen cents a piece for making coarse shirts; and that's the way she lined half the time. She'll come down there in the depot to meet me in a gingham dress and a shawl a hundred years old, and she'll think she's dressed up. Oh, she won't have no clothes after this—oh, no, I guess not," and with these words, which implied that his wife's wardrobe would soon rival that of Queen Victoria's, the stranger tore down the passage way again, and getting in his old corner, where he thought himself out of sight, went through the strangest pantomime, laughing, putting his mouth into the droliest shapes, and then swinging himself backward and forward in the limited space as if he were walking down Broadway a full rigged metropolitan swell. And so on until we rolled into the depot, and I placed myself on the lower step, ready to jump to the platform. I looked from his face to the faces of the people before us, but saw no sign of recognition. Suddenly he cried: "There they are," and laughed out-right but in a hysterical sort of a way, as he looked over the crowd. I followed his eyes, and some distance back, as if crowded out ann shouldered away by the well-dressed and elbowing throng, a little woman in a faded dress, and a well-worn hat with a face almost painful in its intense, but hopeful expression, glanced rapidly from window to window as the coaches glided in. She had not seen the stranger, but a moment after she caught his eye and in another instant he had jumped to the platform with his two portmanteaus, and making a hole in the crowd, pushing one here and there, and running one of his bundles plump into the well-developed stomach of a venerable-looking old gentleman in spectacles, he rushed toward the place where she was standing.

I think I never saw a face assume so many different expressions in so short a time as did that of the little woman while her husband was on his way to her. She didn't look pretty. On the contrary, she looked very plain, but someway I felt a big lump rise in my throat as I watched her. She was trying to laugh, God bless her; how completely she failed in the attempt! Her mouth got into that position, but it never moved after that, save to draw down at the corners and quiver, while she blinked her eyes so fast that I suspect she only caught occasional glimpses of the broad shouldered fellow who elbowed his way so rapidly toward her. And then, as he drew close and dropped those everlasting portmanteaus, she just turned completely around, with her back toward him, and covered her face with her hands. And thus she was when the strong man gathered her up in his arms as if she had been a baby, and held her sobbing to his breast. There was enough gaping at them, heaven knows, and I turned my eyes away a moment, and then I saw two boys in threadbare roundabouts standing near, wiping their red eyes and noses on their little coat sleeves, and bursting out anew at every fresh demonstration on the part of their mother, who seemed as if the pent up tears of all those weary months of waiting were streaming through her eyes.

Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad Company.

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $8 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are issued at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed. The gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. jy26d&w1m

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfebtd

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, even surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

"WORDS AND THEIR USES."

BY A MYSTIFIED QUAKER.

NEW YORK, 4th month, 10th, '71

Respected Wife: From these lines my whereabouts thee'll learn—
Moreover I impart to thee my serious concern:
The language of this people is a riddle unto me,
And words with them are figments of a reckless mockery!

For instance, as I left the cars, an imp with smutty face
"Said "Shine?" "Nay, I'll not shine," I said,
"except with inward grace!"
"Is inward grace a liquid or a paste?" asked this young Turk:
"Hi Daddy! what is 'inward grace?' How dose the old thing work?"

"Friend," said I to a Jehu, whose breath suggested gin,
"Can thee convey me straightway to a respectable inn?"
His answer's gross irrelevance I shall not soon forget,
Instead of simply yes or nay, he gruffly said, "You bet!"

"Nay, nay, I shall not bet," for that would be a sin—
Why don't thee answer plainly; Can thee take me to an inn?
Thy vehicle is doubtless meant to carry folks about in—Then why prevaricate?" Said he, perversely, "Now yer shoutin'!"

"Nay, verily, I shouted not!" quoth I, "my speech is mild;
But thine—I grieve to say it—with falsehood is defiled.
Thee ought to be admonished to rid thy heart of guile,"
"See here! my lively moke," said he, "you sling on too much style!"

"I've had these plain drab garments twenty years or more," said I.
At that he pranced around as if "a bee were in his bonnet,"
And, with hostile demonstration, inquired if I was "on it?"

"On what? Till thee explains thyself, I cannot tell," I said.
He swore that something was "too thin," moreover it was "played;"
But all this jargon was surpassed in wild absurdity,
By threats, profanely emphasized "to put a head on me!"

"No son of Belial," said I "that miracle can do!"
Whereat he fell upon me with blows and curses fast,
But failed to work that miracle—if such was his design—
Instead of "putting on a head," he strove to smite off mine!

Thee knows I cultivate the peaceful habits of our sect,
But this man's conduct wrought on me a singular effect;
For when he slapped my broad-brim off, and asked, "How's that for high?"
It roused the Adam in me, and I smote him hip and thigh!

The throng then gave a specimen of economy broke loose,
And said I'd "snatched him bald-headed," and likewise "cooked his goose."
Although, I solemnly affirm I did not pull his hair,
Nor did I cook his poultry—for he had no poultry there!

They called me "bully boy!" although I've seen nigh three score year:
They said that I "was lightning" when I "got upon my ear!"
And when I asked if lightning climbed its ear or dressed in drab,
"You know how 'tis yourself!" said one inconsequential blab!

Thee can conceive that, by this time, I was somewhat perplexed;
Yes, the placid spirit in me has seldom been so vexed.
I tarried there no longer, for plain-spoken men—like me—
With such perverters of our tongue, can have no unity.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

"No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means to cure it. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleepless the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have died.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for diet, etc., is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this treatment there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two powers with which the cloaked foe to mankind is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. Worms and mucous secretions in tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Pedophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Digestion is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Dispeptic symptoms painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perfect the functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the tubercles and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of expectoration it ripens them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made sound, and the patient, who but yesterday of regained vigor, stops forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding are important in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house, they must not sit down to rest, they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits, and be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to cure.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's persons are subject to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicine need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

—ON—

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE

PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,

(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and other disorders arising from the ERRORS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OF EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 285 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book For Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, from INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, of EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of information on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct281yr

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 11, 1871.

ANOTHER FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT occurred on the Maine Central Railroad on the night of the 9th, just as the mixed train was entering Bangor. The train consisting of the engine, tender, mail and express car, smoking car, three passenger cars and one Pullman palace car. It was about half an hour behind time and was running at a good rate of speed to get in before the time for the night train to leave the city. The engine and tender and a portion of the mail and express car were across the Hamden road bridge when the structure went down, taking the rear trucks of the mail car, but the strength of the shackles kept it upon the track. The smoking car plunged down into the street a distance of twenty feet, and was completely demolished, there hardly being a piece of it left as large as a table-leaf. This was followed by a passenger car which went down upon its [illegible] completely stove to pieces. A second passenger car shot across the street at right angles with the first and was also demolished. The third and last regular passenger car plunged down the abyss, striking upon the forward end, crushing it in, while the rear end was suspended at an angle of 45 degrees by the broken timbers and abutments. The Pullman car being the last on the train remained upon the track, the front end being somewhat damaged by contact with the preceding car, but none of the passengers in it being injured in the sightest.

William Percival of Waterville was brakeman of the third passenger car, and stood at his post on the first platform when it plunged down through the bridge, and was instantly killed, receiving several wounds on the head, either of which must have proved fatal, besides having his arm and leg fearfully crushed.

Thomas Gallagher of East Boston has died of his wounds; about thirty others were wounded. The cause of the disaster was the insecure condition of the bridge; the timbers as exposed by the accident proved to be greatly decayed. New timbers had been hauled on the bridge during the day for repairing it.

THE LOUISIANA REPUBLICANS held two conventions at New Orleans, on the 8th. The regular convention adopted resolutions guaranteeing a place in free schools to every child; approving of the limitation of the State department expenses to $25,000,000; calling upon the Governor to preserve the peace, declaring that Governor Warmoth no longer enjoys the confidence of the republican party; instructing delegates to vote for U. S. Grant for the nomination at the next national republican convention; and thanking President Grant for his promptness in protecting them.

DURING A THUNDER-STORM on the 8th, the lightning struck the Railroad track just outside of the east end of the Hoosac Tunnel, and entering the tunnel on the rails exploded a charge of nitro-glycerine, instantly killing two men and injuring another so that he died shortly after. A charge was similarly exploded on the west end of the tunnel during the same shower, but without damage.

MISS ABBIE GILFORD, of Marshall County, Iowa, who failed by a few votes in getting the Republican nomination for School Superintendent, has been nominated by the Democrats. Miss Gilford declines the nomination, saying she will not accept a nomination from one party after being a candidate of another.

GEORGE STOVER, 40 years old belonging in Malden, Mass., was instantly killed on the 9th, by a heavy plate of a bank vault which he was putting into the Merchants' Bank, falling and crushing his skull. He was a native of Eliot.

THE NEW YORK CITY FRAUDS have seriously injured the city's credit. The committee of the Berlin exchange has refused to allow the quotations of the New York city loan to appear in the official stock lists.

THE PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND GOVERNMENT, though proposing to accept the treaty of Washington, will demand from Great Britain a money indemnity for the fisheries.

THE FRANKFORT, KY., KU-KLUX celebrated election day by mobbing the jail, taking two negroes therefrom and hanging them.

THE PRUSSIANS will soon be out of France except in Champagne and the French portions of Alsace and Lorraine.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

At the session of the governor and council on the 9th, the following appointments were made: Bennett P. Strouss, of Conway, commissioner on the reimbursement of war expenditures; Rev. Eleazer Smith, of Concord, chaplain of the State prison; Samuel Flint, of Lyme, J. H. Ela, of Rochester, and Horatio Colony, of Keene, commissioners on the bureau of labor statistics; A. L. Jenness, of Deerfield, A. J. Fogg, of Concord, and Frank Kimball of Andover, bank commissioners; John S. Bennett, of Newmarket, L. P. Cooper, of Croyden, trustees of the reform school; E. A. Hibbard, of Laconia, George W. Haven, of Portsmouth, and Henry Colony, of Keene, trustees of the insane asylum; Lewis W. Clark, of Manchester, Mason W. Tappan, of Bradford, E. D. Baser, of Claremont, and James E. Briggs, of Hillsborough, committee on the centennial celebration at Philadelphia. All the nominations made August 1, were confirmed.

A large barn belonging to Mr. Wingate McQuestion, in Litchfield, was struck by lightning on Tuesday afternoon and consumed with all of its contents.

On the 4th, in Claremont, Mr. Theodule Beldue was at work on the new Catholic church, putting up lightning rods. He lost his balance, slid off the roof and fell thirty feet, suffering only a sprained ankle.

On the 27th ult. Hon. A. W. Sawyer of Nashua left his fox dog Bugle in his yard with a long chain on his collar, and eleven days after a man who had been accustomed to hunt foxes found the dog two miles away, with the chain wound around a small oak. The dog was nearly dead with hunger.

A Newmarket spring pig has gained fifty one pounds in thirty days.

Professor C. H. Hitchcock recently discovered fossil corals in the "Helderberg" limestone at Littleton. This is the first discovery of fossils in the State.

On the 4th, at East Kingston, a section hand, named Shay, caught a sleeve in the crank of a hand-car, was thrown off and had several ribs broken.

The Congregational church at South Newmarket, which has been closed several months was re-dedicated on the evening of the 6th, in the presence of a large audience. Rev. Mr. Stearns of Epping offered the dedicatory prayer and Rev. Mr. Bartlett, the pastor, preached the sermon. Among other improvements eighteen pews have been added. The church was organized in 1730.

A letter directed to Raw Chester, N. H., was recently deposited in the Manchester Post Office.

New Hampshire is the only State where the Aids to the Governor exceed in number the members of the Senate.

Wolfeborough had an earthquake shock on the 9th.

An incendiary fire at Rochester, on the 10th, destroyed Mr. Charles Bickford's furniture manufactory, carpet store and contents, W. P. Ela's hardware and tin shop Holmes' grocery, Mary A. Sanborn's millinery store and dwelling house, a barn and other buildings. Loss $20,000; insured for $11,000.

THREE BROTHERS, Justin, Benjamin and Joseph Averill, of York, were brought before Trial Justice Bryant of Kennebunk, recently, charged with assaulting and beating Capt. Benjamin H. Weare of Cape Neddick while he was on his way to church, July 30th, and were ordered to recognize in the sum of $500 each, for their appearance at the next term of the S. J. Court, to be holden at Alfred in September next, which was complied with.

THE MURDERER of the Viceroy Mayo was executed at Naukin a few weeks ago by being "cut into 10,000 pieces," which means cut to pieces gradually until he died. He bore the punishment as stoically as he had supported the horrible tortures to which he had been subjected in the course of a judicial investigation, when he was kept for twenty days kneeling on hot chains for the purpose of forcing a confession of the cause of the murder.

MR. BENNETT'S STORE in Vienna, Clark county, Ohio, was destroyed by an explosion of two kegs of powder, which was ignited by burning gas, accidentally set on fire. Four persons were fatally and twenty-seven others injured by the falling ruins. All the wounded are Mr. Bennett's neighbors who were assisting in saving his goods.

LIEUT. JOHN DENNETT of York, Me., who was appointed 3d Lieut. in U. S. Revenue, Maine, in March last, has been promoted to 2d Lieut. and ordered to the U. S. Revenue Cutter Campbell, at New London, Conn.

Eckfords 10, Haymakers 7.

The Navy Register, just issued, gives the number of vessels in our Navy at 179, of which 51 are iron clad, laid up at League Island, New Orleans, Washington and other places, the Terror, of the North Atlantic fleet, being the only one in active service; 30 are tags, doing duty at the various navy yards and stations; 36 vessels are abroad on the several foreign stations, and a large number are laid up at the navy yards throughout the country, being of no use, as the law does not permit the enlistment of a sufficient number of men to send them to sea.

THE HAWKINS ADULTERY CASE has created great excitement among the Mormons at Salt Lake. It is the first case of bigamy ever entered by a Mormon woman, and it is generally believed that should she succeed others will take similar action.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Great harm and discomfort is caused by the use of purgatives which gripe and rack the system. Parson's Purgative Pills are free from all impure matter, and are mild and health-giving in their operative.

At this season of the year, cramps and pains in the stomach and bowels, dysentery, diarrhœa, &c., are quite common, and should be checked at once. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is the best article that can be used in such cases, and should be kept in every family.

WANTED.—The most active and wide-awake Man in this State,—a man who thoroughly means business and can do business, to take the General Agency of New Hampshire for one of the oldest and largest Life Insurance Companies in America. Address with particulars and references, P. O. Box 2655, New York City. aug11

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Biliousness and Indigestion.

These two complaints are more general at this season of the year than at almost any other. They are closely akin; for biliousness almost involves an impaired digestion, and indigestion is necessarily an accompaniment of a disordered or torpid liver. Happy the man or woman who can boast of a stomach that has never felt the horrors of dyspepsia, and to whom that great secretive agent, the liver, has never given pain or trouble. Not one in a thousand can lay claim to entire immunity from irregularity in the two organs. How, then, shall they be regulated? Not by powerful cathartics, alternated with ordinary stimulants, but by a medical invigorant, like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which combine in due proportion the tonic and the alterative principles. Wherever there is a church, a schoolhouse, and a general store, this famous medicine may be procured. No village merchant finds it prudent to be without it, for it is enquired for every day by every class. The workingman buys it because it increases his capacity for toil, and is followed by no reaction. The effect of the salubrious roots, herbs, etc., of which the compound is diffused through his system by the pure stimulant which forms the basis of the Bitters, is most healthful and invigorating. The scholar, the merchant, and, in fact, all men whose minds or bodies, or both, are in constant exercise, will derive benefit from its use. To persons of sedentary habits it supplies, in some measure, that activity in the circulation which is obtained by physical exertion, and is the best known remedy for constipation.

Ask for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and do not be coaxed into purchasing any of the imitations and trash sometimes offered in its stead.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 13 BOND STREET, N.Y.

"Square K., a well-know barrister of Belknap, having occasion to transact some business at the Ossipee conft, found a few days at his disposal which he determined to spend in trouting in the mountain brooks. In company with an artist friend he wandered several miles into the country. Night came down and the sportsmen concluded to spend the night at a farm house, if permission could be obtained, and return early next morning to the village. A cheery-faced old lady granted permission to remain under her roof that night. Now, as it was necessary that our legal friend should be at court at eight next day, the good dame arose early and prepared breakfast by the light of a tallow candle. The anglers were seated at the table in a dark corner of the kitchen, while the old lady was engaged over a sizzling frying-pan on the stove. 'How's this steak, T., tough, eh?' asked the lawyer, sotto voce. 'Don't know; why?' 'By Jove, I can't chew the stuff!' continued he. Wiping the sweat from his forehead, he made another effort to masticate the mouthful, then shouted, 'My good woman, will you be kind enough to see why this steak is so very tough?' The pleasant-faced old lady appeared with her candle, wiped the moisture from her spectacles and looked at the plate, dropped the tallow candle into the lawyer's lap and shouted with horror: 'Great State of New Hampshire! I've fried my holder!'"

The Domestic Sewing Machine—E. A. Joy.

WANTED.—At this office, a good, smart, intelligent, honest, faithful and truthful boy to learn the printing business.

Now is the time to fish for mackerel. Large schools are off the harbor and the fleet between here and the Shoals is doing well.

REV. HENRY WARD BEECHER and wife and Congressman J. F. Farnsworth of Illinois are at the Rockingham House.

THE NORTH POND CESS-POOL has an odor equal to ten thousand skunk power, with sufficient indications of being increased a thousand fold.

THE MUSTER.

Steamer Dover, No. 1, of Dover is coming.

The Dover Cornet Band will attend with a Newmarket company.

Atlantic Co. No. 2 of Pawtucket, R. I., and Nameaug Co. of New London, Conn., are making arrangements to attend.

THERE HAS BEEN a fierce battle among the Democracy of Rockingham County over the confirmation of Sheriff Samuel Rowe. Hon. John S. Bennett of Newmarket hungered for the position, but Hon. Frank Jones carried too many guns for the combined opposition, and Mr. Rowe was confirmed at his earnest request.

AT A CHURCH PICNIC, near Rochester, N. Y., on the 7th, a young German girl was walking with a man in a secluded part of the grounds, when a number of rowdies collected about them, evidently with evil designs. The masculine fled and the frightened girl ran to the brink of a precipice and fell to the dry bed of the river below, a distance of 75 feet. She was afterwards found dead, with her neck broken.

A HORSE belonging to Mr. W. Hennessey, ran away down Congress Street and through Pleasant and State Streets, on Thursday. Mr. Hennessey's son, who was driving, clambered out of the rear of the wagon while the team was going at a fearful pace, and escaped unhurt. The horse made for his stable at the foot of State Street, and dragged the wagon over rocks and lumber, breaking the whiffletree and springing one axle. The horse was first started by the snap of a whip of a driver of another team.

THE SEABROOK SENSATION.—Messrs. Editors:—Please allow me to say, that not withstanding all said against Rev. W. A. Rand, of South Seabrook, in regard to the recent excitement caused there by articles in the Newburyport Herald and Boston Post,—Mr. Rand is not in any manner accountable for their publication, never having procured, desired or expected any of them. He was not there when the Post's reporter made his visit, and did not know he was to come; nor did he see the Traveller man when there.

As to the truth or falsity of the reports given of the state of things at South Seabrook, we shall not now say much—but if all is so well there, why does not the Post take back all it said, since Col. Weare has taken the editor himself down and shown him around? We ask, why not? The agent of the N. H. Bible Society long ago reported that a heathenish condition of things existed at South Seabrook, far beyond anything found in any other portion of the State.

And Mr. Rand, who was a Portsmouth boy, and is favorably known to hosts of our citizens—deserves only the highest praise for the noble work he has begun, and which we trust he will be supported and encouraged to follow up, at South Seabrook. He is neither indiscreet nor over-zealous—and is as far removed as possible from being a meddler, a busy-body or a sensationalist. None of the newspaper stories were occasioned by any efforts of his to raise money or anything else. Those who know him best, feel sure that he is altogether without fault in the whole affair—the Springfield Republican correspondent or any other man to the contrary, notwithstanding. If any untruths have been told about South Seabrook, the public may rest assured that Rev. Mr. Rand is in no way responsible.

Yours truly, A FRIEND.

P. S.—How would it do, to get up an excursion party to South Seabrook? Mr. Rand's old friends, in school and church, would be glad to visit the scene of his labors, and the public generally would be interested to go—and charitable christian people would have opportunity to aid and benefit that community, if they found occasion.

THE MORTALITY AMONG CHILDREN at this season of the year, should arrest the attention of every parent as well as every physician. The present summer is a much more trying season for children, especially if they are teething, than was the extremely hot summer of last year. Sudden changes from heat to cold, and the reverse; heavy rains succeeded by scorching heat; hot, foggy days and nights so common to our climate, are prolific of disease of the bowels; and great precautions should be taken to prevent the improper exposure of children to such weather.

No child should be suffered to go out of doors without the protection of flannels worn next the skin, for the reason that they are apt to perspire freely, and not having any knowledge of the laws of health will naturally seek a spot where they can suddenly cool off and render themselves for the time, comfortable. As flannels readily absorb moisture, the danger is not so great as if in case none are worn, the skin is allowed to again absorb the expelled impurities exhaled by perspiration, thus turning back into the system what is nothing more nor less than a foul poison.

Again the matter of diet claims especial attention. The practice of eating between meals should be shunned, and the diet should be exceedingly simple, avoiding candies, pastry, and sweetmeats generally, letting them subsist on Graham bread, milk and ripe fruit. This may sound fogyish, but when we see children gorging themselves with candy, green apples, cucumbers, and the like, we are constrained to say something by way of warning. We venture the assertion that if proper care in regard to clothing and diet was observed by the mothers of children, nine-tenths of the summer sickness which annually visits children could be prevented, and the other one-tenth greatly mitigated. Some will assert that they have other work to do beside following and watching the habits and whereabouts of their children throughout the long weary days of a summer vacation; to which we would reply that if the watching is not done at one time it will at another, and most parents prefer nursing their children in health than on a sick bed. Don't forget that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." We have only hastily glanced at this subject, and thrown out a hint or two which we trust may be improved upon by some more experienced observer.

HON. JOSEPH P. MORSE has been appointed United States Deputy Marshal for the District of New Hampshire. Mr. Morse is well qualified for this position, having once before held the office. He was removed to give place to a prominent Democrat of this city. Mr. M. has held the office of Sheriff and Deputy about fourteen years, and during all that time no word of complaint against his official acts has ever been heard; the members of the Bar all speak of him as prompt and efficient in the discharge of every duty. We trust he will supersede the new Democratic Sheriff, when another change is made.

THE WORK on Whale's Back Light House is progressing. The stone is laid to within four courses of the top, which will be reached in four or five days. The stone is to arrive next Monday per Steamer Enterprise from Biddeford. A stone wharf to accommodate the landing of boats is being built. The inside work will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible. The old light is to be removed to the base to make room for the steam whistle. A neat cottage for the keeper is being put up at Fort Constitution.

HARDING & DOANE'S SCHOONERS are returning from the Grand Banks with full fares. Schooner Pyrola, Nickerson, arrived at their wharf on the 9th with 1500 quintals of cod fish.

THE REPORT that Conductor Batchelder was appointed Superintendent of the Eastern Railroad was untrue. Mr. John Thompson, for the past 16 years master mechanic of the Road, has been chosen Superintendent. H. L. Williams, Esq., of Salem, continues as business manager.

THREE MORE CLERKS have been discharged from the Navy Yard. The man who would discharge such a clerk as Mr. Chas. E. Delaney, who has no hands, should be ashamed of the act.

A MAN in this city named his two children Ebenezer and Flora, and always spoke of them as "Eb," and "Flo."

THERE ARE more visitors in Portsmouth than we have seen during any season for twenty years.

BARNABEE'S CONCERT at the Farragut House, Wednesday evening, was a success.

WHY do the cars stop 30 seconds at Epping?

A CULPABLY NEGLIGENT STEER.—While standing at his desk one morning, the book-keeper of the Pacific stockyards at St. Louis, observed the running of the hydrant located in an adjoining the yard and just by the door of the office. As he had but just turned it off he was somewhat surprised, but on looking, the water was on full head. Closing it off again, however, he resumed his work, but had hardly taken his pen when he again heard the rush of water. He again shut it off but only to find it turned on a third time by some mysterious force. Determined to ascertain the cause, he placed himself in a position which gave a view of the hydrant. There were several wild Texan steers in the enclosure, and one of these he presently observed approach the hydrant, which was turned on and off by an iron rod with a ring handle, and deliberately push its nose against the ring, turning it each time in the right direction, and carefully continuing the movement until the water began to flow, when it ceased and applied itself to quench its thirst at the gushing stream. After satisfying itself it stalked away without shutting the water off.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five months of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

THE BIRDS' RIGHTS MEETING.

What birds pecked the cherries on Barnaby's tree?
"I pecked them for one," said a bold Chickadee,
"And so did I peck them," said Robin Redbreast;
"And, what's more, the cherries I pecked were his best.

Didn't he have some red flannel, one day,
Put up in the tree, just to scare me away?
But I'm not afraid of red flannel one bit,"
"And I'm not afraid," said a little Tom tit.

"Didn't he aim with an old rusty gun
At me?" said a Sparrow. "Oh, wasn't it fun!
He meant to affright me; but I didn't care;
I just chirruped out to him, 'Shoot if you dare!'"

"Hear me, my brave birds," said a solemn old Crow;
"This Barnaby I have good reason to know;
His insults for many a year I have borne,
When peacefully trying to harvest my corn.

My treatment of him has been civil and fair;
I've always been willing to give him a share;
I never have grudged him my corn or my beans,
But nothing can teach him what gratitude means.

My friends, I shall soon lay before you a plan
To put down this insolent creature called 'man'—
A creature that has neither feather nor wings,
Yet sets itself up to be very great things.

I hereby proclaim, in the plainest of words,
That henceforth mankind must succumb to the birds.
I'm glad that this Barnaby's cherries you pecked;
The man has no right that a bird should respect."

This speech was received with a round of applause.
"Your cheers," said the crow, "argue well for the cause;
When next we assemble, my plan you shall learn;
There's Barnaby coming—'tis time to adjourn."

COLIC IN HORSES.—In this disease, prevention is better than cure. Colic may be prevented by care in feeding. When succulent green fodder is used, such as the blades and tops of the green corn, colic is common. It is caused by the production of gas in the stomach and intestines from the fermentation of the food, or by permitting the horse to drink too freely of cold water when tired and exhausted by work. Feed sparingly of succulent food until the animal has become accustomed to its use. Water often and give little at a time and never either immediately before or after a feed. If the horse has been permitted to become very thirsty, give no more than half a pailful at a time; letting fifteen minutes elapse between the drinks, until he is satisfied. If notwithstanding all care, he is troubled still with colic, give him two ounces sweet spirits of nitre and one ounce tincture of opium in half an hour, adding one ounce tincture of aloes. Any spirituous medicine should be carefully administered. If inflammation be present a pint of rum with half an ounce of pure ginger might afford relief.

NO BAIT.—A superintendent once asked us to take charge of a Sunday school class. "You'll find 'em rather a bad lot," said he. "They all went fishing last Sunday but little Johnny Rand. He is really a good boy, and I hope his example may yet redeem the others. I wish you would talk to 'em a little."

I told him I would. They were rather a hard-looking set. I don't think I ever witnessed a more elegant assortment of black eyes in my life. Little Johnny Rand, the good boy, was in his place, and I smiled on him approvingly. As soon as the lessons were over I said:

"Boys, your superintendent tells me you went fishing last Sunday. All but little Johnny here. You didn't go, did you, Johnny?"

"No sir."

"That was right. Though this boy is the youngest among you," I continued, "you will now learn from his own lips words of good counsel, which I hope you will profit by."

I lifted him on the seat beside me, and smoothed his auburn ringlets.

"Now, Johnny, I want you to tell your teacher and these wicked boys why you did not go fishing with them last Sunday. Speak up loud, now. It was because it was very wicked, and you had rather come to Sunday school, wasn't it?"

"No, sir; it was 'cos I couldn't find worms for bait!"

Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad Company.

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $8 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting the lands, address ELI REZE, COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

UNDER A BURNING SUN, where Bilious attacks and Fever of various descriptions so generally prevail,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

has been successful beyond all parallel. Hence the phrase of the tropics give it their emphatic sanction, prescribing it in preference to every other aperient in use. The patients, of course, gladly acquiesce, for this preparation is one of the most delightful, as well as mild and cooling cathartics, chemistry has yet devised, and possesses every medicinal virtue of the far-famed German Seltzer Spa. It is a powder that only requires the addition of water to produce in an instant a delicious, effervescent beverage, as well as an invaluable medicine. Ask for and accept none but the genuine.

Officers of the Public Library of Kentucky,

R. T. DURRETT, President.
W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice-President.
M. W. CLUSKY, Secretary.
CITIZENS' BANK, Treasurer.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, a citizen of Louisville, manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any bankers or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. jy26twtuw

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1prdawfebl6

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints, that have been on the Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. P. NORTON, Sole Agent for selling the

KENTUCKY ELECTION.

The republicans will have about twenty members in the lower house of the legislature, and Leslie, Democrat, has 40,000 majority for Governor.

RETRIBUTION begins even in this life. Witness the following from the New Haven Palladium: "A persistent effort was made lately by one of the New York Tammany Hall thieves to obtain possession of a cottage at the Pequot settlement, in New London; but, luckily for the reputation of that famous hostelry, it was unsuccessful."

—Prince Bismarck is the hero of an anecdote. "The value of a good cigar" said Bismarck the other day, as he proceeded to light an excellent Havana, "is best understood when it is the last you possess and there is no chance of getting another. At Koniggratz I had only one cigar left in my pocket, which I carefully guarded during the whole battle as a miser does his treasure. I did not feel justified in using it. I painted in glowing colors in my mind the happy hour when I should enjoy it after the victory. But I had miscalculated my chances." "And what was the cause of your miscalculation?" "A poor dragoon. He lay helpless, with both arms crushed, murmuring for something to refresh him. I felt in my pockets and found I had only gold, and that would be of no use to him. But, stay—I had still my treasured cigar! I lighted this for him and placed it between his teeth. You should have seen the poor fellow's grateful smile. I never enjoyed a cigar so much as that one I did not smoke."

—Among the seasonable items which come around every year, and are due about the 1st of August, we may mention the woman with the snake in her throat, the sea-serpent at the various summer resorts, the revolutionary hero who votes for every President from Washington down, and saws a cord of wood before breakfast to the key of B flat, the country milliner who has $6,000,000 left her by a deceased uncle, the lady one hundred and fifteen years of age who knits socks in four languages, the tigers that eat up the Bactrain camel, and the lions that lunch off the circus band, the minstrel troupe scalped by Indians, Mr. Colfax retiring from public life, and the potato bug that fatally bites the Iowa farmer. Hurry them up, please. Dr. Livingstone's arrival at Ujiji comes around about twice a month, but he hasn't been dead for nearly a year, now.

—The Bangor Whig says a short time since while Gov. Perham was engaged in transacting business with a State official, they were suddenly interrupted by the entrance of the Governor's boy, who approached his father and loudly asked him for some money. The Governor being busily engaged and wishing to silence his boisterous demand, said to him: "My son, be quiet; I have no money." The little fellow placed himself in a theatrical attitude, with one foot advanced and arms akimbo, and looking his father in the face, said,—"Well, this a pretty how d'ye do; Governor of Maine, and no money!" after which he commenced whistling and left the room in apparent disgust and astonishment at the impecuniosity of a Governor.

BUCHU

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

DIOSMA CRENATA — BUCHU LEAVES.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic; their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the age of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, on the occasion of change of life; after Confinement or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Diseases, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the Blood, etc., superceding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's Take no other.

Descriptive symptoms in all cases accompanies.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.

The Great Blood Purifier

—AND—

Beautifier of the Complexion.

Helmbold's Extract Sarsaparilla

will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Leg, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

BEING PREPARED EXPRESSLY FOR THE ABOVE COMPLAINTS, ITS BLOOD-PURIFYING PROPERTIES ARE GREATER THAN ANY OTHER PREPARATION OF SARSAPARILLA. IT GIVES THE COMPLEXION A CLEAR AND HEALTHY COLOR, AND RESTORES THE PATIENT TO A STATE OF HEALTH AND PURITY. FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD, REMOVING ALL CHRONIC CONSTITUTIONAL AND SKIN DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, AND THE ONLY RELIABLE AND EFFECTUAL KNOWN REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF PAINS AND SWELLINGS OF THE BONES, ULCERATIONS OF THE THROAT AND LEGS, BLOTCHES, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, ERYSIPELAS, AND ALL SCALY ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN, AND BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION.

Helmbold's Catawba Grape Pills,

The most reliable PURGATIVE and CATHARTIC known, superceding Salts, Magnesia, etc., in Sick or Nervous Headache, Jaundice, Indigestion, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaints, General Debility, etc. No nauses, no griping pains, but mild, pleasant and safe in operation.

The CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS are purely vegetable, being composed of Catawba Grape Juice and Fluid Extract Rhubarb.

Beware of those cheap patent pills, carelessly prepared by inexperienced persons, vended in wooden boxes, most of which contain either calomel, mercury or other deleterious drugs.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 12, 1871.

THE GOLDEN AGE says Secretary Boutwell has peculiar views of finance. They are thought radically unsound. There is scarcely an editor in the country but has demonstrated their unsoundness over and over again, and given this unimpressible and obstinate Yankee infallible instructions in the matter of managing the monetary department of the Government. But this gentleman, whose impervious brain seems to have been saturated in the concentrated essence of all the arithmetics until it sheds advice as a duck's back sheds the rain, had an exceedingly original and effective way of justifying his wild and erratic financial policy. He does not argue the point with his would-be educators, but from month to month makes a statement brief as any Gradgrind could desire and simple enough for the most mathematical mind to comprehend. He says practically, Gentlemen, your views of finance are undoubtedly very wise and very well. You shall carry them out to your heart's content when you are masters of the situation. Meanwhile. I beg to inform you that the decrease of the public debt during July was $8,701,976; and it has been diminished a trifle over two hundred and forty-two millions in less than two years and a half. This style of argument, which is no argument at all, is exceedingly unsatisfactory to Mr. Boutwell's numerous volunteer advisers and critics, but exceedingly satisfactory to everybody else; and even Mr. Greeley, who keeps playing on the surplus gold the cautious Secretary retains in the Treasury, like a boy with a new jews-harp, finds no one to sing or dance to what he innocently supposes to be music.

U. S. INSPECTOR E. P. STRATTON of New York has examined the boiler of the Staten Island ferry boat Middleton. It was subjected to a hydrostatic pressure of thirty-seven pounds, and stood the test. Water was then let in to its full capacity, and the government and safety valves were tried with a pressure of twenty pounds to the square inch. After the hydrostatic test the inspector entered the furnace, flues and man-hole, hammer. A light rap on the right-hand side brought a trickling of water, and soon the rupture widened, and the water gushed into the faces of the inspector and his assistant. On hammering the other side rents were easily made. The boiler was found patched in several places. The Middleton has been taken off for repairs. A new boiler is absolutely necessary. The present one was built in 1864.

THE BEAUTY of Paris has not been very seriously diminished by the two sieges through which it has passed and the destruction wrought by the Communists. Splendid buildings have been destroyed, and streets and squares have been defaced and injured; but these things bear about the same relation to the whole city as a dozen trees sustain to a forest. Paris is a wilderness of splendors, and the resources of the nation for twenty years were spent in increasing its magnificence and enriching its architectural beauty.

THE SECRETARY of the Young Men's Christian Association in St. Paul makes the following statement: "Our association has spent hundreds of dollars the past year, without counting the days and nights of watching, in providing homes, comforts, and coffins for Christian young men who have come here from Boston in search of health, but in reality only find a grave in the beautiful lot of the Young Men's Christian Association in Oakland Cemetery."

IN NEW YORK, Jacob Eisenhardt, a German butcher, attempted to punish his two year old son for a trifling misdemeanor and thrust him into a dark closet. In doing so Eisenhardt forced the child against a broken pane of glass, cutting him terribly on the left leg, severing an artery and causing his death in a few minutes. The father was almost crazed with grief.

SECRETARY BOUTWELL has notified the national banks that they may subscribe for fifty million more of the five per cent. loan for sixty days, and then he proposes to call in the five-twenty bonds to an amount equal to the amount of five per cent. issued. After the sixty days, the balance will be taken up by the syndicate.

THE British House of Lords rejected the ballot bill by a majority of 49.

QUESADA, the Cuban general, has been executed at Santiago de Cuba.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

A barn was burned in Ossipee on the 7th inst., which was owned by M. E. Ricker. The fire is supposed to have caught from smoking. Ten tons of hay and three swine were burned.

An aged man named Horne, from Dover, was found in Ossipee at a late hour on the 7th in an insensible condition, having evidently received rough usage. He died the next day.

A valuable cow belonging to John Webster of Nashua, died recently from the effects of being "run and ridden" by the boy who drove her to pasture.

A son of Mr. Isaiah Higgins, of Rochester, was in the field mowing on the 7th, and struck his scythe into a hornet's nest, when the hornets went for him. In his endeavors to rid himself of them he stumbled over his scythe and cut his arm half off. The wound was sewed up and he is now doing well.

—In the Orthodox church at Nashua, there are several pews especially arranged for the convenience of persons who are deaf. Tubes connect the pulpit with the pews, and the mouth pieces of these are easily adjusted to the ear of each person who sits at the head of each pew, so that they can hear every word the minister says.—Gazette.

CURIOUS ACCIDENT.—A call boy at one of the Rye hotels met with a singular accident, a few days since. He had a shawl pin, some two inches in length, with a glass bead, in his mouth, when by some mishap it went down his throat. Dr. A. H. Nichols of Boston Highlands, who is spending the summer in Rye, on being called in, could not learn from the lad whether it had passed into his windpipe or the stomach, but after the lapse of a day or two became satisfied that it was lodged in the passage to the lungs. He tried the experiment of standing his patient on his head, which produced a fit of coughing, but failed t dislodge the pin. But a short time afterwards the coughing re-commenced, which resulted in bringing up the missing article, to the great bodily and mental relief of the poor fellow. It will be a lesson to him hereafter not to put into his mouth things that he does not intend to swallow.—Exeter News Letter.

Biliousness and Indigestion.

These two complaints are more general at this season of the year than at almost any other. They are closely akin; for biliousness almost involves an impaired digestion, and indigestion is necessarily an accompaniment of a disordered or torpid liver. Happy the man or woman who can boast of a stomach that has never felt the horrors of dyspepsia, and to whom that great secretive agent, the liver, has never given pain or trouble. Not one in a thousand can lay claim to entire immunity from irregularity in these organs. How, then, shall they be regulated? Not by powerful cathartics, alternated with ordinary stimulants, but by a medical invigorant, like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which combine in due proportion the tonic and the alterative principles. Wherever there is a church, a schoolhouse, and a general store, this famous medicine may be procured. No village merchant finds it prudent to be without it, for it is enquired for every day by every class. The workingman buys it because it increases his capacity for toil, and is followed by no reaction. The effect of the salubrious roots, herbs, etc., of which it is composed, diffused through his system by the pure stimulant which forms the basis of the Bitters, is most healthful and invigorating. The scholar, the merchant, and, in fact, all men whose minds or bodies, or both, are in constant exercise, will derive benefit from its use. To persons of sedentary habits it supplies, in some measure, that activity in the circulation which is obtained by physical exertion, and is the best known remedy for constipation.

Ask for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and do not be coaxed into purchasing any of the imitations and frauds sometimes offered in its stead.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the detestable hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A great many people have asked us of late, "How do you keep your horse looking so sleek and glossy?" We tell them, its the easiest in the world; give him Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders two or three times a week.

A gentleman in the eastern part of the state, who was about having his leg amputated on account of its being bent at right angles and stiff at the knee, heard of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. After using it a short time, his leg became straight, and is now as serviceable as the other.

TRAVELLERS are loud in their praise of the AMERICAN HOUSE, Boston. Its baths, carte, elevator, and general unsurpassed management, have long rendered it a charmed resting-place for these "knights of the road."

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durken, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

THE EDITOR'S GUESTS.

BY WM. M. CARLETON.

The editor sat in his sanctum, his countenance
furrowed with care,
His mind at the bottom of business, his feet at the top of a chair,
His chair-arm an elbow supporting, his right hand upholding his head,
His eyes on his dusty old table, with different docuuts spread:—
There were thirty long pages from Howler, with underlined capitals topped,
And a short disquisition from Growler, requesting his newspaper stopped;
There was lyrics from Gusher, the poet, concerning sweet flowrets and zephyrs,
And a stray gem from Plodder, the farmer, describing a couple of heifers;
There were billets from beautiful maidens, and bills from a grocer or two,
And his best leader hitched to a letter which inquired if he wrote it, or who?
There were raptures of praises from writers, of the smooth and mellifluous school,
And one of his rival's last papers, informing him
he was a fool;
There were several long resolutions, with names telling whom they were by,
Canonizing some harmless old brother, who had done nothing worse than to die;
There were traps on that table to catch him,
and serpents to sting and to smite him;
There were gift enterprises to sell him, and bitters attempting to bite him;
There were long, staring "ads" from the city, and much more, which we pass,
Which added, "Please give this insertion, and send in your bill when you're done;"
There were letters from organizations—their meetings, their wants and their laws—
Which said, "Can you print this announcement for—the good of our glorious cause?"
There were tickets inviting his presence to festivals, parties and shows,
Wrapped in notes, with "Please give us a notice," demurely slipped in at the close;
In short, as his eye took the table, and ran o'er its ink-spattered trash,
There was nothing it did not encounter, excepting perhaps it was cash.

The editor dreamily pondered on several ponderous things,
On different lines of action, and the pulling of different strings;
Upon some equivocal doings, and some unequivocal duns;
On how few of his numerous patrons were quietly
prompt-paying ones;
On friends who subscribed "just to help him,"
and wordly encouragement lent,
And had given him plenty of counsel, but never had paid him a cent;
On vinegar, kind-hearted people, who were feeding him every hour,
Who saw not the work they were doing, but wondered that "printers are sour;"
On several intelligent townsmen, whose kindness was so without stint
That they kept an eye on his business, and told just what he should print;
On men who had rendered him favors, and never pushed forward their claims
So long as the paper was crowded with local's containing their names;
On various other small matters, sufficient his temper to roll,
And finely contrived to be making the blood of an editor boil;
And so one may see that his feelings could hardly be said to be smooth,
And he needed some pleasant occurrence, his awakened emotions to soothe;
He had it; for lo! on the threshold, a slow and reliable tread,
A farmer invaded the sanctum, and these are the words that he said:—

"Good-mornin' sir, Mr. Printer; how is your body to-day?
I'm glad you're to home: for you fellers is always a runnin' away;
You're paper last week wa'n't so spicy nor sharp
as the one week before;
But I s'pose when the campaign is opened, you'll be whoopin' it up to 'em more;
That fellow that's printin' The Smesher is gcin'
for you, perty smart;
And our folks said this mornin' at breakfast, they thought he was gettin' the start.

But I hushed 'em right up in a minute, and said
a good word for you;
I told 'em I believed you were tryin' to do just as well as you knew;
And I told 'em that some one was sayin', and whoever 'twas it is so,
That you can't expect much of no one man, nor blame him for what he don't know;
But, layin' aside pleasure for business, I've brought you my little boy Jim,
And I thought I would see if you couldn't make an editor outen o' him.

My family stock is increasin' while other folks' seems to run short,
I've got a right smart of a family—it's one of the old-fashioned sort;
There's Ichabod, Isaac and Israel, a workin' away on the farm—
They do'nt as much as one good boy—and make things go off like a charm.
There's Moses and Aaron are sly ones, and slip like a couple of eels;
But they're tol'able steady in one thing—they al'ays git round to their meals.
Ther's Peter he's inventin' (though what he invents I can't see),
And Joseph is studyin' medicine—and they're both of 'em boardin' with me.

There's Abram and Albert is married, each workin' my farm for himself,
And Sam smashed his nose at a shootin', and so he is laid on the shelf.
The rest of the boys are all growin', 'cept this little runt, which is Jim;
And I thought that perhaps I'd be making an editor outen o' him.
He ain't no great shakes for to labor, though
I've labored with him a good deal,
And given him some strappin' good arguments I know he couldn't but feel.
But he's built of second class timber, and nothin' about him is big,
Exceptin' his appetite, only, and there he's as good as a pig.

I keep him a carryin' luncheons, and filin' and bringin' the rags,
And take him among the pertatoes, and set him
to pickin' the bugs;
And then there is things to be doin' a helpin' the women in doors—
There's wipin' and washin' o' dishes, and other descriptions of chores.
But he don't take nothin' but victuals, and he'll never be much, I'm afraid,
So I thought it would be a good notion to learn him the editor's trade.
His body's too slim for a farmer, his judgment is rather too slim;
But I thought we perhaps could be makin' an editor outen o' him.

It ain't much to get up a paper—it wouldn't take him long for to learn:
So could feed the machine, I am thinkin', with some good strappin' fellow to turn.
And things that was once hard in doin' is easy enough now to do;
Just keep an eye on your machinery, and crack your arrangements right through.
Need for to wonder at readin', and when it was got up, and how,
Put it's most of it made by machinery—I can see it all plain enough, now;
And poetry, too, is constructed by machinery of different designs,
Each one with a gauge and a chopper to see to the length of the lines:
And I hear that a New York clairvoyant is runnin' one slicker than grease,
And a rentin' her heaven born productions at a couple of dollars apiece.
And, since the whole trade has growed easy,
'twould be easy enough, I've a whim,
If you was agreed, to be makin' an editor outen of Jim."

The editor sat in his sanctum, and looked the old man in the eye,
Then looked at the grinning young hopeful, and mournfully made his reply:—
"Is your son a small unbound edition of Moses and Solomon both?
Can he compass his spirit with meekness, and strangle a natural oath?
Can he leave all his wrongs to the future, and carry his heart in his cheek?
Can he do an hour's work in a minute, and live on a sixpence a week?
Can he courteously talk to an equal, and browbeat an impudent dunce?
Can he keep things in apple-pie order, and do half a dozen at once?
Can he press all the springs of knowledge with quick and reliable touch,
And be sure that he knows how much to know,
and knows how to not know too much?
Does he know how to spur up his virtue, and put a check-rein on his pride?
Can he carry a gentleman's manners within a rhinoceros' hide?
Can he know all, and do all, and be all, with cheerfulness, courage and vim?
If so, we perhaps can be making an editor 'outen of him."

The farmer stood curiously listening, while wonder his visage o'ercread;
And he said, "Jim, I guess we'll be goin'; he's probably out of his head."
But lo! on the rickety staircase, another reliable tread,
And entered into the old farmer, and there are the words that he said:—

"Good morning, sir, Mr. Editor; how is the folks, to-day?
I owe you for next year's paper; I thought I'd come in and pay;
And Jonse is a goin' to take it, and this is his money here;
I shut down on lendin' it to him, and then coaxed him to try it a year.
And here is a few little items, that happened last week in our town;
I thought they'd look good for the paper, and so
I just jotted 'em down.
And here is a basket of cherries my wife picked expressly for you,
And a small bunch of flowers from Jennie—she thought she must give something', too.
You're doin' the politics bully, as all of our family agree,
Just keep your old goose-quill a floppin' and give 'em a good one for me.
And now you are chuck full of business, and I mustn't be takin' your time;
I've things of my own I must tend to—good-day,
sir; I believe I must climb."

The editor sat in his sanctum, and brought down his fist with a thump;
"God bless that old farmer," he muttered, "he's a regular jolly old trump."

And 'tis thus with our noble profession, and thus it will ever be still;
There are some who appreciate its labor, and some who perhaps never will;
But in the great time that is coming, when Ga-brael's trumpet shall sound,
And they who have labored and rested shall come from the quivering ground,
When they who have striven and suffered to teach and ennoble the race,
Shall march at the front of the column, each one in his God-given place,
As they march through the gates of The City, with proud and victorious tread,
The editor, printer, and devil will travel not far from the head.

MAN MISSING.

Mr. Charles E. T. Yeaton, residing on McDonough St. in this city, hearing that his cow had left the pasture on Thursday evening, went after her on foot towards Greenland, where she had recently come from. The cow came home shortly after he left. Mr. Yeaton not finding her went on to Greenland, and at nine o'clock that evening left his wife's brother's (Nathaniel Wiggin,) on foot, saying he should go directly home. He had not on Friday noon been heard from He was apparently well, but complained of being tired, as he had frequently of late. Search was being made on Friday by his anxious friends. Any information respecting him will be gratefully received. He was about fifty years of age, and wore a full beard, with the exception of a shaved chin.

Several persons state that they saw a man "in shirt sleeves" walk off the end of the wharf of Samuel Adams & Co., near the foot of Daniel Street, the same night, at five minutes past 11 o'clock. Mr. Yeaton left Greenland at 9 o'clock, and may possibly be the person drowned.

THE MUSTER.

The Yale Engine Co. No. 1, of Wakefield, Mass., Independent Co. No. 2, of Pawtucket, R. I., have entered, and Hook & Ladder Co., of Charlestown, Mass., are making arrangements to attend with their Truck.

THE BOSTON & MAINE ROUTE to Portland is to run from Salmon Falls to North Berwick, thence to Wells, passing within a half a mile of the Ocean House, to Kennebunk, Biddeford and Saco, the line passing within three-eighths of a mile of Saco beach. The management will be ready for proposals within a fortnight.

A CHILD of Patrick O'Conner, four years old, was run over by Winn's confectionery team, in Market Street, Thursday afternoon. The little fellow's leg was broken and his face was badly bruised. The driver of the team saw the accident, but passed on, leaving the unfortunate child rolling in the dust.

MR. JOSEPH WHITTEM, JR., on his way home from New Orleans recently, had his right arm struck by a ship's block, dislocating his shoulders. It remained out of joint for a week, until he arrived here, when it was put in place by Doctor Folsom.

WE ARE INFORMED that several gentlemen in this city have for some years worn teeth that have been taken out and filled and reset—and with good satisfaction.

THE MUFFERS did not appear at the Plains, Friday afternoon, but a Picked Nine accommodated the Kearsarges, who were beaten, 32 to 26.

Mutuals 16, Atlantics 1.

ALL PERSONS willing to join in making a thorough search for Mr. CHARLES E. T. YEATON, who has been missing since 9 o'clock, P. M., of Thursday, are requested to meet at the City Rooms this (Saturday) morning at 8 o'clock, to make a combined effort to discover his whereabouts.

ALBERT A. FERNALD, Mayor.

....The 48th Annual Meeting of the Portsmouth Savings Bank was held on Wednesday the 9th inst. The old board of Trustees were re-elected. Daniel Marcy and Charles Robinson were elected to fill two vacancies in the board of Corporators.

The present deposits amount to	$1,596,316.08
An increase during the year of	$193,899.03
January dividend was	27,353.51
July dividend was	36,657.59
Surplus for the year	31,709 96
Surplus for the three years	82,109,78

So that the real amount belonging to the depositors is $1,715,083.75. The investments made in the State during the year amount to $212,570.54.

A REFORMER is rather severe in the Concord Statesman on the appointment of Sheriff Rowe. He says it was agreed that Mr. Tucker, of Plaistow, should have the place. Then he pitches into the Sheriff and Hon. Frank Jones, and finally asks why Governor Weston appointed a gambler as one of his aids! Our Democratic friends are hungry and think the Labor Reformers have secured their share of the patronage, probably.

City Council, Thursday, Aug. 10th.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, the request of Engine Co. No. 6 for payment of $125 on account of their October payment was granted.

The resignation of John Pender, Assistant Engineer of the Fire Department, was accepted.

Leave was granted the Executive Committee of the Firemen's Muster to obstruct Stone Church Street, Sept. 5th, 6th and 7th.

Messrs. John A. Cate, Elijah Clough and Thomas Swinfield were appointed Special Police, without pay.

A sidewalk was granted to Rufus K. Oxford, on Middle Street.

The subject of extending the common sewers, &c., into the North Mill Pond beyond the proposed filling, was referred to Mayor Fernald.

Ordered, that hereafter all bills against the City be paid on the second Saturday of each month.

Voted not to make alterations in Hanover Street School House.

The Committee on School Houses were directed to consider and report means of furnishing accommodations for the school taught by Miss Flora M. Fitts.

The Committee to whom was referred the joint resolution providing for a census of the city, reported favorably in the matter. The resolution was laid on the table for one week.

The appointment of Police for Firemen's Muster was considered and referred to the Committee on Police.

THE DOVER ENQUIRER says the extension of the Great Falls & Conway Railroad to Ossipee "will give to the Eastern Road almost a monopoly of the eastern portion of the White Mountain travel,—as well as open a heavy freight business in timber, &c.,—and with the extension of the Portland & Ogdensburg Road, a large accession of western business. Every enterprise of the kind is a real and great benefit to the section through which it passes, and we rejoice to believe it will also prove profitable to the stockholders of the Eastern Road. If the managers of the Boston & Maine had one tithe of the business tact and sagacity of the Eastern, they would occasionally do something for the public, instead of wasting their resources in impracticable and unprofitable enterprises, and attempts to trig the wheels of every movement that has in it anything of good."

The Enquirer also rejoices that the efficient and liberal management of the Eastern "is so appreciated and rewarded by a discriminating public. Its Directors have spared no pains heretofore that would contribute to the speedy transportation and convenience of the patrons of the Road. Yet they are every day devising new comforts, better regulations and time-tables, and cars,—in which to travel is a luxury. Their Conductors, moreover, are unexceptionably polite, attentive and popular. A Road so creditably managed need have no fear of rivals. The days have gone by when pig-headed conservatism, or conceited and illmannered assumptions, can successfully compete with enterprise and real capacity in managing great public enterprises."

The Boston & Maine Superindendent revenges himself by stopping an advertisement in the Enquirer—but the Enquirer lives. Long may it flourish.

FOUR PER CENT.

TAX PAYERS in the City of Portsmouth are hereby notified that four per cent. will be deducted from their Tax Bills, if paid on or before Aug. 30, 1871. CHARLES A. SHANNON, Collector.
Portsmouth, Aug. 1, 1871.

IT IS A PLEASANT INDICATION of increasing intelligence on the part of our citizens that they are learning how to live,—learning that the chief end of life should not be solely the accumulation of wealth, although it is extremely convenient, and a proper ambition to secure it is laudable. The human machine, in order to run well, needs frequent oiling, and there is no better lubricator for this purpose than an occasional holiday, a respite now and then from the monotony of everyday toil at any business, no matter what its nature. Where, in our boyhood days there was one excursion, there are twenty now; where there was one picnic party or social gathering during the heated summer months there are a score now. Many men who once never thought of a day's rest (save that of sleepping through two Sunday sermons) now allow themselves more or less relaxation at this season of the year. Children need a little extra attention during the six weeks' vacation, and every parent should give them an opportunity to enjoy all the excursions and picnics possible. They will return to school refreshed in body and mind.

Instead of four or five holidays in the year, we should have one every month; and improving them in a rational manner we shall be able to mark the beneficial effect of them upon minds and bodies, and shall also realize as much labor performed as if we had plodded drearily along through every day of the year. So far as our facilities for enjoyment are concerned, no people are privileged with more pleasant country surroundings, many of them available to the poor as well as to the rich, without money or price. We might specify these, were it not needless, and had we time and space, but must content ourselves by throwing out the above hints for the thoughts of our readers, leaving them to carry them into still more general practice.

THE RECENT CHANGE in the department of Equipment at the Navy Yard excites considerable comment. The facts are, that the department at Washington ordered a retrenchment in the running expenses of the Bureau at this Yard and the officer in charge, Capt. DeKraaft, recommended that Messrs. Tarlton and Whittem be discharged, and that Mr. Charles E. Delaney, Chief Clerk, be assigned to the duties of time clerk, and Mr. Calvin L. Hayes, who has heretofore held that position, be rated as Chief Clerk in place of Mr. Delaney. The pay of Chief Clerk is $1400 per annum while that of time clerk is $900 per annum. Mr. Hayes knew nothing of the contemplated change, until the thing was done. Nothing remained for him but to obey the orders of the officer in charge, however much he might regret displacing Mr. Delaney. We make this explanation in justice to Mr. Hayes and also to correct the report that Mr. Delaney had been discharged.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!
Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

—Chicago recently declared the signal officer at Washington a false prophet, announcing that, simultaneously with the receipt of a weather report predicting a rise of the barometer and probably fair weather from Missouri to Lake Erie, a general rain commenced throughout that section, the storm continuing with severity for a whole day. The Troy Times remarks upon the incident: "Chicago should bear in mind that the ordinary laws of nature cannot be relied upon for the protection of cities of her reputation. Sodom and Gomorrah were once visited by such a shower as never entered into the calculations of any signal officer."

—A Boston policeman recently heard steam blowing off in a shop on his beat, and thinking everything was not right, called Charles Riley, engineer of a steam fire engine, who went into the shop, and found the boiler in a terrible condition, the door of the boiler closed, and drafts all on, with not a drop of water in the boiler, and from 125 to 150 pounds of steam on. Mr. Riley worked manfully, and had everything in good order before leaving, but says it is bad known how things were before going in he would not have ventured for the whole block.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whom death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have slept.

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the failure of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory on which the Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first weapons with which the enemy of our mortality is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With these organs the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the mortific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and noxious deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach wears expansively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous pictures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite is felt.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indigent man to a suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature, not to be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the raging fever that it occupied is forever made made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm, and, until they get well, it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented, or there will not be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter months, are all wrong. Physicians who advise that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they want not as much open air; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and the digestion of food.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption! confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained a bottle of medicine, which now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as the ripening was made, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my strength returned so that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looked like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed unbroken health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health the appetite is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, and the night sweats disappear. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $6.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

CHEAP FARMS! FREE TRAVEL!

Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad Company.

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $3 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address ERASTUS SNEZE, COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

UNDER A BURNING SUN, where Bilious affections and Fever of various descriptions so generally prevail,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

has been successful beyond all parallel. Hence the physicians of the tropics give it their emphatic sanction, prescribing it in preference to every other aperient in use. The patients, of course, gladly acquiesce, for this preparation is one of the most delightful, as well as mild and cooling cathartics, chemistry has yet devised, and possesses every medicinal virtue of the far-famed German Seltzer Spa. It is a powder that only requires the addition of water to produce in an instant a delicious, effervescent beverage, as well as an invaluable medicine. Ask for and accept none but the genuine.

Officers of the Public Library of Kentucky,

R. T. DURRETT, President.
W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice-President.
M. W. CLUSKY, Secretary.
CITIZENS' BANK, Treasurer.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 320 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $60,000 more distributed. jy24d1w1m

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, passessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfnb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

THE OLD CLOCK.

BY EMELINE SHERMAN SMITH.

In my Father's ancient mansion,
By the pleasant river shore,
Stands a clock of olden fashion;
Curious fashion—seen no more;
'Twas made for his Fore—Father,
A bold mansion of yore.

Since this olden clock was fashioned,
Many years have passed away,
And the skillful hands that framed it
Long have mouldered to decay;
But the soul of the designer
Seems e'en yet his work to sway.

All the springs obey this bidding;
All the wheels their task fulfill;
Every part minute and curious,
Doth its wondrous duty still—
Working out the silent mandate
Of the vanquished maker's will.

Faithful still this friendly watcher
Counts each pulse of Time's great heart—
Faithful still its voice at morning
Bids us forth to duty start;
And at eve gives gentle warning
That our fleeting days depart.

Still on all the varying seasons
That marks life's shifting scene—
Births and bridals, fasts and fasting,
Golden summers, winters keen,
Tears and smiles, clouds and sunshine,
It has looked with face serene.

Now like this old clock I've numbered
Many a day and many a year:
And I view the world around me
With an eye more calm and clear,
Yet this marvel of my childhood
Is and ever will be dear—

Dear for all the sacred memories
It awakes of youth's sweet prime:
Dear for the sake of tender voices
That are mingled with its chimes;
Dear for those who count no longer
On these shores the sands of time.

Fearfully I gaze upon thee,
Relic of a day gone by;
Thou dost like the dreamer's ladder,
Which united earth and sky,
Seem to link my spring and autumn
By some mysterious tie.

Yes! as in the prophet's vision,
Angels seem to come and go:
So upon the winged movements,
Float bright spirit to and fro;
Spirits of the past that whisper
Pleasant tales of long ago.

Their fair shapes alas remind me
That my youth is far from me;
Yet however chill or clouded Life's remaining years may be,
I will strive old friend to profit,
By the lesson learned of thee.

If I keep the course before me,
Whether winds blow fair or ill,
Facing all the rounds of duty
With unfaltering footsteps still:
I may too work out the mandate
Of my mighty Maker's will.

INQUISITIVE PEOPLE.—The lady correspondent of the N. Y. Commercial, writes from Long Branch an account of her trip thither on the steamer Plymouth Rock. She says:

As I observed, we see all sorts of people. There passes a sweet face with orange blossoms in her hair: plain cuff travelling dress. She is leaning on the arm of a young man, who carries a duster on the other. It is a bride and bridegroom, as I live! They are recognized by an old friend. "How do do, how do do. Going to the Branch eh?" inquired the friend. "Yes. My wife, Mr. Benson," as he introduced his fair partner, and all hands blushed up to their eyes. "Wish much joy," responded the friend, shaking the lady's hand very energetically. The announcement was made in such an audible tone of voice that it attracted the attention of several young ladies and gentlemen in the vicinity. Why is it that young people always stare so at a bride? I remember, when I was married, how the young folks looked at me next morning. I never was so embarassed in all my life. There goes the beautiful bride into one of the staterooms. The attentive female servant opens the door and deposits the lady's travelling bag, parasol and other little articles. She looks as if she had been traveling on a dusty railroad. She stands talking with the female attendant; at least half a score of ill-bred young men, and half a dozen young ladies with morbid curiosity stand staring at her, just as if she was one of Barnum's mermaids. How embarassed the poor girl appears! Impudent young men how dare you be so curious? The curtain drops and the door closes. See how the young scapegraces nudge each other. "I wonder who is the lucky fellow?" inquires one of the party. Ten minutes have swept by—it seems an age to the anxious and curious inquisitives who sit ranged around. "Hush," is heard from the little knot of impudence. "Here he comes," is whispered along the long line, as a tall, handsome young man approaches. He stops at the door where the young ladies entered. A gentle knock is heard. A sweet voice responds as the door opens on a jar, "Who's there?" "It's me," quickly responds the young man, pushing his way gently into the room. The squad of inquisitives strain their eyes; they see a sweet face half hid in dark brown tresses, and an angel form in white all beautifully frilled. Magnificent picture! "You need not look so cross old fellow," observed one of the party. I moved to another part of the boat, disgusted with the curiosity of young men.

BUCHU

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

DIOSMA CRENATA — BUCHU LEAVES.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic; their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Diseases, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the Blood, etc., superceding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's Take no other.

Describe symptoms in all communications.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA,

The Great Blood Purifier

—AND—

Beautifier of the Complexion.

Helmbold's Extract Sarsaparilla

will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Leg, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

BEING PREPARED EXPRESSLY FOR THE ABOVE COMPLAINTS, ITS BLOOD-PURIFYING PROPERTIES ARE GREATER THAN ANY OTHER PREPARATION OF SARSAPARILLA. IT GIVES THE COMPLEXION A CLEAR AND HEALTHY COLOR, AND RESTORES THE PATIENT TO A STATE OF HEALTH AND VIGOR. FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD, REMOVING ALL CHRONIC CONSTITUTIONAL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, AND THE ONLY RELIABLE AND EFFECTUAL KNOWN REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF PAINS AND SWELLINGS OF THE BONES, ULCERATIONS OF THE THROAT AND LEGS, BLOTCHES, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, ERYSIPELAS, AND ALL SCALY ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN, AND BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION.

Helmbold's Catawba Grape Pills,

The most reliable PURGATIVE and CATHARTIC known, superceding Salts, Magnesia, etc., in Sick or Nervous Headache, Jaundice, Indigestion, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Billiousness, Liver Complaints, General Debility, etc. No nausea, no griping pains, but mild, pleasant and safe in operation.

The CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS are purely vegetable, being composed of Catawba Grape Juice and Fluid Extract Rhubarb.

Beware of those cheap patent pills, carelessly prepared by inexperienced persons, vended in wooden boxes, most of which contain either calomel, mercury or other deleterious drugs.

MONDAY, AUGUST 14, 1871.

VACATIONS AND MINISTERS. — We have long held the opinion that the professional portion of society needs more rest than any other class for the well known reason that brain labor is much more exhausting to both body and mind than manual labor. But we fail to agree with the gossiping New York correspondent of the Boston Journal when he asserts that ministers perform more wearying labor than any other class of people and hence need a longer vacation in which to recuperate. We would like to ask Mr. Burleigh, (who, as he is a clergyman, is as competent to reply as any of them,) what there is particularly exhausting in the task of preparing a sermon. Let the reader observe that Burleigh does not claim pastoral work as the toilsome portion of the minister's round of duties. If he did, we perhaps should hesitate somewhat in questioning the correctness of his statement. For we are free to admit that such a work as the faithful pastor performs is indeed laborious, and calls into action every power of body and mind.

But in the claim alluded to, it is put solely on the ground of "being compelled to furnish at least one hundred sermons annually." Now what can be easier, (supposing the man adapted to his calling) than to take the Bible and find as many subjects from which to frame a sermon as there are words in a standard dictionary. And then it will be generally conceded by those who will give the matter a moment's thought, that of all the metaphysical sciences, none is so little understood as that which treats of the salvation and future state of mankind. And the majority of us being perfectly willing to remain in ignorance relative to these matters, go to church every Sunday as an act of penance, inwardly cheering that catering priest who preaches the shortest discourse and who detains us the briefest length of time in church. Any one who says this is false will please analyze his motives for attending church yesterday, and let him not deceive even himself but answer candidly and squarely and we will guarantee that his confession will confirm our assertion—that his presence at church was more an act of penance, than it was a pure and fervent desire to worship God.

Hence with nine-tenths of the preacher's congregation composed of such material, it is one of the most easy of tasks to get up and tickle the mental palate with a well read hymn, a hifalutin prayer and a rhetorical essay upon a scripture passage, about which we know no more than we do about the inhabitants of the moon, and with a graceful benediction send the audience to its respective homes pleased about something, but when they are asked what it is, for their lives they cannot tell. We don't blame the clergy. They are not responsible. The fault is with the laity, who are ready to think about, and discuss any other subject than that which pertains to their future welfare. If our erring mother Eve had been as little prone to reach for the forbidden fruit as many of us are to investigate the subject of religion there would have existed no evil, for the reason that she would not have appropriated the apple and consequently would have thus relieved us from the embarrassment and inconvenience of the curse.

We would like for Rev. Mr. Burleigh to explain to the Journal readers how it is that a minister requires a longer vacation than an editor, doctor, lawyer or any other head worker. At the risk of being regarded as captious, we must demand a good, substantial reason for the claim alluded to, and must not be expected to accept without query his assertion, simply because the correspondent of the Journal is authority for the statement, as even ministers commit errors in judgment sometimes, and like everybody else, are apt to err in their own favor. And as we are writing upon this subject we wish to improve the opportunity to ask of our ministerial friends in this vicinity that while they are revelling in the enjoyment of a few weeks' rest, they will not in their arrangements for "supply," so far forget the discomfort of their parishioners at home as to send to break the bread of life to them, old, time worn veterans whose only merit is their age, and who are available because the poor fellows have not succeeded by their talent in getting money enough to enable them to enjoy a vacation. If we ever need the cream of spiritual reasoning it is in midsummer with the thermometer at 90, while attending church in well starched clothes.

A NEW CENSUS of Chicago gives that city a population of 35,273 more than the government census did last year.

THE WISE SEASON.—Our editorial neighbor of the Scottish American Journal (and a very able paper it is) complains of the summer as the "silly season."

That is to say, if he were in his native Britain he would find Parliament out of session, and the House of Lords half way out of the world; he would find all the "first families" gone from London and Edinburgh; and in particular, he would find the press, though garrulous as ever, uttering less than its usual cool and winter-like wisdom.

But, to men of sense, the summer is a sensible season after all.

For instance, take clergymen. They now cease from sermon-writing and go salmon-fishing. They give up the writing-desk, and take to the woods. They leave the dead to bury the dead, and go in search of newness of life. In one respect at least they now practice what they preach; for, listening to the voice of free grace, they escape to the mountains; they lift up their eyes unto the hills whence cometh their strength. A few healthy weeks of the summer, spent in a wise forgetfulness of all they ever knew, is of more profit to their minds than all their theological web-spinnings, both before and after vacation.

Take Congress. It is not in session—and this is a gain. "What shall I do?" asked the indolent Persian king, addressing a dervish. "Do?" cried the wise man, "why, sleep at midday and cease to oppress mankind!" So let the Legislatures take their customary naps in midsummer. Indeed we would be glad if our Tammany Legislature would sleep like Rip Van Winkle for twenty honest years. The summer is Nature's shield between an oppressed people and the plundering politicians.

Take commercial business. It wisely lulls during the hot season. We are a nation running too fast after wealth—making too much haste to be rich. These languid months wilt out the crispy sense of human greed. It is the easiest season of the year for a man to earn his living by the sweat of his brow.

On the whole, we approve of the summer. Unlike our editorial neighbor, we give it a Scottish welcome. It comes full of beauty and bloom—full of blessing and benediction. It is the Sabbath of the year. Its mission is rest for the body and refreshment to the soul. Its multiform and refining agencies are skies and meadows, peaches and melons, fish-hooks and shot-guns, straw hats and weekly papers. What more does a reasonable man want? Nothing except a contented mind—which no Scotchman ever yet attained away from his native and heathery hills.—Golden Age.

BOSTON is excited over the arrival, reception and entertainment of the New York Yacht Fleet, which consists of fifteen yachts with Commodore Bennett as commander. The Hobbites, as usual, were hospitable, dining and wining their visitors, showing them round town, giving them a dinner at Point Shirley on Saturday afternoon, dispensing the gospel to them on Sunday and otherwise preparing them for a grand regatta in Swampscot Bay.

THE MAINE CENTRAL RAILROAD directors held a meeting on Friday last and sent a committee to Bangor by the night train, and appointed another committee to examine personally with a competent engineer, every bridge on the line at once in a most thorough manner. The station agent at Bangor has been directed to continue the medical attendance and every comfort to the wounded at the expense of the company.

A LETTER has been received from the Pope by the committee who have offered him the title of Pius the Great and a throne of gold. He refused to accept the proposed honor during his lifetime, and suggests that the money subscribed for the throne be employed in procuring the exempting of students of Roman Catholic seminaries everywhere from military service. Sensible old gentleman.

THE ROCHESTER, N. Y., DEMOCRAT is slightly sarcastic on a railroad line in that vicinity. It says that a gentleman took the train few days since on what is termed the "Huckleberry Road," running between Avon and Mount Morris. After the train started from Avon he discovered that he had left a valuable dog behind, but on arriving at Mount Morris the lost dog was found sitting at the station awaiting the arrival of his master.

OLE BULL, the renowned violinist, is severely ill, at his residence in West Lebanon, Me.; having fallen in a fit in his dooryard one day last week. He is partially conscious, but lies in a critical conditon. It will be remembered that he married a young wife about a year ago.

A REPUBLICAN TRANSPARENCY in San Francisco, which was exasperating to a rough element of the Democracy, was inscribed: "They have tied their kettle to our dog's tail," which was supposed to have reference to the "new departure."

THE ROCKINGHAM UNIVERSALIST ASSOCIATION and Mass Meeting will be holden with the Universalist Society, in Kensington, on Wednesday and Thursday, August 30th and 31st.

HORACE GREELEY writes thus to the Golden Age:—

I have but two left of seven children, and these are both daughters. I would gladly fit them for lives of usefulness and honor, as beloved and loving wives of virtuous, upright noble men, and mothers, if it shall please God, of good, healthy, happy children. If it be decreed that they are to be, not such women as those I have most admired and reverenced, but men with a female physique—powerful in ward caucuses and nominating conventions, vehement in senate and on stump, and effective before juries in the trial of actions for crim. con.,—I pray that my career on this globe shall close before theirs is fairly begun. When and where they shall thus shine, it will not be pleasant for me to stay.

I am growing old; my opinions are tolerably firm; and the Advanced Female of the Laura Fair type, who kills the paramour of whom she claims to be the rightful affinity, and gives the lie in open court to the wife she has doubly widowed, is my pet aversion.

In a spirit of hearty hatred for Free Love and all its infernal delusions,

I remain, yours, HORACE GREELEY.

IRON IN GUAYAQUIL.—A late account from Guayaquil reports the discovery of iron in great abundance on the banks of the river Doull, occurring in the form of masses weighing hundreds of pounds of an hydrated peroxide of iron in crystals of micaceous iron, and a red hematite. As the surrounding forests will produce wood enough for making the necessary charcoal, it is proposed to start an iron furnace on the spot.

—The Rutland Herald thus picturesquely and irreverently chronicles the wandering of Rev. W. H. H. Murray: "Adirondack Murray and Professor Eben Tourjee of Boston left the Rutland station, seated on the cow-catcher of the locomotive, for the trip over the mountain, on their homeward journey, on Saturday."

—Just at present the most religious journal in this city is the Times—exposing the frauds of Tammany Hall; and the least religious (though we regret to say it) is the Evangelist—setting up a plea for that Jericho, called Tammany, just before the sounding of the trumpets for the tumbling of the walls.—Golden Age.

—At Iowa Falls Sabbath School, the Superintendent was reviewing the lesson, and was talking of the verse reading "Let your loins be girded and your lights burning." He asked the question, "Why are we commanded to gird our loins?" One little sharp shaver sung out, "To keep your breeches up."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A great many people have asked us of late, "How do you keep your horse looking so sleek and glossy?" We tell them, its the easiest in the world; give him Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders two or three times a week.

A gentleman in the eastern part of the state, who was about having his leg amputated on account of its being bent at right angles and stiff at the knee, heard of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. After using it a short time, his leg became straight, and is now as serviceable as the other.

TRAVELLERS are loud in their praise of the AMERICAN HOUSE, Boston. Its baths, carfe, elevator, and general unsurpassed management, have long rendered it a charmed resting-place for these "knights of the road."

Communicated.

The explosion of the boiler of Steamer Westfield in New York harbor, the frightful accidents on the Maine Central Railroad, whereby over one hundred persons were killed, and as many more seriously injured, and the continued daily reports of accidents, should admonish the people of the insecurity of life. No man can tell what the next day or hour may have in store for him. A man may be at the head of a family dependent upon him. His death stops all supplies, or an accident deprives him of his usual occupation, thus leaving him and his loved ones dependent upon the cold charities of the world. Exposed every day to death or accident to his person, why does he not protect himself and family by insurance? If a man owns a house, he hardly sleeps nights until it is insured against fire, but how much more important to have this wonderful house of ours not made with hands insured against death or accidents. Many people do not yet appear to understand that it is of more importance to insure the precious earthly body than the habitation we dwell in.

Amidst all the dangers of life that meet us on every hand there is a provision made and provided by Life and Accident Insurance. There is a balm in Gilead, a way to provide for family and those dependent upon us, when we are deprived by death or accidental injury from our usual income. Wise men will improve it at once, while foolish men will be found with no oil in their lamps.

The time will come when good men will insure the body before they do the house and furniture. Many men love their families and friends more than themselves. Why not then make it the first business of life to provide for them. There is no other way given under heaven whereby it can be so quickly and safely done, as by taking out a Life or Accidental Policy. The writer of this has thought much on the subject, and is himself insured for life in the Charter Oak, and against accidents in the Travellers, both old and well established companies of Hartford, Conn., Morse & Ilsley, Agents; but there are many other good and safe Life Companies in the country. The Travellers stand unrivaled in the accident department. If you are a good man and love your wife and children, father or mother, insure. This subject is one of great importance to the people. A FATHER.

—A New Britain pastor was a bit careless the other day in his selections of the to-be-omitted portions of the good old hymn in which occur the lines, "Shall such a worthless worm as I be found at thy right hand?" The next stanza was omitted, and the choir continued singing, "Prevent, prevent it by thy grace."

—When a man puts up at a Chicago hotel he sees in the papers next morning that he has "reined in his foaming valise at the Tremont."

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Help for the Nervous.

Where is it to be found? cries the trembling victim of nervous debility. Not in the tavern dram; that fires up the circulation for a moment, and is succeeded by collapse. Not in purgative pills, or a Lenten diet, but in an invigorant and restorative in which the tonic elements are united with gentle aperient and alterative properties. When Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was introduced nearly twenty years ago, this important object was first attained. This peaceful and active vegetable specific is as justly celebrated for its cures of nervous diseases, as for the absolute certainty with which it relieves dispepsia and biliousness. The hot weather toward the close of summer generally aggravates diseases of a nervous type, creating a degree of feebleness which is beyond measure distressing. Under such circumstances rally the bodily energies with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all tonics, it is the most satisfactory in its operations, and the least sensitive. It braces the nervous up to that natural tension, but not beyond it, so there is no reaction. It has other properties, however, than those of a nervine, and as a blood depurent and moderate aperient, is superior to any other medicine of the day.

Fraud, however, is on the alert. The celebrity of the original medicine has given rise to scores of counterfeits and imitations. Examine the label, and the fac simile of the signature of the firm; see that the spelling is all correct, and thus make sure of the genuineness of the article you buy. P. S.—Hostetter's Bitters are never sold in kegs or barrels, but in bottles only.

THE MISSING MAN.

In response to the call of Mayor Fernald for volunteers, about forty citizens assembled Saturday morning, at the City Rooms, to join in the search for Mr. Charles E. T. Yeaton. Under the lead of the Mayor and City Marshal, the woods between this city and Greenland were thoroughly searched, a large party going through Great Swamp, where it was thought Mr. Yeaton might have wandered. The party returned without finding any trace of the missing man.

On Sunday, fifty persons started for Greenland, Stratham and Newmarket, thinking Mr. Yeaton might have strayed away from instead of towards home. Inquiries at the farm houses along the roads failed to elicit any information by which Mr. Yeaton might be traced, and the anxious searchers were again compelled to return from a fruitless hunt.

Since Mr. Yeaton has been missing, several persons have remembered that of late he has been a little singular in conversation and has complained of being tired. At home, he has been an exemplary husband, and however his mysterious disappearance may be cleared up, his grief stricken wife and family have no remembrance of a harsh word exchanged since his marriage.

City Marshal Johnson is of the opinion that he has become sick, perhaps too ill to be able to state his name and residence, and may be in charge of some hospitable farmer, in which case it is hoped he may be heard from this week. The Marshal is to go to Epping, Candia and vicinity to-day, for a more extended search.

THE PERSON said to be drowned near the Navy Yard landing, is supposed to have been a marine. It is stated that a large dog has been in the habit of leaving the Receiving Ship Vandalia, swimming to the shore and returning in the same manner at his leisure. Some persons have thought this dog was mistaken for a man in the darkness of Thursday night. Mr. Fred. Danielson and an officer of the Vandalia were about starting from the landing for the ship when they saw something white in the water but a short distance from them, the night not being a very dark one; and think it was a man—perhaps a marine. They heard the splash of the water, a moan and a gurgling sound, as of some one drowning, but on rowing to the spot found nothing. One or two marines who were off duty at that time had not reported on Saturday, and one of them may have been drowned. The Police force examined the bottom of the river in that vicinity and went under the wharf, where they could see plainly, at low tide, but no body was visible. Nothing has been seen to definitely settle that any one was drowned, although it is very probable that such is the fact.

THE APPLEDORE HOUSE, Isles of Shoals, had 500 guests on Saturday and was crowded to overflowing. Those arriving by the last boat were compelled to lodge in the parlors and halls. The House accommodations are to be increased for next season by the erection of six cottages on the rocks. Hops are given two evenings a week for the benefit of the guests, and on the return from one of the same Saturday at midnight considerable rough weather was experienced (for landsmen) by a north east blow, and some of the ladies on board were sea-sick, but were kindly cared for by the Appledore's faithful stewardess "Sarah." The steamer behaved nobly as she always does, with Capt. Baker at the helm.

THE SAGE old almanac-maker who predicted "hot weather about this time," hit the nail right on the head. Saturday's thermometer indicated ninety-five in the shade and we should judge that out in the sun it was too hot weather for the glass to handle. It was not too hot to handle the glass however, judging from the conduct of some of our country friends, who, having finished haying, felt obliged to "take a little suthin on't," and made hard work in getting about town with the liquor they had imbibed.

LOVERS of artistic singing will have an opportunity to-morrow evening to listen to the far-famed Brignoli, the finest tenore probably on this continent. He brings with him Miss Isabella McCulloch, whose reputation as a soprano singer rivals that of any other now travelling, and who together with Madame Gilbert, the favorite Pianist accompanist and distinguished singer, will form a trio worth listening to. The programme is announced to embrace the grand scene from Il Trovatore Il Miserere.

THE MUSTER.

The contributions to the collation are coming in rapidly, as by the notices given to the committee and the Police, coffee, cake, chickens and lambs are among the things already promised and these, as far as poultry and meat are concerned, are to be cooked or uncooked. We have no doubt that all our citizens will do something, even those who have already contributed in money, for it will take a great amount of provisions to feed our visitors.

—"It's Got to Come—One of the firemen's prizes at Portsmouth, N. H.,—and the Rhode Island Steam Fire Engine Company No. 1, at a meeting on Monday evening last, believing that it ought to come to Pawtucket, decided to "go for it," and they will use their best efforts to win it. Independent Steam Fire Engine Company No. 2, of which Edward Bucklin, Jr., is Foreman, and Atlantic Steam Fire Engine Company No. 2, will also go to the muster. Providence Press.

THE FERRY BOAT EMERALD, which has been hauled up for repairs during the past two weeks, is again running her regular trips to the Navy Yard. She has been painted and varnished, and put in thorough order generally. For beauty and convenience this little steamer is not excelled, and many visitors to the Yard avail themselves of its comforts, affording them, as it does, an extra inducement to visit our workshop across the river.

WE are informed that the recent frequent rains have much improved the prospect of a good fall "shack," which is so much depended upon by every farmer to help out his hay. Fodder corn also grows finely; even the weeds don't forget to thrive.

MR. JOHN MARTIN fell down the stone steps in front of Mr. James Norton's store, near Spring Market, on Sunday, struck the back of his head on a curb stone and cut a very large gash in his cranium. The wound is a serious one.

GOV. ALCORN has made the opening speech of the campaign at Vicksburg, Miss., and both parties are actively preparing for the struggle. The republicans will hold a State convention August 30th. The Pilot, the leading republican paper, warns the party against sending Alcorn's appointees to the convention, and urges that men be sent who are under no obligation to him. It charges that an attempt has been made already to pack the convention, and also that Alcorn's speech at Vicksburg was about himself and what he had done to build up the party in Mississippi, entirely ignoring the thousands of hard working and true republicans. The Pilot says: He greatly fears that he would be nobody in a convention of the people if he was not constantly held up to them as a most wonderful man.

BASE BALL.

Bostons 13, Brooklyn Eckfords 8.

A SINGULAR PRESENTIMENT.—In connection with the death of William Percival, brakeman on the Maine Central train which went through the bridge at Bangor, who died at his post, we hear this incident. A week ago Sunday night he was conversing with another person running on the train and expressed his belief they would not run together much longer. "Why not," was asked. "Well," he replied, "I expect to pass in my chips before long; the train will go through some of these bridges before a great while." His companion laughed and thought nothing more of it until the news of his death proved the presentiment only too true.—Portland Advertiser.

—A gentleman at the Round Lake camp-meeting said that he had been married twenty-five years, and during all that time he had never given his wife a cross word or a look. The Rochester Democrat thinks this man should have been an angel long ago. He would kill any high spirited woman in three weeks by his equanimity.

—A lady writes to know if it is proper—that is, if it is ladylike—to retaliate by squeezing back when a man squeezes her hand. Mr. Editor answers: "Well, you might squeeze easy, just enough to let him know you are not disposed to be mean about it."

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a mammoth Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c. —and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

QUININE BISCUITS.—A new dietary article has been introduced by the London bakers, in the shape of quinine biscuits. They are small, extremely well made, and have a pleasant and delicately bitter flavor. Each biscuit is estimated to contain one-fourth of a grain of quinine, and for delicate st. achs, or where it is desirable to disguise medicines as much as possible, or to combine food with medicine in a perfectly agreeable form, these biscuits are likely to become very popular.

—A young lady at an evening party some time ago found it hard to use the expression "Jordan's a hard road to travel," but thinking that too vulgar, substituted the following; "Perambulating progression in pedestrian excursion along the far famed thoroughfare of fortune cast up by the banks of the sparkling river of Palestine is indeed attended with a heterogeneous congloneration of unforeseen difficulties."

—There are places in New York where pet canaries, cats and dogs are boarded together at the sum of twenty cents a week, while the families to whom they belong are out of town.

Consumption.

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. These near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen victims.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is no presumptious. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this double, the Seaweed Tonic "combines" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then come the calomel, the mercurial, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts respectively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous torture. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is soon to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest blood builder ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the healthy and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gallstones it prepares them for expectoration, and in in a very short time the malady is accomplished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made over, and the patient, from all the signs, gained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and change of climate, this season of the country in the full and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients. Consumption is badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as long as they can, and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To dispute of cure after such evidence of probability in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement of the Facility of his own cure was the strongest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then they ceased to come to my house. I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I raised it in great quantities, from a pint of offensive, yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who with a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased quantity, and the patient need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany each. First, crude sputum. Or returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the indulging at once be of good and plenty. Blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats subside. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in lots of thousands of gallons. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, has become, and is a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $5 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region of the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

Officers of the Public Library of Kentucky,

R. T. DURRETT, President.
W. N. HALDEMAN, Vice-President.
M. W. CLUSKEY, Secretary.
CITIZENS' BANK, Treasurer.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business house, or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. jy26tawlm

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, passessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and other Visceral Organs. 1yrdawf&b16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

FORSAKEN.

[AFTER JOHN HAY.]

I've been sleeping;
And its only but a moment since I rose;
But I'm weeping,
And the tears are running down my Roman nose.
Ah! me, this weary life!
I'll end this dreary strife!
Lend us a knife.

Why this yowling?
Do you ask me why I carry on this way?
Well, I'm howling!
And I guess that if I want to, why I may.
Ah! me, I've lost my wife!
Ah! me, this dreary life!
Give me a knife.

She has scooted!
Shes bedaddled with another man last week.
I'll be booted
If it doesn't show the blundiest, hardest cheek.
She yanked the stamps I had,
She stole the spoons, she did,
And then she slid.

Is that whiskey?
Is it whiskey that you carry in that flask?
Well, it's risky
To give me any less than what there's in a cask.
Ah! well, I'll take a sip,
To Jane, who's give the slip,
Here's let her rip!

—An advocate having lately gained a suit for a poor young lady who was very ugly, she remarked; "I have nothing to pay you with, sir, but my heart." "Hand it over to my clerk, if you please; I wish no fees for myself!" he replied.

—A little travestie of fashionable correspondence was published some years ago, which puts in an amusing light the absurdity both of writing pet names and of fashionable precocity. The writers are supposed to be young ladies of eight years or thereabouts—such young ladies as are now figuring in "children's balls" at the watering-places, if the "correspondents" truly report. The first note ran thus: "Miss Minnie Smith's compliments to Miss Maggie Jones, and desires the pleasure of her company this evening. Refreshments at eleven." The response was: "Miss Maggie Jones' compliments to Miss Minnie Smith, with regrets that prior engagements preclude the pleasure of acceptance. She is to be whipped at seven, and sent to bed without her supper at eight."

RIDICULOUS.—We are sure the sensible women will never be guilty of the ridiculous practices which some of the women who are stopping at Long Branch adopt, and which are thus described in the Home Journal:

"A very strange style of dressing the hair may be seen of an evening. A small portion of the front hair is parted off, cut short, and combed straight down over the eyes. It seems as if a bit of fringe trimmed the forehead, just leaving a small space above the brow. It gives a rather idiotic expression to the countenance, and clearly shows to what capricious whim fashionable folly leads the way. This method must have been invented just as Madame Pompadour rolled up the style of hair as practiced by the women of to-day. Women with hair white as the snow, and skins like withered vellum, roll their scant locks a la Pompadour. Middle-aged matrons wear the same roll, surmounted with braids, puffs or frizzes, until a tower appears approximating the style of the time of good Queen Bess. A fashionable women here remains from an hour to an hour and a half under the hands of a skilful hair-dresser, or the daintier manipulations of a waiting-maid."

SHEEP ON A POOR FARM.—Some farmers feel an antipathy to sheep, for the reason that they "bite close." We consider this chief recommendation. They can only bite close where the pasture is short, and the pasture is short only on a poor farm. A poor farm will necessarily be encumbered with briers, weeds and brush, in the fence corners. Under such conditions, we would say to a farmer who has twenty dollars or upwards in cash (or credit for it, and then let him borrow the amount if he has to pay one per cent. a month for the use of it,) invest it in as many ewes, not older than three years, as you can get for that money. Put them this Summer in such a field as we have described, and give them, in addition to what they can pick up, a pint of wheat bran and oat meal daily, with free access to water and salt. They will first "go for" the briers and clean them out; every portion of that field will be trodden over and over again, and the weeds will have no chance. Feed them on that field during winter, and carry to them feed sufficient to keep them thriving. Get the use of a good buck in season—South Down would be preferable—and in the Spring, if you have luck (that means if you give them proper attention and feed regularly,) you will raise more lambs than you have ewes, the money will be doubled, and the wool and manure will pay for their feed and interest. In the spring you may put that field in corn, with the certainty of getting fifty per cent. increase of crop.

BUCHU

[From Dispensatory of the United States.]

DIOSMA CRENATA — BUCHU LEAVES.

PROPERTIES.—Their odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic; their taste bitterish and analogous to mint.

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES.—Buchu leaves are gently stimulant, with a peculiar tendency to the Urinary Organs.

They are given in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder, Morbid Irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, Disease of the Prostrate Gland, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. The remedy has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55, or in the decline or change of life; after Confinement or Labor Pains; Bed-Wetting in children.

In affections peculiar to Females, the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given. Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-Dust Deposit and Mucus or Milky Discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Diseases, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the Blood, etc., superceding Copaiba in affections for which it is used, in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

Beware of counterfeits. Ask for Helmbold's Take no other.

Describe symptoms in all communications.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1871.

SOME DEMOCRATIC PAPERS are not disposed to acknowledge the Republican victory in North Carolina, but the Wilmington Journal, Democratic, says the returns show "a heavy Democratic defeat. We make the acknowledgement with regret, and with dark forebodings for the welfare of the State."

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Sunday Herald writes:—"The news of the defeat of the Convention in North Carolina causes a good deal of surprise in political circles here, for before the election the Republicans had a bare hope that the Convention would be defeated, while the Democratic Committee was confident of carrying it by from 10,000 to 15,000 majority. It seems, however, from the latest returns that it is just the other way. The Republicans are of course jubilant, and the Democrats can't account for it."

TAMMANY is in a sea of troubles. The excitement concerning the 12th of July riots had hardly subsided, when the New York Times startled the country by its bold charges of wholesale fraud and robbery on the part of Tammany; charges which have not as yet been disapproved, and now the Tribune, following close in the wake of the Times, turns its hand at exposures, and shows up the Quarantine system of New York, which, like every other department in that city, is run by Tammany, in a very unenviable light. The Tribune overwhelmingly proves that the Health Officer of the port of New York is but a pirate on its commerce; and it further says:

"We have shown that five hundred vessels have been driven by this man's exactions, to other ports; that he has sold, for almost unequivocal bribes, the towing, stevedoring, and lighterage business to a monopoly, and authorized it to charge four times private rates and double those legalized by corrupt Commissioners; that he had netted not less than $100,000 a year solely by sending the storage business of Quarantine to ware houses remote from the business part of the city; besides many other thousands of dollars by infamous extortions on passengers and seamen."

The Evening Post says there is a row in the Municipal ring, and intimates that Tweed has struck hands with ex-Sheriff O'Brien and the Young Democracy. If such a thing proves true, undoubtedly Governor Hoffman will go with Tweed.

THE ST. LOUIS ELECTION was not very disastrous after all. There were six county justices to be chosen. In every district the republicans increased their majority or diminished the majority of the democrats, as compared with the vote of last April. The election of Tuesday last might fairly be called a drawn game. The democrats and republicans elected each one of the officers on general ticket, and each carried three districts. The district vote shows a democratic majority of 162. It is to be observed that out of 36,141 registered voters, only 21,394 voted, leaving 15,000 absentees.

KENTUCKY ELECTION.—The official returns from 84 counties give Leslie, (Dem) 10,443; Harlan, (Rep.) 74,124. The full returns from the State will probably make Leslie's majority about 40,000. In the counties given Leslie gains 5591 on the vote of Stevenson (Dem,) in the last gubernatorial election, and Harlan gains 50·317 on the vote of Baker (Rep.) in the same election.

ONE of our Republican cotemporaries heads its election news "Kentucky Coming." Kentucky is coming, but to our mind Kentucky is still a great way off. But we can get along without Kentucky for a considerable time longer. Don't waste time hungering for sour grapes, brethren. It is time to enthuse about Kentucky when Kentucky arrives.

GENERAL HANCOCK thinks that the Santee, Yankton and other Sioux Indians in Montana are determined to make trouble, and recommends feeding them at any rate until spring, as there is not a sufficient force in that Territory to cope with them. General Sheridan concurs in this opinion. The campaign against the Apaches promises well.

FURTHER ACCOUNTS from Persia corroborate accounts previously received of terrible famine. Tens of thousands of people are already dead of starvation. The country is said to be literally ruined and its population flying to other lands.

THE MAJORITY against the convention in North Carolina is 13,000, and the republican gain is very large.

SIXTEEN MEN were buried alive in the Eagle shaft, Pittston, Pa., on the 14th.

MRS. VALLANGIGHAM, widow of the late Clement L. Vallandigham, died in Cumberland, Maryland, Sunday, of grief.

WE REGRET TO LEARN that Hon. Jacob H. Ela, who has been convalescent, is again prostrated and confined to his bed, in consequence of overwork on his farm.

MUCH ALARM is felt in New York concerning the cholera since its appearance in Germany, and the leading papers speak of the pestilence as only two weeks from our shores.

THE GUN-COTTON EXPLOSION at Stowmarket, England, was terribly destructive of life and limb. Twelve persons were instantly killed or fatally injured, and forty others severely or slightly wounded.

THE FORTIETH EXHIBITION of the Industries of our land, to be held by the American Institute in the immense structure bounded by Second and Third Avenues and Sixty-third and Sixty-forth Streets, New York, from September 7th to November 4th, promises to be far in advance of anything hitherto attempted on this continent.

THE SMALL POX is increasing in Lowell. The Board of Health, in view of the alarming fact that the disease is beyond their control, have reported to the city government that compulsory vaccination and other measures were necessary, and they were ordered to take such measures as were required to prevent the spread of the pestilence. There were thirty new cases of small pox and a number of varioloid reported last week. On Sunday eight cases of small pox and sixteen of varioloid were reported.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

On the 23d ult. a valuable mare owned by Mr. George B. Cilley of Nottingham was taken lame, with a swelling of the right fore-leg and parts adjacent. The owner finally despaired of a cure, knocked her on the head on the 3d inst., and cut her throat, when a big spotted adder came out of the animal's mouth, having been severed by cutting the mare's throat. The Rochester Courier says that half a dozen persons saw this, and that the snake was about a yard long and two inches through. The snake in its throat had caused the afflicted animal to labor and struggle for breath long before it was killed.

On the 7th, in Nashua, Eva Brown, a six-year old, fell down in the street while carrying a glass bottle of coffee. One knee was cut so that the child nearly bled to death. She will be crippled for life.

A famous fight has lasted now twelve years, the Freedom bell case, in which full $8,000 has been spent over a $300 bell. The full bench of the Supreme Court sitting in Manchester on the 10th, affirmed the last verdict in this twice-tried case and denied the defendants another trial.

On the 8th, lightning struck Sylvester Preston's house at Antrim, North Branch, setting a bed on fire, burning the face of a young lady, killing a valuable horse, and wrecking things generally.

The distance from Great Falls to Ossipee Corner is 37 miles.

Mr. Metcalf of the Concord People has purchased the White Mountain Republic at Littleton, and will probably take editorial charge of it on the first of October.

Thomas Short, a workman on the Sugar River Railroad, while turning a hand-car Saturday, at Bradford, fell off and was fatally injured.

On Saturday evening, 12th inst., an Irish laborer, 19 years old, a resident of Montreal, name unknown, leaped from a gravel train at Conway Centre, on the Portland & Ogdensburg Railroad, fell beneath the cars and was crushed to death.

—"The educated druggist has now become an able auxiliary to the physician. Now his skill in combinations and in preparing medicines so as to render them more palatable, vastly facilitates their administration, especially to children and delicate patients. Every year the standard of education in practical pharmacy required by druggists puts them at once in a position to be of great help to us; and we should hail them as our co-laborers in a common cause."—Dr. Thad. A. Reamy.

—Bridal cars are proposed for horse railways in Chicago. The honeymoons are so short there that newly married couples can't spare the time for a tour out of the city.

—The Chicago Republican furnishes the following statistical information: "There are over eleven millions of horses in the United States, and only about three thousand mayors, including Oakey Hall.

WHAT A KENTUCKIAN THINKS OF GAMBLING.—To make the story perfectly intelligible we must promise that this friend of ours is a most simple and believing creature; that he has scanty knowledge of human nature; that he is a little short-sighted and has therefore no knack of telling a "queen" from a "six spot" by the back; that he is in fine a rather good natured, egotistical, blundering sort of a poor devil, just made for the sport and profit of other people.

"Sir," says he, "I have studied the cue papers, and you know that I know the whole science at chance. At one time I had a dead thing on the faro banks. As to the game of poker, I consider myself the best poker player alive, both mentally and physically. But there's no use fighting against luck. The run of the cards, sir, will beat any living man — it'll beat the oldest poker player in the world, sir—and it beat me. What do you think, bedad? Why, sir, at one sitting, by jingo, they beat a king full for me, several flushes, and three aces repeatedly! I can't play against no such luck as that you know. Of course, not. I just set, sir, like a baboon rubbin' a bear's back, whilst everybody preyed upon me. If I had a flush somebody had a full, and if I had three kings somebody was sure to have three aces, and that's the way it went for six hours, until they beat me out of about—well, dam' it, there's no use in specifying amounts—but a good deal of money. I thought I was playing it like a learned pig, and they thought I was playing it like a blasted jackass, which was the fact. So, I have just dropped out of the horizon, like one of the prismatic tints of the evolutionary rainbow; in point of fact, joined the church, begad."

—Dr. A. Lapham of Milwaukee has studied the history and mapped the position of every meteorite that has been known to fall on this continent. According to his account there have been one hundred and one authentic meteorites and fourteen unauthenticated reports. The greatest proportionate number fell in Tennessee, exactly why it is difficult to understand, unless it was out of sympathy with Andrew Johnson whose meteoric career has also terminated in the same state.—Golden Age.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A great many people have asked us of late, "How do you keep your horse looking so sleek and glossy?" We tell them, in the easiest in the world; give him Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders two or three times a week.

A gentleman in the eastern part of the state, who was about having his leg amputated on account of its being bent at right angles and stiff at the knee, heard of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. After using it a short time, his leg became straight, and is now as serviceable as the other.

STOKMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Help for the Nervous.

Where is it to be found? cries the trembling victim of nervous debility. Not in the tavern dram; that fires up the circulation for a moment, and is succeeded by collapse. Not in purgative pills, or a Lenten diet, but in an invigorant and restorative in which the tonic elements are united with gentle aperient and alterative properties. When Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was introduced nearly twenty years ago, this important object was first attained. This peaceful and active vegetable specific is so justly celebrated for its cures of nervous diseases, as for the absolute certainty with which it relieves dispepsia and biliousness. The hot weather toward the close of summer generally aggravates diseases of a nervous type, creating a degree of feeblenss which is beyond measure distressing. Under such circumstances rally the bodily energies with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all tonics, it is the most satisfactory in its operations, and the least exciting. It braces the nerves up to their natural tension, but not beyond it, so there is no reaction. It has other properties, however, than those of a nervine, and as a blood depurent and moderate aperient, is superior to any other medicine of the day.

Fraud, however, is on the alert. The celebrity of the original medicine has given rise to scores of counterfeits and imitations. Examine the label, and the fac simile of the signature of the firm; see that the spelling is all correct, and thus make sure of the genuineness of the article you buy. P. S.—Hostetter's Bitters are never sold in kegs or barrels, but in bottles only.

—Harper's Drawer explains the reason of a dog's nose being cold, in the following verse:

There sprung a leak in Noah's ark,
Which made the dog begin to bark;
Noah took his nose to stop the hole,
And hence his nose is always cold.

—Among the manuscripts which were probably burned in the recent conflagration of the archiepiscopal palace at Bourges, in France, the most remarkable was, without doubt, the order for the execution of Jesus Christ, which was the personal property of the family De la Tour d'Auvergne. The order runs thus:—

Jesus of Nazareth, of the Jewish tribe of Juda, convicted of imposture and rebellion against the divine authority of Tiberius Augustus, emperor of the Romans, having for this sacrilege been condemned to die on the cross by sentence of the judge, Pontius Pilate, on the prosecution of our lord, Herod, lieutenant of the Emperor in Judea, shall be taken to-morrow morning, the 23d day of the ides of March, to the usual place of punishment, under the escort of a company of the Pretorian guard. The so-called King of the Jews shall be taken out by the Struncan gate. All the public officers and the subjects of the Emperor are directed to lend their aid to the execution of this sentence.

THE MUSTER.

The Committee of Arrangements have secured the services of Engineer Andrew J. McIntire of this city to test the gauges and class all the Steam Fire Engine on the morning of the trial of the Steamers. As he is not an interested party of course every thing will be satisfactory to the companies that intend to compete for the prizes. The muster takes place on the 6th and 7th of September. Will our cotemporaries take notice. Union Hook & Ladder Company No. 1 of Lawrence, Mass., and Cape Ann S. F. E. Company No. 1 of Gloucester have entered. The Hooks from Lawrence will bring something of a novelty for music; it consists of a band with 16 pieces, drums, fifes and flutes. The firemen will be camped on Peirce's Island inside of Fort Washington with a grand view of the harbor.

Deluge Co. No. 3 of Claremont has voted to attend.

The Nashua Telegraph says No. 1 Steamer of that city played 259 feet horizontally, Friday. The Steamers coming to the Muster are certainly practicing well, but we remember that engines usually play better at home than at a trial.

Lawrence Engine Company No. 2, of Amherst, has voted to attend the muster. The company numbers sixty men.

MR. CHAS. E. T. YEATON is still missing.

STEAMER CLARA BATEMAN is to take an excursion party belonging in Lake Village to the Shoals, Wednesday.

A GRAND GATHERING of the musical people of Portsmouth and neighboring towns is proposed to take place at the Appledore House at the Shoals, on Thursday next. The programme of amusements will include picnicing on the rocks, and singing and dancing in the spacious new Hall of the Hotel. Harlow's Quardrille Band will accompany, and many of our local lovers and makers of music have signified their intention of being present.

ANOTHER NAVY YARD DISCHARGE.—On Monday, Jos. H. Gardiner, Foreman Painter, and Mr. Richmond, Foreman Pattern Maker, with a number of workmen in Steam Engineering store, were discharged, in accordance with orders from the Secretary of the Navy. All the foremen and quartermen in the same Department are reduced to first-class workmen, Master Machinist Albert W. Rix being put in charge of all branches of the Department.

THE P. & D. R. R.—The Dover Local Record says Engineer Appleton estimates the cost of the bridge from Nancy Drew's farm to Dover Point, 2180 feet, at $100,000, and the "balance of the cost of construction at $400,000, making the total cost of the road in the vicinity of half a million. The Directors, as well as the grantees, are thoroughly in earnest about the immediate construction of the road and will at once ask the City Councils to give the guaranty asked, or in other words, to endorse the notes of the Corporation."

THE ENTERTAINMENT offered for this evening by the Brignoli Operatic Company should be enjoyed by all who have music in their souls. The gifted Brignoli seldom appears among us, and the encouragement he is to meet with will decide whether his visits are to be more or less frequent. The attractions offered in the programme of the evening's performance are sufficient to ensure quite a large attendance from the summer visitors in the vicinity of this city. The ladies accompanying Signor Brignoli, Miss McCullough and Madame Gilbert, are eminent artists.

A LADY CORRESPONDENT of the Boston Sunday Herald writes up a little matrimonial trouble at Hampton Beach as follows:—

A pair of young fledgelings who have been stopping at the best hotel, and were considered by all as patterns of propriety, were invited to join a party which had been made up to take a moonlight stroll upon the beach, and afterwards a bath in the blue ocean. Mr. L., after talking the matter over with his wife and using all the persuasion and arguments in his power to convince her that the night air, and water, would prove injurious to her health and beauty, supposed he had prevailed, and that she had retired to sleep—perchance to dream—of him, her immaculate. But Mrs. L., thinking her Harry would remain below in the bar-room for at least an hour or two, as he was in the habit of doing, after going to her room, quickly donned her bathing dress, and concealing her pretty face and flowing locks with one of the immense hats which are so common about here, proceeded quickly down stairs, and out a side way into the road, where she joined the party who were just then passing. Mr. L., who had left the bar-room and was quietly sitting upon the piazza of the hotel, was attracted by the merry laugh and loud voices of the happy party, and followed on after. The moon, which was in a cloud, and did not reveal neither did instinct tell him, that the lady who happened to be walking by his side was his wife, and she remained incog., he for some reason, imagined it was one of the many pretty girls who was stopping at the hotel, and who, knowing him to be a married man, were unnecessarily modest in attracting his attention. For this reason he became more attentive, and at length hearing one of the party call her by her Christian name of Antoinette, he, too, addressed her thus, which was the same name his wife bore. Matters were becoming serious to the wife, who well knew the tenderness of his voice and manner were not intended for herself; then becoming still more determined to keep up her incognito, she scarcely spoke above a whisper. At length the situation and the exhilarating affect which the water produced, after the frequent imbibings of eau de vie at the hotel, so far overcome his prudence that, tenderly pressing her hands, he begged of her a private interview. She was then convinced of his faithlessness—returned to the hotel, called for another room, and in the morning left for her home in the far West, having left a note explaining matters to him.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

TOUCHING DEVOTION OF A CHILD.—One of the most tearful cases every told on paper is this, of a little boy, a mere child, who travelled 1400 miles, taking care of the dead body of his mother all the way.

An expressman, upon reaching his office one cold morning in January, observed on the sidewalk a long, heavy box, which his practiced eye at once identified as containing a corpse. Upon the end of the box, shivering with cold, sat a half-clad boy, about seven or eight years of age. Addressing him kindly, he said:

"My lad, don't sit there; you will freeze. Come in and sit by the fire."

Bursting into tears, the little fellow replied:

"No, I can't come. My mother is in this box, and I promised her that I would not leave her until we got home."

Deeply affected with the touching devotion of this brave little fellow, he finally succeeded in convincing him of the entire safety of his precious charge, and taking him into a neighboring restaurant gave him a warm breakfast, and then learned the particulars of his story.

His father died but a year previously, in a remote village in Minnesota, leaving his mother in poor health, and nearly destitute. She died but a few days before the boy's sad journey, charging the little hero with the sad duty of conveying the remains to her friends in a distant State, and furnishing him with (all she had) a sum of money barely sufficient to carry them both to their destination. The little fellow had actually ridden night and day in a freight car with his melancholy trust, never for a moment losing sight of it.

CONSUMPTION.

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTION.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human life has been saved by the neglect of other remedies to cure consumption, when it was known and indisputably proved that they did not cure. These cases and fear to trifle and experiment with other remedies, whilst the disease kindly stepped and symptoms of the wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have failed.

In this book he has given the results of his experience, that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines only, will be sufficient for their pay, to kindle and vigor.

In this pamphlet there is neither pretentious. To the faith of the invalid he offers no other guarantee than is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The death of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is the best evidence of its truth. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-evident, self-evident.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the Conqueror of the malady is to be taken. The Seaweed Tonic is a cure of consumption, originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the beneficial effects of the Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the German Cathartic pills, are wonderful. It is a power that only requires the addition of water to produce in an instant a delicious, effervescent beverage, as well as an effervescent medicine

STRUCK BY A WORLD.—A well known florist of this city read in Colbert's "Star Studies" the following:

"Still less are the aerolites inhabited; no life is sacrificed to the stern flat of the law of attraction, in the case of the millions of aerolitic bodies which fall to the earth yearly, unless we except the case of one of the ancients, whose name has escaped me, he is reported to have been struck dead by a stone falling from mid-air, which was probably an aerolite, though said to have been dropped by an eagle. He is the only man ever known to have come into collision with another world; and the shock was fatal."

Whereupon, having suffered an attack of the "divine afflatus," he perpetrated the lines which follow."

STRUCK BY A WORLD.

Did he stand his ground,
When the terrible shock
Brought him to time,
Like the tick of a clock?

Wasn't the fellow
A little perplexed,
To see his way clear
From this world to the next?

Or as it was nearing
His uppermost rim,
Did he enter that,
Or did it enter him?

Was he a fellow
So very well read
That he had, of good things,
A world in his head?

Was he a star-gazer,
New worlds to espy?
Alas! the delusion,
'Twas all in his eye!

Old fellow! most ancient!
You sought for a world;
And the thing you pursued
Was after you hurled.

Thees and Logos
Were nothing to you;
In too great a hurry,
You put the thing through.

Celestial and mundane
Have come to the proof;
For the boson of a sun
Has "buckled" your roof!

A FIGHT FOR A KISS.—The prattle and play of boys and girls are always interesting to me. I have a great passion for children and delight in their company. I love to watch them in their innocence, before they begin to know the wickedness of the world. We have a number of beautiful and interesting girls and boys here, full of love, dovelike as angels. It is a pleasant sight to see them romp and gambol through the parlors and along the corridors and piazzas; their rollicking mirth brings back the bright days of childhood, and make me young again. The other afternoon I was an eye witness to the following scene:—

"Ah! L—— give me a kiss and be done with it!" said young Master F.

"I won't, so there, now!"

"I'll take it, whether or no."

"Do, if you dare," chimed in the dark-haired beauty, Miss R. "If you do, she'll tear out your eyes."

"No she won't," energetically responded the dashing young spark.

So at it they went, round and tumble. A fearful destruction of starch now commenced. Smash went the little fellow's hat, but he fought manfully. She had no time to boast. Soon her necklace began to shiver, parted, and whoorah, came a string of white beads scampering and running everywhere you could think about the floor.

She fought fair, however, and when she could fight no longer for want of breath, she yielded handsomely. Her arms fell down by her side—her hair fell back over her shoulders, her eyes closed, and there lay a little plump mouth all in the air. Gracious! did you ever see a hawk pounce on a robin? or a bee upon a clover top? I need not say more. What a beautiful picture for a painter.

THE BOOK for Young and Middle-Aged Men to read just now, is The Science of Life, or Self-Preservation. The author, Dr. A. H. HAYES, has returned from Europe in excellent health, and is again the Chief Consulting Physician of the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, No. 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and simple remedies, and by means of care. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his possession proofs that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptious. To the faith of the invalids is made the representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the agents two weapons with which the citadel of the unhealthy is assailed. Two-thirds of the cause of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. The Seaweed Tonic (the medicinal tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the enlivening energy, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's mildest aids—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now proceeding, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is soon to be at hand. There is no more distress, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest blood Purifier ever yet given by an invalid father. Don't be deceived by worthless imitations. Get only Wells' Carbolic Tablets. Price 25 cents per box. Send for Circular. 4w

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1871.

APPOINTMENTS UNDER THE TREATY.—Sir Alexander Cockburn, Lord Chief Justice of England, is to be the English arbitrator at Geneva, under the Treaty of Washington, and Sir Roundell Palmer, counsel. J. C. Bancroft Davis is to be agent of the United States with Charles C. Beaman of New York to assist him in the preparation of the cases before the tribunal of arbitration. Robert S. Hall of New York, agent and counsel on the part of the United States for claims to come before the commissioners who are to sit in Washington, is now there on business connected with his office.

CALIFORNIA.—The Antioch Ledger says:—"Never in this State have the prospects of the Republican party for a complete triumph been better than now. Every Republican paper rallies to the support of Booth, while at least three Democratic sheets openly denounce Haight, and many are quite lukewarm in his support. The German, Russian-American and Italian-American Republican are forming clubs in San Francisco, and are more enthusiastic than ever in the Republican cause."

A DREADFUL CALAMITY has visited the small Island of Tagalonda, in the Malay Archipelago, about 50 miles northeast of the island of Celebes. An outburst of the volcano of Ruwany, accompanied by a convulsion of the sea and a wave 40 yards in height, swept all human beings, cattle and horses from the Island. The number of persons who perished was 416.

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY has deemed it advisable to withdraw the four and four-and-a-half per cent. loan from the market, for the present. This will leave the way clear for the marketing of the five per cent. loan, the successful accomplishment of which will probably absorb all the floating capital seeking investment in government securities at less than six per cent.

THE TOTAL RECEIPTS of the Treasury for fiscal year ending June 30, 1871 (including $149,405,867, the balance remaining June 30, 1870), were $532,- for the same time were $522,912,[illegible] 19, leaving a balance in the Treasury, June 30, 1871, of $109,917,477.

THE DECLINE OF POPULATION in Ireland for the last ten years has been 360,000, almost the entire total of which, it is said, has been from the Roman Catholic church, which, of course, signifies a like increase of Catholics in the United States.

THE NEXT STATE ELECTION to be held this year will be that of California, September 5, when a Governor and other State officers will be chosen. The legislature of the Territory of Wyoming will be chosen on the same day.

THE BOILER of Steamer Chautauqua exploded on the 14th, near Maysville, N. Y. Four persons were killed and fourteen injured.

DURING A FIRE in Youngstown, Ohio, on the 14th, three children of Mr. John Williams were burned to death.

THE COREANS have carried off two Englishmen and one German, and the English fleet has gone to investigate.

Demorest's Monthly Magazine for September has more than three hundred engravings of Fashions, etc. Music: "Where the Mountain Echos Meet." Poems, Jenny June's paper on Marriage, Duties of Husbands, with other interesting articles. $3 per year. Published at 838 Broadway, New York.

—An Indiana man has effected a strategical combination against the potato bugs. He planted a grain of corn in each hill of potatoes. The corn came up before the potatoes, which, of course, cheated the little pests into the belief that it was a cornfield, and they never went near the potatoes until it was too late to do damage.

—Indiana husbands always purchase the "non-explosive" kind of burning fluid. They find it so much cheaper than divorce suits.

EDITORIAL EXCURSION.—The editorial Excursion we propose to write about is not the big union spree of the Associated Editors of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts, but a comparatively modest affair, the company being composed of one "we" and one jovial companion. The Associated fellows went to Montreal, so we concluded that it would be orthodox for us to go to Montreal too; but not liking to follow too closely in the footsteps of some of the Associated, we decided on taking a different means to the same end, and accordingly invested $11 in a passage-ticket over the Grand Trunk Railroad to Canada. We got our money's worth. The road is not very bad, nor yet very good. Some bumps we felt, and many the train passed over without our feeling them, we being in the air just then; in fact, as near as we can judge, we were in the air just half the time the train was moving. After being accustomed to the easy riding Eastern Railroad this seemed a little hard, but it was a great advantage to have all minor annoyances completely swamped. The scenery along the route—but we are not brilliant on scenery, so we will not attempt to picture the grand hills and curves of the track.

At Island Pond our baggage was examined for "contraband." The customs officer gazed pensively at the two pairs of socks, box of paper collars, comb, tooth-brush and revolver in one side of our carpet bag and the shirt (clean one) and roll of old exchanges in the other, and receiving an affirmative answer to his query, "Are you a Yankee editor?" passed on at once. That old bird wasn't to be caught with such chaff as a hope of getting anything out of an editor. At this station also a second-class car was added to the train, wherein (when we went there to smoke) we saw the biggest pair of boots that were ever built outside of a shipyard. A French Canadian had them on, and we were not surprised to learn from him that grasshoppers and potato bugs were not troublesome in his section of the country. Having sufficiently admired the boots, we turned into our berth, and while wondering what animal furnished a hide of such size, we slumbered. Next morning we found ourself in Montreal.

Montreal might furnish us with a fine subject for a descriptive article,—but it won't, for three hundred Yankee editors within a few weeks, which we think is enough for the present. But none of the three hundred described the horse and driver we employed to take us to Lachine, and back by the bank of the St. Lawrence—the most beautiful drive we ever enjoyed. Our horse was the fastest one in Canada, and the champion hurdle-racer; the driver told us that. He didn't look much like it, certainly, but the driver ought to know. Then our driver was nearly the biggest liar in Canada; we found that out ourself. We thought for a while that he was the champion, but our Quebec driver fairly distanced him. We saw all the sights and did nearly all the absurd things (including the ascent of the Cathedral tower) which visitors from the States are expected to see and do, and got through it very well. We went down the Lachine rapids in a steamboat; and heard one old Newburyport skipper on board say to another that the rapids are nowhere for danger alongside Newburyport bar. The perils of the passage have certainly been much exaggerated by travellers, as there is plenty of water in the channel and we were not within fifty feet of a rock on either side, at any time. We would rather shoot the rapids in a steamer twenty times, with a decent skipper, than to trust ourself through Portsmouth Bridge once in a boat managed by green hands. We should be drowned less. On arriving at Montreal after "shooting the Lachine" we held a council of war, decided that we had "done" the city in the most approved modern style, and straight way procured tickets on the steamer for Quebec.

—The Coos Republican tells the following good one:

One day last week, Mrs. Hunt procured for her five-year-old boy fishing tackle suitable for Young America to experiment with in the art so pleasing both to boys and men. A friend covered the hook with a tempting grasshopper. In a little while the mother, hearing a shout of exultation from Willie, ran out just in time to see one of her best hens fast winding up the line in her crop, whither the hook had already preceded it. Willie, observing the troubled look of his mother, quietly remarked, "Don't worry, mother, I guess she'll stop when she gets to the pole."

THREE LIVES WERE LOST by the burning of a liquor store in Jersey City, on the 13th.

NEWBURYPORT has voted aid to the proposed horse railroad, four to one.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

A young man named Abram Jaquim, of Greenfield, some twenty-four years ago ran badly in debt to get an education. He went into mining, but his health failed, and he has just got money enough to pay his old bills. He came home recently, paid everything, principal and interest, and has barely enough funds to carry him to California again.

James A. McKeon fell from a barn at Lisbon, Tuesday, striking on his head, and was instantly killed. He was about 57 years of age.

—A southern lady is said to have been poisoned by chewing green sewing silk.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A great many people have asked us of late, "How do you keep your horse looking so sleek and glossy?" We tell them, its the easiest in the world; give him Sheridan's Cuticura Condition Powders two or three times a week.

A gentleman in the eastern part of the state, who was about having his leg amputated on account of its being bent at right angles and stiff as the hinge of a door, taking it a short time, his leg became straight, and is now as serviceable as the other.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safest and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Help for the Nervous.

Where is it to be found? cries the trembling victim of nervous debility. Not in the tavern dram; that fires up the circulation for a moment, and is succeeded by collapse. Not in purgative pills, or a Lenten diet, but in an invigorant and restorative in which the tonic elements are united with gentle aperient and alterative properties. When Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was introduced nearly twenty years ago, this important object was first attained. This peaceful and active vegetable specific is as justly celebrated for its cures of nervous diseases, as for the absolute certainty with which it relieves dispepsia and biliousness. The hot weather toward the close of summer generally aggravates diseases of a nervous type, creating a degree of feeblenes which is beyond measure distressing. Under such circumstances rally the bodily energies with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all tonics, it is the most satisfactory in its operations, and the least exciting. It braces the nerves up to their natural tension, but not beyond it, so there is no reaction. It has other properties, however, than those of a nervine, and as a blood depurent and moderate aperient, is superior to any other medicine of the day.

Fraud, however, is on the alert. The celebrity of the original medicine has given rise to scores of counterfeits and imitations. Examine the label, and the fac simile of the signature of the firm; see that the spelling is all correct, and thus make sure of the genuineness of the article you buy. P. S.—Hostetter's Bitters are never sold in kegs or barrels, but in bottles only.

HAIR TEA.

A LADY WRITES:—"About six months ago my hair was coming out so badly that every dressing I used to get a handful, which, not wishing to throw away, I laid by in a box. I have used two bottles of your Hair Tea, and now I do not get enough to tie the ends of my braids, and have to go to the box for a few hairs for that purpose. I think every lady ought to know what a remarkable Hair Preserver you make."

THAT DELIGHTFUL SEASIDE retreat known as the WOODMAN FARM, containing forty acres of land, a commodious new and imposing house and convenient outbuildings, situated on the easterly side of Great Island, (Newcastle,) within a stone's throw of the ocean, and in full view of the "Isles of Shoals."

Also adjoining the same, "POINT JERRY," embracing ten acres of arable land extending far out into the sea, being the nearest point of land to the "Isles of Shoals," and forming the outside boundary of what is known as Little Harbor.

This is the most desirable spot on the seacoast for summer residences, possessing all the advantages of the world renowned "Isles of Shoals," in bracing atmosphere, deep sea fishing and surf-bathing on one side, while on the other is a smooth, hard beach and still water. There is also upon it a never failing pond of fresh water, an old battery, and a light house beacon. Roads always good and scenery unsurpassable.

MR. CHARLES H. THOMPSON has been leading the Hudson, Mass., Band, for several weeks. He is succeeded in the leadership of the Portsmouth Cornet Band by Mr. H. W. Pierce, of Lewiston, Me., an able director and good musician. The P. C. B. is peculiarly fortunate in securing the services of Mr. H. W. Pierce, and the H. C. B. is fortunate in having such an accomplished musician as Mr. Thompson.

AFTER A DEARTH of minstrel entertainments comes that refreshing combination of which Skiff & Gaylord are the leaders. The Albinoes drop their cork masks and appears in their natural color. The novelty of the thing will induce people to come to attend, and as the troupe will return during the Firemen's muster, a good entertainment may be expected this evening. The dissolving panorama of the Franco-Prussian war is said to be a ludicrous affair.

THE MUSTER.

Merrimac Engine Co. No. 1, of North Andover Depot, with 45 men and drum and fife corps of 12 pieces, Lower Hose Co. No. 5, of Beverly, Mass., with 20 members and hose carriage, and Washington S. F. E. Co. No. 2, of Lawrence, Mass., are to attend the Firemen's Muster. The Encampments on Peirce's Island are to be named after the various Ex-Mayors of this city.

THE SUPERINTENDENT of the Eastern Railroad is thus described in the Boston Commercial Bulletin:—

Mr. Thompson has been long connected with this road in the capacity of a master mechanic, and to his skill and efficiency are largely due the uniform excellence and many improvements which have been made in its rolling stock. He has risen from a small beginning to his present responsible position by means of perseverance, fidelity and a thorough mechanical education. Some twenty-five years ago we knew him as junior apprentice in the establishment of Otis Tufts, the late distinguished Boston machinist and inventor. Unlike boys of the present day, he took pains to master all the details of the business, and learned his trade well; subsequently becoming a partner with Mr. Tufts, and finally succeeding him in business.

WE REGRET TO LEARN that Rev. Geo. W. Bicknell, pastor of the Universalist Church, has tendered his resignation. He accepts a call from the India Street Universalist Church of Portland.

BENJAMIN COE, ESQ.—Messrs. Editors:—I have collected the following historical facts in regard to the ancestors of the subject of this notice, which it is hoped may be not wholly uninteresting to your readers and the public generally, to wit:

The Coe family came to this country from Suffolkshire, England, where they had resided for many generations. The earliest notice of them which can now be found, is in Fox's Book of Martyrs, which states that Roger "Coo" of Milford, Suffolkshire, was burned by Queen Mary, September 1555, at Yexford in that shire. Little is known respecting this family till the removal of Robert Coe to this country, who, with his wife Anne and their three children, with 79 others, sailed from Ipswich in the ship Francis, John Cutting, master, April 10th, 1634. They reached Boston in the following June, only six years from the date of the first settlement in the Massachusetts Colony, settled in Watertown and he was made a freeman there, September 3d, 1634. Rev. Curtis Coe, the sixth generation from Robt. Coe, was the father of the subject of this article, was born July 21, 1750, graduated at Brown University, 1776, married Ann Thompson of Durham, N. H., ordained at said Durham, Nov. 1, 1786, dismissed May, 1806, and died June 7, 1829, aged 79 years; of his eight children, said Benjamin, is the youngest and only survivor. He was formerly in mercantile pursuits in company with the late John K. Pickering, Esq., but for many years has led the quiet life of a farmer, on the parental homestead in South Newmarket. He is a man of much more than ordinary natural and acquired abilities, has for many years held responsible offices, both church and municipal, and has well sustained the good (and wide spread) reputation of his ancestors. DAVID MURRAY.

GEORGE W. WARREN, of Lowell, was drowned in the Pawtucket canal. He with others was destroying a hornet's nest, which they had found on the bank of the canal. The hornets attacked him and in his endeavors to drive them away he lost his footing and fell into the water, from which his lifeless body was taken shortly after.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The
NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS
RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,

YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York Rivers; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is magnificent, and the river and inland scenery not equalled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS,
Proprietors.

☞ Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, carrying the mails, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. The run across will occupy but about one hour. jo10

An American Battle of Dorking.

BY MAX ADELER.

The following is supposed to have been written in 1792 by Max Adeler, who was a witness of the terrible scenes which occurred at the time of which the story tells. The English satire, "The Battle of Dorking", supplied the suggestion for this prophetic tale:

THE CONQUEST OF AMERICA.

You ask me to tell you my children, of the events which immediately preceded the destruction of the once great American Union, and the capture of the country by its present European rulers, and to say something also of the cause which led to these deplorable results. I undertake the task with a heavy heart, for when I revert to that terrible time I can not help contrasting our proud condition up to that fatal year with the humiliating position occupied now by the American people. The story is a short one. In the fall of 1872, Horace Greeley, the editor of a newspaper in New York, was elected President of the United States. The people voted for him because they thought he was an honest man. And so he was. But he was also vain and weak, and he entertained certain fanatical and preposterous notions—about agricultural matters, for instance—which he was determined to force upon the people at all hazards, and despite all opposition. He believed, among other things, that every man ought to go West to earn his bread, and long before he was chosen President, he used to advise everybody to move to that region, as a cure for all the disasters that could befall the human family.

As soon as he reached the Executive Mansion, which we used to call the White House, President Greeley organized an army of two hundred thousand men, and proceeded to force the entire population of the seaboard States westward at the point of the bayonet. The utmost violence was used. Those who resisted were shot down, and their dead bodies were carted off to a national factory which the President had established for making some kind of fantastical fertilizer. All the large cities of the East were depopulated, and the towns were entirely empty. The army swept before it millions of men, women and children, until the vast plains west of Kansas were reached, when the pursuit ceased and the army was drawn up in a continuous line, with orders to shoot any person who attempted to visit the East. Of course hundred of thousands of these poor creatures perished from starvation. This seemed to frighten President Greeley, and he sent a message to Congress recommending that seven hundred thousand volumes of a book of his entitled "What I Know About Farming," should be voted in for the relief of the surviving sufferers. This was done, and farming implements and seeds were supplied; and then the millions of wretched outcasts made an effort to till the ground. Of the result of this I will speak further on.

In the meantime the President was doing infinite harm to the country in another way. His hands had that so fearfully and wonderfully made so, no living man could read it. At one time he sent his first annual message to Congress—the document was devoted wholly to the tariff and agriculture—a sentence appeared which subsequently was ascertained to be, "Large cultivation of rutabagas and beans is the only hope of the American nation, I am sure." The printers, not being able to interpret this, put it in the following form, in which it went to the world: "The Czar of Russia couldn't keep clean if he washed himself with the whole Atlantic ocean once a day!" This perversion of the message was immediately telegraphed to Russia by the Russian minister, and the Czar was so indignant that he immediately declared war. Just at this time President Greeley undertook to write some letters to Prince Bismarck upon the subject of potato rot, and, after giving his singular views at great length, he concluded with the statement that if the Emperor William said that subsoil plowing was not good in light soils, or that guano was better than bone dust, he was "a liar, a villain and a knave!" Of course the Emperor also immediately declared war, and became an ally of Russia and of England, against which latter country Mr. Greeley had actually begun hostilities already, because the queen in her speech from the throne, had declared the Tribune's advocacy of a tariff on pig iron incendiary, and calculated to disturb the peace of nations.

Unhappily this was not the full measure of our disasters. The President had sent to the Emperor of Austria a copy of his book "What I Know," etc., with his autograph upon a fly-leaf. The Emperor mistook his signature for a caricature of the Austrian eagle, and he readily joined in the war against the United States; while France was provoked to the same act by the fact, that when the French Minister came to call upon Mr. Greeley to present his credentials, the President, who was writing an editorial at that time, not comprehending the French language, mistook the ambassador for a beggar, and, without looking up, handed him a quarter and an order for a clean shirt, and said to him, "Go West, young man—go West." So all these nations joined in making war upon the United States. They swooped down upon our coasts and landed without opposition, for those exposed portions of our unhappy country were absolutely deserted. The President was afraid to call away the army from Kansas at first, for fear the outraged people upon the plains would come east in spite of him. But at last he did summon the army to his aid, and it moved to meet the enemy. It was too late. Before the troops reached Cincinnati the foreigners had seized Washington and all the country east of the Ohio, and had hung the President, the cabinet, and every member of Congress.

The army disbanded in alarm, and the invaders moved to the far west, where they found the population dying of starvation because they had followed the advice of Greeley's book to "Try, for your first crop, to raise limes; and don't plant more than a bushel of quicklime in a hill!" Of course these wretched people were at the mercy of the enemy, who—to his credit be it said—treated them kindly, fed them, and brought them back to their old homes. You know what followed—how Prince Frederick William of Prussia ascended the American throne, and the other humiliations that ensued. It was a fearful blow to republicanism—a blow from which it will never recover. It made us, who were freemen, a nation of slaves. It was all the result of our blind confidence in a misguided old man who thought himself a philosopher, but who was actually a fool. May Heaven preserve you, my children, from the remorse I feel when I remember that I voted for that bucolic old editor.

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $3 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between Council Bluffs and Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and desirable region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, nearly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawlw8i6

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with soap suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnished experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

The Housekeeper's Tragedy.

One day, as I wandered, I heard a complaining,
And saw a poor woman, the picture of gloom;
She glared at the mud on her door step ("twas raining),
And this was her wail, as she wielded her broom:

"Oh! life is a toil, and love is a trouble,
And beauty will fade, and riches will flee,
And pleasures they dwindle, and prices they double,
And nothing is what I could wish it to be.

There's too much of worriment goes to a bonnet;
There's too much of ironing goes to a shirt;
There's nothing that pays for the time you waste on it;
There's nothing that lasts us but trouble and dirt.

In March it is mud; it's slush in December;
The Midsummer breezes are loaded with dust;
In Fall, the leaves litter; in muggy September
The wall-paper rots, and the candlesticks rust.

There are worms in the cherries, and slugs in the roses,
And ants in the sugar, and mice in the pies;
The rubbish of spiders no mortal supposes,
And ravaging roaches, and damaging flies.

It's sweeping at six, and it's dusting at seven;
It's victuals at eight, and it's dusting at nine;
It's potting and panning from ten to eleven;
We scarce break our fast ere we're planning to dine.

With grease and with grim, from corner to center,
Forever at war, and forever alert,
No rest for a day, lest the enemy enter;
I spend my whole time in a struggle with dirt.

Last night, in my dream, I was stationed forever
On a little bare isle in the midst of the sea;
My one chance of life was a careless endeavor
To sweep off the waves ere they swept off poor me!

Alas! 'twas a dream—again I behold it!
I yield! I am helpless my fate to avert!"
She rolled down her sleeves; her apron she folded;
Then lay down and died, and was buried in dirt.

[Hearth & Home.

THE PERILS OF FORTUNE-TELLING.—Her first question was put in slow, distinct, cabalistic way, looking the pursuer of knowledge under difficulties square in the eye: "Namkyptowapscattacolladumkikelzi-ocumboketatajandaltiki?" Trembling in every limb, the subject of these investigations replied that "the thought probable under the circumstances, he, she or it might, mutatis mutandi. Erin go bragh, for instance, would leave a doubt in the mind, when nothing but the most proximate propinquity and remote rotundity could rotate." After a slight pause, No. 2 said she thought so herself. Gazing into the deep drawn lines of the palm, she said: "Thou art 35 years old." "I art not—by several," said the seeker after truth. "Thou dost not understand me," said she, with an embarrassed air. "Do you suppose the sublime science of clairvoyance deals with sordid clay? Mentality, man, mentality—spiritual nature as distinguished from the physical; thou are 35—no more, no more no less"—shaking the bottled-up human flesh (like Gen. Butler at Fort Fisher) and casting her eyes to the ceiling. A pickled human hand and the stars! Who could dispute such authority? "Thou art single—art single, art thou not?" Too timid to reply directly in the negative, the fortune seeker mildly suggested that he would refer the question to his wife and babes when he got home that night. "Wife and babes," retorted the revealer of secrets, with a sneer; "Wife and babes, ha! Knowest thou not that I refer to the spiritual—the mental? Yes, young man, the heart is unwedded; the mentality is unwedded. It is only the corporeal, fleshy nature that was five years ago—let me see—yes, six years ago, wedded to some corporeal frame." But have been so for only ten months," said he. "Rogue, rogue," stormed the thrice-caught revealer of bidden things, "then how dost thou say babes?" "Twins," he ejaculated. She laid her hands across her brow and pondered. She turned in her chair; she was completely nonplussed. She asked to be excused from a further insight into the future of that day. The elements had been disturbed, she feared by some undiscovered comet. The magnetism of the air was "jangled, out of tune and harsh." She hoped he would call again when electricity and the fates were in a subtler rapport.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE ESTATE of the late Henry J. Wright is inventoried at about $50,000, and the property is all left to the widowed mother of the deceased, "in grateful remembrance of the years of her unswerving kindness and love."

—Dr. Franklin recommends a young man, in the choice of a wife, to select her from a bunch, giving as a reason that when there are many daughters they improve each other, and from emulation acquire more accomplishments and know more and do more than a single child spoiled by parental fondness.

—Apropos of the many remedies proposed for preventing boiler explosions, the Louisville Courier-Journal says the only absolutely sure way to keep them from exploding is to fill them with ice water and set them in a cool place.

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of those securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Mompremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known, and well-tried remedies in the hands of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faithful the unfaltering testimony to representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-sustaining, self-evidencing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. When this condition has developed, the lungs become involved, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous obstructions. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more distressing, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an Enlightened Father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the lingered and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of expectoration it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten tissue that it occupied is removed and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to cure them out of doors when the weather is diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; they die because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about to keep the mind and flesh up, for the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To do good, a medicine must be taken with regularity in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the faculty of his own case was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption: confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was well and perfectly clear my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He is now, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for using the Mandrake Pills are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good food at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard article; as a tonic while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, procures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and all opinions and patents rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unanimous proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1871.

OUR NATIONAL FINANCES.

From an article in the Boston Advertiser, we take the following extract showing conclusively the success of the present administration in reducing the national debt and expenses. The Advertiser publishes an instructive table.

	Receipts.	Expenditures.	Surplus.
1871.	$383,323,945	$292,177,185	$91,146,757
1870.	411,255,477	309,653,560	101,601,917
1869.	370,943,747	321,430,527	49,453,150
1868.	335,959,655	298,468,869	26,610,798

The surplus this year is ten and a half million dollars less than for the year 1870, but this was caused by the large reduction in taxes, which gave the Treasury twenty-eight millions less than in the preceding year. In the first year of the present administration the expenses were reduced twelve millions below those of the preceding year, and now we witness a further reduction of seventeen and a half millions. If the taxes had not been interfered with we should undoubtedly have exceeded the receipts of 1870 for the year just concluded; but even at that figure we should have had a surplus of $119,000,000.

We have increased our custom duties by the sum of nearly eleven and three-quarters millions, which is, owing to the removal of duties, less than the amount which the natural and regular increase of trade would have brought in. The internal revenue receipts, as a consequence of the wise reduction of the war taxes, have fallen off more than forty-two million dollars,—a result which there will be very few to mourn. But even now these taxes give us only fifteen millions less than under the slip-shod collection system of the last administration, when some of the most important and most justly taxed trades evaded taxation with impunity. The land sales have decreased by nearly a million dollars. The "miscellaneous sources" include $8,892,829 received as premiums on the sale of gold, and the expenditures on the same account for premiums on bonds purchased amount to a little more than that sum. The account last year was about $15,000,000 on either side of the balance sheet. Turning to the expenditures, we find the civil and miscellaneous account nearly stationary.

A reduction of twenty-two millions in the army charges, of two millions for the navy and of three and a half millions in interest on the public debt, constitutes a record of which any administration might be proud. The improvement is progressive, too, for if we are likely to find no more opportunity to be economical in the administration of the army and the navy, we have begun this year with a debt smaller by $103,000,000 than last year, and are constantly diminishing the capital and reducing the rate of interest.

EDITORIAL EXCURSION.—Down the St. Lawrence from Montreal to Quebec, by night, was a pleasant trip. The steamboat was roomy and well fitted up, and the passengers furnished us with a pleasant study—at least one passenger did. This one was a young woman, of course, perhaps twenty years of age, and was probably on her first trip from home; she was very handsome, and we were so much interested in watching the delighted expression on her face as she flitted from one point to another, that we wholly forgot to observe the beauties of the scenery until after she had retired, by which time it was too dark to see anything, so we retired also. Groups of unlucky passengers, who had neglected to secure staterooms, were sleeping on field beds in the saloons, but we had engaged a room early in the day, and being determined to have our share of whatever was going—even a blow up—had selected one exactly over the boiler, where the steady drumming of the paddles and the occasional roar of waste steam as it rushed up the escape pipe within two feet of our head, soon lulled us into forgetfulness of all save the pretty little woman with the delighted expression. Early the next morning we were out on the guards, but the pretty little woman was there before us, and again we forgot to look at the river's banks; in fact, that little woman was about all the "scenery" we saw between Montreal and Quebec—and any man who could ask for more pleasing scenery has no soul.

We landed at Quebec. We "did" Quebec, including a second rate breakfast and some fearful and wonderful coffee at the first class hotel, in the regular style. We hired a cab and were carted up to the famous citadel, round which we were courteously guided by a soldier, for doing which we courteously gave him a quarter. We saw "the exact spot where Montgomery fell," and the Plains of Abraham, where Wolfe and Montcalm had their fight; then we drove out to the Falls of Montmorency. The fort and the falls have been described often enough already, so we shall not attempt it; persons dissatisfied with previous descriptions can go and see for themselves.

But our driver has not been described, nor can any description do him justice. Lie! he left our Montreal driver nowhere, at lying. Peter O'Flanegan was the name on his card, and he assured us that he was master of seven languages, one of them being the "modern Greek." The old animal he was driving looked as though he was more intimately acquainted with the whip than with hay, but our driver stoutly swore that "he won twenty pound for me last week on a bet, by hauling two ton straight up from the Lower Town to the Upper one,"—the street being paved with square blocks of stone, and standing very nearly on its end. The hard pull of the previous week must have tired the old crowbait very much, for on our return from the falls he had all he could do to draw us up the same hill, he was so exhausted. Mr. O'Flanegan was intelligent and gave us a great deal of information concerning everything that ever did or did not happen, on that trip to the falls. Only one question did he fail to answer satisfactorily, and that was, "Where can we buy a barrel of the gun Gen. Montgomery was shot with?"

Having finished up Quebec, we stowed ourselves in Mr. O'Flanegan's carriage and directed him to "drive to the Grand Trunk ferry boat like the Old Scratch, for we were short oftime." "All right, gentlemen; I'll have you there in time, alive or dead," said Mr. O'Flanegan, and the way he rattled us down break-neck hills and perpendicular streets paved with flat stones, round sharp corners and through narrow passages where we had not more than six inches space between the carriage and stone walls on either side, at full gallop, makes our hair stand on end now to think of. A good part of the distance to the ferry was run on two wheels (the carriage had four), and when we got there we discovered that one of the traces had just given out as we stopped. Having anxiously interviewed each other and found that neither was a corpse, we gladly paid Mr. O'Flanegan his fifty cents—we would have given him all our worldly possessions sooner than have taken that down-hill ride with him again—and went on board the ferry boat, devoutly thankful that we did not find ourselves travelling towards the morgue on a shutter. If the persons who have so vividly described the danger of shooting the Lachine rapids would only let Peter O'Flanegan drive them from the St. Louis Hotel in Quebec to the Grand Trunk ferry station, under an injunction to make all possible speed, they would have juster ideas of peril—if they escaped with their lives. We tried it, and now we despise the Lachine, and should not regard it as anything very alarming to shoot Niagara falls. By the time we had recovered our breath after parting with Mr. O'Flanegan, we were tearing over the Grand Trunk Railroad towards Montreal at twenty miles an hour.

—Mr. Greeley does not himself favor the renomination of Gen. Grant, and is prepared to give his reasons at the proper time. For the present, he considers the discussion premature.—N. Y. Tribune.

There is a coyness about this declaration which makes it quite mysterious and depressing, and since Mr. Greeley introduces his own name as its sponsor and not the impersonality of his journal, let us see how far history will add to its terrors. In 1840, Mr. Greeley vehemently opposed the nomination of General Harrison as a Whig candidate for the Presidency. Gen. Harrison was nominated and elected. In 1844, Mr. Greeley earnestly supported Mr. Clay for the Presidency. Mr. Clay was defeated. In 1848, Mr. Greeley passionately opposed the nomination of General Taylor. Gen. Taylor was nominated and elected. In 1852, he contemptuously opposed the nomination of General Scott. The General was nominated. In 1856, he enthusiastically supported John C. Fremont. Gen. Fremont was defeated. In 1860, he went to Chicago to nominate Mr. Bates, of Missouri. Mr. Bates was scarcely heard of in the convention. In 1864, he resolutely opposed the nomination of Mr. Lincoln, and was on the verge of bolting the party. Mr. Lincoln was nominated and elected. In 1868, he was of the opinion that the Republicans should nominate Mr. Chase. General Grant was nominated.

The friends of General Grant, therefore, notwithstanding this announcement, will be apt to find a great deal of comfort in Mr. Greeley's record.—N. Y. Standard.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Help for the Nervous.

Where is it to be found? cries the trembling victim of nervous debility. Not in the tavern dram; that fires up the circulation for a moment, and is succeeded by collapse. Not in purgative pills, or a Lenten diet, but in an invigorant and restorative in which the tonic elements are united with gentle aperient and alterative properties. When Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was introduced nearly twenty years ago, this important object was first attained. This peaceful and active vegetable specific is as justly celebrated for its cures of nervous diseases, as for the absolute certainty with which it relieves dispepsia and biliousness. The hot weather toward the close of summer generally aggravates diseases of a nervous type, creating a degree of feebleness which is beyond measure distressing. Under such circumstances rally the bodily energies with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all tonics, it is the most satisfactory in its operations, and the least exciting. It braces the nerves up to their natural tension, but not beyond it, so there is no reaction. It has other properties, however, than those of a nervine, and as a blood depurent and moderate aperient, is superior to any other medicine of the day.

Fraud, however, is on the alert. The celebrity of the original medicine has given rise to scores of counterfeits and imitations. Examine the label, and the fac simile of the signature of the firm; see that the spelling is all correct, and thus make sure of the genuineness of the article you buy. P. S.—Hostetter's Bitters are never sold in kegs or barrels, but in bottles only.

MR. EDWARD RICHARDSON, a Vermonter, after residing 18 years on the island of Hawaii, owns an estate of 400,000 acres of land, plentifully interspersed with lava from the volcano of Mauna Loa. He went to the Sandwich Islands a poor man to earn a livelihood as a carpenter. Among his other possessions are 500 head of cattle.

THE DEMOCRATIC PAPERS are very anxious that Gen. Butler should not be the Republican nominee for Governor of Massachusetts — a very significant fact.

TWO MORE NEW PULLMAN PARLOR-CARS will be placed on the Eastern Railroad about the 25th instant. They will probably be named the "Boston" and the "Bangor." The demand for the accommodation they afford is steadily increasing.

A SALUTE of eleven guns was fired from the Navy Yard Battery on Wednesday, in honor of the arrival of Commodore Wm. Reynolds, Chief of Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting. We learn that he is the guest of Commander Young.

THE SEA VIEW HOUSE at Rye Beach narrowly escaped destruction by fire Wednesday morning. At about ten o'clock the flames were discovered in the servants' apartments, but by the aid of a fire extinguisher the fire was subdued without material damage after a hard fight.

THE MUSTER.

The Excelsior Engine Co. No. 1 of Winchester, Mass., proposes to enter, with 70 men.

Hose Co. J. A. Lord, No. 4, of Salem, Mass., 30 men, Capt. Hadley, with a band of 20 pieces, have entered. The Chief Engineer of Salem and Capt. Weston of Boston, will be their guests.

A BRILLIANT GOLDEN WEDDING came off at the residence of Mr. Otis Marden, Rye Beach, Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Mendlewitz Myers of Boston received their friends and several thousand dollars worth of gold presents. Feasting, music and fireworks were the order of the evening. Mr. Myers is 81 years old.

THE NORTH AND SOUTH MILL POND NUISANCES grow worse, with no prospect of abating. Is it best to wait until the cholera comes, until our citizens become infected with sickness from these disease-breeding localities, or wisely take the matter in hand and purchase the mill privileges, allowing a free flow of the tides? The city has the power to abate nuisances, and the only question to be decided is the most feasible and expeditious way of doing so. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

MUSSES.—Two members of a travelling minstrel troupe exchanged offensive words in front of the Franklin House, Wednesday afternoon, each intimating that the other was a prevaricator. The first to utter the opprobrious epithet was a big fellow of 180 pounds weight. His opponent, who probably weighed 50 pounds less, very naturally retaliated in kind, and was struck on the jaw by a cane in the hands of the first. The blow was a heavy one and the blood spurted in a steady stream. Recovering from its effect, he sprang at his opponent, but one of the managers of the troop interfered and separated them. The bystanders were indignant and wanted the smaller man to take his satisfaction for the fearful blow he had received, which he offered to do if the other would drop his cane. As it was, he was obliged to take it out in more opprobrious epithets, knowing that the spectators sympathized with him.

Another quarrel took place at the Eastern Depot on the arrival of the arrival of the 5. 30 P. M. train from Boston, between two hackmen, or rather between one hackmen, for one only did all the fighting. The one who did not fight was considerably bruised, and passengers on the train anxiously enquired if Portsmouth had no police force stationed at the depots.

PARIS is excited, the situation threatening, and trouble is apprehended from various sources. Wednesday was the fete of Napoleon, and the air is full of rumors that the army will revolt against the Assembly, declare McMahon Regent, and demand the Empire. The people are leaving Paris in a stampede. Some believe that the Orleanists' scheme is ripe for a coup d' etat, and is being pushed by the proposition to make Thiers permanent Executive, which it is feared would establish a government not monarchical. Thiers has no friends. He is hated by the Republicans, Royalists and Imperialists alike. A crisis is approaching.

A HEAVY TYPHOON at Kohl on the 4th inst., caused a loss of 400 lives. Several vessels were wrecked. The damage to property is estimated at half a million of dollars.

THE NEW YORK POLICE COMMISSIONERS have resolved to place officers, in citizen's clothes, on all of the lines of city cars for the protection of passengers.

WHY WE GO TO CHURCH.—To assert that a large proportion of church goers attend public worship as a duty, and not as a matter of free choice, is unpopular, and the idea is unpalatable for the reason that it is never pleasant to be told our faults. It is also a somewhat delicate subject to touch upon and at the same time difficult of proof, because we are not frank enough, as a rule, to confess our honest preferences in this matter. It would not be right for us without good and sufficient reasons, to impugn the motives which prompt our friends to attend church every Sabbath, and hence we will not beg the question, but will undertake to demonstrate in what manner, many, by implication, fully avow their attendance at church to be an act of penance rather than one of choice or pleasure.

Most of our readers will doubtless recognize a class who plead that "they don't wish to contract a habit of staying at home, as it exerts a bad influence, indicating that they prefer home, but yet are willing to make the sacrifice, or in other words (which mean the same) they perform an act of penance for the very good reason that they wish to shed a right influence in society. Familiar to the mind's eye is that class of individuals whose curiosity to know what Mrs. A. has on or Miss B. has left off, and being likewise desirous of listening to and participating in the kind of small talk generally indulged in by church members and their friends, visit the sacred tabernacle and afflict themselves for an hour for the sake of the privilege alluded to. There is also in every community, a certain number, greater or less, who fancy themselves fine-looking and well gotten up, and having the conceit to presume that the public would be happy to look them over, are willing to punish themselves during an ordinary church service in order to indulge and gratify their vanity. Who supposes for a moment, that such as these have any idea of the worship of God? If it was any other public gathering wherein they could be equally conspicuous, no matter what its character, there would they be in the midst.

Another class of persons are very much afraid that they will not be thought well of, that they will lose caste in the circle around which they travel unless they perform the usual routine of religious duties, and hence, impelled by this fear of man, they are found sitting in their accustomed seat as regularly as the ringing of the Sabbath bells. Still another, who looking at their minister in the same light as that in which the devoted Catholic views his priest, are desirous of meeting his approbation and hence honor him by their presence at his weekly ministrations.

We might mention other phases of this church-going human nature, but will not appropriate more space to prove what we think we have clearly demonstrated, viz., that if left to our freedom in the choice of the direction in which we should wend our way on a Sabbath morning, apart from the considerations we have above set forth, a large portion would be found absent from the house of God. We are ready to admit that there are those who (as they are heard to sing,) "love thy church, O, God," and are regularly found there as devout worshipers. But how many do they number? What proportion of the church membership do they constitute? We leave the question, fearing to answer it lest we might overestimate them.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,

YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York Rivers; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equalled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS,
Proprietors.

☞ Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. The run across will occupy but about one hour. je10

DANA IN A FIX.—Some rival, we presume, tells the following joke upon Charles A. Dana, of the New York Sun:—

Somewhere about eight o'clock, C. A. D. walked out of the office and started down Nassau street, for Wall street ferry. A little boot-black, set on perhaps by some older head, for a frolic, followed closely on his heels. Half way down Wall street he met a policeman, who beckoning to him mysteriously, indicated that the individual ahead intended committing suicide. The official of the law looked into Mr. Dana's impressive countenance, looked back again into his informant's honest visage, and concluded his information was to be relied on. Boot-blacks have a heard-of ways of obtaining news, and the policeman knew them to be pretty good detectives; so, as there was no time to be wasted in making inquiries, he followed closely in the track of the unsuspecting victim. He reached the ferry, and they followed. There was no boat in, so he walked securely down to the edge of the pier, jump off, as the policeman thought. Very forcibly were two brawny hands placed upon Mr. Dana's symmetrical shoulders, and very ill-naturedly the policeman bawled:—

"None of that, my man."

"Of course the crowd gathered around forthwith.

"What does this mean?" asked Mr. Dana excitedly.

"Mean? Well, it means that we understood your manœuvres, and we ain't going to have no such work as this. It means that you ain't going to kill yourself just yet."

"Kill myself?" and Mr. Dana laughed hysterically. That gaping crowd would have made Job himself hysterical. "I haven't the slightest idea of such a thing. I'm Charles A. Dana."

"Of course he is," yelled the tiny tormentor, starting for the gate; "just you keep hold of him tight. If he ain't sick of the world he ought to be, and he needs a keeper any way;"—and before any one could capture the mischievous urchin he had disappeared.

AN ESSAY IN BEHALF OF THE DESPISED ONION.—The author of "My Summer in a Garden," pleasantly says:

I am quite ashamed to take people into my garden, and have them notice the absence of onions. It is very marked. In onion is strength; and a garden without it lacks flavor. The onion in its satin wrappings is among the most beautiful vegetables; and it is the only one that represents the essence of things. It can almost be said to have a soul.

You take off coat after coat, and the onion is still there; and, when the last one is removed, who dare say that the onion is destroyed, though you can weep over its departed spirit? If there is any one thing on this fallen earth that the angels in heaven weep over more than another, it is the onion.

I know there is supposed to be a prejudice against the onion, but I think there is rather a cowardice in regard to it. I doubt not at all men and women love the onion; but few confess their love. Affection for it is concealed. Good New Englanders are as shy of owning it as they are of talking about religion. Some people have days on which they eat onions, when you might call "intracts" or their "Thursdays." The fact is in the nature of a religious ceremony, an Eleusian mystery; not a breath of it must get aboard.

On that day they see no company; they deny the kiss of greeting the dearest friend; they retire within themselves, and hold communion with one of pungent and penetrating manifestations of the moral vegetable in the world. Happy is said to be the family which can eat onions together. They are, for the time being, separate from the world, and have a harmony of aspiration. There is a hint here for the reformers. Let them become apostles of the onion; let them eat and preach it their fellows, and circulate tracts of it in the form of seeds.

In the onion is the hope of universal brotherhood. If all men will eat onions at all times, they will come into a universal sympathy. Look at Italy. I hope I am not mistaken as to the cause of her unity. It was the Reds who preached the gospel which made it possible. All the Reds of Europe, and the sworn devotees of the mystic fairy Ann, eat of the common vegetable. Their oaths are strong with it.

But is the food, also, of the common people of Italy. All the social atmosphere of that delicious land is laden with it. Its odor is a practical democracy. In the churches all are alike; there is one faith, one smell. The entrance of Victor Emanuel into Rome is only the pompous proclamation of a unity which garlic had already accomplished; as yet we, who boast of our democracy, eat onions in secret.

—A new and timely toy has been invented by an ingenious mechanic of New York city, and will soon be on sale there. It is a miniature steamboat, the machinery of which, on being wound up, explodes by means of a spring, scattering portions of the boat and the little men, women and children by which it is occupied in every direction. The object of this pleasing toy is to familiarize children early with the contingencies of steamboat travel.

CHOICE IOWA LANDS,

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $5 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region of Iowa.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation at the office in Louisville.

A liberal discount will be allowed when 100, 500, or 1000 tickets are purchased in a lot. All orders accompanied by remittances will be promptly attended to, and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as ordered. The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first tag drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawsb6t

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. E. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

Of all the types in the printer's hand,

For he the gentleman (seems to me)
Of the typographical companie.'
O, my nice little Ampersand,
My graceful, swanlike Ampersand;
Nothing that Cadmus ever planned
Equals my elegant Ampersand!

Many a letter that your writers hate,
Ugly Q, with his tail so straight,
X, that makes you cross as a bear,
And Z, that helps you with sounds to swear.
But not my nice little Ampersand,
My easily dashed-off Ampersand;
Any odd shape folks understand
To mean my Promenade Ampersand!

Nothing for him that's starch or stiff;
Never he's used in scold or tiff;
State epistles, so dull and grand,
Must n't contain the shortened and.
No, my nice little Ampersand,
You are good for those who're jolly and bland;
In days when letters are dried with sand,
Old trumps would n't use my Ampersand!

But he is dear in old friendship's call,
Or when love is laughing through lady-scrawl:
Come & dine, & have bachelor's fare,
Come, & I'll keep you round and square.
Yes, my nice little Ampersand
Never must into a word expand;
Gentle sign of affection stand,
My kind, familiar Ampersand!

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

Mixed jewels should be avoided.

Rich, creamy-tinted alpacas are much worn at the sea-shore.

Cravets in white lace and white lawn are very fashionable.

Dark colors and neutral tints will prevail the coming season.

The Roland and Derby hats promise to become great favorites.

A beautiful accompaniment to white dresses is the shell jewelry.

Black lace mitts are coming in fashion; few however have yet been seen.

The new styles of organdie, and Chambery gauze are quaint and beautiful.

The Tuscore linen is a new and delightfully cool fabric for August and September.

Varieties in colors, or dress ornamentation and jewelry shows an uneducated taste.

White muslins in dress, costumes, &c., have been admissible for street, dinner and evening costumes.

One of the most striking absurdities nowadays, is the reviving of the little turban or other round hats on heads underneath which are faded cheeks, sharp chins and wrinkled brows.

AN ANTIQUARIAN RELIC.—The Biddeford Democrat says the following is put in type from the original document made out over one hundred and forty years ago.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

In the following pages it is my intent to show that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is besieged. Within the stomach, they respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Pedophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are rejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It secretes from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Civilization is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of symptoms, no appetite sickness.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gulterings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten tissue that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong, and physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; they do not expectorate in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bend, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and every variety in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement of the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; I confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; I was like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was restored to perfect health by my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them. First, excite appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most wholesome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the dieting at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time, all of those morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY: Has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART. Boston, Jan. 1 1871.—1 yr.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1871.

Editorial Excursion.

The scenery along the Grand Trunk Railroad from Quebec to within a short distance of Montreal, is drearily monotonous and uninteresting. We shall not undertake to describe it, as those who have been over the route will remember it only too well, and those who have not been thus afflicted will care nothing about it. The road bed is excellent, and most of the old, worn out iron rails have been replaced with steel ones; and the speed of the train gradually increased as we neared Montreal, until the twenty miles an hour we had started with had become forty.

At the station where we took the train, opposite Quebec, two other parties of Americans entered the same car with ourselves; one of these parties consisted of a gentleman, his wife and their little five-year-old girl; the other of an elderly woman and a young one, mother and daughter. With neither of the adults of these two parties did we exchange a word; but we remember the gentleman's family with pleasure, while we cordially detest that horrible old woman and her daughter. Our dislike commenced before the train started, when, in answer to a remark by the lady that "perhaps she was prejudiced in favor of New York, having been born in that city," the horrible old woman replied, "And very just reason you have to be proud of your city, for indeed it is a very fine place; there is nothing like it on this side of the water, and very few to compare with it in Europe. You may well feel proud of it, indeed." Then she began an endless groan about "our travels in Europe," and "our superior courier, so attentive and respectful," with occasional rhapsodies over the "nice scenery in the Tyrol" and the "very pretty views in Switzerland and Italy,"—until we could have attended her funeral with the utmost composure, and wished she had been overwhelmed by Vesuvius. We were relieved of this oppressive nightmare for a while by the antics of the little girl, who seemed bent on having a romp with every person in the car, (excepting the old woman, whom she carefully avoided,) but she got tired out at last, and after having made the acquaintance of all the passengers and climbed over and tumbled under nearly every seat in the car, she settled herself on a cushion and went to sleep. After this, as our mate was reading a book and looking from the windows only gave us the blues, we turned our undivided attention to hating that old woman.

The old woman was by no means bad looking, and her daughter, a tall, well formed young woman, would have been handsome but for the brazen (she probably thought it haughty) expression of her features; but nothing could stop the insane twaddle which poured from the older one's lips. A heavy thunder storm hung over us for some two hours; the lightning was vivid and almost incessant, the rain beat under the doors and ran in little rivulets all over the floor, and the thunder was deafening; but all that didn't check her a bit. Every time there was a momentary lull in the crashing of the thunder and the roar of the train, we heard something about the "nice persons we met at Florence" or "the very select party we found at Naples," until we should have hailed a broken wheel or a log on the rails as a relief from intolerable torture.

At last the storm cloud lifted in the West, and slowly rolled away, leaving on the horizon a bank of snow white clouds with their edges gilded by the declining sun, which was yet hidden by the inky storm cloud, where the lightning was still playing. We felt the sublime beauty of the scene, though we cannot adequately describe it—no pen could do that; but that horrible old woman looked upon it and then called to her daughter, "G—— dear, look at this sky; isn't this elegant! It reminds me of the day we drove around Paris with that charming Mr. De Vere." We staggered to a wood-box at the extreme end of the car, and sat there during the rest of the trip, speculating on the happy possibility of the cars being struck by lightning, meeting another train, running down a bank, breaking through the Victoria Bridge into the St. Lawrence—anything to kill that fearful old woman; but nothing happened, and we finally arrived safe at Montreal, a much older man than when we left Quebec. Probably that old woman will never die; we have hardly a hope that she ever will; but we shall have the satisfaction of hating her earnestly as long as we live, at any rate.

—A fly bit a man in California and killed him.

NEW PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

The leading article in the Atlantic is a pathetic story by Bayard Taylor, entitled "Twin Love." Wilson Flagg contributes a paper entitled "The Field and the Garden." "Twenty Dollars" is the title of a short story by a writer whose name is withheld. "The Flowering of a Nation," by T. G. Appleton, begins with sentimental philosophy, and concludes with a suggestion that a foundation be erected on the site of Scollay's building, in commemoration of the visit of Eirik to Massachusetts some 800 years ago. Mr. Howell's story, "Their Wedding Journey," narrates the progress of the happy couple from Albany to Buffalo, with various railway and hotel experiences. Mr. Field's reminiscences of Dickens in this number are very entertaining, the account of the great walking-match between the "Man of Ross" and Boston Bantam, by Dickens himself, being especially clever. Mr. Bret Harte contributes a story, "The Romance of Madroño Hollow," and a poem entitled "A Greyport Legend." Other contributors of poetry are Celia Thaxter and H. B. Hudson. There are liberal instalments of the serial stories by J. W. DeForest and H. Jones, Jr.

E. G. Adams has received the September number of the Galaxy. Justin McCarthy's story, "Lady Judith," is concluded, and a new story by Anthony Trollope, entitled "The Eustace Diamonds," begun. Four chapters of Mrs. Edward's story are given. Edward Crapsey writes of "Outcast Children," and F. B. Perkins of "Perpetual Motion," with illustrations of some machines of which the inventors hoped much. Pearl-Hunting in the Pomotovs is the title of a short story. "A Southerner" writes about "Agricultural Labor at the South." The poetry is contributed by Charles Sibley, Rose Terry, Mary L. Ritter, B. T., and George Flowerdew. Philip Quilibet writes of "Rambling in Maine." The other editorial departments are vigorous and entertaining as usual.

The Cherub is a sprightly Weekly just started in Boston, under the management of Mr. Ed. P. Ackerman, recently of the New York Globe. It begins well and will continue well as long as its present managing editor is retained. It just fills a gap in the "Hub" and people won't gaps over it by any means.

The September number of Harper's Magazine, received by E. G. Adams, Wm. B Lowd, Jos. H. Foster and Foster Shores & Co., contains nineteen articles, most of which are abundantly illustrated. Charles Parsons, the artist, gives a fine description of Montauk Point. Dr. Guernsey has compiled an interesting paper from Bush's book of Siberian Travel. Mrs. Z. B. Buddington contributes a timely paper entitled "The Bard of Abbottsford." M. D. Conway supplies a pleasant sketch entitled "Stolen Flowers." John G. Saxe writes of "Puns and Punning." There are short stories by Annie Thomas, Justin McCarthy and D. R. Castleton. Mr. Curtis in "The Easy Chair" writes, with customary fascination, of Washington past and present, and of college commencements and systems.

Demorest's Young America for September opens with "Minnie and Kittie," a tale by Neil Forrest; and "May Clifford in the City," and the illustrations, poems, riddles and editorial departments for juveniles are good. $1 per annum. Published at 838 Broadway, New York.

Our Young Folks has contributions by S. T. Trowbridge, Martha M. Thomas, Elizabeth Akers Allen, Mrs. Susan Nichols Carter, Mrs. S. M. B. Piatt, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mrs. J. C. Ballard, C. A. Stephens and many others, who know how to write happily for people of all ages. The illustrations, including the full-page frontispiece, are excellent.

GOOSE RACE ON CHARLES RIVER.—Bob Hart, Hughey Dougherty, Fayette Welch and El Nino Eddie, of the Howard Athenæum, will each ride in a common wash-tub, drawn by six geese, for a purse given by the management of the theatre. This novel and exciting sport takes place on Charles river on the afternoon of September 4, at 5 o'clock. Mr. Hart has participated in a number of races of this kind, the last one of which at Chicago, was witnessed by more than thirty thousand people.

Hughey Dougherty enters white goose "Ketchup" and mates.

Bob Hart enters brown goose "Hannah Jane" and mates.

Fayette Welch enters gray goose "Cady Stanton" and mates.

El Nino Eddie enters yellow goose "Saur Kraut" and mates.

Should the weather prove favorable, rare sport may be expected. It will be the first race of the sort in the Boston waters, and it will hardly fail to attract a big crowd to the Mildam on the day appointed.—Herald

CATHOLICS at Ogdensburg, N. Y., broke up an anti-popery meeting, on the 15th.

NEWPORT, R. I., has charms for the cultivated tourist this summer that have not been excelled for many brilliant seasons. The decline of shoddy, that was displayed among the assemblages at this fashionable resort for several seasons during and following the war, was never more marked than during the present month, and the return of the old habitues and their families is a pleasant indication of the future of the renowned watering place. All who return to their favorite haunt after an absence of years are struck with the many substantial improvements that have been made and they are still in progress. A call at Newport before going further North is indispensable to the completion of a summer tour.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

The Profile House had 425 guests on Sunday, the 13th. This is the greatest number that this house ever entertained at one time before. The travel for the last three weeks has exceeded any previous season at the White Mountains, and the number of summer boarders scattered all through the hamlets and villages of Central and Northern New Hampshire is greatly in excess of former years.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Help for the Nervous.

Where is it to be found? cries the trembling victim of nervous debility. Not in the tavern dram; that fires up the circulation for a moment, and is succeeded by collapse. Not in purgative pills, or a Lenten diet, but in an invigorant and restorative in which the tonic elements are united with gentle aperient and alterative properties. When Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was introduced nearly twenty years ago, this important object was first attained. This peaceful and active vegetable specific is as justly celebrated for its cures of nervous diseases, as for the absolute certainty with which it relieves dispepsia and biliousness. The hot weather toward the close of summer generally aggravates diseases of a nervous type, creating a degree of feebleness which is beyond measure distressing. Under such circumstances rally the bodily energies with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all tonics, it is the most satisfactory in its operations, and the least exciting. It braces the nerves up to their natural tension, but not beyond it, so there is no reaction. It has other properties, however, than those of a nervine, and as a blood depurent and moderate aperient, is superior to any other medicine of the day.

Fraud, however, is on the alert. The celebrity of the original medicine has given rise to scores of counterfeits and imitations. Examine the label, and the fac simile of the signature of the firm; see that the spelling is all correct, and thus make sure of the genuineness of the article you buy. P. S.—Hostetter's Bitters are never sold in kegs or barrels, but in bottles only.

WHAT WHISKY MAY DO is shown by the St. Louis Democrat, which describes how a Deputy United States Marshal got drunk, lost a prisoner, was himself arrested by the police, was dismissed by the Marshal, was put off a train of cars, and was run over and killed, all in one day.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Lost—A Parcel.

THE REPORTED FIGHT at the Eastern Depot, Wednesday evening, turns out to have been a harmless affair.

U. S. STEAMER LEYDEN arrived at the Navy Yard on Wednesday evening and left Thursday afternoon. She brought anchors from Charlestown Yard.

STEAMER HOFFMAN, just after leaving the wharf on Thursday, on her regular trip to the Marshall House, York Beach, broke some portion of her machinery, thereby disabling her to such an extent that she was obliged to return to her berth in tow of tug Clara Bateman.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Portland Argus states that Representative Lynch, of the 1st Maine District, secured the removal of Gen. M. F. Wentworth of Kittery from the position of Store-keeper for Bureau of Yards & Docks, at the Navy Yard. Recent developments indicate that the General has out-winded his antagonist.

POLICE COURT, THURSDAY.—Bufford, Judge.—William Larkin, colored, called John Coleman, a gondola captain, out of his name, and John laid his head open with a rope's end. Larkin's sore head cost Coleman $15.30.

Catharine Crowley, the champion screech owl of Strawberry Bank, went on one of her owls, Wednesday night. She brawled and tumulted to the extent of 30 days in the House of Correction in addition to a fine of $6.90, and yet her lungs are not weak. She is a begrimed example of a woman corned.

A TERRIFIC THUNDER STORM passed to the northward and eastward of this city, about 9 o'clock, Wednesday evening. It was a terribly fascinating sight, to watch the frequent flashes which for a half hour followed each other every half second. At York the rain fell in torrents and the lightning struck the boarding house of Mr. Henry Bowden, near York Beach. There were about twenty guests present. The house was badly damaged and Miss Lizzie Moore of Concord, who was sitting on a sofa where several other persons were, was instantly killed. She was 24 years of age.

THE MUSTER.

Engine Company E. W. Harrington, of Manchester, will attend. The Union thinks another company will come.

One or more companies at Augusta, Me., are making arrangements to attend. Torrent Engine Co. No. 2, of Hallowell, Me., with 80 men and Hallowell Cornet Band, consisting of 20 pieces, have signified their intention to be present.

Other companies indicating their intention to come, are Hancock No. 1, of North Bridgewater, Mass., 80 men; Washington Engine Co. No. 1, and Wide Awake Hose Co. No. 1, both of Milford, Mass., 60 men, and a band of 16 pieces. There are 55 entries thus far.

Our citizens will be called on by the Police force to-day, and cards presented for signatures of all willing to contribute provisions for the visiting firemen, on the 6th of September.

If sufficient money can be raised to buy the music, it is proposed to have a morning concert of all the bands present in the city on the 7th of September, Mr. Harlow having kindly volunteered to lead.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST in the matter of the Westfield explosion being concluded, the jury has rendered a verdict declaring the engineer incompetent and the ferry company criminally negligent in employing him. The president, directors, superintendent and engineer are to be arrested and put under bonds to await the action of the grand jury.

THERE was a murder in Paris, Ky., Monday, in a quarrel which began in a little good natured raillery, a young man named N. T. Alexander, son of a banker, being instantly killed by G. M. Hibler, clerk of one of the Courts. The former, coming out of the barroom of a hotel with several friends, found Mr. Hibler and others sitting in the doorway, and putting his hand on his chair said; "Mr. Hibler, can you move your chair a little?" The latter playfully replied, "I think there is room for you to pass, Mr. Alexander." The request was repeated, and Mr. Hibler said: "There is room enough for you to pass. I don't intend to move." Alexander asked: "Can't you take a joke?" "Yes, I can," replied Hibler. "If you can't take a joke, you can draw and take your steps," rejoined Alexander, and in an instant they both drew revolvers, and fired almost instantaneously. Four shots were fired, one of which struck Alexander in the breast, killing him instantly. Hibler was not hurt.

MEDICAL MEN say that the odor arising from decaying flowers while placed in vases in closed rooms, as is such a universal custom in America, is very injurious, and gives rise to quite a number of serious complaints. Headache and various complaints ensue, and even asphyxia, if their action is prolonged. In nervous persons, numbness, convulsions, and loss of voice may occur; but the usual effects is a state of sleepiness, with feebleness and retardation of the action of the heart. The most deleterious flowers are the lily, hyacinth, narcissus, crocus, rose, carnation, honeysuckle, jessamine, and violet. Majendie cites a case of death caused by a bouquet of lilies, which the sufferer, a healthy woman, had slept with in her bedroom. The walnut, the bay tree, and hemp are the most dangerous of ordinary plants in this respect.

THE YORK COUNTY (ME.) DEMOCRATS have nominated James R. Haley, of Dayton, William A. Thompson, of Newfield, and Ichabod Cole, of Eliot, as candidates for State Senators.

THE RECENT ACCIDENT on the Maine Central Railroad, at Bangor, was the result of a general system of careless management, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury.

HALL'S JOURNAL OF HEALTH says that the longer a person can put off drinking a glass of water on a hot summer's day, the better it will be for him; for if he drinks largely early in the day, the thirst will be increased, with an uncomfortable sense of fullness, large perspiration, increased liability to colds, with a debilitated condition of the system. In taking a glass of cold water or other cold drink, it is better to take but a swallow at a time, removing the glass from the lips for a few seconds. Half a dozen swallows thus taken will quench the thirst more completely than twice the amount if taken continuously, without removing the glass from the lips. If a person is very thirsty, chewing lumps of ice is safer, better, and more effective than five times the amount in the form of cold water. If very warm, it is safer to hold the glass for a minute or two encircled with the fingers and the palm of the hand. This cools the blood a little, and at the same time tempers the water.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he one was scant;
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,

YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York River; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equalled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS,
Proprietors.

☞ Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. The run across will occupy but about one hour. jel0

APPLEDORE HOUSE,

THE INNOCENT SPECTATOR.—The Cincinnati Enquirer's head is level on this subject. Hear it:

The Innocent Spectator has been hurt again. He is always getting in the way when there is a row going on, and if anybody is hurt he is sure to be the sufferer. He don't mean any harm. He is there just to see what is going on, bless his innocent soul, and hasn't the slightest idea of hurting anybody, and yet see how he catches it. The real offender escapes, but the poor innocent Spectator, who hasn't done anything but stand around and look, wards off policemen's clubs with his head, and offers his body as a target for the avenging bullet. He complains bitterly about it, if he be not past complaining altogether, his friends declare it is an out rage, and the entire press cry out, "Too bad." If he had been doing anything, now, more than looking on; if he had expressed his sentiments on either side, the case would have been different; but he was only an innocent spectator curious to see what was going on, which renders the case a very deplorable one indeed.

A sad fatality attends the Innocent Spectator somehow. For instance, there is a row in a saloon he is passing. It don't concern him at all, but he thinks he will just step in and see what is going on. He enters just in time to stop a beer-mug or some more deadly projectile with his head, and the next morning a local paragraph concerning the row informs us "no one was hurt except an Innocent Spectator." Again: Two men are engaged in an alteration in the street. Innocent Spectator happens along, and stops to hear what it is all about. Pistols are drawn. One of belligerents jumps behind Innocent and Spectator and fires upon his antagonist. Antagonist returns the fire, and Innocent Spectator falls shot through the vitals. It is a very hard case, to be sure, but that is always the way with him.

Recently there was a fearful riot in New York. Innocent Spectator couldn't keep away, of course not; he never can. He left his work, his business, whatever it was, and went to look on. He saw all the worst elements of a mob congregated in vast numbers, awaiting a favorable moment to begin the attack. He saw, also, hundreds of of resolute and determined policemen armed with clubs and revolvers, and thousands of soldiers not to be trifled with, whose muskets were known to be shotted, ready to repel assault in the most vigorous and effective manner. And yet he takes a position to see the show as though it was to be one of the most peaceful of pageants. He gets the best place he can find—takes a front seat as it were—this guileless, unsuspecting creature, where he won't miss any of it, and he don't. The anticipated collision occurs. The streets resound with the volleys of the soldiery, and Innocent Spectator has the top of his head blown off, or is desperately wounded. "That is always the way" is the newspaper comment, "it is the poor Innocent Spectator who suffers."

Now why couldn't the Innocent Spectator keep away, knowing the danger? He had no business there. Had it not been for the spectators, innocent as to their intentions, who thronged the streets, there would have been no riot. With none there but men who meant mischief the problem could easily have been solved, but the crowd formed the bulwark behind which the cowardly rioters fired upon the procession, and among whom they skulked away from recognition. A ruffian fires and kills a National Guard, and then is "lost in the crowd." Crowd of what? Why of those same Innocent Spectators who should have kept away. So the Innocent Spectator is not innocent after all, and if he suffers in common with ruffians and rioters it is his own folly. In a general way the Innocent Spectator gets vastly more sympathy than he is entitled to.

AN APOLOGY.—The Chattanooga Times recently called attention to a typographical error in the Lebanon-Columbia Herald, whereat the Herald publisher retorted by pointing out twenty-six in the Times. The Times apologizes as follows, which we should suppose would be satisfactory:

"We confess with shame and contrition that typographical errors are vexatiously numerous in the Times; in fact, we haven't had a decent proof since that Pennyroyal excursion, and we shouldn't have had that unless knowing the effect of Archie Thomas' prescriptions, we had taken the precaution to have a revise. Still we have never made any pretensions to infallibility, and presumed that we might be permitted in our usual mild way to point out to our fellow sufferers the possibility of an occasional Homeric nod even of that gigantic intellect which directs that Archimedian lever, whose Pon Sto is at Lebanon, whose fulcrum is in infinity, and the slightest breath of whose manager agitates the universe to its ultimate boundary, so that each expiration and inhalation is marked with unswerving regularity in the multitudinous twinklings of Arcturus and Orion, and the very centre of the universe itself, enshrined in solemn grandeur among the Pleiades, trembles at his power, amid the crash of matter and the wreck of worlds. Since even that liberty has been denied to us, we retire from the unequal contest to brood in sadness over our pitiful insignificance."

—This neat bit is from the Boise, Idaho, Statesman: "The weather has been hot again for the last few days. The only relief we could get was to lie down on the Portland Herald and cover ourselves with the Portland Bulletin. There is great coolness between them."

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $8 to $15 per acre—the average being about $6. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and nicked up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

Gifts will be paid on presentation of tickets drawing such gifts the second day after drawing. Tickets or coupons drawing gifts can be collected through any business or banking house in Louisville, or by any Express Company.

All tickets are like greenbacks. No record being kept of purchasers' names, tickets are good only to the holder.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager,
Louisville, Ky.,
OFFICE, 120 Main St., Johnson's Block.

N. B.—Buyers will note that there are only ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND tickets instead of TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. jy20d4awlm

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1prdawblm

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paint and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

LITTLE TED.

BY MISS H. W. ESTERBROOKS.

Well, you are a funny old codger! let's see—
What's that you was askin'—how old we might be?
Well, Ted here is five!—youngster quick! mind your eye!
There's one of our "regulars"—pshaw! he's gone by While you stood a' gapin' at us. Now that's played!
Just make yourself lively, and tend to the trade.

Rather young for the biz! Why, little Tim Moore,
Down by the ferry house—he's only four—
And John, his brother, was three. He was bright,
But not very spry, and one Saturday night
He tumbled right under an omnibus wheel.
Well—that was the end of poor Johny O'Neil.

But Ted's in no danger!—that's all in your eye—
He's quick as they make 'em! how old am I?
Well, Deacon, I'm seven come Michalmas—gosh!
There's Ted sprawling head over heels in the slosh.

That car will go over him sure as a gun,
No 'twont? he's all right again—for, sir, that's fun.

What makes us sell papers! Well, that is a go.
Not for the fun of it—maybe you know!
It's just for our bread and our butter we lay.
Not very much butter—Old Cove—by the way.
And sometimes not very much bread, for you see
It's healthy old appetites Ted has—and me.

My father?—oh! Daddy you mean—he's no good!
I s'pose he'd be better, perhaps, if he could;
But rum's got him right on the hip, and you know
What that gets a hold on, it seldom lets go.
And mother—well she died in August, I think;
She took to her bed after Dad took to drink

And never got up again neither. Hullo!
I wonder what's up in O'Flanigan's row!
Something's the matter, and what'll you bet
It isn't a pickpocket, caught in a net?
No! somebody's hurt! it's a child—and he's dead—
Get out of the way!—Holy Mother—it's Ted!

THE LOVE OF GOD.

Will heaven's King forever frown,
Forever from his vengeance down
Upon the creatures he has made,
For whom He hath the ransom paid?

Whilst happy spirits sing above,
The wonders of the Savior's love,
Shall others doom'd to endless pain,
Forever sigh, yet sigh in vain?

If so, how shall the Savior see
The travail of his soul, and be Forever satisfied, if they Shall never rise to endless days?

If so, how must the kind design
And energy of love divine
To save mankind, be overthrown—
If damned souls forever mourn.

Were not all things to Jesus given,
Both things on earth, and things in heaven,
When first he undertook the plan,
To save the fallen race of man?

What pleasure can to God arise,
Or to the blest above the skies,
To see in endless pain consign'd,
So great a part of human kind?

Can boundless mercy cease to plan,
Whilst on the burning plains below,
His creatures groan beneath their pain,
And never visit them again?

Then there can no proportion be Between their sin and misery.
For finite crimes, infinite pains;
The thought Jehovah's honor stains.

If all things new-created be,
Then all things old shall pass away.
Thus does the word of praise run,
When all shall be in Christ made one.

If grace shall more than sin abound,
Where then shall misery be found?
It cannot be while one remains
Devoted unto endless pains.

That all mankind in Adam died,
That is a truth by few denied.
That all in Jesus Christ shall live,
That is a truth but few believe.

Yet nothing is more plain revealed,
And by Almighty promise seal'd;
That all shall in his image shine,
And in his praises all combine.

CHEAP FARMS! FREE TRAVEL!
Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad Company.
600,000 ACRES
CHOICE IOWA LANDS.
This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $5 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.
Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.
These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.
For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.
EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

VERMONT DIVISION
OF THE
PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG
TRUNK R. R. LINE.
We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.
The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.
The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.
The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—
$1000, $500, and $100,
and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption.
ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,
By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.
Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. These near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted
Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,
and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.
Dr Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality preponderates, aided by his medicines and his directions for their use, a quickened, into healthful vigor.
In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a Resistless truth, substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no long preface. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.
The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a dreadfully disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. For response to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its dreadfulness, of the
CONSUMPTION.
The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they
"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."
The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are cleared out. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is gaining, at last,
A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.
The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and invigorates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.
Now comes the great work that further over yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be aborted. It collects and throws off the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of pulverized phlegm or expectoration, and finally, and for! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was
GIVEN UP AS LOST.
The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well. It is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure can not be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. I always tell those who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down and yet they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the question. It is the great point to gain.
To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:
"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system; they soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and I gained my health to a great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."
"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "when looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."
Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 Hanover St., Boston, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.
The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Or returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the disposition at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.
Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.
Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventors, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries, on the most reasonable terms. Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made in the records of the United States and Office of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of patents furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners, with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1871.

DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN PAPERS do not agree in their attempts to prognosticate the result of the next Presidential election. They divide the 318 votes in the electoral college as follows:—

	Dem. div.	Repub. div.
For the Dem. candidate	153	102
For the Repub. candidate	95	173
Doubtful	70	43
Total	318	318

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION for York County, Me., was held at Alfred on Thursday. Hon. George Goodwin of Wells was chosen President of the convention and Seth E. Bryant of Kennebunk and Edward C. Moody of Wells, Secretaries; Cyrus H. Hobbs of Wells, John E. Butler of Biddeford and Albert G. O'Brien of Cornish were nominated for State Senators; John Hill of North Berwick, for County Treasurer; and Dimon Roberts of Lyman for County Commissioner.

CHAMBER'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA.—Seven volumes of the revised edition of chamber's Encyclopædia are completed, upon which over 1,000,000 ems of type have been set, and nearly 10,000 hours of finishers' work have been consumed. The cost thus far exceeds $15,000, and the publishers estimate that the total cost of the revision will amount to $20,000 or upwards. J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia, are the publishers.

JACOB VANDERBILT, President of the Staten Island Ferry Company, William Bristed, Superintendent, and Henry Robinson, engineer, were committed to the Tombs prison, on the 17th, on account of the Westfield explosion. They were afterwards bailed—Vanderbilt in the sum of $20,000, and the others $10,000 each.

ARTHUR VERRILL of Biddeford, Me., advertises a boy, ten years old, who wandered from home, July 6th. He had on a white felt hat, checkered flannel shirt and pants. He is unable to talk plain.

Editorial Excursion.

At Montreal we found advices to the effect that our presence was desired at home. We consulted and decided to leave for home next morning, via Vermont Central Railroad, which we did. Taking seats in a Pullman car, we slowly moved past the odorous petroleum refineries in the suburbs of Montreal.—as soon as we were out of smell of them we considered ourselves fairly on the road home. The Pullman car conductor came along for his fares, which our companion paid; and as soon as he had moved on the following conversation ensued: "I say! how does the Treasury hold out?" "O, all right—got plenty 'o money yet." "Hanged if I have—look here;" and our mate spread out on the cushion an array of Canadian five-cent bits, some scrip and two or three hard-looking greenbacks; "that's all I've got left, by jingo!" We dived into our pockets, confident of finding therein a goodly sum, but our faith was poorly rewarded—we found ourself nearly in that impecunious state which is popularly supposed to be the normal condition of editors in general. This discovery of the depleted state of the combined treasury occasioned much hilarious mirth, so much that the conductor came to the door of our compartment to share the fun. Taking in the situation at a glance, he joined in the laugh, and remarked, "Never mind, boys; I've got plenty, if you want it—don't be backward in asking." Considering that he was an entire stranger we thought his offer generous, though we didn't need to make use of it,—we had enough, it not much to spare.

The trip from Montreal to Boston over the Vermont Central is as interesting as that from Quebec to Montreal is dull; at least, we found it so. We cherish pleasant memories of what we saw along the line of the road, and of the appetizing little supper we got in the depot at West Lebanon—the snowy cloth, delicious butter, hot rolls, cream (real cream, not skim milk), freshly-picked berries, nice fresh fish and other dainties, all for 75 cents.

We reached Boston late in the evening, and considered our excursion then over. With the exception of the old woman in the Grand Trunk railroad car, nothing had marred the pleasure of our trip; and we jumped out of the train in Boston with a full determination to go off again as soon as we could get some more money. This, however, we have reconsidered; we proposed going to the mountains, but we remember to have heard that terrible old woman say "mountains" on the train, and the fear of meeting her once more has forced us to give up the plan. But as soon as our exchequer recuperates a little we shall go to the Shoals.

IT IS WITH AMAZEMENT that we have seen from intelligent, and, what should have been, well informed sources, any attempt to deny the peculiar features of South Seabrook. To any one in the vicinity it must have been a well known fact that between the town of Seabrook and the sea was a settlement, some of the inhabitants of which were notorious as importunate, unscrupulous beggars, belonging to a community remarkable for thoughtlessness, untidyness, and drunkenness. Tradition says that two families were expelled from the old township of Hampton because of their low and lawless lives, and that they removed to this locality, known as South Seabrook, intermarried, and drew others of similar character around them, until the neighborhood became market for ignorance and vice. There were exceptions to this class of people, and these deserved all the more credit for their respectibility, but they were not sufficiently numerous to prevent the general reputation of the settlement, which was a by-word and reproach. Nearly thirty years ago a Secretary of the American Education Society was taken there by a friend as a matter of curiosity, and he said on his return, in our hearing—"I have travelled East, West and South, and I never saw or imagined so benighted a place. It is a blot on Christendom."

The very thing which first directed Mr. Rand's attention to the spot was the advice of a person carelessly given:—"If you are so anxious to convert souls, William Rand, why don't you go to Algiers and convert the heathens there? You never could find a worse set across the water." Mr. Rand did in sober earnest what was proposed to him in jest; and he was struck with the moral declension he saw in the midst of a spot of such capacities for beauty and good. He began to work there with intense interest, which led him to identify himself with the convertion of that people. For four years he has been laboring constantly to elevate and benefit them. Some of the best years of a young man's life he has given to preaching, teaching, working to them. The Sunday work has been the easiest. He has begged means for a church, although he has shown more repugnace to the personal solicitation of money than to any other part of his labor; he has worked on the church week after week with his own hands; he has held singing schools and prayer meetings; he has social gatherings to draw them out of habits of drinking and low excitement, and to substitute gratification in more rational enjoyment. He has taught them to respect their dead, and helped to prepare a cemetery where the rites of decency and religion might be observed towards the departed. He has been in the habit of sitting down with them frequently at some meal when he happened to be near their houses, because it promoted neatness and order in their household arrangements. One of these people said—"It keeps us kind o'slicked up, for we don't know when Mr. Rand may come in."

Mr. Rand comes of a respectable Portsmouth family, accustomed to the comforts and refinements of life; and he is an educated druggist, with energy and intelligence which could have won him an easy competence in a pleasant situation. Nothing but a disinterested desire to do good could have led him to the self-sacrifice of these years. He has been stimulated and encouraged by seeing a change come over this people, and greater industry, neatness and morality spring up among them. The children, especially, have impressed every one who has heard their exercises as full of promise, and as showing in their appearance and manners, the result of the new influence exerted upon them. It is a law of human nature that we become attached to those whom we serve—and it has been amusing to some of us who have met Mr. Rand occasionally, that he should be so sanguine that eventually every good thing would come to South Seabrook, and it would become in twenty years an industrious, intelligent and moral town, and one so pleasantly located as to attract visitors from other motives than mere curiosity and benevolent. In his renunciation of self, in his complete absorption in this Christian labor, and in his confidence that all obstacles would be overcome, he has seemed to us an enthusiast bordering on a fanatic. Like Huntington, who so many years ago wrote the "Bank of Faith;" like the German Praucke with his orphan houses, or Miller, with the same benevolent purpose, Mr. Rand has comforted himself in the midst of poverty and trial with the belief that God would surely provide for him and his labors, if he only had implicit faith, and personal consecration to Christ's work of reform in the world. That all his methods have been judicious is not probable. The caution necessary to extreme prodence would have witheld him from the position in the first place. But his genuine enthusiasm and singleness of purpose, his indefatigable exertions to do good, cannot be doubted by any one who knows him. The fact cannot be gainsaid by the columns of newspaper reporters, who from Dickens down to the merest penny-a-liner, like to tell a good story, meaning by good story a strange story; or by the sophistry of little writers who strangely assert that, in the first place, this community was an average community and needed no reformation, and in the second place it has experienced no reform from any recent efforts to benefit it. Assertions like these convey a double slander, first, on the average intelligence and morality of New Hampshire villages, and lastly on the present character of South Seabrook, which we fully believe to be honestly striving for improvement.—Newburyport Herald.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mr. J. B. Dunbar, from the Publishing House of Geo. Stilson & Co., of Portland, wouldlike to secure the services of one or two young men, to canvass this city for the sale of the steel engravings entitled, "Good Morning" and "Empty Sleeve." Application must be made immediately at Room No. 23, Rockingham House.

A great many people have asked us of late, "How do you keep your horse looking so sleek and glossy?" We tell them, its the easiest in the world; give him Sheridan's Cheaby Condition Powders two or three times a week.

A gentleman in the eastern part of the state, who was about having his leg amputated on account of its being bent at right angles and stiff at the knee, heard of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. After using it a short time, his leg became straight, and is now as serviceable as the other.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Help for the Nervous.

Where is it to be found? cries the trembling victim of nervous debility. Not in the tavern dram; that fires up the circulation for a moment, and is succeeded by collapse. Not in purgative pills, or a Lenten diet, but in an invigorant and restorative in which the tonic elements are united with gentle aperient and alterative properties. When Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was introduced nearly twenty years ago, this important object was first attained. This peaceful and active vegetable specific is as justly celebrated for its cures of nervous disease, as for the absolute certainty with which it relieves dyspepsia and biliousness. The hot weather toward the close of summer generally aggravates diseases of a nervous type, creating a degree of feebleness which is beyond measure distressing. Under such circumstances rally the bodily energies with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all tonics, it is the most satisfactory in its operations, and the least exciting. It braces the nerves up to their natural tension, but not beyond it, so there is no reaction. It has other properties, however, than those of a nervine, and as a blood depurent and moderate aperient, is superior to any other medicine of the day.

Fraud, however, is on the alert. The celebrity of the original medicine has given rise to scores of counterfeits and imitations. Examine the label, and the fac simile of the signature of the firm; see that the spelling is all correct, and thus make sure of the genuineness of the article you buy. P. S.—Hostetter's Bitters are never sold in kegs or barrels, but in bottles only.

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder. C. B. MASON.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed, sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $488 000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what number gets draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $20,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 8 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert in San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

THAT DELIGHTFUL SEASIDE retreat known as the "OCEAN FARM," containing forty acres of land, a commodious, new and imposing house and convenient outbuildings, situated on the south side of Great Island, (Newcastle,) within a stone's throw of the ocean, and in full view of the "Isles of Shoals."

Also adjoining the same, "POINT JERRY," embracing ten acres of upland extending far out into the sea, being the nearest point of land to the "Isles of Shoals," and forming the outside boundary of what is known as Little Harbor.

This is the most desirable spot on the seacoast for summer residences, possessing all the advantages of the world renowned "Isles of Shoals," in bracing atmosphere, deep sea fishing and surf-bathing on one side, while on the other is a smooth, land-locked and still water. There is also upon it a never failing pond of fresh water, an old battery, and a light-house beacon. Roads always good and scenery unsurpassable.

WERE THE DEMOCRATIC ALDERMEN who voted against retaking the census, afraid it would be officially proved that there are more than 2100 ratable polls in Wards One and Two?

STEAMER CLARA BATEMAN will make an excursion from this city to Wells Beach next Tuesday, leaving Long Wharf at 9 o'clock, A. M., and returning in the evening. Tickets for the trip $1. For sale by Mr. A. W. Odiorne.

TALL CORN.—A stalk of succotash corn, raised by John W. Huntress, measuring from the root to the top of the spindle 12 feet, 4 inches, and another measuring 11 feet, are on exhibition at the store of Mr. Frank Ayers, North Portsmouth; also a limb cut from a Porter apple tree on the farm of M. Henry Peyser, with 136 good-sized apples thereon; likewise a twig furnished by Mr. James Twombly, on which are 13 large Baldwin apples.

POSTMASTERS and postal clerks not only are obliged deciphera great deal of bad writing, but sometimes have to scan "original poetry" to find out where letters are going. The following superscription was on a letter which passed through the Postmouth post-office some time ago:

Speed, gentle missive, on thy way
To E. J. G——, far away;
Report your tale of love to him,
And bring another back again.
Tell all the grief (he lives at York,)
Of his poor sweet-heart, sick, at Cork;
And when he leaves that far-off Maine,
Help him to find his SUSAN JANE.

PERSONAL.—U. S. Senator A. H. Cragin and Hon. Thomas L. Tullock, Collector of Internal Revenue at Washington, were in town, Friday. Mr. Cragin was closeted with Collector Bailey at the Custom House and Commodore Pennock at the Navy Yard. The Senator is in good spirits and predicts Republican triumphs in the Fall elections, similar to those of North Carolina and Montana.

Messrs. Nait Head of Hooksett, Geo. W. Riddle of Manchester, and Daniel Hall of Dover, were at the Rockingham House on Friday evening, in conference with Messrs C. Hiram Hayes, Frank W. Miller and Aaron Young and others of this city, relative to the State Fair, to be held at Dover next month.

STILL MORE ANCIENT.—We published recently a letter of Sir William Pepperrell, written 138 years ago, which is in the possession of the editor of the Biddeford Democrat. A friend in Kittery sends us the following epistle, which, as the reader will observe, was written nearly seven years before the former, and is one hundred and forty-five years old. Accompanying this letter our friend also furnishes us with a photographic likeness of Sir William, which, though probably not taken on the spot, is said to be an excellent representation of the noble looking old gentleman.

City Council, Thursday, Aug. 17th.

The resignation of Rev. Geo. M. Adams as a member of the School Committee for Ward Two was accepted.

The purchase of a new furnace for the High School building was authorized.

A hearing was ordered on the subject of the extension of Wibird Street, for Friday, Sept. 15th, at 3 o'clock P. M.

Thomas Campbell complained verbally of the North Mill Pond nuisance, and Heman Eldredge requested the removal of the sewer from Islington Street to the North Mill pond, on the site of the Creek cess-pool.

Leave was granted Foxwell C. Staples to erect a stall at the northerly side of the City Building.

The resolution for retaking the census of the city was indefinitely postponed—Yeas, Aldermen Mendum, Annable, Hatch, Wendell—4; Nays, Aldermen Waldron and Marvin 2.

AUCTION SALE of carryall, etc., by H. F. Wendell, at 10 o'clock, A. M., today.

STEAMER APPLEDORE will make a trip to Newburyport on Sunday, leaving Pier Wharf at 9 o'clock, A. M. Tickets $1 for gentlemen; 50 cents for ladies.

Won't Uncle Sam have something to say in the matter in '80?

THE POLICE arrested Margaret Huse and Sallie Clark, deserters from the House of Correction, on Friday.

Ardent spirits cost David Stringer $8.76, same day.

MR. CHARLES GILMORE, brakeman on the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad, was struck in the head by the bridge, a short distance east of Newmarket Junction, on Friday. It is thought he is not dangerously injured.

THE MUSTER.

Bunker Hill Hose Co., of Charlestown, Mass., 30 men, with band, are entered.

The specifications for proposals for clam-bake may be seen at the City Rooms.

OUR LYRICAL NEIGHBOR, who could "fill columns of local" with rumors and reports of political and sea-side gossip, but forbears to do so for want of material, informs the public that Gen. Wentworth, of Kittery, has returned from Washington. As the General has not been in Washington since Congress adjourned, that item must be regarded as old news.

THE CITY FATHERS considered the subject of the Mill Pond nuisances at their weekly meeting, Thursday evening, and visited the North Pond the following morning. It is evident that the pond is fast filling up with all kinds of refuse, and every day makes the stench more unendurable to all citizens living within a mile of it. Our beautiful city, just becoming a favorite resort for pleasure-seekers who wish to get away from crowded cities, is in danger of losing its popularity as a watering place, from the abominable smells, and prompt action is necessary to prevent a continued decrease in the value of real estate, a withdrawal of pleasure travel and the appearance of contagious diseases.

The members of the present City government feel that they, as servants of the people, have a large sized elephant on their hands, and while desirous of ridding themselves of responsibility in the matter are not fully determined as to which of many plans proposed is the most feasible, pecuniarily. The nuisance is a fixed fact; wanted—the remedy. All agree that the nuisance must be abated. Delay increases the difficulty and injures the prosperity of the city, and what is far worse, increases the danger to life. With the threatened march of the cholera to the shores of America from Asia and Europe, there can be no locality more inviting its reception than a city enclosed between two stagnant pools of water such as these ponds. Health and wealth demand protection. Protection to health is a duty and necessity.

An old ordinance of the City forbids the outlet of sewers into either of these ponds; yet past City governments have granted permits to various parties to do so. In the vicinity of Cass Street some 80 families use a sewer emptying into the North pond above Hale's Point. The breweries contribute their share of refuse matter. This goes on hourly, daily, weekly, monthly, yearly, and we see the results—and smell them too. The tide once flowed freely where now there is nothing but a sluggish current. We have a distinct remembrance of having a narrow escape from drowning, near this locality a dozen years ago. Now the only risk would be from drowning—in mud.

Farther down the Pond, are sewers conveying refuse from the Kearsarge Mills, Rockingham and Kearsarge Houses and numerous private dwellings into the common receptacle for all filth. Does any one wonder that the pungent perfume so easily detected by day and night, wafted all over the city by a north-westerly breeze, exists? Our astonishment is only thoroughly realized when we think that Portsmouth has thus far been saved from a plague.

The Eastern Railroad authorities are doing a good work in filling in the flats from Hale's Point to the Cemetery. Governor Goodwin can do no more creditable act as the Railroad's representative than to arrange with the City Fathers for a united effort to rid the City of a nuisance and secure to the Railroad a much wider strip of land from the Creek to the Cemetery. If the Railroad could purchase the whole pond, fill it, and a sewer to the Christian Shore Bridge be laid, our people would rejoice. We have had hopes that the proposed Portsmouth & Dover Railroad might cross the Pond and necessitate a partial filling. If the Eastern corporation buy the Pond and fill in only on the flats, leaving the channel open, the nuisance would be abated for a time. The construction of a sewer to the Bridge would cost $50,000.

There are many who think the purchase of the mill privilege, which sold last for about $7000, and the opening of the gates, would permanently abate the nuisance after a few months. But during the low tides of those few months the bottom of the pond would be very nearly bare, which would increase the nuisance ten-fold. In answer to this, the advocates of the measure assert that the gates should first be permanently opened in November and that by Spring-time the rapid current would have carried off most of the deposit and the Pond be deepened by the natural flow of the tide.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

KINDERGARTEN CULTURE.

At the American Institute of Instruction at Fitchburg, Mass., recently, Miss Elizabeth P. Peabody read a paper on "Kindergartening the Gospel for Children." She is probably more familiar with this system of education for children than any one in New England except Madame Kriege and her daughter, who have a training school in Boston, and her opinions are, we think, well worth the space we give to the closing portion of her paper.

I believe nobody disputes, after they see what it is, that kindergartening is the gospel of salvation for children. Not that it requires a special education of the kindergartener, for the burden of thinking out and inventing the processes that are to effect his harmonious development of mind and character, which took Froebel, with all his genius, a half a century of experimenting, is not to be laid upon the young kindergartners,—"One man dies and other men enter into the fruits of their labors." The kindergartner has enough to do, in a school year of study and practice, to become an expert in her art, an adept in the philosophy of it, even with the best normal instruction. Now I would urge that this year's study of kindergartening should make a part not only of the normal education of all teachers, but one of the education of all women; for all women must be personally—or virtually—mothers of the next generation. And it is altogether the most profound and fascinating way of studying human nature; "the science which," as Dr. Reed observes "is the metropolis of all the sciences, the ocean into which they all pour their tributary streams." But the practical difficulty which always come up to oppose the kindergarten is, the expense of giving a year to the normal instruction—and the expense of beginning to educate children at three years of age.

Now I boldly affirm to begin education with the kindergarten will prove altogether the most economical thing in the long run. Great sums of money are constantly paid out for education in this country; it seems to be becoming almost as easy to get a university endowed with a million of dollars for the culture of minds as to get this sum appropriated to build a man of war for destroying the body. But it must be confessed that the public education is after all defective. The reason is said to be that high schools do not sufficiently prepare for the universities, rendering an academic year necessary in their cirricula; the high schools say time is lost in them, because the grammar schools are deficient in their preparatory discipline and instruction; the grammar schools make a like complaint of the primary schools—and on the primary teachers, therefore, who, because probably the most ill-paid, are necessarily the least gifted in mind and the most superficially educated, rests the responsibility at last of the education of the country.

For they take the children at the age in which they are wholly at the mercy of the educator, being then confessedly unable to direct themselves at all morally or intellectually. This is the root of the whole evil, as has been ably set forth by Nathaniel Sands in his Philosophy of Teaching, and I am glad to say that in one city of our Union (St. Louis) it is recognized that the younger the children who are to be taught the greater is the qualification required for their teachers, and the higher is the salary paid them. To instruct by means of books, or to hear recitations, certainly requires a less high order of mind than to enter into communion with these living souls and undeveloped minds. Truly fools rush in where angels fear to tread!

But if all teachers had the philosophy of Froebel, and children, before being sent to the primary schools for instruction, were prepared in the kindergarten by a moral discipline involving the experimental knowledge that they must needs gain by the well thought-out exercises that engage their activities, affections and thinking faculty, and also by that use and understanding of language which must needs come from the entire oral teaching of the kindergarten, the whole fabric of education would very soon feel the influence, for it would be alive from the foundation. Then, and not till then, education would be worth all the money it costs, and more would be gladly appropriated. Horace Mann said twenty years ago: "The minds of the incoming generation are as free from the possession of positive error, as of positive truth, and they have capacities that may be qualified to discriminate between them. Instil into them the love of truth as the supreme good; teach them as a matter of conscience and duty never to rehearse what is not understood; lead them from antecedent to sequence, from cause to effect, from elements to combinations, and minds will be formed which will discover truth, not because they were originally stronger or better minds, but because from their position it will be more easy to discern it."

Now kindergartening will effect this end, because the child is a conscious self-educator and moral agent from the beginning, provided the kindergartener is competent to the conversation. The nature is set into operation in a self-preserving and even self-renewing, instead of a self-destructive way; and every child born may become a beneficent factor in human society. And certainly this is the pressing necessity of our time, for, to quote another impressive passage from Horace Mann—"Our republican edifice at this time, in present fact and truth, is not sustained by those columns of solid and ever-enduring adamant—intelligence and virtue! Its various parts are only just clinging together by that remarkable cohesion, mutual bearing and support, which unsound portions of a structure may impart to each other, and which, as every mechanic well knows, will for a time hold the rotten materials of an edifice together, although not one of its timbers could support its own weight; and unless, therefore, a new sub-structure can be placed beneath every buttress and angle of the boasted temple of liberty, it will soon totter and fall, and bury all indwellers in its ruins."

The sub-structure must be moral education. As the gospel preached to men who had grown up in a world lying in darkness and sin, was repent and reform, and be forgiven, so the gospel for children, whom Christ pronounced already of the kingdom of heaven, and set in the midst of his disciples, to show them that before they could enter—much more take the highest places in it—they must become as little children, is to keep the heart diligent, for out of it are the issues of life, and form the mind in the light of that wisdom which makes life a blessing to ourselves and others.

JOSEPH P. MORSE,
WINGATE N. ILSLEY.
Portsmouth, May 1, 1871.

A CARD.

HAVING disposed of my Insurance Business to JOSEPH P. MORSE and WINGATE N. ILSLEY, two gentlemen well known for their integrity and business capacity, I return my thanks to my old and constant patrons and friends, for their many favors, and earnestly recommend my successors, trusting the same generous patronage will be extended to them as to myself. They represent some of the oldest and most reliable Companies in both Fire and Life Insurance in the Country.

HAIR TEA.

A LADY WRITES:—"About six months ago my hair was coming out so badly that every dressing I used to get a handful, which, not wishing to throw away, I laid by in a box. I have used two bottles of your Hair Tea, and now I do not get enough to tie the ends of my braids, and have to go to the box for a few hairs for that purpose. I think every lady ought to know what a remarkable Hair Preserver you make."

DR. KENNEDY'S HAIR TEA, a complete Toilet Article to beautify and invigorate the Hair, is sold by Druggists everywhere at $1 per bottle.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the power of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawf6t8

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. S. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

SURGERY WITH A HEATED WIRE.

Thanks to ether, to chloroform, to a word to anesthetics, patients can nowadays undergo almost any surgical operation without pain. Not only the extraction of a tooth, but the amputation of a limb, the removal of tumors and many other painful operations can be performed without torturing the patient No more cries or movements disturb the operator during the performance of his disagreeable task.

Bilboquet used to extract teeth without pain to himself; but nowadays one may say, that if anybody suffers, or labors under keen anxiety, it is the operator alone. So far as the patient is concerned, he finds himself during the operation in a state of complete insensibility. The knife enters the flesh, the blood flows, the saw grates, while he may be enjoying a pleasant dream.

But suffering awaits the patient at his awakening. The last vapors of ether are hardly yet resolved into air, when pain, for a while kept off, comes rushing in. Once more it must be driven off, and for good—but now? Opium, freezing cold, anything that can put pain to sleep, has been tried, but all in vain. Cauterization, burning, there we have the best thing that can be done. The celebrated surgeon Nelaton uses the flame of the common gas light; but M. Sedillot proposes electric cauterization as an agency more powerful and more sure.

"The degrees of heat can be raised all at once to the highest intensity, or be diminished or suppressed altogether. It can be made intermittent, or continuous, can be directed into the deepest cavities, &c." Numerous operations have already been performed with entire success, without loss of blood, by means of electric cauterization and the care which was taken in dividing and destroying the flesh and muscles slowly and deliberately.

In order to explain the effects of electric cauterization, we must state first the fact, that burnings of the third degree cause but little pain. "We have seen," says the learned physician, "persons mortally burned, retain their appetite and able to sleep for several days. A laboring man who had put his foot into the liquid metal of a foundry and had drawn it out in a state of complete carbonization, suffered but very little pain. A young girl whose dress had caught fire, ran down four flights of steps enveloped in flames and burnt from head to foot. Nevertheless, her sufferings were comparatively insignificant for the few days she lived, yet after death, her skin was dry, stretched without a wrinkle; one might have imagined her a bronze statue."

In fact, it could not be otherwise; for in such cases the nerves are entirely destroyed, and where there are no nerves, there is no pain. Consequently, by the use of chloroform in combination with electic cauterization, the object is reached and pain is totally abolished during and after the operation. Between the third and the ninth day following an inflammatory reaction begins, but it is weak and not accompanied by fever.

These are not the only advantages of this beneficent method. Burnt wounds are less subject to gangrene than those caused by sharp cutting instruments, and the flesh heals much more readily. What more can be desired?

M. Sedillot, in his work presented to the Academy of Science, gives all the necessary information concerning the selection of apparatus as well as the manner of using it. He describes the advance of the platinum wire, heated to a white heat, into the flesh, cutting almost as smoothly as the scalpel, and leaving the surface of the wound hard, dry and firm like born.

By this process amputations can be performed, ulcers removed, cysts opened, tumors taken out, &c.

In short, there is no more pain, not merely during but after the operation, no loss of blood, no alteration of the fluids, no gangrene, but a rapid restoration of the flesh; such are the remarkable results of the employment of electric heat in surgery.

There remains only one more step to take, one more desideratum to realize; and that is, to make the operator's task a pleasing duty.

—Mr. Slack, at Independence, Iowa, started down stairs in the night to get his wife a glass of water. He dropped the lamp, and fire spread in all directions. He thought he had put it out and went to bed. In half an hour he was aroused by flames, and was obliged to jump from a second story window to save his life and get a ladder to save his wife and daughter. Then his wife told him of $250 she had in a straw bed. He climbed back, got a feather bed, and the $250 went to ashes. Mr. S's. whole loss was $2,000. His wife remarked that he always was that way.

The Lady's Friend, for September, for sale by E. G. Adams, is, as usual, filled with fashion news, gossip and plates, and an abundance of that class of poetry and romance which is popularly, but certainly uncomplimentarily, supposed to be the delightful fashionable ladies.

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Mompremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known remedies which would have prevented or cured. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber life which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the credulis made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Tuberculous deposits of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the mesenteric tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating point, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's Peerless gifts—the Podophyllin of Medicine. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach gets rid of its load, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now proceeding, without its previous torture. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is soon to be at hand. The Liver has become sensitive, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest blood purifier ever yet given by an American physician. Combined with Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to launch and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten tissue at occupied is removed and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, sets forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course their patients if the lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much as they can but the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To dispel the cold sweats, which betokens debility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the faculty of his cure, is as follows in these memorable words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my friends were all gathered around my bedside, expecting then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have gown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor," then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $8.00 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

MONDAY, AUGUST 21, 1871.

THE NEW YORK TIMES shows that the Ring have charged the city for rents of armories which have no existence, and cheated the city out of $234,500 in armory frauds alone. Among a host of those who hold sinecure positions under Tammany is the proprietor of a country hotel more than one hundred miles from New York on the Hudson, who comes down once a week for his pay. Tammany's attempts to gloss over the wholesale frauds exposed by the Times (and now followed up by the Tribune and other papers) are evidently modelled on the famous cracked-kettle defence—"We did not borrow the kettle; it was cracked when we borrowed it; we returned it whole." First, Tammany Hall talked about slander and falsehood, and said the Times had obtained information "surreptitiously," and that the old Board of Supervisors did the stealing; then the other Hall, Oakey, stated that the accounts had long ago been "published in a bound volume;" they were also going to be published, right away; then, instead of publishing the accounts, (which had long ago been "published in a bound volume," and which showed that Boss Tweed of the "old Board of Supervisors" was the principal thief, and that consequently Boss Tweed of the New Board of Supervisors is an innocent man,) the Chamber of Commerce were invited to whitewash Tammany Hall—which would have been a paying job, judging from the wages Tammany's plasterers receive; and now Oakey Hall is going to "send a message to the Board of Aldermen" concerning the way accounts! One thing proved by all this wriggling and squirming is, that the Times was right in asserting that the thieves did not dare to publish the accounts, and that their promises to do so were never meant to be kept—in plain words, were lies. And another thing equally apparent is that Hall, Tweed and the rest of the precious lot who have been repeatedly charged with being thieves, and had their names publicly coupled with that opprobrious epithet in the columns of the Times, will carefully avoid any action in the matter which would place them on [illegible] too much known already. But at last the whole truth is to come out—Oakey Hall is going to "send a message" to the Board of Aldermen!

The Tribune on Saturday published a long array of figures from the official records of the county, substantially proving the truth of the figures heretofore published by the Times and denounced by Tammany as false. The accounts extend back to 1868 and cover only the sums paid to Ingersoll, Garvey, Miller, Keyser and a few others in person, but there is enough to show that enormous frauds were committed and to substantiate the charges already made.

—Rice and Washburn seem to have a small but determined band, one in the East and the other in the West, to push them forward as candidates for Governor. Both are organizing, and as they both represent about the same class of Republicans, there is no doubt but one will finally give way to the other. Which it will be, is difficult now to guess. Rice's chances are very much weakened by the continued ill health of Frank W. Bird, who is doubtless one of the coolest and shrewdest of political managers. It is plain that the contest is now narrowed down to four; and if Butler and Loring could unite when Rice and Washburn are compelled to, they could carry the State without effort. In this quarter the opinion strengthens that Butler will finally get the Republican nomination. Whether he will then be adopted as the Prohibitory candidate will depend entirely upon the fullness and completeness of his acceptance of the Prohibitory platform. Of course he will receive the labor reform nomination if he receives the Republican nomination. Both the Prohibitory and Labor Reform Conventions will be held after the Republican Convention.—Boston News.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

Mr. Ezra Haskell of Dover has a newly-invented alarm pump. The apparatus is very simple, and is only about three feet high by as many long. It comprises a common force-pump which can be used for pumping water from the hold of a vessel, or as a fire-engine. It has a whistle attached to it which is blown by turning the crank attached to the cylinder, and thus forcing the air against the edge of the whistle. It is stated that it can be heard three miles. A system of signals by means of the whistle has been arranged by which any communication may be made from ship to ship.

THE PORTLAND AND OGDENSBURG RAILROAD, just opened to North Conway, in the heart of the White Mountain region, is one of the best built roads in the country. The rapidity with which the work has been executed indicates the energy which has characterized the management of this enterprise from the outset.

The day previous to the completion of the section whose terminus is North Conway, the iron for one half mile of the track was on the cars 60 miles distant.

There is great activity along the entire Vermont Division, and before winter the cars will be running over a portion of the line, and during 1872 it is confidently expected that this promising New England Trunk Line of 220 miles will be completed; shortening the distance from the lakes to the seaboard, over any other route, more than 50 miles.

THE CATHOLIC IRISH of Ogdensburg, N. Y., desirous of emulating the good works of their brethren in New York city, who proposed to allow only Irish Catholics to march in procession in the streets, have been engaged in an anti-free speech disturbance. Baron de Carmin, an ex-priest, ex-inquisitor or something of the kind, proposed to give an anti-bonnery lecture; the Catholics refused to allow it, and did prevent it for two days; but the citizens thought the foreigners were taking rather too much freedom with American institutions, rallied in force to the Mayor's call, and the bold Baron delivered his lecture Friday afternoon, unmolested. He will not lecture there any more, now that free speech has been vindicated.

The Paris Patrie says that Russia is making great military preparations. The Czar, accompanied by General Leflo, the French abassador, visited the camps of the twelth army corps at Isflisko Seto. Prussia is almost filling up her corps, perfecting her armaments and collecting enormous quantities of stores. The Patrie believes that the preparations of the latter power are aimed at Russia.

THE negotiations for the settlement by arbitration of the differences between the miners and their employers in South Wales, have failed. Fresh strikes have broken out among the workmen in Leeds, who demand a reduction in the hours of labor. New hands have arrived at Newcastle to supply the places of the engineers who struck there.

THE FAMINE IN PERSIA is more terrible than was previously reported. Twenty-seven thousand deaths have taken place at Ispahan alone from starvation. The condition of the province of Mazanderan is still worse. There the rice crop is a complete failure, and the cattle plague, small-pox, typhus fever and cholera prevail.

The Nursery for September appeals to "youngest readers," who could have no periodical more adapted to please and instruct them. The design of this monthly and the complete manner in which it is carried out are both admirable, and as long as the present standard is kept up the magazine must be successful.

NEW YORK STOCK-JOBBERS perpetrated a fraud on Thursday night, of the most unscrupulous sort. A fictitious letter stating the destruction by fire of the Pacific Mail steamship Henry Chauncy was sent to the newspapers, and published in several of them Friday morning. It was calculated to affect the Pacific Mail stock, but the fraud was soon discovered. A large reward is offered for its perpetrator.

SO LARGE IS THE GRAPE CROP of the West this season that the price obtained for grapes when put upon the market hardly pays the cost of picking, packing and transportation. Consignments by rail sell as low as three cents per pound. The grapes from the local vineyards near St. Louis are sold to hucksters for four and five cents per pound, and are retailed for six and seven cents to purchasers.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Edward Bayer, Esq., Horton, Kings Co., N. S., writes that an astonishing cure has been effected on his daughter, by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The whole spine became diseased, she lost the use of her limbs, and her back was rounded up like a bow, in consequence of taking cold after having been innoculated for the kine pock. She is now well.

We pledge our reputation on the assertion that any educated physician, after a careful examination of the recipe, will say that Parson's Purgative Pills possess more merit than any other pill offered for sale.

"THERE'S NOTHING LIKE LEATHER;" and when we say the Boot and Shoe Dealers and Manufacturers make the AMERICAN HOUSE, Boston, their headquarters, we conceive [illegible] conception of what constitutes a really good hotel.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. * 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Medical Mistakes.

It took the faculty about a thousand years to discover that the best way to cure disease was not to render the patient too weak to contend with it. Within the last twenty years, however, the whole system of medical practice has been changed for the better. In diseases or complaints caused by excessive heat, for instance, the doctors no longer recommend the reduction of the invalid's strength by prostrating medicines. The vast success which has attended the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for debility, has given even the most prejudiced members of the old school an insight into the only true and rational theory of cure. Cantharides, calomel, and overpowering doses of opium, are now among the obsolete nostrums of another age. The lancet, once as much the legitimate weapon of the physician as the sword is of the soldier, is seldom drawn from its case. The principle of life is no longer drained from the veins by the quart, and water-gruel for the strengthless invalid has ceased to be considered an appropriate diet. Vigor is the motto of the rational members of the profession, and they understand, at last, the value of a sterling vegetable tonic. So, also, with the people at large; and without consulting medical men at all, they have adopted the bitters as a household remedy, thereby economising both cash and health.

Note the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold in bottles only, never in bulk; and that the abortions springing up in various parts of the country, and sometimes offered as substitutes for the great national specific, are all utterly worthless.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.—About 9 o'clock, Saturday morning, six young men, Horace and Clarence Moses, Smith Treadwell, Alpha and James Senter, and Raphael Stearns, started on a trip to Gerrish's Island in a sail boat owned by Mr. J. Peirce of Kittery, intending to camp out for a few days. The boat was very "crank," had a large sail and was heavily ballasted. They had a row boat in tow, containing provisions for the contemplated pleasure trip.

A fresh wind had been blowing from sunrise. When the sail-boat arrived near the Narrows where the tide was running up and the eddy in the opposite direction, the tiller fell overboard and before it could be recovered a gust of wind jibed the sail and the boat capsized, immediately sinking, about twenty feet from Peirce's Island. The top of the mast remained out of water. Mr. Treadwell swam ashore and returned to rescue Mr. James Senter. Both succeeded in reaching the shore, as did Mr. Stearns.

When the boat sunk, Mr. Horace Moses, a good swimmer, stayed with his brother, encouraging him and aiding him to the best of his ability. The little fellow at last became exhausted and clung to Horace as only a drowning person can. Twice both went out of sight and when the older brother came to the surface the second time Clarence was not to be seen. Horace, half drowned, was taken ashore by a whale-boat, thoroughly exhausted and nearly insensible. On recovering, he became frantic at the loss of his brother, and was about to dash in again in a last vain hope of saving him, but was prevented by his companions. Mr. Alpha Senter was also saved by the whaleboat.

Clarence was the son of John Woodman Moses, Esq., a bright little fellow of about sixteen years, whose friends were many and whose many excellent qualities gave promise of a life of usefulness. Praise is due his noble-hearted brother who strove so persistently to save him, nearly losing his life in consequence. The affair has thrown a cloud of gloom over the whole community and the sympathy for the afflicted family is general.

All search for the body of the drowned young man has proved unavailing. Mate Vennard of the U. S. S. Speedwell brought the sunken boat to the shore and found the sheet fast.

RESCUE. — An Eliot man's wherry, overloaded with eelgrass, swamped in the chop sea near Frank's Fort, up river, last Friday afternoon. Mr. J. Fred. Hill, and one of our visiting ministers and his wife, who were out enjoying the fresh breeze, espied the craft and ran alongside in time to take off the owner and occupant, (who had several bricks aboard also,) just as the gunwale of his skiff went under. That boat of the Capt.'s has paid for herself several times over; that is, if human lives are of any value.

MR. THOMAS BRACKETT died very suddenly on Saturday afternoon, at his residence at the South End. He was giving instructions concerning the painting of a carraige in his yard, when he complained of feeling unwell, fell, and in a few moments was a corpse. The cause of his death was apoplexy.

MR. WM. TREDICK, employed at the Navy Yard, on Saturday fell down a flight of stairs in the pattern shop at the Yard, and was taken up insensible. He soon partially recovered, but he was badly injured and was taken home. His age is about 70 years.

A LITTLE BOY, aged about two years, son of Mr. Frank Bartlett of Noble's Island, was missed from his home about noon on Saturday, and after a search of an hour and a half was found in a deep privy vault, dead.

In this city, Aug. 19, Mrs. FLORA PERRY, widow of Wm. B. S. Perry, aged 24 years.

In this city, Aug. 19, Mrs. HILL, wife of Mr. William Hill.

In this city, Aug. 20, FRANK PENDEXTER, only child of Daniel P. and Emma Pendexter, aged 7 months.

In this city Aug. 19, ANNA W. MELOON, infant daughter of James D. and Rebecca A. Meloon.

In Kittery, Me., August 19, ALICE M. DAME, aged 6 years, 5 months and 12 days, daughter of Charles E. and Mary E. Dame of Boston, Mass.

CARELESSNESS, or, what is even worse, the little joke of one of those funny fellows who think it rare sport to convey a rotten egg into a friend's pocket or a putrid oyster into his plate, very nearly resulted in a serious accident one evening last week. As a man was walking rapidly along the sidewalk on Richards Avenue, it being quite dark at the time, he was startled by receiving a smart scratch on his cheek, exactly on a level with his eye. On investigation he found a long board lying across the fence, in such a manner that while one end rested on the ground, the other (which was broken so as to leave a long, slender, jagged point,) projected over the sidewalk at just the right height to take a man of average stature in the face. Had the gentleman been a half-inch (or even less, for blood was drawn within a quarter-inch of his eye,) nearer the fence than he was, he would certainly have lost an eye, and more than probably his life. Of course he removed the board, which he thinks was designedly placed there in a spirit of villainous mischief, as it was so firmly fixed in the fence as to require considerable effort to move it. If his suspicions are correct, then the sooner the malicious idiot who did it is hung or shot, the better it will be.

RECENTLY two verdant individuals from the rural districts arrived in this city, and put up at one of our popular hotels. On being requested by the gentlemanly clerk to register their names, they indignantly refused, the younger and more pompous of the two declaring in rather emphatic language that "he supposed the clerk took them for countrymen; but he wished it distinctly understood that they had travelled some, and that these city chaps couldn't play anything of the kind on them. They had it played two or three times, but they were not so green as they were once, and the thing couldn't be done again." As a further illustration of the value of travel in inducting unsophisticated youth into the manners and customs of the world at large, it may be in order to mention that our two travellers, after washing themselves next morning, precipitated the contents of the washbowl from their chamber window, to the extreme bewilderment of a gentleman who happened at that moment to be passing beneath. There is nothing like travel for sharpening the wits and wearing away verdancy.

RODRICK & HOYT move to-day into their new quarters under the Franklin House. Four nice bath rooms have been fitted up and the conveniences of the Hair Dressing Department are increased by the change. Both partners do their work neatly and with dispatch. Mr. Rodrick's bathing rooms will be a popular resort for the cleanly disposed, and will supply a want which it is astonishing a city the size of Portsmouth should have felt so long; for though "hot and cold baths, for guests and the public," have long been advertised by nine hosts of the Rockingham House, and though all comers could count with certainty on receiving every attention and courtesy at the hands of Messrs. Peirce and their popular clerk, Mr. Morrill, yet many a working man who would willingly pay the required price for a comfortable bath would content himself with a bucket of water and a towel, rather than go where he might fancy he would be out of place. If cleanliness is next to godliness, (and we think it is far ahead of some reputed godliness,) then Mr. Rodrick is a missionary of very heavy calibre.

THE LOVERS of the feathered tribe will enjoy a rare treat by calling at the Auction Room of Henry F. Wendell, No. 70 State St., and examining the elegant and life-like collection of stuffed birds on exhibition at his store. The birds are the work of Mr. C. S. Galbraith of New York, and have only to be seen to be admired. The sale takes place on Tuesday and Wednesday at 10 o'clock A. M.

CAPT. E. M. BAKER, of the favorite steamer Appledore, is to have a benefit excursion within a few days. We shall announce the date in these columns as soon as it is fixed, and nothing more than the announcement will be needed to give the popular skipper such a crowd as will make the excursion a genuine benefit if the weather proves fair.

REV. JAS. DENORMANDIE is spending his vacation at Newcastle, and any communication for him addressed to Newcastle post-office, or left at Mr. Jos. H. Foster's store on Market Street, will promptly reach their destination.

CHOLERA INFANTUM in its most dangerous form is prevalent in this city and quite a number of children have died of it.

THE EXCURSION TO WELLS BEACH comes off to-morrow at 9 o'clock. Tickets $1—for sale by A. W. Odiorne.

....Jimmy D. is a curious character, well known to Portsmouth people as a doer of errands and small odd jobs about houses and stores. One day he entered Nowell's and whistling a popular air, and suddenly disappeared down the open hatchway into the cellar, taking a case of goods, which he clutched in his descent. When he reappeared not much hurt, some one jokingly said to him "We thought you was going out of the world to the tune of 'Shoo Fly.' "Well," said he, pointing down to the scattered contents of the broken case, "I did made the Shoes Fly."

....Mr. Henry H. Ham, Jr. of this city, has invented a simple and ingenious contrivance for marine or other kind of clocks, by which the regular system of a "ship's bells" are struck without interfering in the least with the other arrangements of the timepiece.

At the adjourned law term of the Supreme Court held at Manchester last week, Esther A. B. Wentworth was divorced from Ashiel H. Wentworth of this city, W. H. Y. Hackett for Libellant.

RYE BEACH had a base ball match on Friday last, between the Boston Juniors and the Rye Beach club, which was won by the Bostons—32 to 7.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New World of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts, Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90 and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.
